THE FALL WHEAT IN DANGER FOR THE THAW CAME TOO EARLY

Reports From Various Parts of the Province Show that the Crop is Yet in Peril

(The Toronto Star)
Ingersoll, March 9.—Farmers in town from the surrounding country report that the fall wheat crop is most promising. In all districts it has wintered well. The crop has advanced nicely. There has been no killing out, and the fields are now fresh and green looking. With the frost leaving the ground during this trying month for wheat, the farmers do not anticipate any trouble.
Brantford, March 9.—So far there has been nothing which would indicate that the wheat crop has been injured during the winter, and farmers of this vicinity are of opinion that it will come through all right. Some of them go so far as to say that the weather conditions in this district have been more favorable than for several years past and that the possibility of injury will be from frosts that come hereafter, as undoubtedly during the soft weather of the past few days there has been some growth.
Stratford, March 9.—The fall wheat in this vicinity looks very well, but has yet to stand the test. The fields, for the most part, are bare, but, as there has not been any very cold weather since the thaws at the beginning of the month, no damage has been done. Should open weather continue, accompanied by hard frost, the prospects would be anything but bright, but farmers seem to be hopeful that there will yet be sufficient snowfall to protect the grain.
Guelph, March 9.—The Township of Puelinck is the centre for growing fall wheat in the County of Wellington. Outside of this township there is scarcely any grown, except in the vicinity of Mount Forest. In Puslinch the wheat is all right so far—even on the most exposed farm on the highlands. There is not much water on the low lands, and the crop there has a better chance, as it is covered by snow and sheltered. On the hills the plant is quite green and fresh yet, but if a dry wind and frost comes it will be killed. There is now the same amount of fall wheat grown this year as last year.

Chatham, March 9.—Interviews today with a number of sections of Kent County elicited the fact that so far the fall wheat has wintered most satisfactorily on this point. Farmers think, however, that they are not by any means "out of the woods" in the matter of wheat. March is a month full of risks. All are agreed that the production in the aggregate will be small, owing to the limited acreage grown.
EAST OF TORONTO
Lindsay, March 9.—The outlook for the fall wheat in Victoria County is extremely favorable. The wheat looks very well, and there was rather more than the average amount sown. But the trying time for it is yet to come, for, while the snow is nearly all gone, there has been, but very little thawing and freezing. If there should be a general thaw, followed by a succession of cold nights, it would go hard with the wheat. The time of danger will likely be between the middle of March and the first week in April. Alternate thawing and freezing is what kills the root of the plant.
Cobourg, March 9.—Fall wheat in this district, so far as can be ascertained at present, has come through the winter well. The snow is nearly all off the fields, and the grain presents a fine appearance. Farmers do not fear the effect of frost and cold weather now, as much as heavy frosts later after the grain begins to grow.
Peterboro, March 9.—Inquiry from the local grain merchants and millers regarding the condition of the fall wheat in the Peterboro district does not bear out the statements made in some quarters that it has come through satisfactorily. There is about ten per cent. more acreage of fall wheat in the Peterboro district than last year.

Bowmanville, March 9.—The fall wheat outlook is very promising at present. Very little is sown near Lake Ontario, but back in the townships there are some very fine fields, and they are looking nearly as fresh and green as in December. There is danger still from ice covering in the lower lands, owing to the unusual winter rains, and also from thaws on warm days, followed by frosty nights.
NIAGARA DISTRICT
Welland, March 9.—The fall wheat in the Niagara district is at present in very good condition and the prospects are that the crop will be larger than for some years, providing that the weather from now out is favorable. There is great danger, though, of its being yet damaged, on account of the weather having turned very warm, and considerable ice being out of the ground. If it should freeze and thaw much it will be very easily damaged. The area sown is not quite as large as usual.
St. Catharines, March 9.—The outlook for winter wheat in this district is very discouraging. Owing to there having been very little snow to cover the ground, and the frequent thawing and freezing during the changeable weather, the wheat has been "heaved" out of the ground, and the crop will be very light.
IN THE NORTH
Orillia, March 9.—It is too early to give a definite opinion on the condition of the fall wheat in this district, a considerable depth of snow still covering the ground. It is expected to come through very well.

