HOUSE BURNED DOWN.
The home of C. Chiveler, about three miles from here in Haliburton, on the north shore of Lake of the 1000 Islands, was burned to the ground with all its contents, leaving the family destitute. The community is offering substantial sympathy in the way of household supplies and clothing. A house is already under way and in the meantime one of their neighbors, Mr. H. Clark, has very kindly taken them in.

Shocks of earthquake were felt in New Brunswick.

Reminiscences Gleaned From Files of Warder

Lindsay, Friday, August 25, 1887: A young lady of Victoria Road, while picking berries, had a narrow escape from being carried off by a bear.

The Manila correspondent says:—A young daughter of Mr. Henry Glenning died quite suddenly last Sunday evening. The funeral took place on Monday and was largely attended.

Mr. Donald Smith, formerly shoemaker of Glenning is now working in Islay and lives at the home of Mr. Peter Ferguson.

Balsam Grove—The hum of Henry Sackett's threshing machine, "The Flower of Fenelon," is again heard. Success to Harry and "The Flower."

Islay—Mr. Malcolm J. Murchison left here for the Bruce mines on Georgian Bay with the intention of working there for the summer. He and three men, while sailing on the lake were capsized and were thirty-six hours in the water before they were rescued. Mr. Murchison returned last week badly bruised by his hanging so long on the floating material in the water.

Mr. T. B. Dean, teller of the Dominion Bank here, and son of Judge Dean, returned last week from the Bay of Quinte, where he has been spending his holidays.

Mr. G. H. Hopkins returned home on Thursday after a two months' trip to the Old Sod.

A short time ago Dr. Burrows received a real curiosity from Florida a medical friend of his sending him Orillia, Ont., April 14.—Mayor Goffatt has received from Mr. A. Carnegie an offer of $12,500 to build a free public library in the town of Orillia. The council has decided to accept the amount and will proceed with the building as quickly as the plans are provided.

DIAMOND FIELDS IN OPS.
Some people think that work it is stated that there are twenty-five diamonds in the mine, but listen to this from the scene of the mining operations:
Mount Pleasant, April 15.—It is believed that diamonds have been discovered on the farm of Patrick Tracey, Ops township. The clay is said to resemble that of Kimberley, and on Sunday a stone like a diamond in the rough was turned up. The excavations are closely guarded.

OBSERVE THE LAW.
Fish Inspector Bradshaw and all the other inspectors of the Trent water way got down to business on Thursday, and for the next two months will keep their "eyes skinned" for people illegally catching or killing bass or tugs. Last year a number were caught and fined, and this year a strict watch will be kept, and none will be allowed to go if caught.

This is something in which every real sport who enjoys fishing, should assist the inspector.

ART AND DRAWING.
At Wednesday's session of the Ontario Educational Association, the conclave of the Public school inspectors covered a wide ground of practical discussion.

W. H. Stevens, Inspector of Lindsay, had something to say about "Art" in the schools. The name "drawing" had been changed to "art," and as a consequence no returns came from the rural schools.

Mr. Stevens thought the subject of literature was inadequately covered by Public schools teachers. History, which was invaluable in the training of model citizens, had been trifled with shamefully.

"The average rural school teacher doesn't even know what art is," he declared. He also thought that history was being shamefully trifled with in the schools.

FELTS CONFISCATED.
Mr. F. D. Moore, K.C., held police court at Onemose on Friday. Five Indians had informations laid against them by Ira Toole, Fish and Game Inspector, charging them with trapping muskrats on Pigeon Creek, without a license, contrary to the Ontario Game and Fishery Laws, as they were from St. Regis, Quebec.

Their names were John Buckshot, Joseph Seimore, John Isaac, Joseph Smoke and John Squiew. The inspector confiscated 195 fine muskrat skins.

Mr. F. Holmes Hopkins conducted the defence for the Indians. It was proven to the satisfaction of His Worship Mr. Moore that John Buckshot and Joseph Seimore were domiciled in Ontario, and they were therefore acquitted of the charge, and their muskrat skins returned to them.

