Greetings From General Hughes
The New Year spirit still retains its hold on Major-General Hughes, who shows that he does not forget his loyal supporters, the electors of Victoria and Haliburton Counties, even with the booming of guns and the perturbed state of the Empire, but remembers them and presents each with a beautiful New Year's card bearing the following stanza and lines of friendly greetings:

OBITUARY
Mrs. W. H. McGill.
On January 3rd, at the family residence, 480 Crawford-st., occurred the death of Mrs. McGill, wife of Mr. W. H. McGill, in her 51st year, after a lingering illness of four months. She and Mrs. McGill were much respected residents of Lindsay, having resided here for a great number of years, then removing to Toronto some three years ago. Mrs. McGill was a member of the Cambridge-st. Methodist Church in Lindsay, and was known for herself many warm personal friends.
Rev. W. H. Hanks, of the South Methodist Church, pastor and organist of the family, conducted the services on Monday evening at 8.00 o'clock, and spoke in very tender and comforting words of the departed wife and mother. Miss Mann sang very sweetly "Glorious Lover of My Soul."
Those surviving the deceased are her husband, son Earle, and an only daughter, Della (Mrs. Caster), also her sister, Mrs. W. H. McCreath, Bridge Station, Vancouver; four brothers, Mr. Geo. Mulligan, Grandview, Man.; Mr. Will Mulligan, Lifford, Ont.; Messrs. Sam and Dave Flack, Vancouver, B.C.; and Mr. Alfred Stark, Swan Lake, Man.
The remains were taken on the 5.30 P.M. train for burial in the cemetery at Yvelton, on Tuesday, Jan. 5th, 1915, a short service was conducted there by Rev. A. C. Mac of the Methodist Church, Yvelton.
Funeral tributes marked the considerable love for the late deceased. Much sympathy is expressed to the members of the deceased's family in their sorrow and loneliness.

Bobcaygeon Men Fighters Not Deserters
Quartermaster Sergt. G. Foster and Color-Sergt. Warwick were in Bobcaygeon during last week on military business, and were looked upon with suspicion by the people of the little village.
They were not looking for deserters as it was supposed this to have been the object of their mission; it was recruits they wanted, and as things are quiet around the village, more especially since the lumber business has become dormant, it was considered a good hunting grounds to round up some stalwarts to help to kill the Kaiser.
Bobcaygeon must have a more noble thought and feeling about its brave boys than to think it was the home of deserters; not much, it's the hot bed of fighters.

Immigrants After the War
The war will be followed by a heavy movement of Old Countrymen and especially disbanded soldiers to the outer parts of the Empire, and especially to Canada, because of its accessibility. The Peace of Aix-la-Chapelle, Waterloo, the Crimean war and the Franco-Prussian war were all succeeded by considerable emigration to this country. The cause was unemployment in the United Kingdom—a condition which will be accentuated at the close of this conflict.
The discipline of soldiering prepares men for the hardships of pioneering. Hence it comes that the best settlements in Nova Scotia, Ontario and other Canadian Provinces were begun by ex-soldiers. These men, who had served the Empire abroad, and the United Empire Loyalists, who preferred the Canadian woods to comfort under a foreign flag, laid the British foundations of the Dominion deep and strong.

It need not be feared that an influx of discharged soldiers will tend to militarize public opinion. Having seen active service they fully appreciate the horrors of war, but they and the strain they will introduce into the blood of the nation will give support to reasonable defence measures. It will be the privilege of Canada after the war to receive as many of the able-bodied British soldiers as economic conditions and the welfare of Canadian workmen will permit. As far as possible the ex-soldiers should be encouraged and even assisted to go on the land.

IS CONSCRIPTION COMING IN GREAT BRITAIN
The other day it was announced that Premier Bothera, of the South African States, proposed to draft soldiers from the people because the volunteers were not coming forward to enlist fast enough. Premier Asquith a few weeks ago intimated that if Britain could not get enough volunteers the Government would draft conscripts from the people.
And now Albert R. Carman, writing in Toronto Saturday Night upon the subject of the volunteer system, says plainly what many people are thinking:
"The voluntary system of enlistment is under terrific trial at the present time in the British Islands. I wonder if we quite appreciate in Canada the fact that the British Islands are the last stronghold of voluntary military service.
"There is not another nation in Europe which depends upon the willingness of its manhood to bear arms for national defence. In every other nation—of any importance—the Government takes the power to compel its citizens to serve in the army or navy. Britain alone—among the nations which count—stands out for voluntary service. * * * The Northern States did not escape it in the Civil War. They had repeated drafts to fill the ranks of Grant's army. Britain would not escape it for an hour in the present war if she were not doing her recruiting under cover of the conscript armies of France and Russia—to say nothing of plucky Belgium. * * * But it is idle for the British people—there are about sixty millions of us, all told—to think of defending the most tempting empire in existence in a world given over to conscription, without themselves adopting some military system which will enable them to put a first-class army in the field some time before an ordinary war has burned itself out.
"This war has taught us that we cannot live by warships alone. We are living now by grace of conscript allies. Every young Englishman who has given his two years to deadly dull drilling—every Russian peasant who has learned to bear arms—is daily placing us under a mountainous obligation. It is saving our national life. It is obviously, an empire cannot permanently 'sponge' its 'living. We shall have to prepare to pay our way, and it is only a question whether we can do that without paying the ultimate price of conscription."

