Through a double explosion in the works of the Hamilton Powder Company at Departure Bay on Wednesday of last week no fewer than twelve employes were hurried into eternity, and the majority of the building utilized in the manufacture of high-power explosives reduced to matchwood. MUTILATED COINS

ceiver-General Writes a Letter That May Cause Many Shivers.

In the following letter to the of Toronto, Mr. David Creighton, the Assistant Receiver-General, give the average citizen an attack of the shivers, if he does not, in fact, subject the reader to nervous prostration. Though punched and mutilated coins are common, nowadays, most people regard their possession merely as a nuisance, rather than as a jeopardizing of personal liberty. But now Mr. Creighton, at one fell stroke, destroys our cherished sense of security by clearly pointing out that we have all offended against the Criminal Code, probably, time and time again, and that we are likely any day to repeat the crime. In short, few have not broken section 475 of the Code, and by "uttering gold or silver coin of less than its lawful weight," become liable to three years' imprisonment. Because of the startling information contained in it, Mr. Creighton's letter is appended in full: Some one, through the Toronto press, has been enquiring what to do with mutilated and defaced coins. It is a notorious fact that many such coins remain in circulation, but I be-Heve their circulation would soon be stopped if people were aware what severe penalties they made themselves liable to by passing them. For public information, publish the following sections of the Criminal Code:

468. Everyone is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to 14 years' imprisonment who imparts. diminishes or lightens any current gold or silver coin, with intest that the coin so impaired, diminished or lightened may pass for current gold or silver coin.

469. Everyone is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to one year's imprisonment who defaces any current gold, silver or copper coin thereby diminished or lightened, and afterward tenders the same.

475. Everyone is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to three years' imprisonment who utters, as being current, and gold or silver coin diminished or lightened, otherwise

476. Every one who utters any coin defaced by having stamped thereon any names or words, is guilty of an offence, and liable, on summary conviction before two just ices of the peace, to a penalty not exceeding ten dollars.

The easiest way for a person into whose possession any of these mutilated or defaced coins have come, to get rid of them, is to sell them to a jeweler for old gold or silver.

ASTRONOMY IN CANADA.

Paper by Mr. W F. King, Dominion A tronomer -- An Interesting Address.

Mr. W. F. King, Dominion Astronomer, read a paper recently before the Astronomical Society, Toronto, on "Astronomy in Canada." Mr. King explained first the conditions which had caused the chief line of practice in astronomy ir Canada to be with reference to its direct practical applications, in surveying especially, the determination of the meridian line, and of latitudes and iongtitudes, and of time. Owing to the necessity of our students earning their own livings, they naturally turned to the branches of science from which they could derive practical results, and therefore astronomy had not made as great progress here as in older and more wealthy out ment and aims of the Covernment observatory, which is now in course of erection at Ottawa, Mr. King gave this statement of the objects which a public observatory should have in mind:-A national observatory, maintained by the Government, should aim chiefly at kinds of work not easily within the reach of private and educational observatories, extended series of observations which require persistent prosecution without intermission or material change of plan, such, for instance, as: (a) Continuous observations the positions of the sun, moon and planets, partly by the meridian cir ele, partly by photography. (b) The determination of the absolute positions of a reasonably large list of fundamental stars, and such other stars as are needed for reference points by observers planets or comets, or by these engaged in geodetic operations. (c) Certain astrophysical investigations, especially in the line of stellar spectrocopy. (d) The refined reduction and prompt publication of the results of observation, this implying a thorough mathematical study of the thepries involved and investigation of their corrections. In the course of his remarks mentioned that the Astronomical Department at Ottawa is about to install a new fifteen-inch equatorial telescope, equipped with a large spectrometer and eight-inch photographic doublet, besides the usual micometic means of making accurate measurements, and a meridian circle of good size with the accompanying instruopen the Observatory at Ottawa to the public once a week.
