They at once went to work on it in the dissecting room. While on the table the body showed signs of life and was resuscitated by the students. Finding the woman alive on their hands the authorities of the college had her taken to an insane asylum in Scoharie County, New Work. This is the last Wright is said to have known of her whereabouts. The woman's grave will probably be opened to see what the story amounts to.

A Caution Against Paying Compliments. Do not pay compliments unless you can do so with grace, and in such a manuer that, though the person upon whom the flattery is bestowed recognize it as undeserved, he or she may still believe that on your part it is perfectly amoure. Dean Smith says, pithily: " Nothing is so great an instance of ill-manuers as flattery. you flatter all the company you please none if you flatter only one or two, you affront the rest." But an elegant compliment at an opportune moment, and spoken with an air of frankness, carries with it an irresistible charm. Thus Chateaubriand, when an old man, met Rachel, the tragedienne, by the hogs, came to the rescue and the Louis, Jackson, Tenn., and Jackson, Miss., He spoke a few words, expressing his deep then in the first flush of her fame; "What last three years.
