The Dairying Interest In Canada.

It is impossible for the observant farmer to overlook the fact that times are changing in the agricultural line, particularly in the Province of Ontario. It is generally conceded not, however, without considerable reluctance, that Ontario as a grain-growing province is being left behind and that year by year as the great prairie wheat fields of the west develop her, chance of competition in this product becomes proportionately less. Just at present the sky looks serene and bright and the hope indulged in that it will continue is high, but this, the intelligent farmer knows, cannot be. It is purely an exceptional event that has forced the prices this year and which may not occur again for many years. With these facts in view, and they are certainly backed by every evidence of reason and experience, is it wise for farmers to follow the same old lines which have governed them in the past? Would it not be the part of wisdom to enquire if something of less precarious a nature and for which this province is especially adapted could not be found to take the place of the failing grain fields. As an answer to this question and as a reminder that the markets of the world require other supplies than wheat we have arranged to publish a series of letters from the pen of the eminent writer Mr. W. H. Lynch on the subject of "the dairying interests in Canada." This gentleman has made an exhaustive experimental and practical study of the question and that he is thoroughly qualified to discuss the matter in hand may be accepted when it is known that he has but recently returned from England where he lectured before the most advanced interests of that country on the subject of dairying besides being the author of a standard work on the same interesting theme. The first of the series will be found on the front page of this paper and we hope will be earnestly studied by every one of our farmer readers. They are intended for every reader individually and if nothing more result from their publication than to instil a knowledge of the vast possibilities which lie at our doors waiting to be developed we will be well repaid for our trouble.

Scott Act Repeal.

As the time approaches for the vote on the repeal of the Scott Act the interest in the law considerably increases. But for a few individuals in this part of the county little would have been heard of the Act or its working, but as it is, during the past few months a hard fight has been fought to produce an observance of the law. From the present condition of things we would say the remark applied to North Ontario that the "Scott Act is dead" is very far from being true, in fact to the disgust of those engaged in the whiskey business it is found to be very much alive. We learn that warrants for commitment to gaol hang over the heads of most of the hotel keepers in the North Riding and on the next complaint they will be executed still leaving the new charge to follow. From this, it is easy to see that the life of the liquor seller is not by any means "a happy one" and with the prospect of prison bars constantly before his eyes the profits of the business appear in a somewhat clouded form. At this late hour let us ask what has been the result of the Act in this county. Has it accomplished the purpose intended, or has it done sufficient good in the prohibitive line to warrant the people in supporting it again? To these questions some will say yes, others no. In the consideration of this matter it must be remembered that the Act has not had a fair trial in Ontario. Until recently no real effort was made to enforce the law and in the face of unsympathetic officials and the obstacles of legislative construction which have been enacted since its introduction here it could not be expected to work very satisfactorily. In spite of this, however, no one can honestly say that drunkenness and its accompanying results has not been abated; this is evident to the most casual observer, and moreover the educative influence of the law has been such that the use of liquor is now looked upon as being decidedly "not the thing" and unrespectable. If for nothing else than these things the public owe a debt of gratitude to the Scott Act and we believe with the experience of the renewed license law now being given in Simcoe and Halton it will stand a good chance of being again sustained in Ontario.

Consumption Cured.

An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East India missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma and all throat and lung affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all Nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this recipe, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper. W. A. NOYES, 149 Power's Block Rochester, N. Y.

Here and There.

A Toronto mail clerk, by name James H. Spence, has recently been arrested and committed for trial on a charge of robbing the mails of registered letters. This is the man who is supposed to have purloined the letters lost by certain Coldwater business men last winter.

Rev. Principal Grant of Queen's College, delivered an address in Melbourne, Australia, recently, in which he spoke favorably and hopefully of Imperial Federation; but he did not think it advisable to concoct a scheme just at present.

The Arthur "Enterprise" says:—During the threshing on the farm of Mr. Wm. Gray, near Kenilworth, one day last week, a hen was discovered in a mow of barley, where she had been confined since last harvest. The hen was alive and in good condition. The strangest part of the story is that the industrious biddy had during her imprisonment laid four eggs and hatched out three chickens, which were as lively as though they had been produced under ordinary circumstances.

ORILLIA, Ont., Nov. 26.—A very sad drowning accident happened here yesterday, whereby Miss Kate Rook lost her life. Miss Rook lives about six miles out of here on the lake shore, and wished to come in to church yesterday. Wm. McPhie was also coming to town, and he proposed to skate, but as Miss Rook could not skate, he undertook to draw her on a hand sleigh. When about a mile and a half from town they struck a thin sheet of ice, which broke, and they went through. They were unable to get out and Miss Rook soon sank, and McPhie was just about gone when he was discovered by Messrs. J. Blair and E. Lloyd.

On Monday last while Mr. Benjamin Heaslip of Fenelon Falls, was chopping in Somerville, his axe glanced from a tree and struck the outside of his right foot near the ankle, cutting a gash about four inches long and down to the bone. He was brought home, and Dr. E. S. Wilson drew the lips of the wound together putting in seven stitches.

About two weeks ago, a young man residing in Mount Albert, named Beaver, was married to Miss Blackburn, one of the Salvation Army lasses of the Uxbridge corps. One Friday lately he drove with his wife to Aurora and was returning to Mount Albert in the evening; when on the road between Vivian and Pine Orchard, two men jumped out from the roadside, pulled him out of the rig, hit him on the head with a club, knocked him senseless and then robbed him of $45. When he recovered, his assailants had disappeared, leaving no trace of their identity. Mr. Beaver pursued his way homeward a little farther on foot, where he found his team, which had stopped.—[North Ontario Times.]

This is how the Beeton "World" deals with those who cannot respect the house of worship:—Up in the gallery at the Methodist church Sunday evening the conduct of some was so noisy throughout the sermon that the preacher could not be heard. The worst behaved were Mary Holmes, Netta Bray, Julia Ruston, John Stinson, Arthur Ireland, and Ed. Lightfoot. These six behaved as if in a bar room, laughing and giggling like mules in hysterics and acting worse than lunatics, the Holmes girl giving evidence of being completely crazy.

CARTER,

The Wonderful Cheap Man,

has just received and passed into stock another consignment of

Bankrupt Goods,

at prices that will make Kent Street tremble from end to end with low prices. Nearly every person has visited his Bankrupt Stock Emporium and if there is a living soul that has not and are in want of

they should at once call on him for he is the Cheapest Dry Goods Man in Canada.

CARTER and his staff served 463 CUSTOMERS last Saturday and they all claim that fully 25 per cent. left the store without being served. He has secured extra help which will enable him to serve as many as can find standing room in the store. He buys Bankrupt and Auction Goods only and this alone should be sufficient proof to the public that he is in a position to sell CHEAPER THAN ANY OTHER STORE IN LINDSAY, OR VICINITY. Space will not allow me to quote prices but to call will be sufficient to convince the most skeptical customers that he is the man for the people,

He is also the only man in Lindsay handling Bankrupt Goods. Pay no attention to signs for paint is cheap but look for the store of green and yellow front.

M. J. CARTER,

The wonderful cheap man who is represented at all trains on Saturday by a bright young Irishman who will place in your hands a price list and full direction where to find the wonderful cheap man.
