COUNTY CORRESPONDENCE

WOODVILLE
Dr. Bowerman, dentist, will be at the Queen's hotel the first three Fridays in April. Call early.

MILLERSMITH
Wood-bees are the order of the day. Mr. Ferguson with his circular is doing big work.
Mr. S. Endicott paid us a flying visit last week.
Mr. Wm. Callaghan has his new engine working fine. There's no better place to get your chopping done.
Mr. J. F. Kennedy spent a couple of days in town last week.
The family of Mr. T. Bell have pretty well recovered from their severe illness during the winter.

MOUNT HOREB
The weather in this vicinity during the past week has been fine. People have stored away their sleighs and cutters until next winter.
Owing to the fine day Saturday Mr. Thomas Deyell gave the school boys of this community a sawing bee and taffy pull combined. The sawing lasted most of the afternoon. The boys all claim that the taffy was excellent but they thought Labor Day came rather early this year.
Miss Ida Scott of Franklin spent Sunday with her sister Miss Maggie Scott.
Mrs. Joseph Coulter of Manvers spent Sunday at his uncles' Mr. S. Coulter's.
Mrs. Robert Hart who has been ill for some time past, is gaining very slowly.
Miss Lily Robinson who has been on the sick list for a long time, is recovering.

BURY'S GREEN
Your correspondent of late has been asked the question quite frequently, "What has happened to the scribe?" Well the answer is that after a few years of old scribe wishes to retire and leave the field to more professional hands, and with that end in view, throws down the quill in hopes that it will fall into better hands.
St. Peter's church congregation seem well pleased with their new pastor, Rev. Mr. McNamara.
The sale of the farm stock and implements of Mr. Jas. Akister was pretty well attended and good prices realized. Mr. Thos. Akister has moved to the old homestead for a term of years.

KINMOUNT
Mr. R. J. Mills has moved one of the houses from his farm and placed it on Hunter-st. in the village. Mr. J. Cain is busily putting it in proper shape for a tenant.
The timber and lumber is being drawn for the erection of the new agricultural hall. Work will shortly be commenced with a view of placing the grounds in order for the fall show, which will outrival any of the outside towns this year.
We are pleased to see Mrs. C. W. Westwood out again after her recent severe illness.
Mr. Wm. Cheynoweth, who has been in Huntsville hospital under medical care for some time, returned home on Friday last. He is slowly gaining his former health.
Messrs. Craig & Austin's mill has commenced operations for the season and is now a busy hive of industry.
Mr. W. Mansfield is cutting the timber for a new saw mill in the village. The Misses Smith have opened out a dress-making establishment in Mr. Hopkins' new block.

Don't forget the concert on Easter Monday, March 31st, in Scott's hall, under the auspices of the Canadian Foresters brass band. It will be first-class.

COBOCONK

Dr. C. Bowerman, dentist, will visit Coboconk professionally on Wednesday, April 2nd. Call early.

OMEHEE

Fall wheat and clover are safe. Farmers are pleased with the fine spring weather and some are starting to plough.

Where is all the snow gone after being three feet deep on a level a few days since? Many fields are now ready for seeding.

Very little sugar making owing to the destruction to the trees by the caterpillars.

W. H. Kennedy's new shingle mill is turning out large quantities of shingles.

The different church choirs are rehearsing Easter music.
Rev. J. H. Tenney, rector of Christ church will fill his own pulpit at 11 a.m., special music.

Rev. Mr. Kananwin will occupy the Presbyterian pulpit at 2.30 p.m. Special Easter music will be rendered by the choir of the church. Large attendance expected at all churches.

The Rev. Mr. Brown will conduct service morning and evening in the Methodist church.

What promises to be one of the most novel and interesting entertainments comes off on Easter Monday evening. It will be an "Old Folks Concert" and will be held in the Bradburn hall in aid of the Public Library. There is quite a rivalry going on between the ladies and gentlemen for who will have the most correct of ancient dresses and costumes. The chorus is large and rehearsing constantly.

Mrs. McNeillie, sr., and Mrs. McNeillie, jr., Lindsay were the guests of Miss Thornton on Monday.

Thos. H. McQuade had a fine auction sale last Friday.

Farm and mill laborers are in great demand here and wages are high.

Omehee and Emily L.O.L. district will celebrate in Lindsay 12th July.

