Lindsay Officials of Methodist Church Favor the Union

The regular meeting of the quarterly official board of the Cambridge-st. Methodist church was held last night, there being eighteen members present. Ballots were passed around and a vote was taken on the question of Church Union (union with the Presbyterian and Congregational churches), which resulted in twelve voting for the union and six against. Several members were not present, but their ballots will be properly filled and handed into the secretary. The vote in the Queen-st. Methodist church was taken some weeks ago, the result being that the vote was unanimous in favor of the union.

Diabetes

is one of the most cruel maladies to which mankind is subject, the many complications arising from time to time making life seem almost unbearable. For many diseases, medical, scientific and physiological knowledge and experience, gained from years of deep research, has achieved remarkable results, but up to now, little has been discovered of practical value in the treatment and cure of diabetes. In fact, most people have begun to look upon the disease as well nigh incurable. Even in the medical profession can be found doctors who are of the same opinion regarding sceptically any claim to ameliorate or improve the conditions of a diabetic patient. It can, however, be proved that "Sand's Antidiabetic" lastingly cures all cases of diabetes. Full particulars from the Sanol Mfg. Co., Winnipeg, Man. Price $2.00 per bottle, from E. Big Musical Production Monday

Manager W. H. Roenigk, of the Academy of Music, this morning received the following letter from Mr. A. J. Small, of Toronto, manager of the production, "Madame Sherry," which comes to the Academy next Monday night. The letter is as follows:

Dear Sir,—As the copy of letter herewith will demonstrate, have arranged with the proprietors of "Mme. Sherry" to play the Canadian cities at the straight $1.50 scale; that is, $1, $1.50, gallery 50c, box seats $2. As you may perhaps know, they have been charging $2 top price pretty nearly everywhere and it seems to me that at the scale now agreed upon for Canada that you would be able to give this excellent musical show capacity business without any difficulty at all. It has been a tremendous money-getter everywhere and I hope your town will not be an exception.

Yours very truly,
A. J. SMALL.

MARRIAGES.

COATSWORTH-TROTTER
A pretty wedding was celebrated on Tuesday, Feb. 13th inst., when the Hotel Benson was united in Mr. Fred Coatsworth, wine clerk at marriage to Miss Lucretia Trotter, of Hall's Bridge. The pleasing event took place at the rectory of St. Paul's church, Rev. J. H. Kingston, performing the ceremony. After a trip to various points west the young couple have returned to town where they will in future reside.

The Section Man —an Appreciation

While telephone and telegraph operators are being pestered for information concerning late trains in these days of winds and drifts, and snow-bound passengers are impatiently kicking their heels miles from nowhere, there is little thought wasted on the man out on the road. The winter's storms may fill in the cuts, the spring freshets may carry away culverts, and the daily wear and tear may loosen bolts and racks, but the miles and miles of trails must always be prepared for traffic. In the heat of summer, and the cold of mid-winter, to the rains of April, and during the bleak days of November, the section man must always cover the stretch of road entrusted to his care. From your window seat you whirl past little groups of men at various distances along the line but they receive no more attention in your thoughts than any of the telegraph poles that flit past with painful monotony.

Now and then an official car passes over the line, is side-tracked in the yards, and the roadmaster casts a critical eye over the general appearance of the roadbed objects to something on one side, criticises on another and then is gone. Meanwhile the section men toil away under all conditions of weather, a daily round of labor that changes with the seasons.

They tell about the responsibilities of the engineer, the conductor, the telegrapher and others connected with the railway business, who generally appear in the limelight, but it must be admitted that as the tiny pinions in a watch contribute their share of the work of the combined mechanism so does the section man share in the responsibilities of "railroading." Even the begrimed official has his part to play.

Of those who toil out doors there are none who must apply themselves so continuously as the section man. Passengers, freight and mails must be rushed from one end of the country to the other in spite of the feelings of the section man, who must be as proof against heat as of cold, and when the rain catches them miles from shelter they must turn the other cheek to the wind. When it is 20 degrees below, the switches must be kept in order and the line must be gone over with practically the same regularity as when the 99 degrees above register has been reached, and the long stretch of track becomes a narrow furnace converging in the distance, and the heat waves lifting from the rails.

And when cars pile up over an open switch or two trains lock together head-on, it is the section men who are called out at any hour of the night or early morning, when most of these accidents occur. Their work seldom receives notice, and yet it is their labor that has made travelling pleasurable over smooth roadbeds, and it is their watchfulness that has prevented the list of accidents from being more extended. —Examiner.

Social Gathering at Janetville —Wm. Peel Home From the West

A very pretty little house party was participated in at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Bradburn, Janetville, on Monday evening, Feb. 19th, given in honor of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Peel, of West Selkirk, Man., and their mother, Mrs. Alex. Bradburn.

At 7 o'clock p.m. thirty-two invited guests enjoyed an excellent oyster supper prepared and served by the host and hostess, at the conclusion of which Mr. Wm. Peel responded to the toast of the occasion, which pleased everyone.

