OBITUARY

JOSIE BELL.

A sad death occurred here Friday day, when Miss Josie Bell, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. G. Bell, passed away in her eighth year, shortly after 12 o'clock, scarlet fever being the cause of death. The little girl had only developed the disease on Monday, but it was not thought to be serious. However, as she was not very strong, and had a weak heart, she gradually sank lower until yesterday noon, when she passed to her eternal reward. The War-der extends deepest sympathy to the bereaved and stricken parents.

LATE GEORGE VANSTONE.

My heavenly home is bright and fair, No pain nor death can enter there; Its glittering towers the sun out-shines. That heavenly mansion shall be mine.

With his eyelids gently and slowly closing in that sleep from which no man awaketh, and his life blood slowly ebbing away to be revived no more, the late George Vanstone, who passed away from this life on Wednesday, March 2, 1910, was heard softly singing the sweet and heavenly words of the above hymn—his favorite hymn. Many times in the day he was heard repeating the old and familiar hymn, a hymn which he had taught every one of his seven children.

The passing away of the late George Vanstone marks the death of one of the most patriotic citizens of Canada, a lover of his native country (England), and a respected resident of Lindsay. His death removes one of the stalwart and adventurous, but, nevertheless, hardworking pioneers of three townships, viz., the townships of Darlington, Uxbridge and Eldon. He had passed the octogenarian stage of life of his death in his ninety-first year, and up to within four days of his death he enjoyed the very best of health. His was a rugged, hale and hearty nature and his kind disposition gained for him many staunch friends.

The deceased gentleman was born in Devonshire, England, in the year 1819, embarking for Canada with his four brothers in the year 1851. He settled with his good wife in the township of Darlington, near the town of Bowmanville, and commenced to hew for himself a home. Many hardships and difficulties were endured, and after living there about ten years he moved to a settlement then called Quaker Hill, in Uxbridge township, and near the present town of Uxbridge. Later they moved to Eldon, settling on lots two and three on the eleventh concession. Here the deceased gentleman commenced to make a home for his family and proceeded to clear the land, which at that time was mostly forest.

At that time the Vanstones were the only family living in that part of the country that could speak English, the other pioneers in the settlement speaking the Gaelic language. Mr. Vanstone by dint of hard work was able to rear the first frame barn in that part of Eldon, which was considered to be a "grand" barn, and better in some respects than some of the pioneer log cabins.

Just about twenty-six years ago, the late Mr. Vanstone decided to vacate the farm and move to Lindsay, and leaving the farm in charge of his sons, he moved to town and took up residence. About ten years ago, his good helpmate passed to her eternal reward, and a few years later the deceased went to live with one of his daughters, Mrs. George Rathmell, 16 Bond-st., where he has since lived. His health, despite his age, did not leave him, and only about a year ago he walked from Lindsay to his old homestead in Eldon, a distance of some twelve miles.

It was a popular pastime with the deceased, and within seven weeks he walked out to the old farm five times. Mr. Vanstone was at times reminiscent, and when in such a mood could relate many an interesting tale of the pioneer days. When he first landed in Canada he had but ten pounds in his pocket to start life in a new country, and this amount was swallowed up in the purchase of a stove. However, by being industrious and by dint of hard work, he was able to save and store away considerable wealth.

Many a time the deceased followed the blazed trail to the nearest grist mill carrying his heavy sack over his shoulder. Sometimes he would go to the grist mill at Cambury to have the produce of the soil ground, and at other times would walk to the mill at Fenelon Falls.

The late Mr. Vanstone is survived by two daughters and five sons, all of whom were present at the funeral. They are: Mrs. George Rathmell and Mrs. Stephen Oliver, Lindsay; John and George on the homestead in Eldon; Richard in town; James at Woodville; and Joseph at Toronto. Twenty-eight grandchildren and thirteen great grandchildren also survive. The five sons and a son-in-law of the deceased acted as pall-bearers at the funeral, while the service was conducted by Rev. J. P. Wilson, pastor of the Cambridge-st. Methodist church, of which church the deceased was a member, he having been a member of the Methodist church all his life. The deceased was in politics a staunch Conservative.

Bright-eyed he was, bright smiling and bright-souled, A never-falling zest of life he had, Which lightened every care, and kept him glad. Time-crowned with silver, never was he old, Never to human interests deaf nor cold.

WILLIAM L. McEACHERN.

The death occurred in Lindsay on Sunday, March 6th, of William L. McEachern, a well known and popular citizen of the village of Kirkfield at the age of 34 years. The deceased gentleman had been ill for the past couple of years, and six weeks ago came to Lindsay to receive special medical treatment, but to no avail, and on Sunday he was called to his reward at the home of his sister, Mrs. H. Rames, 12 Queen-st. The remains were conveyed to his late home in Kirkfield on the 6.35 train, and the funeral will be held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock to Kirkfield cemetery. His two brothers, John and Neil, of Kirkfield, arrived in town this morning and took charge of the remains. The deceased leaves to mourn his loss his father, Lochlin McEachern, of Kirkfield, and five brothers, John L., Neil L., Donald, Lochlin, Archie of Kirkfield, and Allen, of Lorneville, and six sisters, Mrs. Donald McGinnis, Mrs. Arch. Carmichael, Woodville; Mrs. Harry Davis, Sonya; Mrs. Lang, Kirkfield; Mrs. Parrington, Balsam Lake, and Mrs. H. Rames, Lindsay.