Mr. Wm. Mulligan sr., has been very ill but is able to be out again.

Many visitors, old citizens from Toronto and other places, will visit the parental roof at Easter.

Our high and public school is largely attended. Next Thursday winds this quarter up by an entertainment by the pupils.

CATARACT CITY HAPPENINGS.

Personal Mention.—Presentation.—Hygieneal.—Hotel Arrivals.—Silence is Golden.

Mr. Geo. Jordan of Toronto is spending a few days with his parents at the Falls.

Mrs. E. Avery of Lakefield spent a few days of last week the guest of her father Mr. Wm. McKeown.

Miss M. Ellis of the Falls. Lindsay, spent Monday at the Falls.

Mrs. A. L. Paek and her daughter left on Friday for their home in Inlay City Michigan after being the guests of Mrs. Geo. Wilson for a week.

Miss A. Gillies left last week to resume her duties as nurse in training at the City Hospital, St. Louis.

Mrs. H. V. Ackart left on Monday for Rosedale to spend a few days with her mother Mrs. T. Archer, before returning to her home in Rochester.

The following guests registered at the "Brooks House" during the past week: James McDonald, Peterboro; Thos. Johnston, Havelock; W. H. O'G. Millett, Henry Hunter, H. E. Mat-Neil, and S. A. Milbrook, Berlin, R. E. Weeks and James Carroll, Toronto; John Henderson, Chris. Grancy, Kinmount; R. M. Fee, W. Sherman, Lindsay; Dennis Hawkins, Woodville; Dan Morrow, Oakwood; Art. McClelland, Burnt River; A. J. Ford, Fortescue; E. Garlick, Harry McClelland, M. Deacon, E. Bot- tom and wife, W. Cresswell, Harry Thompson, Dobyegoon.

Mr. Wm. McKeown and his son, Fred left on Tuesday for the North-west, where he intends to settle, having taken up land and also bought over a hundred acres from the C.P.R. Mrs. McKeown and Miss Laura McKeown will remain in Ontario for about a month until some preparations have been made for their coming. The deepest regret is felt in Fenelon Falls over the departure of the family. Mr. McKeown has resided here for a number of years and has proved himself a splendid citizen and a most upright business man. A man whose word was as good as his pledge and such men are not found every day. As the leader of St. Andrew's choir he will be very much missed and during last week the whole village seemed anxious to show their esteem for him and their regret at his departure. On Wednesday evening the choir were entertained at the manse by the Rev. R. C. H. Sinclair and Mrs. Sinclair, Mr. McKeown and his family being the special guests of the evening. On Thursday evening a banquet was given by Mr. McKeown to the Orangemen and Odd-fellows of the village of which lodges he was a member. On this occasion he was presented with a purse and handsomely framed address setting forth the esteem felt for him by both lodges. On Friday evening a farewell social was held in St. Andrew's church and on this occasion Mr. McKeown was presented with a handsome fur coat from the congregation. The address was read by Mrs. E. McDougall, organist of the church, and Mr. Wm. Campbell and Mr. McDougall assisted Mr. McKeown into the coat. This presentation was a complete surprise and Mr. McKeown had some difficulty in replying. Mr. James Dickson and Mr. Wm. McKendry then each made a few remarks expressing their esteem for the gentleman and their regret at his departure. On Sunday evening the choir sang "God be with you till we meet again" and we feel sure we are justified in saying that all the members and adherents of St. Andrew's church wish Mr. McKeown every success in his new home and trust to meet him again. If not here—over yonder.

A very pretty home wedding took place in the private parlor of the McArthur House on Monday afternoon, the contracting parties being Mr. J. Aldous' only daughter, Annie and Walter Ellis, third son of Mr. J. A. Ellis of Fenelon Falls. The apartment was tastefully decorated with cut flowers and smilax and at one o'clock the bride entered the room on her father's arm to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Miss S. Martin.