"I have taken Scott's Emulsion for six weeks and have found it a wonderful remedy. Before I took the Emulsion I had no appetite; was weak; had lost nearly fifty pounds of flesh, and now I eat well and am gaining every day. I find Scott's Emulsion to be very easily digested and a good food for all weak people."—FLORENCE BLEEKER, No. 1 Myrtle Avenue, Bridgeton, N. J.

This is only one of thousands of cases where has given an appetite. It's so easily digested that it doesn't tax the digestive organs and they rest; yet the body is wonderfully nourished and built up. The digestion is improved—then ordinary food is sufficient.

Growing boys and girls, who need so much food to keep them well and strong, and also growing, should be given a bottle of Scott's Emulsion every few weeks. It does wonders for them. It prevents their getting run down and spins nothing does them so much good.

Eloquent Address

Like the rushing of a mighty wind, the laymen's missionary movement is spreading over a continent and a nation; it is the awakening of the Christian church to the knowledge that it is fundamentally an aggressive, expansive missionary organization; that the fulness of time has come and a world-wide crisis is at hand.

Once again the laymen of the Lindsay churches were touched with the fiery eloquence of one of the heralds of this vast movement—a movement to recognize and realize the responsibilities of laymen in connection with missions. Wednesday Canon Cody, rector of St. Paul's church, Toronto, and one of the foremost ministers and most eloquent orators in the church of England in Canada to-day, stirred an audience in St. Paul's church to its depths with his fervent utterances in support of the greatest movement of modern times.

One verse of a hymn sung contains the object of this movement. It is as follows:
Jesus shall reign where'er the sun
Shall his successive journeys run,
His kingdom stretch from shore to shore
Till moons shall wax and wane no more.

AN EXCELLENT EXAMPLE.
In his introduction of the speaker of the evening Rev. Mr. Marsh referred to the fact that St. Paul's church, Toronto, of which Canon Cody is the pastor, has been giving the most to missions of any church of that denomination in Canada. Since the inception of the Laymen's missionary movement that church has doubled its givings.

CANON CODY.
"It is a great privilege for me to speak at any time on behalf of missions," Canon Cody said, "because the missionary work is an integral part of the Christian life and activity. Missions cannot be considered an extraneous or an extra in church work. Until comparatively recent times the men of our church have not been as much interested in missionary work as they have now become. The great rising of the laymen's missionary movement has marked their activity. We are very glad that the men have taken up the work along with the women."

HISTORY OF MOVEMENT.
Canon Cody then briefly reviewed the history of the vast movement from its origin in the city of New York a few years ago until its present proportions in this country.

"It came with characteristic American rush and characteristic American bigness," he said, "upon the Christian people. The business men took hold of it and a commission of these men went around the world and investigated at first hand the work being accomplished by the missionaries. They brought back the report that missions are genuine efforts for the upbuilding of the Christian world in heathendom but so far the Christian world has merely been playing with missions. The work has to be done on a much larger scale and with more energetic and more completely organized methods."

THE RESPONSIBILITY.
"This movement comes to rouse up the great church of Jesus Christ to its responsibilities with regard to missionary methods. It doesn't in the slightest degree interfere with our present machinery, but it comes to put more steam power to that machinery and to arouse the church, east and west, north and south. The church is not a club for mutual edification, even in its religious matters, for its members. An aggressive, expansive missionary organization is what it was originally intended to be. The disciples were told to teach and gather into the fold, not to stand still, but to be always progressing. It is a matter of life and death to the church of Christ. It is a necessity for it to be progressive."

Jesus told us to go out and do missionary work and he knew best what the world needs. No geographical limit was fixed and the whole world was made the field. There was no time limit until the Lord returns the second time. In this is combined the essential elements of our Christian heritage. If we are true to Him we must seek to fulfill the fundamentals of this charter.

APPEALS TO LAYMEN.
"The laymen's missionary movement is a work to appeal specifically to the laymen of the church. The laymen's missionary movement is an attempt to realize and recognize the responsibilities of the laymen in connection with missions; an attempt to concentrate into the service of Christ and the missionary enterprise the business ability heretofore expended along the business, financial and commercial lines."

