WEATHER FOR APRIL

Month will be a Storming one Says Irl Hicks

The partial effects of the Earth's spring equinox will be felt, in diminishing force, until after the central storm period in April. This is indicated approximately by the Earth brace in the storm diagram. The first regular storm period extends from the 2nd to the 7th, having its center on the 4th. This period is also embraced in the Mercury period, which covers the 1st to the 12th, central on the 7th. By the 3rd, marked fall of the barometer will be noted in western sections, change to warmer will be advancing eastward out of the same region. By about the 4th these conditions will grow into cloudiness and rain. During the 4th, 5th and 6th, wide areas of cloudiness and rain will pass westward across the country, breaking into severe squalls, thunder gusts and hail in various localities. Wherever the barometer falls much below normal, with great increase of temperature and close, humid atmosphere, severe storms of thunder, wind and hail should be anticipated. Mercury disturbance will cause prolonged cloudiness at this time, with unsettled and threatening weather up to the ensuing storm period. A reactionary storm period is central on the 9th, 10th and 11th. This period is at the culmination of the Mercury period, with the Moon on the celestial equator on the 8th, full on the 9th and in perigee on the 10th. These combined facts, all blending with the Mercury and the Vernal equinoxes will conspire to bring on very high temperature, low barometer and forceful storms, beginning on and next to the 9th in western sections, and passing eastwardly across the country from about Monday the 9th to Thursday the 12th. Late sleet and snow will most probably attend the northern and western tangents of these storms, coming with the high barometer out of the northwest after the passage of high temperature and Vernal thunder and rain storms. Change to decidedly cooler weather will follow for several days, causing frost in many sections during the nights ranging between the 11th to 15th. Hail storms will be most natural results, with violent gusts, during the passage of these April thunder clouds. Barometric conditions, on the gathering of all storms, not only at this period but during all the storm periods throughout this spring and early summer. A regular storm period extends from the 15th to the 18th, having its center on Monday the 16th. As we enter this period a rapid change to much warmer will advance from western parts, the barometer will fall correspondingly fast and low, general cloudiness will increase from the west and more storms of rain and thunder will touch many parts during the eastward march of storm fronts from Monday the 16th to the west, to Thursday the 19th in the east. Another change to rising barometer and much cooler will push the western sides of these storms, causing very cool nights, with decided frosts in central to northern sections, from about the 18th to 21st. A reactionary storm period is central on the 22nd, 23rd and 24th. This period will be hurried in its development by the passage of the moon across the celestial equator on the 21st, it will be intensified by the moon on the 23rd and prolonged by the moon in apogee on the 25th. A series of threatening to violent thunder storms will be quite natural for three to five days at this time, say from about Saturday, the 21st, to Wednesday the 25th. With the atmospheric pressure at and about normal during these disturbances, nothing more than normal April thunder showers and hail may occur, but should the barometer fall suddenly to very low readings, violent to tornadoic storms would be quite probable. To those who have no barometer to consult, nature's many monitory indications that signify falling precede dangerous conditions. Those who are vigilant, "without a moment's warning," by destructive storms and tornadoes, are those who pay no attention whatever to the most palpable indications, and who, as a rule make common sport of cautious people who do. Since the beginning of time, there never was a tornado or other fatal storm, in which there was not plenty of time for those who heeded its approach to have made some sort of shift, and for those who heeded its approach to have made some sort of shift, and for all who had tornado refuges to have safely taken shelter in them. A regular storm period extends from the 26th to the 30th, having its centre on the 27th. The moon is at extreme declination on the 29th inducing atmospheric currents from the south. Hence very high temperatures will prevail, with low barometric pressures; threatening storms will gather, and thunder storms, with heavy rain and hail in many localities, may be expected, passing eastwardly over the country from Friday the 24th to Monday the 30th. Rising barometer and change to much cooler will follow up these storms from the northwest. As we close up these forecasts, telegraphic reports from almost the entire globe show that a phenomenally disturbed condition prevails everywhere. For four days the whole United States has been covered by a cyclonic disturbance which has brought storm and precipitation in some form to the entire continent. Earthquakes have been reported in our own and other countries. Volcanic terror prevails in Samoa, three towns being destroyed, including Maialoa, and rivers of flaming lava nearly a mile wide and twenty feet deep are flowing miles into the ocean.

