Another Liberal at Ottawa Against Reciprocity

Ottawa, March 2.—William Manley German, member of parliament for Welland, was the second Liberal this week to score the government for entering into the reciprocity pact with the United States. The situation was scarcely as tense to-day as on Tuesday, when Mr. Sifton made his famous deliverance, but Mr. German's remarks were clear-cut, thoughtful, and sincere. Like Mr. Sifton, he has been a Liberal in the public eye for over twenty years, and stated that only a matter of such overwhelming importance could induce him to break with his political associates, but unlike the member for Brandon, he has not cut entirely adrift.

Mr. German prefaced his arguments against the tariff resolution by indulging in considerable adulation of the Liberals. They had made an "honest attempt" to keep the reciprocity pledge of 1891, he said, and gave them credit for "an administration that had brought prosperity to Canada." He declared, however, that there was a general feeling throughout the country against reciprocity with the United States, and that Sir Wilfrid Laurier's erstwhile awakening from that fiscal nightmare had made the "hearts of Liberals throb with pride."

Tax on Race Tracks a Hard Blow on Lindsay -- Fall Fairs Hard Hit

Substantial is to be the contribution of the race tracks throughout the Province of Ontario to the Provincial treasury if the proposed bill to put a tax on race tracks passes. The bill which was introduced into the Legislature by Hon. Mr. Matheson, Provincial Treasurer, if it passes the House will mean that there will be no more race tracks in Lindsay, said Mr. John Carew, president of the South Victoria Agricultural Society, this morning to a Warder reporter. According to the proposal all tracks where the meetings exceed three days shall pay $200 per day. Trotting and pacing associations, whose meetings are shorter pay less. For a meeting of one day, the fee is $10, for two days, $40, and for

Inspector Bradshaw's Report For Year 1910

Below will be found a copy of Inspector A. Bradshaw's (of Lindsay) report for 1910 to the Game and Fisheries Department of Ontario: Governor A. Bradshaw, of Lindsay, reports that it is pleasing to him to state that he has received valuable assistance from a great many people who wish to see the Game and Fisheries Act rigorously enforced and lawbreakers properly punished. Muskies were not as plentiful last season in Sturgeon Lake, while in Scugog Lake they are said to have been more so. Bass were caught during the season in large numbers in their usual haunts. The new locks and dam at Lindsay are finished, and it is a great convenience to those passing from one lake to the other. There are three sets of lock gates, so there is likely to be a big traffic in the spring. When the fish come up to spawn in spring they will be enabled to ascend when lockgates are being made. The new dam will be a great improvement in keeping the water up to a proper height, and will assist in preserving the fish in Scugog Lake during the winter months, from the effects of severe frost which in other years has injured them badly.

There are two trout clubs in Lindsay, composed of some of the best citizens of the town, and they go out to places where they have fishing rights. Some of these gentlemen have asked him to say in his report that they would like to get the law changed so that brook trout would be caught from the 15th April to the 15th August, as in their opinion the change would be better. There is no trout in his division, and he only reports what he was asked to do. Frogs should be protected in all the waters of the Trent Valley. Game for two years, and if not in Trent waters, at least in the County of Victoria.

Patridge are found in their usual haunts as plentiful as in golden times; that is where conditions are the same as they used to be, and this is another proof that nature holds the balance when left to right herself. The wise forethought of those who restored those magnificent game birds to the people of this Province by the timely protection given for the past two seasons is fully appreciated by all true sportsmen. The change in duck shooting from the first to the 15th September was not satisfactory to local shooters in that section, as shooting of snipe

"We are Putting Our Heads in a Noose" --Sifton's Smashing Blow

Ottawa, Feb. 28.—Clifford Sifton broke clean away from his political associates of twenty-three years and dealt a smashing blow to their reciprocity proposals in a great speech in the house of commons this afternoon. He spoke for about an hour and a half. It was a business man's speech, clear-cut, convincing, thought out, delivered in a plain way that became at times impassioned as he clinched his points. There was no compromise in it from start to finish. It was cheered by the opposition, and feared by his late political friends. The keynote of it was the folly, the awful folly of the transaction. Why did they do it? Why did Canada put her head in a noose now that everything was coming her way? For the life of him he could not see. There was no animus towards his old associates; he was the voice of deep regret that all the work the Liberals had done for the advancement of Canada, and that he especially had done for the settlement of the west, was to be jeopardized by one act of supreme folly. And for this act they had no mandate from the people. Sir Wilfrid Laurier had justified the hundred odd millions that the transcontinental is to cost, on the ground that it would keep our trade and traffic within Canada; this new deal sent it to United States channels, and made the Canadian west a back-yard of Chicago.