Soldiers Attended Divine Service--Splendid Sermon
"Quit You Like Men."
From the above text Rev. Dr. S. J. Shorey, pastor of the Cambridge-st. Methodist Church, preached a beautiful sermon Sunday morning to the soldiers of the 3rd contingent at present stationed in Lindsay. The soldiers turned out in large numbers and made an excellent showing. They were given seats in the middle aisles of the large edifice, and besides listening to an instructive and splendid sermon, also heard appropriate special music. The church was crowded with one of the largest congregations in Dr. Shorey's pastorate.
The sermon was very helpful and also eloquent. In part the reverend gentleman appealed to the soldiers to be men, manly men. In fact God required nothing more of man than that he be man. He does not ask that man shall be an angel. However, everything in man is not manly. He is man by reason of those things which distinguish him from the rest of animals, and man is man by reason of those things which lift him above and distinguish him from the rest of animal creation. A man may be strong physically and yet lack the essential qualities of man, and we complain to-day because men have done things that were utterly unworthy and absolutely inhuman. We call them bigoted, men who go out into the world and destroy the weak. When you quit yourselves like men you stand for the weak. We quit ourselves like men when we take our place in society and acquit our-

The Question of War Justification
Whoever Loses Britain Will Gain

Rev. Dr. Hughson, of Stratford, formerly pastor of the Baptist Church in Lindsay, a few nights ago gave an interesting talk on "Nations and Rulers," a short account of which follows:
Dr. Hughson dealt at some length with the question whether Britain and her Allies were waging a just part in the war. Both sides make appeals for Divine aid and seek to have God on their side, as to which the Kaiser has displayed much confidence. Dr. Hughson said he had studied this phase of the subject seriously and conscientiously, his conclusion being that England's Foreign Secretary, Sir Edward Grey, had absolutely exhausted the resources of diplomacy in the effort to preserve peace. He made proposal after proposal which Germany negated, and tried in vain to get counter-proposals from Germany. The correspondence was definite on this point.
On the other hand, the aims of the German militarist element as expounded by Gen. von Bernhardi were such as to afford justification of themselves, aside from Belgium, for a state of war to suppress them, in the interests of liberty and the highest civilization. The speaker felt that the German people were not primarily to blame for the war, which was engineered by the dominant military element.
Dr. Hughson hoped—the aims of Britain would ever remain as honorable and justifiable as they were in this war. They had not always been so in past centuries, the opium war against China being an example, but in this as in other respects, he hoped there was permanent progress toward the light.
The address was attentively listened to by a large audience.

WEDDING BELLS
FALLON—ALLIN.
A very nice wedding was celebrated at St. Mary's R. C. church Monday morning, when Mrs. Allin, of Elouestown, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. Larry Fallon.
The ceremony took place at 7 o'clock a.m., Rev. Fr. Ferguson tying the nuptial knot.
The bride was assisted by Mrs. J. Robinson, with Mr. P. Murphy filling the role of best man.
A large number of friends were present to witness the ceremony. After the marriage the happy couple repaired to the home of the bride, where an elegant wedding breakfast was awaiting them.
Mr. and Mrs. Fallon will reside in Lindsay.
DIED.
GRAHAM.—In Lindsay, on Friday, Jan. 8, 1915, Margaret Graham, aged 97 years. Funeral private.

YOU SHOULD BE AFRAID OF A COUGH OR COLD.
Coughs and colds do not call for a minute recital of symptoms as they are well known to everyone, but their dangers are not so well known. All the most serious affections of the throat, the lungs and the bronchial tubes are, in the beginning, but coughs and colds.
Many people when they contract a slight cold do not pay any attention to it, thinking perhaps that it will pass away in a day or two. The upshot is that before they know it, it has settled on their lungs.
Too much stress cannot be laid on the fact that on the first sign of a cough or cold it must be gotten rid of immediately, as failure to do this may cause years of suffering from serious lung trouble.
DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP
will cure the cough or cold and prove a preventative from all throat and lung troubles, such as bronchitis, pneumonia and consumption.
Mrs. B. E. Druce, Brighton, Ont., writes: "I am sending you my testimony of your Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, telling you what it did for my little girl. The doctor had given her up as she was, as we thought, going into a decline with the cough she had. I was told by a lady friend to try 'Dr. Wood's' and when she had taken two bottles she was on her feet again, and four bottles cured her."
Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is the best cure for coughs and colds. It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark; the price, 25c and 50c; manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

FRANCE MUST BE LOSER.
France's position, he says, is exactly the reverse of Britain's. Whether the war is lost or won, or ends in a draw, in the case of France the difference will be between greater or smaller ruin more or less lasting. Germany has flooded the iron mines in Lorraine, which enabled France to stand second in Europe to Germany alone in the production of iron. After the war these mines will be pumped out, "but the time will be long, the capital will be dear, and the markets will have been lost." In the north of France the ruin has been as great. Here were the coal and the textile industries. France may have her revenge when the Allies invade Germany by destroying German mines in Westphalia, and demolishing German factories; but this will not help France. It will only mean that she will consolidate British supremacy by destroying a British industrial rival.
