S. S. Workers Were "Chaired"

Bethel, Emily, March 17.—Mr. Isaac Sherin, of Minnesota, is at present visiting relatives and friends in the vicinity.

Mrs. W. Jackson and Miss Ida Jackson, of Peterboro, are visiting relatives in the community.

We are sorry to learn that a number of Bethelites have the measles.

A goodly number were present at our Epworth League last Thursday evening, and a very profitable consecration service was held. We hope to see a large attendance at our Literary evening on Thursday, March 31st.

On Tuesday evening, March 1st, Bethel Sunday school assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Harrison, and presented them with two handsome chairs. Mr. and Mrs. Harrison have been members of our school for a number of years, and are now removing from the vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. John Irwin and family have moved from the neighborhood to their farm near Kimmount.

Miss Sproule, of Lebanon, was the guest of Miss L. Johnston on Sunday, March 6th.

Typos Lost to Fenelon Falls--But

The Typos bumped into a veritable stone wall in the game at Fenelon Falls on Friday, and as a result they lost the game by the score of 12 to 7. It should be explained that in the first half the Typos (who are always very modest and bashful) were affected with the weakness commonly termed "stage fright." They were up against some of the old-time seniors, and also one of the players who figured on the Oshawa junior team this year, and as a consequence they lacked that stamina which they had displayed in previous games. The result was the first half ended with the score 11 to 4, the Cataract Village lads having the long end of the string. However, in the second half the Typos got down to business and at times played rings around the Fenelon Falls players, and it is stated that if they could have pulled the timekeeper's leg for an extra five minutes the type slingers would have won the game. In the last half they scored three goals to their opponents' one, and when the final ding dong was heard the Typos could be seen bombarding the Fenelon Falls citadel with might and main, and the custodian of the nets had the busiest time of his life.

The Fenelon Falls squad were assisted by Pete Bateau, one of the old brigade, and a hockeyist of no mean repute. McPhee, the fast youngster who played on the Oshawa Junior line-up this year, was also in harness. "Pacey" McDougall was another familiar face on the Fenelon line-up. They played good hockey, especially in the first half.

For the Lindsay printers "Bun" Dovey was all to the good and stalked through the Fenelon brigade, scattering them like chaff to the wind. His lightning-like, zig-zag, corkscrew rushes were dazzling to behold, and bewildered the Cataract players not a little. "Bun" was the pure cream puff. He was very ably supported by the rest of the Typos, who on the whole put up a magnificent game. They feel confident that they can overcome the score and turn the table when the return game is played at Lindsay! Their playing was somewhat spurious in the first half, but they were displayed their "genuine goods" qualities in the last half when they went at the Typos hammer and tongs, showing no quarter. As one of the spectators was heard to remark, "Another five minutes and the Typos would have squelched their opponents."

The teams lined up as follows:
Fenelon Falls: Typos.
McGee goal Primeau
Shane point Dovey
McPhee rover Henley
Beateau centre Hickinbotham
McDougall l. wing Knowlson
A. McPhee r. wing Scott

J. W. FLAVELLE'S ADDRESS

have a true appreciation of the facts. It does not seem to occur to the angry critic that in his suspicion and adverse judgment of others, he may reveal his own moral standards, and what he would do if the opportunity were presented to him. As society is at present organized, I do not believe we shall go far wrong in the consideration of commercial matters if we accept as natural the profits which follow trade carried on under unrestricted and untrammelled competitive conditions. Capacity and organizing ability will secure to some man or some bodies of men in each community the advantage which well-balanced capability always returns. If such capacity seeks no favors, other than those which come from a free exercise of ability, why scold and find fault? From my knowledge of the situation in Canada, I am sure it would be worth while to apply this test before making sweeping condemnations.

It may not be uninteresting to consider some of the changes which have taken place in the marketing of products and the facilities for bringing the producer and consumer together. Many present will remember when no cash was paid for farm products, when butter, eggs and poultry were taken in exchange for goods. When the products were received they were but ill cared for and steadily deteriorated in quality and value. For the most part they found their way to market in a rough, uneven, irregular condition. They were shipped to commission men in some nearby city who disposed of them at rough and ready prices to retailers or to an occasional exporter. When the season of the year came around which produced a large surplus of these staples, the price was very low, and the consumers in towns and cities reaped the advantage while the producer suffered. The cheese factory was one of the early improvements, and the product was marketed through large middlemen, who developed a direct export trade and immediately established the industry on a wide basis, differing in essence from old conditions. Creameries followed, and in place of the bulk of the butter in the country being made in an improvident and frequently unsatisfactory manner, as facilities might or might not be provided on the individual farms, the cream was sent to the creamery, where butter of uniform quality and high excellence was produced. Middlemen with greater resources and capacity as compared to those who operated earlier, purchased this butter and held it in controlled temperature for a later market. By this process they practically eliminated the weakness of the surplus period, as whatever of the current make could not at once be consumed, was put into cold storage and carried for later distribution. The competition between these middlemen has become so keen, and so determined is each firm to secure a full share of the current marketings of butter and eggs at the time they are in surplus supply, that the price for these has been driven to a very high average, and a speculative spirit has been established a high buying price. This has been hard on consumers, but excellent for producers.

Many New Phones Installed Near Valentia

Valentia, March 13.—The hum of the circular saw may already be heard in our neighborhood, and the farmers are taking advantage of the last sleighing, by getting their wood hauled.

Mr. Burke Swain had a very successful wood bee on Wednesday and Thursday last.

Telephones are to be a valuable addition to many of the houses of this vicinity in the spring, and the housewives are anticipating a good social time. On the other hand fears are entertained that John's dinner will not always be ready at the appointed time.

Mr. Victor Suggitt of Port Perry, has been home on the sick list during the past week.

Miss Matchett, of Lindsay, and Mr. Hunter, are spending a few days with Mrs. Robert Swain.

Mr. W. Noble, of Port Hope, is the guest of his sister, Mrs. Jas. Swain. A good many from this part took advantage of the cheap fare to Lindsay on Saturday.

Mr. Wm. Lee and family, of Washburn's Island, intend going west early in April.

Mr. Garnet Broyley leaves on Tuesday for Saskatchewan.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Wickett, of Little Britain, spent Wednesday with friends here.

Messrs. J. E. Bruce, C. Crozier, and A. Mark spent a few days in the city last week.

The Farmers' Institute of this place intend running an excursion to Guelph in July. As this is the season for trapping, some of our villagers are thus employed. They are meeting with good success.
Mr. F. Reed, of Grass Hill, our north school teacher, returned on Saturday last looking quite refreshed after his two-weeks vacation. School was opened on Wednesday with an attendance of twelve. Scattering is no longer prevalent in the section.

WAS TAKEN HOME.

Mr. McIlwain, of Burnt River, who has been in the Ross Memorial Hospital for the past two weeks, returned home Tuesday. He is not yet well, but was well enough to be conveyed to the train.

Provincial authorities regard the rabies situation as alarming.