"Judging on the basis that one missionary during his lifetime can offer the gospel to 25,000 heathens with the present staff of missionaries in the field, four hundred million can be reached in the present generation and this leaves three million heathens upon whose darkened minds the light will not have an opportunity to shine. We must send out another 27,000 missionaries or triple our missionary force and also triple our givings."

SPREAD TO CANADA.
"When this movement among the laymen took inception in the United States it made a foray into Canada and a trip across to Great Britain. It took a wonderful root in Canada and our nation is the first under the sun to deliberately sit down and formulate a national missionary policy. At this congress it was decided that Canada should send out 1,600 missionaries to reach four million heathens and that the total sum to be raised, including the amount required for home missions, totals about four and a half million dollars. This means about five dollars for every member in full communion in every church in the Dominion. It is not impossible to raise this sum for nothing is impossible when the people are set upon their minds to do it and God accords with it. It is a challenge ringing out to every church in the broad dominion. Surely the Christian world will arise and respond to the cry."

A GREAT OPPORTUNITY.
"What has been done? Practically the whole world is open for the missionaries. The doors are not simply open, but are off their hinges. There never was a time when missionary opportunity was as great as it is in India, China, and the islands of the sea, and the Christian philanthropist has broken down pledges and the Christian educator has uplifted and taught the heathen. Old faiths have been shaken to their very depths. Mr. Bryce, the British ambassador to Washington, stated that the phenomena which strikes everybody in India is the disintegration of old faiths. 'I regard this as of momentous importance,' he said, 'that the power of religion should not depart from the people. You are challenged to give them the full true light—the true sun of religion to take the place of the poor candle of religion which is born with every human.'"

"What remains to be done? We have entered the door, but the land behind the door remains to be possessed. There are 720,000 square miles in Central Africa in which there is not a single missionary. The missionaries in India are on a ratio of one to every 150,000 heathens, and in China one to every 100,000. The Seven million souls in darkness have yet to be reached, and four million can be reached if every missionary at present in the fields work all their life.

CHRISTIANIZE OUR BROTHERS.
"Every true Christian must feel it of vital importance to christianize as well as Canadianize, our brothers as they come in. It is our duty to instill the principles of religion and sound citizenship, and to weld together by religious ties the heterogeneous people now coming into Canada."

"The conditions of success are: 'Spiritual and evangelizing work; educational work, the training of converts in the Christian faith; and the organization of those converts into Christian churches of themselves carrying on of this work is the Christian men and women who are offering themselves as foreign missionaries to-day. On one side the door is open and on the other the men and women offering themselves at home, but not the money. It is God's providence the laymen's missionary movement has arisen and is seeking to provide this money required. I take it that it is the hand of God; His providential leading and the resources of the church are adequate to fulfill the purpose for which God called it into existence. We cannot afford to be disobedient to the claimant needs of this world of ours, and to the impulse of our own Christian spirits."

"If we know in any sense that Jesus is a son of God who has made us and died for us, who has given us an outlook into the future and a power in the present, who has thrown light on the dark problems of the hereinafter whether one by one our loved ones have gone and whether we will go, if we appreciate what he has done for us, we cannot afford to disregard Christ's commands, the world's needs and our own spiritual experience."

Mrs. Hopkins sang very sweetly during the offertory.

Afterwards a banquet was held in the school-room, and speeches made by laymen of the church and also a further talk by Canon Cody.

NO MORE ADVTS. IN PULPIT.
At the morning service in the Presbyterian church, Sarnia, Sunday, Rev. J. J. Patterson, the pastor said that in future he would read no more announcements from the pulpit. "There are three newspapers in this city," he said, "and in future the public will receive the news dealing with the services of this church through the columns of those papers."

TOWN WAS LUCKY.
The town fathers of Lindsay should consider themselves lucky in securing cement at such a low price for the season of 1909.

The city of Toronto and Montreal have contracted for their cement for 1909 at a much higher price than the town of Lindsay is paying. It is made by the same brand of cement made by the same firm, and is known as the "St. John" Portland cement. Mr. D. Crenshaw has the contract for the town of Lindsay for 1909.
