

A STUDY OF HEADS.

The Horrors and Ghastly Attractions of an Anatomical Museum.

One of the most ghastly sights in Munich is to be witnessed in the Anatomical museum, on Schiller strasse. It consists of the heads of persons who have been guillotined in Bavaria for a good many years back.

I dropped into the museum yesterday and paid for my prurient curiosity by the loss of my appetite for the rest of the day. The museum contains a good many attractions, but these heads are the great drawing-card. Nothing is said about them in the guide-books, and so the average tourist goes and comes without the slightest suspicion that so remarkable a spectacle is to be seen for a very small fee.

An examination of the places where the neck had been severed revealed skilful work on the part of the machine, as a rule. Some were as neatly cut as an apple that you halve to divide with a friend. One head had evidently belonged to a man with a short neck, as the amputation had taken place so close to the chin as to almost pare off its under surface.

The anatomical collection contained many other remarkable attractions. There were shelves loaded down with skulls and dried heads. The various organs of the body were preserved according to several methods, some specimens being preserved in alcohol, others dried, pickled, etc.

The question has been often asked: "How do soldiers feel when in battle?" and it is one difficult to answer. A long experience among veterans in the ranks leads the writer to believe that the emotion experienced in going under fire is much the same with all men.

How it Feels to be in a Battle.

The question has been often asked: "How do soldiers feel when in battle?" and it is one difficult to answer. A long experience among veterans in the ranks leads the writer to believe that the emotion experienced in going under fire is much the same with all men.

To the veteran it is far different. He knows too well that every battle reduces the average chance of his escape, yet so habituated does he become to rattling fusillades and desperate charges, he scarcely heeds the danger surrounding him.

The Princes of Wales attained his 43rd year yesterday. His birthday was publicly celebrated on Saturday, when the usual royal salute was fired.

The Nun of Kenmare, who was compelled to turn back from her mission to America by the sickness of Sister Evangelista, resumed her journey yesterday, taking passage on the Alaska at Queenstown. Canon Monahan is already on his way to New York, and it is hoped that a large sum may be collected in America to aid the Nazarian Sisters in their work of caring for orphans and semi-orphaned children.

In the British House of Commons Lord Edmund Fitzmaurice, Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, stated that Mexico ratified the agreement in regard to the conversion of the Mexican debt made in England on October 28th.

ELECTION BETTING.

Some of the Great Sums Wagered by New Yorkers.

Lumping all the money that has been bet in this city on general and particular results of the elections the amount will not fall far short of $2,000,000. Most of it is in the hands of stakeholders, or deposited in bank in the form of certified cheques.

A Tin Horn Brigade Let Loose. The stars and stripes floated last night from every point on the outside of the Democratic National Headquarters where it was possible to stick a flag.

Hundreds of men banked the sidewalks opposite the snapping flags and whooped things up for Cleveland. Hundreds of other Democrats jammed the parlors. Tiny brooms protruded from their coat lapels, Cleveland pastebored spectacles hung on their noses, and little feathered roosters adorned their hats.

Then each man jerked out a horn, glued his mouth to it, and blew with all his lung power until the building rang as if rent by a convention of fog horns. Then they ceased for everything that came into their heads. It was humorously and tremendously infectious. In half a minute both indoors and out these couplets were reverberating everywhere:

Blaine! Blaine! Oh, where is Blaine! Sick at his stomach in the State of Maine! Whoop! Whoop! Grover's in, Don't you forget it, Grover's in? Hoot, hoot hoot Jay Gould, The people of Gotham can't be fooled!

—New York Sun of Saturday.

Gas and Girls.

The Superintendent of the Toronto Telephone Exchange says in an interview: "A part of our new apparatus will be a two-man-power gas engine, and it will be used for rather a novel purpose. People who ring up the central office on the average of two or three dozen times a day probably may not think that there is severe manual labor in answering the call of 900 such subscribers.

French as it was Spoken by a Scotchman. Says the Waterloo Advertiser: "Mr. White, who has just been elected to the Local Legislature for Megantic, is a shrewd, intelligent Scotchman, just in the prime of life. He is a business man and has strong common sense. Though not an orator he is a good public speaker, and will no doubt be heard in the debates of the House."

Enormous profits are anticipated from the pearl fisheries in Lower California. While a freight train from Montreal on the C.P.R. was entering on to the bridge across the Ottawa, about 10 o'clock yesterday morning, two cars left the track.