He took as his subject the "Past, the Present and the Future," recalling vividly to memory the old pioneer days of Ontario, and the present comforts and social happenings, inspiring all with the future greatness of the Canadian empire, with the vast prairie inheritance. Oh! what field for some philosopher to write about.

The guests consisted of relatives and Mr. Peel's neighbors of pioneer days. Mr. Peel was an old Ontario boy, having emigrated with his parents, brothers and sisters from the county of Cavan, Ireland, when a boy of seven years old, then settling with his parents in the township of Cartwright near Janetville. In 1870 he went west with the first expedition under Lord Wolsey. After the Red River rebellion was suppressed he took up land near Winnipeg and made that occupation a success in every way. He is also the proud possessor of two world's fair diplomas—one from Paris, France, and one from Glasgow, Scotland, for wheat, oats and barley. He still owns a farm of a section of land. Three years ago he retired to West Selkirk with his wife to live and enjoy a private life. He and Mrs. Peel are at present visiting the leading towns and cities of Ontario, where his different friends reside. Mr. Peel is a Conservative in politics, an active member of the Methodist church all his life, and an honorary member of the Veteran Association of Winnipeg. He is a brother of Mrs. Alex. Bradburn, of Janetville.

Trouble Over Teacher in No 8 Verulam School

A communication signed "Ratepayer," has been received by The Warder during the past week. The correspondence is in reference to the re-opening of the school in Section No. 8 Verulam and the writer claims that many appeals have been made to have it opened but all are in vain. It is also claimed that the teacher who had charge of the school last year, gave entire satisfaction in all respects, to the ratepayers and Inspector, as far as one knows, and that she, along with another qualified teacher, are both at home all winter. Two schools on either side of S. S. No. 8 Verulam are being taught by teachers who have only permits granted them, and yet the Inspector will not grant either of those a permit to teach.

The writer considers the law of the province should not permit the existing state of affairs to continue, or permit trustees and Inspector to carry this disagreeable situation to what might be termed a school feud.

Mr. G. E. Broderick, Inspector, was seen by a Warder reporter and while he admits the school is closed he attaches all the blame upon the trustees who are unwilling to contribute a sufficient amount to pay a competent teacher. They are endeavoring to secure a qualified teacher at a salary of $425, which is an impossibility but by paying $500 as the Inspector desire they should do, it would only increase the taxes $5.00 more on the whole section. This is apparently why the school is closed.

Temperance Talk and Action

The temperance question is bothering a number of Liberal newspapers these days and particularly since Premier Whitney failed to make such promises to the deputation which waited on him in regard to the matter recently. The same papers laud Mr. Rowell for what he said. Speaking of the temperance question the Kingston Standard says:

Just let us see what Mr. Rowell and the Liberal party have actually done for the temperance people. Before the late election campaign came on, the Liberals had a convention and the temperance question was one of those discussed by the delegates. Judging from what is said now one would expect that a temperance plank would most certainly have been in their platform. Search it and see. There is no promise of anything whatever for the beginning to the end of it. Then, of course, it was up to Mr. Rowell to explain why this omission and his explanation was unwise. He said that he was very busy at his own law work when the platform was drawn up or something would have been promised the temperance people. He was conveniently absent when the question was taken up and so he was not to blame. Think of it—the leader of the party not sufficiently interested in its policy to be present at the convention and have a voice in regard to the platform to be adopted. Now, could there be anything more utterly futile than that explanation? And even now that the election is over and any danger from the liquor vote is past for the time being, you can't nail friend Rowell down to anything definite on the question of temperance. He promises to put his foot down soon, but as yet it has left no mark anywhere; no footprints on the sands of time will tell future generations exactly what course Mr. Rowell followed on the liquor question. He is a great promiser is Mr. Rowell, but as a performer he does not score high.

On the other hand Mr. Whitney makes no promises, but he does things. He is enforcing the liquor license act as it was never enforced before. To be sure, he is confronted with a condition of affairs in the mining districts of Ontario that is most difficult to handle; but he is gradually bringing about an improvement even there where it is hard to enforce law and order. He has tax-ed bar receipts above a certain amount. The number of licenses issued in the province has been greatly reduced since he took office. Contrast this with the deceptive and vacillating course of the temperance people and then say who are their friends. Mr. Whitney is not a deceiver; he will not deceive the temperance people; he will not make promises and afterwards break them; he may be brusque in his manner but that brusqueness has a thorough and uncompromising truthfulness and candor which in the end won out. Mr. Rowell talks; Mr. Whitney acts.

BADLY BURNED.
A pathetic incident occurred at Peterboro Monday, when little Violet Tobin, the nine-year-old daughter of Mr. Patrick Tobin, narrowly escaped a horrible death by burning. The occurrence took place in a neighbor's house, and when discovered the little one was pluckily attempting to extinguish the flames which, commencing in her sleeve, ran up to her head, burning the left side of her face and hair. She was badly scared and was almost speechless. It is understood that the child on seeing the fire was low, attempted to rekindle it when, in some manner, the flames caught her sleeve.