What reasons, what madness, had led the government to agree to a thing that meant ruin to some industries, damage to others, was destructive of our nationality, that must end in annexation, that established free trade in what the farmers had to sell, and protection for what they had to buy, that instead of binding the scattered provinces together, bound British Columbia to Oregon and Washington, the western provinces to the states south of them, and the maritime provinces to New England, they tended to break up march towards the motherland, and that destroyed the work of the past thirty years?

and plover was allowed on the first of September, and shooting at these birds often disturbed the ducks, while on their feeding grounds. Ducks were plentiful, and sportsmen were well satisfied with their increase in numbers. A good catch of muskrats was made last spring, although the season was unusually short, only lasting from seven to eight days. Some local trappers secured over $100 worth in that time, and this shows the immense value of these little animals when properly protected. Mink, no doubt, with proper attention, will again become numerous, but it will take a few seasons to do it. The mink skins are much valued, and what were taken netted good prices, $7 being about the price received by trappers for a mink skin. The law was fairly well observed during the past season. Only one breach came to his knowledge, and this was a breach of section 20, of the Game and Fisheries Act. He had the offender before F. D. Moore, K. C., who imposed a fine. A vigilant watch is at all times necessary, and this is kept up. He suggests a few changes in the Game and Fisheries Act, which in his opinion are for the better protection of the game and fish. That all winter fishing be prohibited, and that the open season for trapping muskrats be from June 15th to November 1st, and that the close season should begin on April 1st, as the run of muskrats was over last spring before the close season for them began. Pass to receive the same protection as the house, so as to avoid trouble. That frogs be protected for two years in all the waters of the Trent Valley Canal, and if this cannot be done, protect them for two years in Victoria County. That mink should be allowed to be caught from November 1st, and that they cannot be hunted with dogs in winter, this being the most destructive manner in which mink are killed. Trapping or shooting only should be allowed in killing them. That muskrats should only be trapped in spring, and all fall and winter trapping be prohibited in the Trent Valley Canal, and if this cannot be done, protect them for two years in Victoria County. That no artificial light be allowed in hunting or killing game animal or bird protected by the Game and Fisheries Act in Victoria County.

Veritable Reign of Terror in China --Starving Plague-Stricken Natives

Victoria, B.C., March 2.—According to advices received here from a steamer yesterday the situation in the famine districts in China, is much worse than the censored cables despatchers admit. Starving and plague-stricken natives, and pillaging and murdering throughout the country is creating a veritable reign of terror. The people are still dying by the thousands. To meet the pressing needs of the starving people American Consul-General Wilder at Shanghai cabled to the secretary of state an urgent appeal to the people of the United States for the contribution of $100,000 more to be sent by cable to the stricken people. The situation, Mr. Wilder adds, is desperate. While some relief has been given to the suffering multitudes, thousands are dying of starvation. Barks and weeds, the Consul-General says, provide the only food for thousands of others. The Red Cross of Washington cabled $1,000 to Mr. Wilder, making a total of $29,000, which the Red Cross has disbursed for the relief of the sufferers, $16,000 having been cabled directly to the stricken districts and $7,000 having been spent for supplies. Intimate knowledge of the distressing famine conditions in China is graphically given in a letter received at the State Department at Washington. It was forwarded to the department from the famine relief committee at Shanghai, and was written to the Hon. W. P. Hoatchek, a missionary in the famine stricken province of Anhui, who is acting as agent in the distribution of donations. The letter says in part: "Truly one must see it to ever have a true conception of the horrors of a famine. I thought some weeks ago that I had seen pitiful things, but as the days drag along there are more things to see which appeal to the very depths of one's pity and sympathy. When I see

Robbed In Day Light

New York, N.Y., March 6.—Robbed of several thousand dollars in negotiable securities in broad daylight last Thursday and did not know of it until to-day. Such was the experience of Mr. Bancroft, aged eighty-six years, head of a well known firm of brokers of that name. On Thursday afternoon, as was his habit on Thursday afternoon, Bancroft took his valuable papers to deposit them in the produce Exchange vaults. He was run into by a big tall man, who knocked him down and the papers were scattered from his hand. Another smaller man came running up and very courteously helped him up and shoved the bundle of papers under the old gentleman's arm. The old broker, after thanking the man for his assistance, carefully deposited the papers in the vaults. This morning when Bancroft's junior partner went to the vault to get the securities, he found only an envelope containing three old newspapers.