The supposed suicide at Montmorency, Que., some weeks ago turns out only a humbug. The young man Blanchet, it appears, had run heavily in debt, and probably wishing to elude his creditors, skipped over the line, taking with him $180 belonging to his father, and leaving notes in his hat, etc., beside Montmorency on a raft to make out that he committed suicide.

ELECTING THE PRESIDENT.

Work to Be Done by the Electors Chosen Nov. 4th.

New York Herald: Technically speaking the President is not elected by the people and the people do not vote directly for any presidential candidate. They cast their ballots for electors, and these electors choose a President and a Vice-President.

Humors of the Campaign.

Later in the day a solid phalanx of 500 happy Democrats passed the Sun office, and, anchoring in front of the Tribune, shouted in chorus, like a crowd of college boys:

Blaine, Blaine, We gave him a pain, The con-ti-nen-tal liar From the State of Maine.

Then a big fellow in a tall silk hat inquired with stentorian tones: "How's New York?" and from 500 throats came the cry with unison, and with the peculiar rhythmic cadence so familiar during the campaign:

Oh—she's all right! How's Indiana? Oh—she's all right! How's Connecticut? Oh—she's all right!

Catching sight of the flag on the Tribune building the crowd set up a shout of "Take down the flag." Some one suggested that they should be inverted as a signal of distress, and the volatile crowd at once took up the couplet yelling:

Nancy Reid, you've made a mess— Turn down the flag, you're in distress.

No answer came from the tall tower and the twenty-five policemen, and an ominous placard both proclaimed "No admittance." The bulletin in front of the office at 10 o'clock seemed to incense the crowd. It read:

The Tribune can find no reason to change its estimate of the result, namely, that Blaine has won.

The crowd, as soon as it appeared, took up the cry, "Another Tribune Lie," and after yelling that over until they were tired drifted into:

Ma, Ma, Where's my pa? Gone to the White House, Ha, ha, ha!

One man astride an electric-light pole asked the questions and hundreds roared the answers. The Gould primer began with:

Who buys up Presidents? Jay Gould! Who corrupts the Supreme Court? Jay Gould! Who furnished Blaine's soap? Jay Gould! Who are we after? Jay Gould!

This usually ended the lesson with a howl that was expressive.

A Tint of the Sen.

St. James' Gazette: Mr. Padgham, of Roodlause Chambers, writes: "In the month of July last a lady took a passage per steamer Galicia for Cadiz from London. She had an infant with her, but hardly any luggage. She seemed much attached to the infant, but was very reserved in her manner. When the vessel was off the Portuguese coast, near Lisbon, it encountered very rough weather, and a heavy sea washed the poor thing overboard when walking one morning on the after-deck, leaving the infant, a bright little boy, friendless. The only clue to identity was the child's linen being marked 'H. Johnson,' and a letter addressed 'Mrs. Johnson, Post Restante, Cadiz, being found in the lady's bag. The captain brought the child to London, where it has been placed in the care of a nurse until some one may claim it. Every inquiry has been made at Cadiz, but no clue can be ascertained. The lady was tall, fresh-colored, about 28 years of age, and well educated. Any communication will be gladly received by Mr. R. Pike, 1 New London street, or by myself, as I was a passenger on board at the time."

Prof. Jones, Superintendent of Schools, with another gentleman and five ladies entered a stiff upon an artificial lake at Mount Pleasant, Iowa, on Saturday night. The boat capsized, and Prof. Jones, Ella C. Lyster, a school teacher, and Eita Lyster and Edward Braugh, students, were drowned. The others were saved.

An Ottawa despatch says the square timber outlook in the woods this winter is unfavorable, and other kinds of lumbering promise only slightly better. For the first time in 27 years Mr. Peter McLaren will take out no square timber this winter, having last season's yet unsold in Quebec, with no market offering.

A Great Problem.

- Take all the Kidney and Liver Medicines, —Take all the Blood purifiers, —Take all the Rheumatic remedies, —Take all the Dyspepsia and indigestion cures, —Take all the Ague, Fever and bilious specifics, —Take all the Brain and Nerve force revivers, —Take all the Great health restorers. —In short, take all the best qualities of these, and the —best —Qualities of all the best medicines in the world, and you will find that —Hop —Bitters have the best curative qualities and powers of all —concentrated —In them, and that they will cure when any or all of these, singly or —combined —Fail. A thorough trial will give positive proof of this.