FENELON FALLS AND VICINITY

Happenings of the Past Week at the Cataract Town

The scribe begs leave to correct an error in last week's budget. The lecture delivered in the Orange Hall in connection with the Young People's Club, was a function of St. James' church, not St. Andrew's, as stated.
Miss Henderson of Lindsay, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Thos. Sadler.
Mr. John Austin of Kinmount, spent Sunday at the Falls.
Mr. Wm. McCarthy of the Rathbun Co., spent last Friday at the Falls.
Miss A. Dickson, of Peterboro, spent Sunday with her friends.
Miss Ruby Austin returned home last week, after a lengthy visit to friends in Kinmount.
Mr. H. Puley of Kinmount was at the Falls for a couple of days last week.
Mr. W. J. McKendry of Lindsay spent Sunday with his parents.
Messrs. J. D. Smith, of Port Hope, and G. H. G. McVity of Toronto, were at the Falls on Monday.
Mr. and Miss Brokenshire of Woodville, were the guests of their sister, Miss Eva Brokenshire, for a few days last week.
Chief S. Nevison, of Lindsay, was at the Falls on Monday.
Mr. Joe Quillet returned home last week, from a visit of some weeks to friends in Victoria Harbor.
Mr. Geo. Littleton of Toronto, spent Monday at the Falls.
Miss Lillian Wilson came from Whitby last week, to rest from the effects of a bad cold. She returned on Tuesday to her studies at the Ontario Ladies' College.
Messrs. Paul Gova of Flesherton and Didace Grice of Midland, spent Monday at the Falls.
Mr. Wm. Campbell, left on Monday afternoon, to attend the funeral of the late Rev. Wm. Lochead, at Brantford.
Mr. Ed. McKendry came home last week with an injured finger. While at his work in the Sylvester Works, Lindsay, his finger was caught between two blocks and badly crushed. It is hoped that the injured member will not be permanently hurt, and Mr. McKendry expects to return to work the latter part of this week.
Mrs. Wm. Campbell, Miss Washburn, Miss Austin and Miss Puley, all visited the Toronto millinery openings last week.
A most successful social was held in the Methodist church last Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the E. L. of C. E. The refreshments were very tasty and the program first-class. The large number present enjoyed themselves thoroughly.
Mr. Wm. Campbell received a telegram last Saturday, stating that the Rev. Wm. Lochead, had just died at Brantford. Mr. Lochead was for many years the pastor of St. Andrew's church, and the news of his death caused a feeling of deep sorrow among his many friends. He was a polished gentleman, a scholarly speaker and a true christian in every walk in life. Those who knew him esteemed and respected him, and will mourn his loss deeply and sincerely. A meeting of the session of St. Andrew's church was called on Sunday evening to take steps towards having the feelings of the congregation expressed in a motion and forwarded to the widow and family of the late gentleman.
Mr. Geo. N. Brokenshire, an old Falls boy, was injured while working in Brokenshire's camp near Cambridge, and on last Tuesday night, died from the result of his injuries. Mr. J. Copp, father-in-law of Mr. Brokenshire, was also hurt, but is supposed to be on the road to recovery. Mr. Brokenshire's remains were brought to the Falls last Thursday and interred in the village cemetery. The funeral, which was large, was headed by the members of the Trent Valley Lodge, No. 71, C.O.O.F., of which the young man was a member. The Lindsay band was also present. Mr. Brokenshire resided in Lindsay, where he leaves a widow and two children to mourn his loss. His parents reside in Kinmount, but were for many years residents of Fenelon Falls.

one and our boys could scarcely expect to hold it the three years in succession. They would certainly have done so, however, had the old invincible seven been on deck. The Norwood team were entertained to oysters at the close of the game, by the Falls boys, and the feelings between all the teams are those of good fellowship, such as should exist amongst true sportsmen. A large number of hockey enthusiasts drove to Lindsay on Friday night to witness the final game of the season. They report a splendid match.
Mr. J. H. Stanton had his camera at Northey's oyster rooms last Wednesday night to take a flash light of the Norwood and Fenelon hockey players. In some unaccountable manner the fuse exploded, burning his hand severely. We regret to state that he will be laid up for some time.
Just here we would like to remark that a certain interesting couple should have a little merriness on the gate posts of a pretty little home on North-st., south of the river. Those gate posts are beginning to show wear. They are not made of iron, and the first thing that couple knows the owner of those posts will be waiting upon the said couple with a bull dog and a shot gun, and then there will be some music.
Mr. J. J. Nevison has enlarged his business by a large stock of boots and shoes and will, no doubt, receive his share of the public favor, as he is well known and highly esteemed.
—Mr. J. Kennedy of Ottawa has been awarded the contract for adding another storey and tower to the Guelph public building at a cost of $30,595.

John Mullin of Ottawa, aged 65, was killed on Friday night at the C. P. R. freight sheds in that city being caught and crushed by a shunting engine when he had accidentally slipped off the platform onto the track.
