MUNICIPAL COUNCILS TO HAVE MORE LIBERTY

A Measure Before the Legislature to Enable Them to Again Grant Exemptions to Man.ufacturers.

Press Gallery, Parliament Buildings, Toronto, April 2nd, 1901.

During the past week a bill was introduced providing that any council in cities, towns and incorporated villages may remit the taxes of any corporation, exempt them from taxation and grant other favors without a vote of the people. It is Liberal members of parliament yielded to "unusual persuasion" when voting this measure on corporation bills. If members of parliament yield what cannot corporations do at the council? The most priceless gift in the hands of the people is being handed over to the corporations, and to the capitalists.

What makes the action of the government suspicious is the fact that the assessment commission which meet all summer made no such suggestion, nor did any witness before that body. No petition favored it, no one asked for it, and now it is being put through at the end of the session.

This is not the first time during the session that the government has shown its allegiance to money powers, nor the first time that the members of the Opposition has been forced to fight with all their powers for the rights of the people.

Two votes were taken during the past week and upon one the Government majority went down to nine and on the other down to eight. It went down to nine when one Liberal member could not tolerate the action of the Government, but did not care to come out in open rebellion. It went down to eight when a Liberal member went still further and voted with the Opposition.

Canadian Employees Only

The week was one of great activity. The University bill was under discussion again. The committees were very active and a number of unusual committees were at work. Two debates in the House resulted in divisions. As these divisions were upon party lines it might be well to examine them. The first division was upon the motion made by Mr. Wardell, that all railways or other corporations receiving Provincial aid should employ Canadians only. The Conservatives supported this motion and the members of the Government opposed it. You can see here the same line of policy between the parties. The Government with the railways, and the Opposition for the people. Upon this motion Mr. Munro, Liberal of North Renfrew refused to vote.

The second division was upon a motion introduced by Mr. Carnegie to the effect that settlers should be permitted to cut the pine on their lands. Here is the policy of the two parties again. The Government has been squandering its timber lands, giving them out to party favorites in large quantities, but never to people who deserved them. Again the Government professes to be anxious to settle new Ontario but refuses to give any solid inducement. Once more the members of the Opposition were with the people.

Notes

Mr. Carnegie came before the new agriculture committee at its first session and proposed that the railways be asked for a special low tariff on cattle being shipped from the front townships to the pasture lands further back. It will be considered next session.

OPS COUNCIL TALKS OF THE RAILWAY LEVY

At a Special Meeting held on Saturday

On advice of Solicitor McSweeney, a special meeting of Ops council was held on Saturday afternoon, March 30th, to consider what action should be taken with regard to the levy of 1900. Mr. McSweeney, basing his opinion on the recent decision of the Court of Appeal in the case of "Bogart vs. the municipality of King," thought that all the municipal by-laws of the L. B. and P. railway would be rendered invalid unless the law regarding the issuing of debentures were altered, or unless the Supreme Court would reverse the decision of the Court of Appeal in the case mentioned. If the decision of the Court of Appeal prevail the levy of 1900 should be paid back to the ratepayers, but if the by-laws should be sustained by legislature or otherwise the levy, if now refunded, could not be levied again at the close of the term without additional expense.

Mr. Thos. Stewart, on behalf of the company, said the government had been interviewed on the matter; that the Bogart vs. King case was still undecided and that further appeal would be made to the Supreme Court if necessary. The company had already expended a considerable sum of money on the work, and the president, Mr. Boyd, whose letter was before the council, was desirous that the municipalities assist the company in settling matters right since they (the municipalities) were at fault in not having issued their debentures within the year.

He, Mr. Stewart, therefore asked the council to defer further action for a few weeks until, the case now pending should be finally settled. Mr. G. H. Hopkins said that he had notified the council at his meeting March 18th., that he would enter suit to recover the interest part of the railway tax paid by him last year in case the council refused to pay it. He was still of the opinion that the interest should not have been levied, but was in no hurry to press his claim, and would wait until the matter now in dispute shall have been decided.

Mr. McSweeney then said that the council should either act on his written advice and pass a by-law to refund the money, or otherwise defer action as desired by the company, and since Mr. Hopkins had offered to postpone his case the latter course might be preferable, and they could meet soon again if necessary. The reverend pastor stated they could not be meeting so often, they would be hurried with their seeding and did not intend to meet till May 27th. For his part he was in favor of passing the by-law and be done with it. Mr. Hickson was of the same opinion.

Mr. Byrne said that in view of what had been said by the three lawyers present, he thought it was better to wait about three weeks or till the next regular meeting, and moved accordingly. Mr. Sluggert seconded the motion. Mr. Hickson moved in amendment that the by-law be passed to refund the money but had no second. Mr. Hawkins supported the original motion which was carried.

Change of Postmasters

Moved by Mr. Sluggert and seconded by Mr. Hawkins that the resignation of Samuel Parkin and R. J. Robertson as postmasters of beats Nos. 25 and 47 be accepted and that P. J. Murphy and Edwin Roddy be appointed in their places.—Carried. W. F. O'BOYLE, Clerk.

Postmaster Morton Sustained

Our Little Britain correspondent writes: On Monday April 1st there was a very large gathering at Rusland's hall. On that day the post office inspector heard the charges against Mr. Morton. The presence and attitude of so many of the fair sex revealed the fact that they were as much interested in mail matters as the masculine portion of the community. The charges were:

1. That some persons are given mail that does not belong to them.
2. That some persons are allowed to go behind the wicket and help themselves.

Mr. Morton explained that mistakes are sometimes almost unavoidable papers sometime came without an address. They were then put aside and given in order to those who first ask for them. It sometimes happened that in distributing the papers, two would be picked up instead of one and so one got into the wrong box. Letters were sometimes very poorly addressed and he would do any person in the audience to tell positively for whom they were intended. Mr. Morton admitted that during the excitement of the war and the Queen's death etc., a few well-known persons had passed beyond the line marking the post office and had taken their paper before they were sorted. Persons not sworn never touched the letters.

Other charges were denied by Mr. Morton and were evidently without foundation. Some things had been said but witnesses could not be produced to prove them. Mr. Morton then asked for an opportunity to show why these charges had been made and to get to the root of the matter but the Inspector did not consider this necessary. He asked those in favor of the present management to stand up whereupon nearly every one in the hall arose and for a time nothing but deafening cheers could be heard. The Inspector thanked the audience for their attention and behavior and said the evidence would be submitted to the Postmaster-General. Whatever the outcome may be, Mr. Morton has abundant reason to believe that the people of Britain and surrounding county still have confidence in the one who has served them for so many years.

A Good Property

The town is extending westward. Property in that quarter is going up in price. Dwellings are crowding the boundary on that side closer than anywhere else. This fact is turning the attention of some people to locations just over the border. Location there gives one town conditions with only township taxes. The difference between the man on the east side of the boundary and his neighbor across the way is one of taxes entirely but it is no small difference.

Because of this and the demand for outside property, Mr. Richard Corley has decided to offer for sale a block of five acres immediately south of Mr. Robt. Bryans, who now owns the fine Matthews residence at the head of Kent-st. This is as fine piece of land as there is in the county, high, dry, fertile, and commanding a delightful view of the town. Mr. Corley asks only $1000 for the block, but will sell only on condition that a good residence is built on it. This would make a fine gardening plot. At the price asked this situation should be quickly taken for there is not its equal on the outskirts of the town.
