New Local Industry about Ready for Operation

The Works of the Maddison Williams Manufacturing Company Limited will soon be a Busy Hive—Fifty Men will be Employed to Commence

The works of the Madison Williams Manufacturing Company, Limited, on Lindsay street north, which have been in course of construction and equipment for some months will soon be a busy hive of industry. A representative of the Watchman-Warder on recently paying them a visit found most of the machinery installed, and was informed that it would be but a short time until active operations would be commenced in turning out the special lines of machinery which the company will manufacture. These are sawmill machinery, water wheels, all sizes, including celebrated Triumph wheel designed especially for electric purposes. The company have now a large number of orders on their books which will take them some time to fill. These include several from Western Canada, extending as far west as British Columbia, Manitoba, Alberta, and Saskatchewan contribute their quota, and altogether $50,000 of work is in sight. From McKenzie & Mann of the Canadian Northern Railway Company, alone four orders for the and saw mills have been received. These prospects should be extremely gratifying to the citizens of Lindsay generally, as well as to the stockholders, as this is to a large extent a local enterprise, a considerable portion of the capital of the company having been subscribed by business men and manufacturers in other lines in the town. About 50 men will be employed at the outset, which it is understood, is better than was anticipated when the industry was inaugurated.

The works comprise four buildings. Near to Lindsay street is the pattern making room and machine shop, a substantial structure of steel and brick, 80 by 130 feet, the machine shop occupying the northern portion. This is thoroughly equipped with lathes, a boring machine, the weight of which is 57,000 pounds, grinding machine, fitting tools, etc. The machinery includes some brought from Port Perry, where Mr. Williams conducted a similar factory for nine years, but it also comprises a large lot of new machinery, the boring machine referred to being amongst it. It is all of the newest and most up-to-date pattern, the best which money could buy. The greater part of the tools used are worked automatically. In this shop are two lines of shafting, pulleys, etc., the whole being driven by electric power. A railway track passes right into the centre of the building so that machinery can be loaded directly from the shop floor by means of an electric crane. Here it may be stated that there is connection with both the G.T.R., and the C.P.R., another siding running along the river bank to the boiler shop and moulding room for the delivery of coal, pig iron, sand, etc. The machine shop is heated by steam, a series of radiators passing along the walls. It is also well lighted by two tiers of windows above the main roof. When it is necessary to do work at night electricity will supply the light.

Mr. U. Carson is the Western travelling representative, and when it is stated that he has secured most of the large number of orders from the West now on the books, it will be sufficient evidence that he is the right man in the right place. This new industry, there is every reason to believe, will become a very important factor in Lindsay's prosperity.

Farming Notes

The importance of pure milk from a sanitary point is greater than pure meat. Meat is cooked and milk is usually served raw.

A dairy school is to be established this winter at Red Deer, by the Department of Agriculture for Alberta. This is for the instruction of dairy-men and butter makers.

An American potato dealer expressed the belief that a million bushels of potatoes were lost in the North-eastern States owing to the cold weather coming before the crop had been gathered.

Two large shipments of Alberta winter wheat are to be made to the Orient. One consignment consists of 500 tons ordered by Hong Kong people; the other, consisting of two sample cars, is for Kobe, Japan.

The best floor for horses, says the Inter-Ocean, is the clay floor. This keeps the proper moisture and the hoof does not dry out as it does upon the board floor. Next to it, perhaps, is a floor of cinders well tamped down.

There is, says the American Agriculturist, no fertilizer that will compare with good, well-rotted farm yard manure for garden crops. Where such is not to be obtained it is necessary to depend on commercial fertilizers, but the results with the latter are rarely as satisfactory as with the former.

One of the points about which there was considerable difference of opinion at the hog session of the Winter Fair was as to the value of skim milk for feeding. An American opinion is given in the Agriculturist. This journal says that if the milk can be sprayed into steamed hay and straw, or ground feed, it may be worth as much as 25 cents per hundred pounds for feeding calves and hogs.

The ideal way for breaking a colt, says Kimball's Dairy Farmer, is to begin with the little fellow while yet weak, and establish your mastery. Keep at it until he is old enough to hitch, and the breaking will be easy. Establish the kind of fear that will keep him from violating your commands, or disregarding your authority, but not the kind of fright that will cause him to flee at sight of you.

Prof. L. H. Pammel, of the Iowa State College, and his assistants, says Iowa Homestead, have been investigating for some months the purity of the seeds offered for sale in that State. Among 238 samples in which percentages were definitely determined, in some cases the impurities amounted to 18 per cent. The average for red clover was 19.3 per cent. Alfalfa and timothy were somewhat better, and alsike poorer.

Now is the time to prepare for putting up ice for the coming season. For patrons of dairy factories who desire to furnish their cream or milk in the proper condition, ice is an absolute necessity. Even for use in the farmer's own household, it can hardly be classed among the luxuries. As a means of keeping meat supplies from beef rings in good condition, and in furnishing one of the raw materials for the cream during the heated term, and keeping the butter fresh, it is worth the entire cost.

Two things are required, says the Weekly Sun, if Guelph desires to hold the Winter Fair: A further increase and improvement in hotel accommodation and a betterment in railway station facilities. The station accommodation provided at Guelph was suited to the town of fifty years ago, but is wholly unsuited to the bustling city of to-day. Whenever there is a rush of traffic, as at the Winter Fair, both platform and station are crowded far beyond their capacity. This involves danger both to health and life—danger to health by exposure to cold and storm and danger to life by the crowding of platforms adjoining the tracks on which trains are so frequently passing.

On some farms it is quite noticeable that brood sows and pigs are allowed to run outdoors and seek shelter for themselves during the cold winter weather. In some cases they succeed in pulling through with their life, but when heavy snow storms begin they cannot burrow into their usual nests; around straw stacks. While it is not advisable to leave pigs of any description out thus, there are cases when the pig pen is full up, and it is found advisable to allow the brood sow to run at large for a time. If a platform could be constructed about three or four feet high, facing south, over which a straw stack has been blown during threshing, it will make a fairly warm shelter. In many cases this situation gives a cleaner home than most pig fanciers allow in pens, for the pigs being clean in their way will keep their nest clean when allowed freedom, but when shut up in close quarters, too often does not receive the consideration of a prudent master. Cleanliness is as essential as feeding and where not practised, often results in much waste of food. At shipping time a good chance is offered to pick out the producer who keeps his pig pens clean and tidy, and it is surprising how much comment is indulged thereon.

An important truth, and one the full import of which should be more generally recognized, was stated by Geo. North, of Marden, during the hog session at the Winter Fair. This was that limited production is essential to cheapness of cost in the making of bacon hogs. If cost of production is to be kept down to the neighborhood of four cents it is absolutely necessary that a considerable proportion of the feed shall consist of milk, small grains and potatoes, field gleanings, etc., commodities which cannot be sold as they are. Just so soon as the number of hogs goes beyond the limit fixed by the amount of these by-products available, just so soon does the cost of feeding go up—frequently going so high as to leave no margin of profit.

This is not true of hogs alone, but is also true, in a measure, of all classes of live stock. The man who makes the most satisfactory profit in dairying or fat cattle is the man who turns to account the largest proportion of silage, alfalfa, and such bulky fodder as can be produced in large quantity, and at comparatively little cost. Herein, too, is found the explanation of why sheep should be particularly profitable, on many Ontario farms. The sheep is a good hustler, and will, as Robert Miller said at the Winter Fair, live largely on products which are not only useless, but an actual nuisance. Where the dog evil is held in check, and conditions are otherwise satisfactory sheep should prove one of the most profitable lines in Ontario farming.—Weekly Sun.