A 50c Box Sent Free to All
John A. Smith and His Remarkable Rheumatism Remedy Cured Himself First and Now Proposes to Cure the World.

Cured Many Cases of 30 and 40 Years Standing

On the theory "that seeing is believing," John A. Smith of Milwaukee, wants everyone to try his remedy for the cure of rheumatism at his expense. For that reason he proposes to send a 50c box FREE to everyone who will enclose this advertisement and send name and address. Mr. Smith has suffered all the agony and torture from rheumatism, tried all the remedies known, and yet utterly failed to find relief. At times he was so helpless that he had to take morphine and after considerable doctoring he gave up in despair. He began studying into the causes of rheumatism, and after much experimenting, finally found a combination of drugs which completely cured him. The result was so beneficial in his entire system that he called his new found remedy "Gloria Tonic." Those of his friends, relatives and neighbors suffering from rheumatism were next cured and Mr. Smith concluded to offer his remedy to the world. But he found the task a difficult one as nearly everybody had tried a hundred or more remedies and they couldn't be made to believe that there was such a thing as a cure for rheumatism. But an old gentleman from Seguin, Texas, U. S. A., wrote him saying if Mr. Smith would send him a sample he would try it, but as he had suffered over thirty years and wasted a fortune with doctors and advertised remedies, he wouldn't buy anything more until he knew it was worth something. The sample was sent, he purchased more, and the result was astonishing. He was completely cured. This gave Mr. Smith a new idea and ever since that time he has been sending out free sample boxes to all who apply.

At the U. C. College, Toronto, it cured Mrs. J. Whiteley, who had suffered excruciatingly. Fred K. McLaughlin writes from Sunny Brae, N.S., that "Gloria Tonic" has cured him of a case of rheumatism of many years standing. From Ambrose E. McLansan, Meteghan River, Digby County, N.S., comes a letter that he has been cured of a severe case. Even the first sample box cured Mrs. B. Brett, at 12 Powell-st., Guelph, Ont. Two boxes left Mrs. Geo. Wright, of Coatook, Que., well and happy.

Mrs. T. Deline, West Plain, Ont., writes that she could scarcely dress herself because of rheumatism, but that "Gloria Tonic" has completely cured her. Mr. George Lees, of Lindsay, Ont., says that he tried many different remedies but found no relief until he tried "Gloria Tonic," while Clarence A. Scott writes from Teulon, N.B., that he feels that he owes his life to this great remedy.

A case of 13 years' suffering is reported by James McFarlan, of L'Amable, Ont., but "Gloria Tonic" cured it quickly. Even prominent physicians have to admit that "Gloria Tonic" is a positive success, among them Doctor Quintere of the University of Venezuela, to whom it was recommended by the United States Consul. In hundreds of other instances the result has been the same. It cured many cases which defied hospitals, Drugs and Electricity, among them persons of upwards of eighty years of age. Mr. Smith will send a 50c box FREE, also his illustrated book on rheumatism, absolutely free of charge to any reader of The Watchman-Warder, for he is anxious that everybody should profit by his good fortune. Simply tear out this advertisement and send it together with your name and address to

Farmers Complain to Town Citizens

For weeks past, in fact ever since the snow fall, farmers and others residing in Fenelon township, on both sides of Sturgeon lake, have complained to Lindsay citizens of the fact that there is no road on the Scugog river this winter, allowing them to make the short-cut journey to town. In past years there has always been a good road on the ice, but owing to the C.P.R. having erected the long bridge across the river, no farmer ventured to make the journey between the two large piers supporting the span, fearing that the ice was treacherous. With the coming of the snow storms, the ice was completely covered and still no road.

It appears that before winter set in an agreement was made with the C.P.R. authorities that they would clear out a roadway on the west side of the river on dry land underneath the bridge, but this was never done, and the farmers of Fenelon have to drive the long way round, which in this case is not the shortest way home.

predominated, and Britain was specially represented by Prince of Wales, Duke of York, and the Princess of Teck.

The ancient customs that characterize the coronation ceremonies of other countries were rigidly observed in the picture gallery of the palace, which was decorated with the usual architectural point of view on the great features of the ancient and modern architecture.

The kingdom of Siam covers an area of about 250,000 square miles and the population is estimated at 6,500,000. Its territories, however, dwindled very much in recent years. By the Anglo-Siam treaty of March, 1907, Siam ceased to retain her right over four States—two in the north and two in the south. British subjects throughout Siam are protected and enjoy the rights and privileges of native-born subjects of the country, notwithstanding of property and the residence and travel.

The principal religion of the country is Buddhism, and it is mostly conducted by the monks.

Over 75 per cent. of Siam's commerce trade, which centers at Bangkok, is with the British Empire, largely in the hands of firms or of Chinese trading from Singapore and Hong Kong.