A very charming picture of the bride presented in her graceful white organdie dress with its trimmings of valenciennes lace and baby ribbon. She wore a handsome pearl necklace and an opal heart surrounded with brilliants, and carried a bouquet of white roses and maiden hair fern. She was attended by Miss M. Nevison in a pretty frock of white Indian lawn with trimmings of valenciennes lace. The bridesmaid wore a pearl and brilliant pendant, the gift of the groom and carried pink roses. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. A. Ellis. After the ceremony which was performed by the Rev. Mr. McNamara of St. James' a dainty luncheon was served in the dining room of the hotel. The apartment was most beautifully decorated with plants and cut flowers, the table decorations consisting of pink and white, carnations. The wedding was a very quiet one only the relatives of the contracting parties and a very few intimate friends being present. The bride received a large number of handsome presents among them being a goodly sized cheque from her father. The happy couple left on the afternoon train for Toronto and other western points. The bride's going away costume was a tailor made suit of pearl grey cloth with blouse of white silk. She wore a black chiffon hat trimmed with foliage leaves and a handsome black feather in Fenelon Falls and bear the good wishes of the community at large for their future happiness and prosperity.

A Short Sermon.

"And the light shineth in darkness and the darkness comprehended it not."—John 1: 5.

"Oh, boys, look at those trees! aren't they lovely?" shouted little chubby, seven-year-old Robbie as he ran out into the orchard to sleigh-ride with his companions. And truly the trees were a lovely sight!

A bright warm day that melted the snow and loaded the air with moisture, had been followed by a night frosty enough to robe everything in a coat of the most beautiful, fluffy, white frost, so abundant that it hung in great draggles and tatters from every little branch and twig and bud. Scarcely a dark spot could be seen in a whole tree; and the twigs appeared swollen to many times their size for the frost stood out in little fuzzy stacks in every direction. And wherever, an old frozen apple, still stuck on the top of a stout little twig, it looked like some little rogue of a fairy, that had robbed poor old Santa Claus of his wiskers. It was in fact a frost, which for lavish quantity, and feathery lightness, is not equalled twice in the year and is never excelled. And now as the bright warm rays of the morning sun shone on it it sparkled and glittered like millions of pure gems. It was indeed a scene to carry one to the very heart of fairyland. The boys looked up at the trees and acknowledged them very pretty, but in a moment they ran on to play with their sleigh, but little Robbie still stood with wide-open eyes gazing at the trees. Presently a little bird flitted through one of the trees and wherever it touched a twig a little shower of that soft downy stuff was the result. Little Robbie's eyes opened still wider; there all at once off he ran after the boys shouting and calling to them to "look." When he got near them he selected a tree, that being young, had a comparatively slender trunk, and running to it he shouted "Look boys! Look!" and grasping the tree he shook it with all his might. In a moment he was almost entirely lost to view in a perfect deluge of that fuzzy, feathery snow, and for some seconds it appeared as a dazzling column of sparkling gems reaching from the ground to the top of the tree. The boys laughed and cheered and clapped their hands, and as the shower gradually settled down they caught sight of Robbie, who, with outstretched hands, was standing perfectly motionless, the veritable picture of the boys' ideal snow-man. He was white everywhere, even his brows and his eyelashes were deeply fringed with that white down. Robbie never even winked, till the boys had thoroughly enjoyed their wild laugh at his droll appearance; then he suddenly shook himself with such vigor that the boys fairly screamed again as the white flakes flew in every direction.

"This is the baby storm!" shouted Robbie. But of course the baby storm was soon over and Robbie was off sleigh-riding with the others.

Just so it is with us. This world is full of beauty, but we in our grovelling worldliness cannot see it. "The light shineth," but it shineth "in darkness and the darkness comprehendeth it not." There is that one in every thousand of us that has the soul of a poet or an artist to see the beauty. We know more about the price of hogs, the cost of side-walks, the best paying investments, or the shape of the new hats. Only one here and there stops to look at the beauty. If there was a poet among us in childhood, as he grew, his soul has been smothered in a wild scramble for wealth and position. Would that our parents and our school teachers would strive to develop the poetry that is in the child's mind and not smother it.

Better to have a little more soul and a little less multiplication and compound interest.

Lindsay, March 22nd, 1902.

Boys For the Farmers.
A party of boys is expected at the Marchmont Home, Belleville, about the middle of April. They are bright, healthy lads, from England and Scotland. The larger boys will go out for wages, and the little ones for adoption. Their ages are from 6 to 16 years.

the little Scotch boys have been sent to the Marchmont Home, Belleville, and will be glad to find home and family. Many a home would be brighter for one or two of our youngsters. The usual party of girls will arrive in May. They will be sent to the Marchmont Home, Belleville, and will be glad to find home and family.
