Six Months In Central Prison For Trifling With Air Brakes on Special

Mr. James Mansfield, of Kilmount who was remanded on Saturday came up last Monday before Magistrate Moore for sentence. It will be remembered that he was charged with endangering the lives of those on a hockey special from Kilmount to Haliburton.

Mr. L. V. O'Connor appeared for the accused and laid before the Magistrate a petition signed by 65 prominent citizens of Kilmount, asking that he be released on suspended sentence. Mr. O'Connor stated that the accused was intoxicated at the time and remembered nothing of what he had done.

Magistrate Moore stated that it was a very serious case, as every possible means must be taken to protect the public travelling on these lines. It was very serious for any person to endanger the lives of the passengers by rendering the train untraversable, but more so for one who had served time as a brakeman. No ordinary person, he stated, would know how to find or how to open this angle cock, which if it had not been discovered, would have resulted in the death of a large number, for which the accused would be tried for murder.

The magistrate stated that the young man was liable to life imprisonment under one section of the Act and to 2 years under another, but taking everything into consideration, he would sentence him to six months in the central prison in Toronto.

Bad Accident to Well Known Downeyville Farmer

A serious accident, which is likely to prove fatal, happened to Mr. Robert Winn, a farmer of about 62 years of age, living about 2 miles south of Downeyville, on Thursday last. Mr. Winn and his son had been busy drawing wood all day and were returning home with a load late in the evening, just before dusk, when the accident happened. The son was driving the team, while Mr. Winn was sitting on the back of the load, when the sleigh slewed on the glare ice, throwing him to the ground. He landed on his shoulder and head, resulting in a fractured shoulder bone and a fracture at the base of the skull. The son picked the injured man up, and hurried home, where the doctor was called, and an examination showed the above injuries.

When picked up Mr. Winn was unconscious, and up to last night had not recovered his presence of mind, and no hope is entertained for him.

GOOD LECTURE ON FORESTRY

On Monday in the Assembly Hall of the Lindsay Collegiate Institute, Mr. Abraham Knechtel, inspector of Dominion forests, and game ranger, delivered a lecture to a large and appreciative audience. The lecturer did not arrive in time to begin at eight o'clock, owing to the lateness of the evening train. However, the audience was well rewarded for waiting, and though the full lecture was not given, there was enough to show the great advantage Canada has in her forests.

Mr. Knechtel began by saying that he spent most of his time in the woods. Here he is kept busy directing the fire rangers, and in the winter comes to Ottawa and prepares reports. This requires all his time, except about two months, when he is free to give lectures throughout the country. The following is a brief account of the part of the subject covered last night, "Why forests should be preserved."

(1) Because wood serves many purposes. It is used for fuel, paper, lumber, building, and a great many other things. It is required for bridges. Also many bridges built in marshy places require thousands of pounds to get a firm foundation. In Italy the use of wood is reduced to a minimum, but even there the country does not produce enough wood, and has to import vast quantities.

(2) Decaying leaves form humus, and this absorbs and retains water, the roots decay and leave channels for the water to soak in. The surface is uneven, and so water lies in pools, and does not run off. In these ways the forest keeps back the water and does not let it run away rapidly. The streams are kept with an even flow without trees, the streams become rushing torrents in spring and almost dry in summer. This was observed in Huron county, where the Maitland river, which was once a fine river, has now become a shallow stream.

(3) Trees prevent the washing away of the soil. It is cut and worn away if not protected by leaves and held by roots.

(4) Trees form a good wind break for cold winds in winter and for hot winds in summer.

(5) Trees are useful for health and recreation. This is also a source of revenue as 75,000 tourists came in last year. Our own people are kept home. No finer or better health resorts can be found than our own. The atmosphere from evergreen trees has a curative effect on those suffering with tuberculosis.

(6) They should be preserved for their beauty. Canada has more natural beauty than Europe. The several beautiful views of Muskoka, sunset and sunrise showing fine color effects, also fine lake views, were seen.