The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the bereaved family in the loss they have sustained.

ANNIE RUTH BELL.

Two deaths within a few days in the one family occurred in Lindsay this week, when two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William Bell passed out of this world into the world beyond. The death of the second daughter, Miss Annie Ruth, occurred Monday at the home of her parents over the Bank of Commerce. Little Annie was four years old.

JOSEPH HOULIHAN.

A sad death occurred on Monday in the east ward, when Master Joseph Houlihan passed away after a short illness. He was attacked some time ago with that dread disease diphtheria. The young lad was popular amongst his companions, who will regret to hear of his demise. He is survived by his mother, two sisters and two brothers, one of the latter, William, living at Guelph.

Great Piece of Stage Mechanism

Much interest has been manifested concerning the mechanical methods of the thrilling chariot race employed in Klaw and Erlanger's spectacle, "Ben Hur," which is to be presented at the Princess theatre, Toronto, week of March 14th.

In this great arena contest the spectator sees eight horses galloping at break-neck speed and straining every muscle to gain the advantage in the race within the amphitheatre. Behind each quartet of horses is a Roman chariot. The wheels revolve rapidly; the chariots lurch and sway and the flaming beribboned garments of the drivers flutter behind them, adding intensity to the realism of the scene. The illusion is still further increased as the interior wall of the amphitheatre moves along and the dust flies in blinding clouds beneath the crushing wheels of the chariots. The clatter of the rushing hoofs of the horses and the rumbling of the chariots are distinctly heard.

Elaborate mechanism and applications of electricity produce this great effect. The mechanism of two great cradles, twenty feet in length and fourteen feet wide, and which are movable back and forth on railways, is supported by a bridge structure capable of holding twenty tons. The tops of the cradles are two inches above the level of the stage. Each cradle bears the four horses and the chariot of each contestant. On each cradle there are four runways and treadmills of hockery slats two inches wide and covered with rubber; they are twelve feet long and two and a half feet wide. On each of these treadmills a horse is secured by steel cable traces, which hold him in place and prevent him from moving forward off the runways. As each horse gallops, the treadmill revolves under his feet, thereby eliminating the forward pressure created by the impact of his hoofs, which would force him ahead on an immovable surface. By this mechanical arrangement it is possible for the horses actually to gallop with all their speed within the space of their own length. It is considered the most realistic effect ever seen upon the stage.

When "Ben Hur" was presented in London at the Drury Lane theatre, King Edward VII witnessed it twice and then commanded a royal box to be built in the centre of the pit of the theatre, so that he could more thoroughly enjoy the great race scene.

DEBENTURES ARE DUE

SYLVESTER MFG. CO. ASK FOR EXTENSION OF TIME.

Mr. Sylvester was heard at the meeting of the town council last night in regard to the financial condition of the Sylvester Manufacturing Co. They were hard up for money and would like to have some arrangement, by which the debentures, which are past due, be held over. On motion the matter was referred to the finance committee.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL. Mr. Mellwain, of Fenelon Falls, was brought to the Ross hospital here Tuesday morning.

Owing to Archbishop Bruchesi's insistence the performance of the Passion Play, announced for a Montreal theatre, has been withdrawn. Wind-blow gas into the firebox of an engine at a Raleigh oil well and an explosion took place. The drilling outfit was burned, and Messrs. Forsyth and Parks of Petrolia, were severely burned.

Lindsay Boy is Now Director

The Warder received a letter this morning from a former Lindsay citizen in the person of Mr. Everard Gordon, of Dryden, Ont., who six years ago was employed in the local branch of the Dominion Bank. Mr. Gordon is now a director of the Gordon Pulp and Paper Co., a new company recently organized. The company own valuable timber limits to the extent of 1000 square miles, which include numerous small lakes. These limits contain 250 miles of waterways, which afford ample means of transporting their logs from the bush to the pulp mill.

Dryden is a small town on the main line of the C.P.R. between Fort William and Winnipeg, 80 miles east of Kenora. The new pulp mill will be 650 feet long, averaging 93 feet in height and built of concrete, brick and steel at an estimated cost of one million dollars. The company is being financed by English capital through Lazard Bros.

The mill when running will employ 800 men and 300 men in the camps, which will mean considerable to the town of Dryden with only a population of 1000 people. The company's water power will be generated by a dam 40 feet high backed up by Lake Wahigoon, which has a 40-mile stretch of water. The engineers claim that this will develop 5,000 horse power.

In his letter Mr. Gordon states that he has a warm spot in his heart for Lindsay, and tells of taking part in a minstrel show with "Jack" Fullerton, "Foc" Day, "Wess" Greer, and Jack Walker.

In conclusion he asks that the Warder be sent to his address, that he may know what is going on in the old town.

An investigation was begun into the death of Cora Howes, an eight-year-old Oakville girl.

Had Weak Back.

Would Often Lie in Bed For Days, Scarcely Able To Turn Himself.

Mrs. Arch. Scharrer, Black Point, N.B., writes: "For years I was troubled with weak back. Oftentimes I have lain in bed for days, being scarcely able to turn myself, and I have also been a great sufferer while trying to perform my household duties. I had doctors attending me without avail and tried liniments and plasters, but nothing seemed to do me any good. I was about to give up in despair when my husband induced me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and after using two boxes I am now well and able to do my work. I am positive Doan's Kidney Pills are all that you claim for them, and I would advise all kidney sufferers to give them a fair trial."