Hardened Liver.

Five years ago I broke down with kidney and liver complaint and rheumatism. Since then I have been unable to be about at all. My liver became hard like wood; my limbs were puffed up and filled with water.

All the best physicians agreed that nothing could cure me. I resolved to try Hop Bitters; I have used seven bottles; the hardness has all gone from my liver, the swelling from my limbs, and it has worked a miracle in my case; otherwise I would have been now in my grave. J. W. MORSE, Buffalo, Oct. 1st, 1881.

Poverty and Suffering.

"I was dragged down with debt, poverty and suffering for years, caused by a sick family and large bills for doctoring. I was completely discouraged, until one year ago, by the advice of my pastor, commenced using Hop Bitters, and in one month we were all well, and none of us have been sick a day since; and I want to say to all poor men, you can keep your families well a year with Hop Bitters for less than one doctor's visit will cost. I know it."—A WORKINGMAN.

Cali and other towns in Southern Colombia report that the severest shock of earthquake experienced for three years was felt on Thursday night. The church of San Pedro at Cali was wrecked, and another church and several houses suffered severely. Other towns escaped without serious injury.

Halcyon Day.

How varied the range of association upon the human mind. Memory is ever fond of preserving pictures of event, but the character of such events must be different to meet the peculiarities of the individual. The pleasant recollections of one would fail to find a place in the memory of another, but to our mind the halcyon days are those that follow the use of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, the same safe and painless corn cure, for it promptly relieves the misery by removing the aching corns. Try Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, and see that no substitute is palmed off as genuine.

Mrs. Cagley, the wife of an English Life Guardsman, is said to be the coming London beauty. She was a Miss Campbell and the daughter of a music dealer.

As if by Magic.

This is always the case when Polson's NERVILINE is applied to any kind of pain; it is sure to disappear as if by magic. Stronger, more penetrating and quicker in action than any other remedy in the world. Buy a bottle of NERVILINE to-day, and try its wonderful power of relieving pain of every description. Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is just the thing to have in a house to meet a sudden attack of illness. Only 25 cents a bottle. Sample bottles only 10 cents, at any drug store.

William Taylor, Bishop to Africa, says his parishioners have only two suits—dirt and paint. The Bishop probably thinks being "clothed in sunshine" too thin.

The old custom requiring saleswomen in dry and fancy goods stores to stand all day long without rest or relief is being superseded by more humane rules in many of our leading business houses. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is highly praised by those who have not yet been freed from the old necessity for constant standing, and is a genuine blessing in every such case, as well as to the tired-out housekeeper who must be on her feet all day.

Lord Byron is said to have written the last cantos of Don Juan on the backs of old play bills and read them therefrom to the Countess Guiccioli.

James A. Buck, a Canadian, sends out an address to the "thirsty of knowledge," as he calls them, saying that he is willing to go to any city in the United States or Great Britain to teach the true origin of our race, the true cause of human depravity, and true salvation, if his expenses are paid.

You Can't Make $500 by Reading This.

even if you have chronic nasal catarrh in its worst stages, for although this amount of reward has for many years been offered by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for any case of catarrh they cannot cure, yet notwithstanding that thousands use the Remedy they are seldom called upon to pay the reward, and when they have been so called upon they have universally found that the failure to cure was wholly due to some overlooked complication, usually easily removed by a slight modification of the treatment. Therefore, if this should meet the eye of anybody who has made faithful trial of this great and world-famed Remedy without receiving a perfect and permanent cure therefrom, that person will do well to either call upon or write to the proprietors, the World's Dispensary Medical Association, of Buffalo, N. Y., giving all the particulars and symptoms in the case. By return mail they will get good advice, free of all costs.

The despatch from New York announcing the result of the Presidential election reached Lima in two minutes.

At 10 o'clock yesterday morning Mrs. Thos. T. Shine, of Lockport, went out and left her seven-months-old baby in care of an eight-year-old brother. When she returned she found that the baby had been shot by the boy through the head. The baby died last evening.

Compared with other English counties Devonshire and Somersetshire have suffered very little from the agricultural depression, the farming being dairy and root crops chiefly.