(7) Forests protect game and fish.

HOW TO PRESERVE FOREST

(1) Protect from fire. For this purpose fire rangers were on the move all the time. In spite of this 300,000 acres of good timber were destroyed last year. All the young seedlings on this would be destroyed, and the loss cannot be estimated.

(2) How to plant a forest. Collect cones of evergreen in fall, get in the seeds and dry them. Then in spring prepare the soil as you would for a vegetable garden. Plant the seeds and let them grow for two years. Then plant out again and leave for two more years. Then set

The Success of Another Lindsay Boy

It was with pleasure that this journal announced a few months ago the appointment of Mr. Wesley Greer as manager for Ontario for the Pacific Coast Fire Insurance Company. Prior to this appointment Mr. T. W. Greer was inspector for the same company for the Province of Ontario, and through his success as inspector the company saw fit to appoint him manager for Ontario. During the few months that he has been manager for Ontario for this company Mr. Greer has shown to his employers his worth as a fire insurance man, and the same company have done him the honor of appointing him general manager, and his duties will call him to the head office of the company at Vancouver, B.C., for which place he left Toronto yesterday. Mr. Greer started the insurance business in Lindsay, his insurance business in a humble way as an insurance agent, until he had secured a nice premium income, when our local loan company, the Victoria Loan & Savings Co. took him in their employ, and the fire insurance business carried on by the present Loan & Savings Co. at the present time is the continuation of the business secured by Mr. Greer. Mr. Greer decided to branch out into more extensive work, and for several years was the inspector for the Metropolitan Fire Ins. Co. prior to his appointment with the Pacific Coast Fire Ins. Co. Although Lindsay has not got a fire insurance company of its own, still the people of Lindsay will be glad to know that one of her young men has succeeded in attaining the position of general manager to one of our leading Canadian tariff fire insurance companies. Wesley, while in Lindsay was an enthusiastic curler and was a member of both the tankard and Winnipeg rinks. We speak all kinds of success to our friend, Mr. Greer, and we are sure that the Pacific Coast Fire Ins. Co. have secured a capable man as general manager.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

When Omeme was last visited the village had just succeeded in getting the Grand Trunk Railway to place a platform at Sturgeon-st., for the convenience of passengers. This obviated a mile long trip to the junction. Since that time, a neat building, comfortably heated and lighted, has been erected, and Omemeites should feel grateful to the G.T.R.

Other improvements, including the splendid residence of Mrs. McCrean were noted. Several new and substantial houses have been erected, and all in all the village presents a solid appearance.

TOWN GETTING DIRTY MILK

First Deputy-Reeve Lewis emphatically stated at the meeting of the town council held last night that inferior milk was being distributed in town by milk vendors and the same gentleman advocated that an inspector of milk and dairies be appointed in Lindsay. First Deputy-Reeve Lewis should be in a position to know what he is talking about because of the fact that he is a practical man, being proprietor of the Victoria Creamery.

The milk offered for sale in town has been tested and the results are as follows: "There is no protection along this line whatever," said Ald. Lewis, "and milk of any grade can be delivered regardless of quality. This town considers it very important to have good water and a good deal of money has been expended to secure good water, but milk is a food and should be delivered in its natural condition. I have tested lower than two per cent. The serious part is that the milk is distributed in town in a tainted condition, despite the fact that the milk direct from the cow is wholesome and a good food. Milk has been delivered in a dirty condition, and once the milk is contaminated with germ life it is there to stay. By a new provision of the act just out we can specify and say that no milk can be distributed in town less than 3 1/2 per cent."

First Deputy-Reeve Lewis stated that he thought that Mr. D. A. Mackenzie was qualified to make these tests and also would make a good inspector for dairies. He also gave notice of motion to the effect that at the next regular meeting of council he would introduce a by-law regulating the standard of milk.
