Very Creditable Report

In another column of to-days issue of The Watchman will be noticed a display advertisement, a financial statement from the Dominion Life Assurance Co., of which Mr. P. A. Ferguson is the popular local agent and district representative. It is particularly pleasing to note the low mortality, over the increase in the net surplus of 29 per cent., and the fine rate of interest (7.96 per cent.) earned on the Company's invested assets, which is the highest rate of all Canadian Companies.

From year to year the Dominion Life Assurance Company has grown with the times, there being a remarkable growth in all departments until to-day the Company, although not the largest, is considered to be one of the best profit-paying companies to policy holders and stands out as one of the best and most reliable companies doing business in the insurance line. The report on this whole, as printed elsewhere in this issue, is exceedingly gratifying and cannot help but be pleasing to all policy holders as well as would-be policy holders.

A World Benefactor

It was said of the late Lord Lister, during his life time, that he "saved more lives every year than Napoleon took in all his wars." One might think that a man of whom this might be said even by exaggeration would be a great popular hero, and that his name would be a household word in every home, yet it is probable that when the death of Lord Lister was announced in the papers on Monday the majority of readers learned for the first time that such a man had lived. Humanity still looks for its heroes among the men who destroy life, rather than among the men who save.

An authority upon surgical matters writing about 1904 used these words, "Thirty years ago one patient of three who submitted to a surgical operation died therefrom; now the figure is less than one in thirty, though operations are performed every day that would have been criminal three decades ago." For the change that has been brought about the credit is largely due to Lord Lister, whose development of antiseptic surgery has robbed the operating table of many of its terrors and its fatalities. Lord Lister's discovery was not an accident, it might almost be described as a growth. The man who first found out that yeast was a living thing made the beginning. Then came the great French chemist Pasteur, and his experiments with "germs," "microbes," and "bacteria," which excited some of his contemporaries to merriment and some to ridicule. Finally came Lister, who made practical operation of Pasteur's discoveries.

If we lived in an age when humanity was capable of properly appreciating its real heroes and benefactors the death of Lord Lister would be the one event of supreme importance in the record of the world's news. As it is it has scarcely attracted public attention. But humanity will continue to enjoy the benefits of his life's work just the same. And no doubt, Lord Lister himself, during his life, was more concerned about his work than about his name.

First Lindsay Winter Carnival was Big Success—Made in Lindsay Exhibition

NOTES OF INTEREST.

DOG RACE.
The dog race was one great feature of the carnival. The small boys and some big boys were more excited over the event than a woman buying broken dishes at a Dutch auction sale. Robinson and Abercrombie competed, the former winning the first prize.

Piper Lunan and son kept the crowd amused all day and were followed by the people wherever they went. "The Highland March," "The Campbells are Coming," "Bonnie Dundee" and other heart melting strains were discoursed by the able Scotsman and his son.

Announcer McGahey was on the job all day and his rich, sonorous voice could be heard reverberating from the market to McConnell's corner. His horse didn't "look well." Get him a pair of smoked glasses, William.

THE OLDEST MAN
Several entries were received at the fair yesterday in the old age competition, for which Mr. Steve Oliver is giving a pair of Houdans, a special prize. However, up-to-date Mr. Jas. Davidson, of Little Britain, is the oldest man entered, he being eighty-six years of age this coming May. The contest is open during the three days.

The various events were well contested Thursday. In the competition for the best carriage team there were three entries, namely: W. E. Stewart, Lindsay, P.O.; J. Grant, Cannington, and H. Earle, Ida, Ont. The first and second prizes went to the two first-mentioned gentlemen, respectively.

Mr. Harry Daniels secured first prize for the best comic costume, namely $5.

AN ACTIVE WORKER.
One of the active directors of the Lindsay Advancement Club who has done yeoman service in connection with the Winter Carnival is Mr. W. E. Kelcher, of B. J. Gough's staff. He worked hard in his department and looked after things well. Mr. Kelcher was a member of the finance committee and gathered in the shekels. He is energetic and courteous, so could not be refused.

Soloman in his glory was not arrayed in such fashion as some of the members of Killcoycott's rube band, and the playing of the musicianers was at times much better than the hand organ music occasionally heard on Lindsay streets. However, the rube band, did well and attracted a little attention.

