FARM NOTES

Oats is a good food for laying hens, says Inland Poultry Journal, but it is lacking in heating material, and should not be fed alone. Oats alone will make the birds poor and thin. We prefer using it ground and placing it in the morning mash.

Many a man injures his horses by injudicious feeding. He thinks he is giving them kind treatment, but he has something yet to learn. Stock get thin in cold weather, and letting them eat snow is a poor way to water them.

Until the calf is three weeks old, says a writer to Kimball's Dairy farmer, it should be fed three times daily, 2 quarts of clean, warm milk each time—98 degrees is the proper temperature. At the end of the first week a small proportion of the milk may be skimmed, and by the end of the second or third week the entire amount may be skimmed.

Chickens can be hatched in the winter months and profitably raised, says a writer to Inland Poultry Journal. They can be hatched right along from September 1 until June 1, skipping June, July and August as unprofitable months. The little chicks can endure the cold weather better than the very hot weather. Diseases, lice and mites always come with summer months. Winter hatches do not grow so fast as spring hatches. They mature out fast in cold weather, and grow more solid and compact. For winter chickens the larger breeds are better.

Apple growing in Western New York has come to be a very profitable business, says Green's Fruit-Grower. Orchards bear every year, under improved methods of cultivation, and farmers are placing more dependence on the crop as they learn that it is possible to make the trees bear regularly. Only a few years ago a failure of the crop was looked for every second year at least, and failures frequently occurred more often. But the farmer has learned that this was not due to an immutable law of nature, but was the result of ignorance and lack of proper care. For three years past this section has had paying crops of apples.

GOOD ROADS IN ENGLAND.

In 1906 $910,250 was spent on the maintenance of 1,094 miles of roads in Yorkshire, England, according to facts furnished by United States Consul, W. C. Hamm, of Hull, in the U. S. Consular and Trade Reports. This was an average of $832.50 per mile. This looks like rather expensive work, but the results are very gratifying. On these roads one horse can draw a load which would require two or three horses over the usual country road in America. It is a rare sight to see a rutty or muddy road in that locality. Most of them are macadamized, and were well constructed originally.

CLOVER V. TIMOTHY.

The relative values of timothy hay and clover as a food for horses was decisively settled by an experiment at the Illinois Experiment Station. A ration composed of corn, oats and clover hay was fed to horses during a period of 92 days, for the purpose of fattening them for the market. During that time the horses gained 227 pounds per head, or an average of three pounds per day. Another lot of horses was fed the same ration with the exception that timothy hay was fed for clover. This lot, during the same period, 92 days, gained 142 pounds, or an average of 1.5 pounds per day. The timothy lot ate practically the same amount of grain as did the clover lot, and yet the horses gained only one-half as much in the day, and did so because it contains over double the quantity of protein than the hay.

USE AND ABUSE OF THE SEPARATOR.

Do not keep the separator in or about the barn. You may save a little time in this way, but it will be smooth, level ground, or with a chance to back down hill. Do not check up his head. Stand directly in front of him, with both reins gripped close up under the chin in the left hand, and with the right hand holding the point of the left hand thill. Utter not a word. Push gently backward on the bit. Steady yourself with right hand and touch the colt with the toe of your shoe two or three inches above his hoof. If he lifts the foot then loosen both hands and rub his face. Repeat the actions until the colt comprehends clearly that the touch of your shoe means to set his foot back. Give him plenty of time to think about it. Should he not lift his foot at the first touch, again touch him with increasing energy. After one foot is lifted touch the other, but do not before crossing the colt. Do not hurry him. When he moves his hind feet in unison with his fore feet his lesson is learned, not before. When a colt is hastily and angrily pushed and hurt in front he will rear before he will move his hind feet; he forgets they are loose. His attention concentrated on the pain you are causing. But six inches of treat in front, gained maybe a inch at a time, will cramp him. With opportunity for adjustment he will ease himself by retracting his hind feet. Next time this relief will occur to him more quickly, and finally the broken horse moves all his feet as backing as automatically as in advancing.

