THE SPRING FEELING

Not Exactly Sick—But Neither are you Well.

CLOSE CONFINEMENT DURING THE WINTER MONTHS HAS LEFT YOU WEAK, EASILY DEPRESSED AND "OUT OF SORTS."

The words "weak and depressed" expresses the condition of thousands of people in the spring time. It is one of nature's signs that humanity cannot undergo months of outdoor life in badly ventilated buildings with impunity. Sometimes you have a headache; slight exercise fatigues you; your appetite is variable; you are easily irritated or depressed; perhaps there are pimples or slight eruptions that indicate the blood needs attention. Whatever the symptom may be it should be attended to at once, else you will fall an easy prey to graver disease. Do not use a purgative in the hope that it will put you right. Any doctor will tell you that purgatives weaken, that they impair the action of the liver and create chronic constipation. A tonic is what is needed to help nature fight your battle for health, and there is only one always reliable never-failing tonic, and that is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills have no purgative action. They make rich, red blood, strengthen the tired and jaded nerves, and make weak depressed, easily tired people, whether old or young, bright active and strong. Among those who have provided the health-bringing qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Miss Emma Chaput, of Lake Talon, Ont., who says: "I cannot thank you enough for the good I have derived through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I honestly believe that but for them I would now be in my grave. My health was completely broken down. My face was white as chalk, and if I made the least effort to do any housework I would almost faint from the exertion, and that my heart would beat violently so that I feared I would drop where I stood. I was a great sufferer from headaches and dizziness as well, and my appetite was so poor that I scarcely ate at all. I tried several medicines, but they did not help me, and then I decided to send for some of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got six boxes and before I had used them all I was as well as I had been, with a good healthy color, a good appetite and an entire freedom from the ailments that had made me so miserable. You may be sure that I will always have a warm regard for your valuable medicine."

Do not experiment with other so-called tonics—you are apt to find it a waste of money and your health worse than before. You will not be experimenting when you use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They have proved their value the world over, and you can rely upon it that what they have done for you. If you cannot get the genuine pills from your dealer send direct to the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and they will be mailed post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50.

The Columbia Bicycle.
What will very likely be a very popular line of wheels was put into stock by Mr. Ruben L. Morgan at the drugstore on Tuesday. These wheels are the Columbia and are made by A. Franklin & Sons Toronto. They are made in racer and roadster patterns and the roadster is in three prices. In the catalogue these prices are $60, $45, and $35, the same as the other high grade makes. But Mr. Morgan says he will surprise the wheel-buying public this year by offering them at $45, $40, and $35. If he does it, there is a big sale ahead for these wheels. The $45 wheel is a beauty. It has the famous eccentric chain adjustment, arch or triple crown, diamond cranks and interchangeable sprockets. The tight parts are all heavily nickled on copper. It is an elegant strictly high grade wheel.

The remarkable thing about this whole line is that any option of saddles, pedals and tires is allowed. This includes the Dunlop tire. The samples are fitted with it and Dominion rims. To get a wheel with first grade Dunlop tires at $35 is a chance that a good many people will not miss.

A Handsome Hero and a Beautiful Demon.

A Kent squire: F. W. Hayes. Gwynett of Thornhaugh: F. W. Hayes. Toronto: William Briggs.

These two books constitute the adventures and love story of Ambrose Gwynett, a handsome and daring young Englishman, during the years 1711-1716. The scene is laid partly in France and partly in England. The chief characters are Gwynett, Louis XIV, Marquis de Torcy, Duc de Orleans, Duke of Marlborough, Comtesse de Valincour and Muriel Dorrington. The whole atmosphere is that of the French court. Intrigue diplomatic and personal, is everywhere. Comtesse de Valincour, the most beautiful woman of all Europe, is a central figure in the story and her career is of absorbing interest. She passionately loves Gwynett, and her foil is Muriel Dorrington, the beautiful English girl whom Gwynett adores.

The strength of these books lies in the wealth of incident, the excellence of the dialogue and the vivid picturing of the court life of the time. The hero is burned, hanged, drowned and suffers scores of other marvellous adventures. The dialogue is that of brainy men of affairs and brilliant women, and is exceedingly good. As a piece of historical fiction these books are a great success.

There are thirty-two illustrations by the author, and they are of high quality in both drawing and printing. The typographical work in the book is satisfactory throughout. Altogether Mr. Hayes is to be congratulated on having done a piece of work that will give him a place among the solid workers in English fiction. E. A. HARDY.

THE REVIEWER.

The Bartholdi statue of Liberty is in good condition, but its surroundings are in bad shape. It is nobody's business to make the place worthy of its name and its fame.—Philadelphia Ledger.

California robbers carried off an entire gold mine the other night, jarring it loose from Mother Earth with dynamite. The man who stole a hot stove would be ranked as an awkward amateur in California.—Minneapolis Tribune.

Already the Germans are becoming tired of the conflict in China, and it is not to be wondered at that the British public would welcome nothing more eagerly than news of a settlement of the South African trouble.—Denver Republican.

Apparently there is more truth than wit in the quips that have been made about Turkey's financial condition. Izet Pasha, Turkish minister at Madrid, has again tendered his resignation on account of nonpayment of his salary.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A young woman in New Jersey broke off her engagement on her wedding day because she found the prospective groom had deceived her as to his prospects in life. Cupid is finding the bandage over his eyes out of date in these business times and is getting as sharp about cash accompaniments as his own arrows.—Baltimore American.