The buns made by Mr. J. A. Morrison, the baker, were so tempting that several ladies wanted to break the set and taste them. However, this was not allowed by Supervisor Blackwell, it being against the rule. Strange, the ladies always have a failing for "buns."

Peterboro citizens are jealous of Lindsay's big Winter Carnival and well they may be—it is a "hum-dinger," to use the vernacular.

The Highland Pipers live considerable north of Lindsay where it is much colder. Perhaps, that is one reason why they took a chance and paraded Lindsay streets with their bare knees exposed to the breezes, the weather being a trifle warmer in Lindsay.

A "Made in Lindsay" exhibition. It sounds good, looks good, feels good and no doubt many of the exhibits taste good (the pastry for instance).

MORE EXHIBITS
One of the finest displays in the manufacturers' hall is that of E. Hood & Son, manufacturing knitters. This consists of a number of knitted garments for winter use, the workmanship being of the best. The goods are of heavy weight and substantial, and several fine combination suits as well as knit wrappers are displayed.

"Morrison's Standard Bread" appears in bold type on white cards placed over a display of bread and buns. The taste and flavor of a Morrison loaf are well known, being delicious. Mr. Morrison is building up a good trade, his good baking being a remedy for all ills.

C. H. Hughan, another local florist, has a very neat and artistic display, consisting of cut flowers in profusion as well as pretty vines and other green house beauties, all well arranged.

Mr. Walter Dixon, of the Morton Studio, arranged a tasty display in the council chamber. The artistic work turned out by this well known studio is so well known that no further comment is needed.

The beautiful exhibit of Maxson's greenhouse plants, potted ferns, etc., was admired by all. It is a neatly arranged at the extreme west end of the building and the plants, cannot help but catch the eye.

Mr. C. E. Tamlin made a fine exhibit of bread. This reliable baker keeps the staff of life in the front rank at all times.

Thursday proved a great business day for the merchants. Even the few grouchers who failed to loosen up and assist the movement—admitted the influx of people made their cash account larger last night.

After the great parade, which was made up of queer, curious and comical characters, intended to please; the street sports were next in order, which were carried out according to program by Messrs. A. Gillies, P. J. Breen, G. Blackwell, Joe. Hickson and Dr. Sutton, of Onemee.

Three entries for the dog race were placed with the committee. They were Noble Robinson, Roy Abercrombie and Mills. After a rough and tumble fight between two of the dogs, and a proclamation of peace was issued, away they went down Kent-st., the great crowd cheering and shouting as they shot by. Robinson was awarded 1st prize, $1.50, Roy Abercrombie, 2nd, $1.

The man from the country with the largest load was Mr. Thos. Middleton, of Ops. The sleigh was packed from the whiffletrees to the extreme point of the hind runner. The total number being 55 persons. He was awarded 1st prize, $8.

Handsomest carriage team, Ernie Stewart, Ops, $8, J. Grant, Cannington, 2nd, $5.

Comic turnout—Steve Oliver 1st, $8, Ollie Kellett 2nd, $5.

Wheelbarrow race, six entries, McNeil, of Lindsay, taking first prize. The tug-of-war was well contested, twelve men on each side—the east vs. the west. Peter Hawkins, of Ops, picked a team from the east who were successful in holding their opponents for the limited time, three minutes, and as a result secured first prize $12.

In comic costume Harry Daniels was awarded 1st prize, $5, Bert Naylor 2nd, $3.

Fat man's race—In this much interest was taken. The following was the line-up: Peter Hawkins, Frank Hutton, Jos. Hickson, Jas. Hickey and Joe Lucas. Joe Hickson 1st, $2, Frank Hutton 2nd, $1.

Mr. Robert Menzies has been on the alert late and early since the beginning of the carnival. Go where you would, the genial Robert was to be seen entertaining the ladies, and demonstrating the "Made in Lindsay" products.

Mr. Wm. Hore has been prominently identified with the movement, keeping the people warm and spreading good cheer through the building.

Mr. Wm. McGill acted as peace-maker both in and out of the building.

NOTES ON THE DAY.
Mr. Steve Oliver put up a special prize of a pair of Silver Polish fowl for the young man under 21 years of age driving the farthest to the winter carnival. The first entry was received Thursday when Mr. Harry Earle, of Ida, Ont., drove to town, a distance of 22 miles.

