OMEMEE

The Thriving Metropolis of Emily (By T. W. McLean.)

Omeme, Feb. 20.—The basket social on Friday, evening at the home of Mr. Bert Sanderson, under the auspices of the Home Circle, drew a large crowd. The program and sale of the baskets followed by the feast of good things, kept the audience fully interested. Mr. J. A. Wylie disposed of the baskets at good prices, some of them bringing amounts in three figures. The receipts were quite gratifying.

Rev. D. H. Currie was able to resume his pastoral duties on Sabbath after his severe illness, from which his friends are pleased to see him recovered. Another encouraging feature, is that his son, Master Hartley, who was seriously ill, is convalescing satisfactorily.

Some of our citizens drove out to the basket social at Mount Pleasant last Friday evening.

Mrs. I. Thornton, of Colborne, returned home on Saturday after a visit with her daughter, Mrs. F. Sandy.

The sale of periodicals and magazines of the public library on Thursday evening was very well attended, and the usual prices were secured through the efficient work of Mr. T. C. Stephenson, who was auctioneer.

The executive has decided to inaugurate a prize competition and bonus money contest for the persons selling the greatest number of membership tickets. This will give some of our young people a chance to secure a valuable prize, and at the same time make some ready money by working evenings and Saturdays.

Particulars may be had from the president or secretary.

The mystery and solemnity that attend the announcement of death was felt on Wednesday morning, when it was whispered about that Mrs. Charles Rutherford had crossed the bar. The deceased lady was stricken with pneumonia only a few days previous, and though her well preserved system made a gallant struggle, the concurrent weakening of the heart was unendurable, and the end came somewhat quickly and calmly. The late Mrs. Rutherford who had attained the great old age of 75 years and 9 months, was predeceased by her husband some years ago. The funeral on Friday was largely attended; the cortege proceeded to the Presbyterian cemetery on the second concession of Emily, where interment took place.

The Rev. D. H. Currie was the officiating clergyman. Having lived her lifetime in this section of the country, the late Mrs. Rutherford was widely and favorably known. Her high type of Christian character was evidenced in her retiring manner, her kindly disposition, her hospitality to the sick and needy, her desire to see good in every act, her faithful adherence to her church and her greatest love of a mother to her own immediate family. Her life was an inspiration to others to serve the Master she so strongly and faithfully followed and to whom she so peacefully responded when the final summons came to "Come up higher."

Her only regret was for the welfare of her dear ones left behind. The immediate relatives are: Her daughter, Mrs. D. Haddock, of Omeme; her step-daughter, Mrs. T. Gardner, of Cavan, and her stepson, Mr. C. Rutherford, of Victoria county. To these and the large circle of other near relatives, the sincerest condolences are extended.

Miss Muriel Morrison, of Peterboro, spent Sunday with her mother.

The Presbyterians have put in a handsome new organ which was used in the service on Sunday for the first time. They will hold an organ recital in the near future, the talent to be supplied from Toronto.

Our local hockeyists were disappointed that the Lindsay Counter Hoppers did not come down last Wednesday for a game.

The Misses Porter, who were visiting with their mother, have left for their western places of business.

Mr. Charles McCaffery, of Toronto, was a visitor at his home over the week end.

Dr. Davis has on exhibition one of the freaks of nature in a calf with two well developed heads.

Mr. C. Clarke is home from the north for a few holidays. He looks hale and hearty.

Messrs. J. Boys and A. Tully, of Mount Pleasant were in town on Monday.

Our local rink manager announces a greater carnival than ever for Thursday evening of this week. Another list of prizes is hung up for those that are winners. Everybody come and enjoy the evening's fun of novel costumes and races.

Mr. Thomas Kennedy has been confined to his room for some days by illness.

Mr. B. Terry Leaves For West

Saturday evening, Mr. Batoche Terry, who has been a member of J. Sutcliffe and Sons staff for the past few years, was presented with a beautiful watch fob, suitably engraved, by his fellow employees, he having severed his connection with that firm, and left on Monday for Saskatoon, where he has accepted a similar position with Cairns and Co.

Mr. Terry will be greatly missed in town, where he was very popular in both social and sporting circles. He was also a member of Cambridge street Methodist church choir.