The Pennsylvania State college has just graduated 40 dairy experts. Cauliflower, as we know from Mark Twain, is only "cabbage with a college education," and Pennsylvania cream cheese properly manipulated by these experienced hands may develop into a Brie or Camembert defying distinction from the imported article.

The Wise Man.
He keeps a cat for exercise; She knows what she's about. To let her in he has to rise, And then to let her out. Soon he must let her in once more, And so it goes all day; That man gets muscle work galore Who keeps a cat, I say.

Noblesse Oblige.
"What are you staring at, Nellie?" "Oh, please, ma'am, with your hair like that and your diamonds, you do look so like Lady Plantagenet Gingham that I was own maid to! Are you any relation, ma'am?" "No—at least, no near relation. But you can have that pink silk shirt waist of mine, Nellie."—Life.

The Wrong Word.
Mr. Frost (looking up from his paper)—What are you chuckling at, Maria? Mrs. Frost—I was thinking of the time when you proposed. You told me to say one little word that would make you happy for life. Mr. Frost—Yes, I remember. And you went and said the wrong word.—London Fun.

The Gentle Martyr.
She suffered all the weary day, Yet never made complaint; She bore her pain as if she'd been Some good, old-fashioned saint. But with the night came rest for her, Untroubled rest and sweet; She peeled her number four shoes from Her number seven feet.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

A Misnomer.
He came at half past seven To pay an evening call. She feared about eleven That he'd never go at all.

His style of conversation Was innocently insane, Showing lack of cogitation, But his manner was urbane.

He smiled and kept on talking In a cheerful, babbling flow, While she spoke about the walking And wished that he would go.

In vain her hints and yawning; He staid and staid and staid. It was really almost morning Ere he left that weary maid.

She said she thought she really Would have had to take a nap, And she wondered why they called him "Such an easy going chap."

Ready to Take His Turn.
"What are you doing here?" asked the policeman. "Jes' loiterin' aroun'," answered Farmer Courtossel. "I'm waitin' fur a bunco man to come along an show me aroun' town an buy me a few refreshments before I take the train. I've played the game so often that I think mebbe I can quit it this time quick enough to come out suthin' ahead."

Continuous Performances.
Mrs. Nixdore—What sort of a pinno player do you consider my daughter by this time? Mrs. Pepprey—I should say "nonun-ton."

Mrs. Nixdore—How do you mean? Mrs. Pepprey—She doesn't seem to consider eight hours of labor sufficient for a day.

A Spring Pattern.
Assistant—Madam, what shall be done with this bonnet which your pet dog chewed up? Milliner—Put it in the window with a card reading, "Advance Parisian Novelty—$55."

When Sylvia Skates.
When Sylvia skates, my heart leaps high, And e'en the winds cease rushing by, But seem to stop as if to see Her whirling, singing wild and free With blazing cheek and flashing eye!

A hundred other maids may try, With merry laugh or soulful sigh, In vain to claim one glance from me When Sylvia skates! Ah, there is many, many a cry Of terror as her tooties fly From under her rebelliously— She weighs two hundred pounds! "Oh, gee!" The ice groans out—and that's no lie— When Sylvia skates.

The Difference.
Lady—I see you advertise homemade bread? Baker—Yes, ma'am. Lady—Does it taste like homemade? Baker—No, indeed, ma'am. It's sweet and light!

Couldn't Shine in Fiction.
Blodbs—Youngpop is altogether lacking in imagination. Stobbs—Why do you say that? Blodbs—I've never heard him get off any of the bright sayings of his children.

A Matter of Doubt.
"Do you suppose we could take those people on the planet Mars into our best society?" "I am afraid not. They are not in our sphere, you know."

Unpardonable.
He held her in his arms awhile; She struggled to be free. At last he let her go and said, "I pray you pardon me."

He had not kissed her, had not made Her struggle hard; she sighed! "Ah, no, I cannot pardon you," She bitterly replied.

An Effect Spoiled.
"After the ceremony the bride wept." "Grief at leaving her home?" "No; she forgot herself and held up her beautiful long satin train going down the aisle."

Bringing It Back.
Clubberly—Old man, do you ever have any doubts about your love for her? Castleton—Oh, yes; but when it comes on I get down a stack of unpaid bills and look them over.—Life.

Tawdry.
"He has built him what he calls a Queen Anne villa, but it strikes me as being a tawdry imitation merely!" "Extremely tawdry! Why, the roof doesn't leak even!"

Her Strong Point.
The waitress who most men delights Is not so fair to see. The admiration she excites Seems rather odd to me; Yet this much own I in her praise: She really has got fetching ways.

Greek Meets Greek.
"What do you think my husband does when my mother comes to see us?" "I never guess." "He writes for his mother to come too."

A Stumper For the M. D.
Maid (to absentminded invalid)—The doctor is here, sir. Absentminded invalid—Well, just you tell him I am not able to see any one today.—Tit-Bits.

The Old Habit.
Miss Timmid's bought a folding bed Built on the latest plan; She lets it down at night, and then Looks under for a man.

Tired of His Knightly Visits.
Young De Bore (hunting for something to say)—I wish I had lived in the knightly days of old. Weary Beauty—So do I.

Her Righteous Indignation.
She—Sister Mary called today, and she says she telephoned to Kashem's drug store yesterday and asked them to deliver a message to me, but they wouldn't. I'll never deal there again. He—But, my dear, that's three blocks away; besides, I didn't know you dealt there. She—But I do. I've bought postags stamps there quite frequently.