Mr. Joseph Hickson is a dead game sport from the first shake of the dice. Joe took part in the fat man's race on Thursday, and despite the fact that he carries about 215 pounds of solid bone and muscle, he stepped over the wire three yards in advance of all competitors.

There were several new turn-outs in the parade Thursday and there were new ones in to-day's turnout. It pays to advertise and the putting of a float in the parade is one good way of advertising.

Mr. Bert Naylor, the enterprising young tonsorial artist, who has one of the tiddest and best barber shops in town, had a representative in costume in the parade on the three days. He caused barrels of fun.

The Warder turnout in the parade looked spic and span. A high stepping horse drawing a light and high red cutter, the driver and companion wearing "plug" hats. The cards on the side bore the following inscription: "The Warder leads; others follow; read The Warder for the latest news" and "The Warder leads in the neatest and best job printing."

The Citizens' Band rendered several good selections on Kent-st. which were much appreciated.

Henry Daniels secured the first prize yesterday afternoon for the best comic outfit, being costumed

Chief Inspector Hughes Retires on $2,000 Allowance

Chief Public School Inspector Jas. L. Hughes, of Toronto, brother of Col. the Hon. Sam. Hughes, of Lindsay, will retire at midsummer. The Toronto board of education granted his request for this, and set the amount of his yearly allowance after retirement at $2,000, which is half his present salary. Mr. Hughes' request came before the board in the form of an amendment to the report of the management committee and brought forth many expressions of regret that his long connection with the school system is to be severed. It was stated that his reason for wishing to give up active work was that he felt the time had come when he had earned a rest, and that his service now had not the vigor which marked it in former years.

Mr. Hughes enjoys the distinction of being the second inspector of longest service on the continent. He was appointed in 1874, when there were but 68 teachers under his charge. He was born on a farm near Bowmanville, and lived there until 18 years old, attending his father's private school near the town. From there he went straight to the Normal school here. Graduating, he taught for one and a half years in Frankfort village. Then he came to Toronto, and taught seven years. At the end of that time he was made inspector. He is 66 years old.

ROBBERS HELD UP THE CASHIER

Toronto, Feb. 17.—Swooping down upon a genuine opium joint at midnight Inspectors Kennedy, Cuddy and three detectives nabbed Jim Lee, a grocer, at 187 East Queen-st., and sufficient opium and real Chinese whiskey to fill two police patrol wagons. Entering by the rear and front doors the officers surprised about a dozen yellow-faced hilarious individuals, who tried to break for liberty. While the whiskey was being carried to the wagons Lee ferreted out the opium and made for the rear window, but he was collared by Detective Bloodworth. He tried to get away from Bloodworth three times, but with no avail. Opium valued at about $500, and what the officers termed as the pure undiluted stuff, ready for the pipe, was thrown in the wagon, and the whiskey, imported from China in pint bottles and packed in large cases, completely loaded two wagons.

The decision arrived at on Friday night by Messrs. P. C. Breen, Albert Ashmore, and Peter Hawkins in settlement of the dispute as to who was entitled to receive the money offered to the winning twelve in the tug-of-war, was that the money offered will be donated to the Ross Memorial Hospital. This is a final settlement in reference to the event during the carnival, but it may possibly be revived at the spring fair, which will be held in April next.

PRISONER ESCAPED.
FLED ACROSS THE ICE TO SURROUNDING ISLANDS.
Kingston, Ont., Feb. 15.—Alexander Pelow, who was arrested here on a charge of stealing two valuable fox skins from W. G. Rogers, of Ganouque, and who was taken back to that place for trial escaped from an officer while being taken from the police station to the Police Court. When last seen he was crossing the frozen bay and it is thought that he has gone to one of the islands.

WERE RELEASED.
Viterbo, Italy, Feb. 15.—The court which for a year which has been engaged in the trial of the 35 members of the Camorra to-day ordered the release of Francesco Desiderio and Antonio Percuoco, two of the men accused of having been present in the Aida Tavern, in Bagnoli, on May, 26, 1906, when Genarro was condemned to death for treachery by a court of the Camorra.

Intense excitement was created among the public when the order for their liberation became known. The judge gave as his reason for the step that both prisoners had already served in jail what would be the maximum penalty if they were found guilty of being accomplices.

Seven more Camorristas are to be released to-morrow and a further thirteen the next day for a similar reason.