From Antwerp, Hamburg and other places in Europe, dispatches report that "equinoctial hurricanes and tidal waves" have broken dikes, flooded cities and lowlands, destroyed houses, ships and commerce, with the loss of many lives. All these, with other reports and particulars too numerous to mention, are found in the telegraphic news of our little planet on the 10th to 14th of March. At this point we are compelled to close up this page and go to press with the last form of April Word and Works. Let those who are skeptical about "equinoctial storms and all kindred disturbances," impartially review the forecasts of a long range weather forecaster who is now operating in St. Louis, Missouri, and say whether or not all these things were plainly foreshadowed, for the exact period in question, in our forecast for March.

Obituary.

HENRY SEYMOUR

At the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. A. F. Lane, Simcoe-st., Peterborough, on March 17, Henry Seymour, one of the oldest, most prominent, and most highly-respected residents of Harvey, passed away after a brief illness. Just a week previous Mr. Seymour removed to Peterboro on a visit to his daughters, and while at tea at the residence of Mrs. Lane, on Saturday the 10th inst., suffered a stroke of paralysis, from which he never recovered, although he remained conscious to the last, passing peacefully away on Saturday evening at ten o'clock, just one week from the date of his arrival in Peterborough, and seventy years after his birth on July 12th, 1836, in the town of Port Hope, where he lived until his removal to Harvey, 26 years ago.

Mr. Seymour for the past year had not been in his accustomed good health; his decline was quite noticeable, and not feeling very well he made up his mind to remove to Peterborough to visit his daughters, taking the train at Bobcaygeon. Mrs. Seymour predeceased her husband about four years. The deceased gentleman leaves four daughters and two sons to mourn his loss: Mrs. H. M. Moore, and Mrs. A. F. Lane, of Peterborough; Mrs. T. Gastore, of Fenelon Falls; Mrs. James Wilson of Islay; and Miss Seymour, who resides with her sister at Fenelon Falls; James, of Verulam; and Harry on the homestead.

Mr. Seymour was 70 years of age at the time of his death. He was a life-long and highly-respected member of the Methodist church and a Liberal in politics, and as a citizen and neighbor possessed qualities which secured for him the high respect and esteem of all who knew him. He was well-known, having resided on the farm which he occupied at the time of his death, for the past 26 years. He was one of the strongest temperance men in the county of Peterboro and his influence was always exercised in the promotion of the temperance cause. As a member of the Methodist church of Bobcaygeon he was one of the foremost and most prominent supporters of the church, and his death will be sincerely regretted by not only his church associates but by every member of the community. The remains were interred in Bobcaygeon, on Tuesday, the 20th inst.

who ought to be taking Bu-Ju. The kidneys are making the headache, they are not doing their work properly—not purifying the blood—not ridding the system of poisons. These impurities stagnate the blood—irritate the nerves—and bring the headaches that so many women suffer with.

SPORTING NOTES.

CURLING.
One of the most interesting games of the season was played at Peterboro on Thursday evening last, when six of the local rinks journeyed to Peterboro and managed to draw with their opponents, the final score being 79 all. The results of the game was in doubt until the last stone was played by one of the Peterboro skips who failed to dislodge Ald. McFadden's beautifully-placed shot from the danger zone. The following were the rinks and scores:

BANKERS vs. Y.M.C.A.

—The game of "hockey" which practically decided the championship of the town League was played on Monday night, before a small attendance of spectators. The ice was in poor condition, and a good exhibition was out of the question. Throughout the game there was only one team in it, the bankers scoring almost at will. At half time the score was 6-0 in their favor. The second half they added four more, whilst the Young Men made their first and only goal. During the last few minutes of the game, the whole scene reminded one rather forcibly of a "Tipperary" gathering, the rules being practically dispensed with and slugging became the order of the evening. No attempts whatever were made to score, but it was slash and cut, cut and slash, till Dr. Walters, who was refereeing, rang the bell and called the game. The Y.M.C.A. were the chief offenders, several of their team being penalized numerous times, Nesbitt, Cain and Menzies being constantly put off, whilst Johnstone and McPherson of the Bankers team were conspicuous by their unfair tactics.

A friendly game of hockey was played between Cannington and the Ramblers of Lindsay, last Friday night, and resulted in a win for the Ramblers by one goal, the final score being 5-4.