It is quite evident that Bancroft was robbed on Thursday by the clever substitution trick. The securities stolen included industrial and mining stocks, all negotiable, and up to the present time not the least clue has been forthcoming on which to follow up and trace the daring robbers down.

OPERATED ON HIMSELF UNDER NEW ANAESTHETIC SURGEON WIELDED KNIFE

Paris, March 2.—Alexander Fzaloon, a twenty-six years old Rumanian surgeon in Paris, is the talk of Paris for an act of cool heroism. He has been studying a new anaesthetic, the action of which he calls rachi-strychnostovainisation. It leaves the patient lucid, but suppresses all sensibility and M. Fzaloon intends to make his discovery the subject of the medical essay which he will present at his medical final examination, which he is to pass in a few weeks. M. Fzaloon has been suffering from hernia, and an operation became necessary. He determined to try his new anaesthetic and to test its efficiency by operating on himself. The anaesthetic was administered, and the young doctor sat down on the operating table, and after calmly performing the operation, slit the wound and went to bed. The operation took an hour to perform. He is now on a fair way to recovery.

OBITUARY. MRS. MCGLYNN

Goderich Signal: On Wednesday, February 15th, the soul of Mrs. P. J. McGlynn, of Crewe, Ont, near here passed peacefully away at her home on the 4th concession of Ashfield. Deceased had been ill for about two years. She was born in the county of Leitrim, Ireland, in 1844, her maiden name being Mary Masterson. She came to this country when she was only two years of age. In 1861 she became the wife of Patrick McGlynn. They lived at Lindsay until twenty-eight years ago, when they and their family moved to the 4th concession of Ashfield. The funeral took place from the family residence, on Saturday, February 18th, at St. Joseph's church, Ashfield, where solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. M. J. McCormack, and the remains were interred in St. Joseph's cemetery. The pall bearers were Fred Robinson, Patrick Moran, John Dalton, Thomas Garvey, Charles Moss, and William Hackett. The deceased leaves to mourn her loss her aged husband, six sons and five daughters: James and Mrs. John Dineen, of Hancock, Mich.; George and Mrs. John Templeton, of Moose Jaw, Sask.; Mrs. Hankey, Mrs. Laroas, Mrs. Clark, Joseph and John or Detroit and Fred and Leo at home. The sorrowing relatives and friends have the deep sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

Ten Liberal Bolters are Already Admitted

Ottawa, March 5.—The failure of the Gist Congress to pass the McCall Bill ratifying the reciprocity arrangement between Canada and the United States has greatly added to the already great perplexity of the Laurier Government. It was announced on Friday that the reciprocity debate in the House of Commons would not be resumed until Tuesday, and that Sir Wilfrid Laurier would speak on that day. The House on Tuesday, however, may be confronted with a resolution to postpone the whole matter until the new Congress has ratified the agreement. A matter which was expected to come up, but which will probably go over for the present relates to the contumacy of Finance Minister Fielding in refusing to lay on the table of the House the letters received by him from Liberal members on the subject of reciprocity. Mr. Fielding refuses to produce them on the ground that letters from members of Parliament to members of the Government are confidential communications. In view of the fact, however, that Mr. Carvell (Carleton, N.B.) read to the House on Thursday last a communication from Mr. O. S. Crockett, the Conservative member for York, N.B., transmitting a request from a Fredericton firm to have the United States duty on shingles reduced, the Conservative members are insisting that the letters from Liberal members be also made public. There is still much uncertainty as to the number of Liberal members who will vote against the Government on the final division. The Liberal members in accord with the Government claim that the bolters will not exceed ten in number. The Conservative vote is solid against it. The Government claims, however, that at least two of the Nationalists will support reciprocity.

MUST PAY TAX

Toronto, Mar. 1.—Hon. Col. Matheson's promised bill, by which the revenues of the province will be materially increased every year, was introduced in the Legislature and given its first reading yesterday. It is entitled "A Bill to Amend the Supplementary Revenue Act," and in regard to the race track revenue is revised as follows: Every incorporated company, association or club owning or operating or using a race track, and holding race meetings once or twice a year, at which there are running races, and which meetings continue for more than three days, shall pay in advance before each such race meeting a license fee of $200 for each day of such meeting, and in default of such payment the Provincial police may, under instructions from the Provincial Treasurer, stop all racing upon such track until the said tax is paid.