OMEMEE.

(Crowded out last week.)

J. T. Beatty, our seed merchant, shipped a tonload of the clover per last week. The hauling and loading was done by Wm. Magee. Chas. Ivory, who for so many years conducted a dry goods and grocery store in the village, has disposed of the same to Mr. Dobson, who takes possession of the store in a few days. As soon as stock-taking is over, Mr. Dobson purposes running off the old stock at reduced rates to make room for his spring goods. Mr. Ivory intends travelling for one of the wholesale houses soon. Miss Aiken is at present spending a few of her holidays with Miss Larsons, of Omemee. Miss Aiken was formerly manager of the military department in Mr. Ivory's store.

The exciting, as well as the amusing game of the season, was a hockey match—the Benedict vs. the Bachelors last night in the open rink. The referee was kept busy placing on the fence those who fell because they were tripped by others. The music of the band, the small boys' orchestra, who voluntarily rendered their best compositions through every knot-hole in the fence, together with the artistic handling of the puck, all combined to provide a rich entertainment for the many onlookers.

Mr. K. Jardine is assisting at the stock-taking in Mr. Ivory's store. The city fathers convened at the Bradburn Hall on Monday evening last to receive certain petitions and dispense with necessary business.

Mr. Harry Clarke, who has been on the survey in Quebec for some months returned home last week for a little rest and recreation.

Miss Olive McQuade entertained her Sunday school class last Friday afternoon and evening to a drive and refreshments.

Mrs. Paton of Manitoulin is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. Jardine.

Mr. T. C. Ivory in the city of Toronto Saturday transacting business.

Mr. W. H. Kennedy is assessor for the village for 1907.

Despite the very unfavorable weather Sunday afternoon, quite a large congregation greeted the new pastor, Rev. Mr. Peckover, in the Presbyterian church. The manner in which the first sermon was delivered, together with the mission of his work among Omemee people. He came with the same purpose as was Philip's to Samaria—to preach the gospel, which implied: doing the people good, making plain the way of salvation, assisting in growth and grace, a warmer fellowship, a more earnest prayer, a deeper comfort, and a brighter hope of everlasting life.

Mariposa Council Proceedings

The members met Feb. 11, all present except Mr. Shaver. A deputation from Seagrave, consisting of Mr. Charles Aldred and other ratepayers waited on the council, desiring that lot 24, concession 1, Mariposa, be transferred from S. No. 15 to U. S. S. No. 17, Mariposa and Reach.

Mr. Joseph Timney was present regarding the obstructions to his drain on lot 15, con. 9.

A large deputation of persons interested in the Hasler drain were present and were represented by Mr. R. J. McLaughlin, of Lindsay, in response to the notice of the last council meeting. The township's interests were protected by Mr. Thos. Stewart, of Lindsay. The afternoon session was spent searching the accounts reports, plans, profits, and various other papers in connection with matters pertaining to said drain. Mr. McLaughlin also represented the creditors of the late John Robinson, contractor, who are interested to the extent of $300.

Upon receiving the report of their statements, Mr. Stewart asked the Hancock people if they were willing to bear their pro-rata share of this expense, but there was silence. No settlement was arrived at.

The clerk read a communication from the National Sanitarium at Gravenhurst.

The auditors' reports of the accounts for 1906 was presented to the council.

Mr. S. J. Fox sent in an account of $9.31 for tile bought last November, but the present account, not knowing of the account, the clerk was asked to refer to Mr. Fox to find out who purchased the tile and for what use.

Mr. Yarmold desired an extension of time for the completion of the Dunn drain report, but the clerk was authorized to inform Mr. Yarmold that the council desire the report at once.

A copy of the judgment of His Honor Judge Harding in the suit of Brady v. the Corporation of Mariposa, was given the Council. Also Mr. Cummings attached his account for costs therein.

Mr. Stephen Washington handed in a report as to closing the fence and
