SENTIMENT WILL NOT MAKE ENGLAND BUY CANADIAN GOODS

Mr. John Hart Says the Englishman Will Trade Where he Can do the Best

"There is more interest taken in Canada by the average Englishman than there was a short time ago," said Mr. John Hart, the other day when speaking of his recent trip to the Old Country with the Dundas & Flavelle shipment of poultry. "The English tradesman talks about Canada very nicely and occasionally says he would prefer to buy Canadian produce other things being equal. When he knows he is talking to a man from Canada, or doing business with him he talks perhaps more than usual that way. He likely means it too. But other things must be equal. He will not buy from Canada because it is Canada if he can do better somewhere else. That is what one candid man told me. He said: 'We are in business for money and we have to do business in the way that there is most money in it. Sentiment can have nothing to do with the case when dollars are at stake.' "There is only one way," said Mr. Hart, "that Canada can make any trade use of her connection with Britain. That is by having goods equal to those anywhere else in the world. Then the fact that the Englishman likes us, will give us his custom as against others. That is the only preference we can expect. And we are doing that with our poultry. I took a good deal of satisfaction out of placing the Dundas & Flavelle stuff this season. I did not have to peddle it. It was as good as the best from Canada, and stood well beside the French or Russian imports. The quality of Canadian goods is attracting the British buyer. That and no sentimental consideration is bringing him to do business with this country. He is a keen, hard business man and we make a mistake if we expect anything but a good bargain to take his attention."

REV. DR. GRANT'S REMEDY FOR THE LIQUOR TRAFFIC

He Would Have a Method that He Thinks Better than Prohibition

Principal Grant is out with another letter on the liquor question. After briefly repeating the gist of the arguments in previous letters, and after a lengthy reference to some adverse criticism of his attitude towards prohibition, he goes on to advocate the company system. He says: "It seems to me, then that the public of Ontario are now prepared for something better than prohibition, and perhaps for the superseding of licensing by the company system; and that in view of the good results which have accrued elsewhere from it, even a plebiscite this year would be likely to give a majority in its favor, if only the simplest organization could be effected for bringing out the vote. To establish the Scandinavian system, all that is needed, in addition to the present local option law, is that power should be conferred on the authorities of the towns and cities to hand over the licenses, allowed in each case, to a company, consisting of persons who would undertake the business, not for the sake of profit, but for the public good; that the shareholders should not derive profit beyond the ordinary rate of interest on the capital invested; and that the profits should be devoted, after equitable consideration of the men formerly engaged in the business, to the municipality, or to the promotion of temperance, and the establishment of reading rooms, coffee houses and other philanthropic objects. This is the principle of the Gothenburg system, and on the basis of this principle a system suited to Ontario could be agreed on, were it once generally recognized that prohibition is impracticable."

POVERTY NEAR PETERBORO

A Family Living in a Hovel With Domestic Animals

Peterboro' correspondence of Saturday's Star: "The officers of the Children's Aid have brought to light a most distressing case of destitution in the township of Drummer. Some years ago the society took from a shack on the 9th line five little children in a pitiable condition of hunger and filth, and on Thursday the man and his wife were found to have brought two more children into the world, who were being raised more like animals than human beings, and were suffering the pangs of hunger. In the shack, which was 10 by 6 feet, there was but one bed, of rough boards, a table, and a miserable fire, which was supposed to keep the inmates warm. The occupants were the father, mother, two children, a sheep, a cat and a dog. The total subsistence of the family was one loaf a day, which was given them by the township. A solitary loaf fed the family, which, figured out, would mean an expense of about $7 for the winter."

ABOUT COVER CROPS

They Need to be Supplemented by Other Fertilizers

Prof. I. P. Roberts, of Cornell University says: Cover crops may in a measure, take the place of fertilizers and manures. They are not, however, a universal panacea for all soil deficiencies, neither are they a full substitute in all cases for fertilizers. There is always a wide field for the profitable use of one or all of the concentrated forms of fertilizers named, and in many cases there is also a special place for the use of fertilizers, therefore the more need of honest means. Commercial fertilizers furnish available plant food but no humus. The cover crop furnishes both, but it is only folly to say that the plant foods in the former are more available than in the latter. Cover crops improve the physical condition of the soil, lessening the cost of tillage. Physically fertilizers benefit the soil little or none. The humus furnished by the cover crops increases the availability of the plant food already in the soil; fertilizers do not. Cover crops shade the land and conserve moisture.

It is impossible to accurately compare the cost of fertilizers with the cost of seeds for the cover crops and the preparation of the soil for them. The cost of increasing productively by extra tillage, by the use of fertilizers, by cover crops, or by all three means, can only be determined in each case by the farmer interested. Give below a single illustration of what a cover crop contains, knowing that another cover crop under other conditions, might either be more or less valuable. Second growth of clover, furnished in roots and tops per acre the following: nitrogen, 138.26 lbs; phosphoric acid 67.35 lbs; potash 109.90 lbs. Wheat and the usual straw, nitrogen, 43 lbs; phosphoric acid, 20 lbs and potash 27 lbs. It is believed that most of the nitrogen taken up by legumes is secured from the uncombined nitrogen in the atmosphere. The clover did not add to either the store of phosphoric acid or potash. The plant took them from the soil and made them available.

OUR NATIONAL HYMN

Another Lindsay Girl Does it into Very Nice Verse

Miss Edith Brown of the east ward is scarcely 12 years old. She is clever at school and makes this rendering of the Canadian National Hymn:
Our fair Dominion, grand,
Canada, our native land,
Far under sun and skies,
By thee we'll always stand,
Severless forever!
Thy banner proudly flies,
Far under sun and skies,
And where do the cowards lie,
That will not fight for Canada.
Oh Omnipotent Divine,
May thy kind mercy shine,
And may our love combine,
Ever with Canada!
Long may our emblem reign,
Oh Heavenly Sovereign,
And may our watchword always be,
The Maple Leaf forever!

THE ONLY ONE.

The man who says that all patent medicines are worthless is a fool. For Dr. Hall's Rheumatic Cure has no equal. W. C. Switzer, Harrowsmith, O., suffered with sciatic rheumatism for ten years. He tried every known remedy recommended for the cure of rheumatism without obtaining relief. Six bottles of Dr. Hall's completely cured him. This great blood purifier is put up in bottles containing ten days' treatment. Price 50 cents at all drug stores or The Dr. Hall Medicine Co., Kingston, Ont.

Those who have used Laxa-Liver Pills say they have no equal for relieving and curing Constipation, Sick Headache, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Coated Tongue, Foul Breath, Heart Burn, Water Brash or any disease or disorder of the stomach, liver or bowels.
Mrs. George Williams, Fairfield Plains, Ont., writes as follows: "As there are so many other medicines offered for sale in substitution for Laxa-Liver Pills I am particular to get the genuine, as they far surpass anything else for regulating the bowels and correcting stomach disorders."
Laxa-Liver Pills are purely vegetable; neither gripe, weaken nor sicken, are easy to take and prompt to act.
