Tourists All Ready Arriving at 'Caygeon

Bobbygeon, April 20.—The young people of the village enjoyed a post Lenten hop in the town hall Monday evening.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church gave a maple sugar social in the True Blue hall Monday, the proceeds to be in aid of the new Sunday school room.

Mrs. McIntyre is having her cottage "Stonyhurst," bricked. Mr. H. V. Cook is doing the work.

Little Helen Braine, of King-st., celebrated her fifth birthday on Saturday, and invited a few of her little friends in to enjoy the afternoon.

The prelude to the tourist season came during the Easter holidays, when several familiar faces came floating in to have a peep around. Mr. Douglas Davidson, Bryce Davidson and Miss Davidson came on Friday. So did Mr. G. D. Watt, formerly manager of the Bank of B. N. A. here, now of Grantford.

Mrs. James Gordon, of Orillia, and James, Jr., came down to Mr. Moffat's funeral and stayed a few days to renew acquaintances.

THE POSTMASTER TELLS HIS FRIENDS

That They Should use Dodd's Kidney Pills for Kidney Ills

HE HAD BACKACHE FOR A LONG TIME, BUT DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED IT. THAT IS WHY HE RECOMMENDS THEM.

Dymen, Ont., April 21.—(Special.)—John Oberg, postmaster here, and well-known throughout this entire neighborhood, is telling his friends that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the cure for all forms of kidney disease. And when they ask how he knows, this is the answer he gives:

"I was troubled with backache for a long time, and Dodd's Kidney Pills cured it. That's why I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all sufferers from Kidney Disease."

And the postmaster is not the only one in this neighborhood who has found relief from their kidney ill in the old reliable remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills. Others there are whose rheumatism has been relieved, whose dropsy has vanished, and whose urinary troubles have been cured. For if the disease is of the kidneys, or caused by the kidneys being out of order, Dodd's Kidney Pills never fail to cure it.

Sermon to W. M. Society --Dorcas as the Model

"Now there was at Joppa a certain disciple named Tabitha, which by interpretation is called Dorcas; this woman was full of good works and alms deeds which she did." — Acts 9:36.

Rev. J. P. Wilson of the Cambridge-st. Methodist church, preached a sermon to the Women's Missionary Society last night from the above text, and a very interesting and instructive sermon it was. He pointed out that that society was organized in the year 1882 and in the first year raised $2,916, while in 1910 $135,715 was raised. Since 1882 $1,353,000 had been raised for the advancement of Christ's kingdom. There were 157 auxiliaries, with 30,000 annual members and 3,000 life members, an increase last year of 3,171. Besides the W.M.S. had 218 mission circles and 469 mission bands with a membership of 21,000 boys and girls.

The pastor stated that in the text above was told the account of an eminent Christian woman, a model Christian woman. One writer laid great stress upon her name; Tabitha was the Hebrew name, Dorcas the Greek name and Gazelle the English name. In those days they had a passion of calling their children after some animal, the Gazelle being one of the beautiful and graceful animals. But to-day parents called their children very often after some flower. Dorcas was a woman of great beauty and rare grace and a rich woman, but it was not her good looks or her money, but her goodness that brought her into popularity. It was a good thing to have money if it was used well.

Dorcas had a good character and character gives beauty worth. She had combined with beauty and wealth a great, glorious heart. She was a disciple of Jesus, which meant that she was a scholar and Jesus the teacher, and from the school of Christ she obtained all her adornments; she also learned one great lesson from Jesus—how to be useful. There was no happiness like that of sacrifice and consecration to work. The Christian life of Dorcas did not stop with discipleship, and happy is the man or woman that can put his or her learning into real actual work. This woman learned to maintain good works and kept doing them; "full of good works and alms deeds." She was a great model to all. It was also the alms deeds which she did that made her great.

Religion was not sentimental by any means and the missionaries and the Colporteurs were doing good work. In fact religion that was all sentiment was a very poor kind of religion. Dorcas made coats and garments for the poor widows, doing so because she found out that she could do the work well. And just so Florence Nightingale, Francis Willard and others found out that they could do certain work well and they did it. Their work was as well as that of the woman in the text acted as a stimulant to Christian efforts. She really organized all the Dorcas societies in the world and the Ladies' Aids, and the lesson stated that when she died she was mourned. Between the day of her birth and the day of her death her life was full of great things. Everybody could not lead in great reforms but all could follow. Edison invented the lamp and the people began to use it; Stevenson and Watt the steam engine and people began to ride behind them. Dorcas started a good work and every woman in the church could do the same work—a great avenue whereby the women may be engaged. It was a marvelous work and to-day 250,000,000 women were depending on Christian women to carry them out of darkness into light.

The Women's Missionary Society was organized at Hamilton in 1882 and had been doing a great work ever since. The pastor stated that "we must have women simply because they are the educators of the men—the sisters and the mothers of the home. It would seem impossible that any child can grow up in the house of a Christian woman and not show the results in future life. It is imperative that we win the heathen women in this generation and then we will win the men in heathenism. Women are the great reformers of men. The first convert that Paul made in Macedonia was a woman, and then the family, and so the good work spread, and the only way to Christianize China is to evangelize the women first."

It was a sad thing, stated the preacher, when to-day women of wealth and education kill time because they have nothing to do, passing the entire day in frivolity and amusement. They must all some day give an account of their stewardship.

In closing the pastor stated that all the women should be united for the good of the women of the world and he thereupon told the story of the W.M.S. as given in the figures and facts in the introductory paragraph of this article. There were twelve hundred million people in the world to-day without the knowledge of Jesus Christ.

OBITUARY

MR. HUGH WADDELL. Peterboro Examiner: Death came with startling suddenness Saturday morning about ten o'clock to Mr. Hugh Waddell, at the family residence, "Beechfield," Monaghan Road. He had complained of pains in the chest Friday night, but arose the next morning as usual. Returning to his room he lay down on the bed and passed away shortly afterwards. He was a prominent citizen of Peterboro, a man of sterling character, and his passing away will be widely regretted. He was born in the township of South Monaghan 75 years ago. His parents, Robert Waddell and Sarah McClelland, who came of a prominent family of County Down, Ireland, were among the earliest settlers to this part of the country. For thirty-six years he conducted a mercantile business at Centreville, and after retiring resided at the homestead in South Monaghan. In 1878 he was married to Mary Waddell. Sixteen years ago he came to Peterboro and made his home at the late residence, "Beechfield."

The late Mr. Waddell had been a warm friend of Queen's university, where he established valuable scholarships. He was a Presbyterian in religion and a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. Surviving besides his widow is one son, Richard M. Waddell, who is on his wedding tour to Europe, but has been Mrs. F. Hurdon, of Toronto, and communicated with. The sisters are Mrs. R. C. Boswell, of Elora, Mrs. Wm. Needler, of Lindsay, another sister, predeceased him some time ago.

The funeral will take place Tuesday afternoon with the service at 2:30 o'clock, from his late residence, "Beechfield," to the Little Lake cemetery. Rev. James Rollins will officiate. It is requested that flowers be omitted.

Ernest Moss, an Englishman, was trampled to death by a team of horses, frightened by a train, at Ingleswood.

Sunshine and Tourists are the Two Best Paying Crops in Sunny Florida

Mr. F. Holmes Hopkins, who returned from Florida on Tuesday evening, in an interview with a representative from The Watcher, gave some very interesting information in regard to that beautiful country. Mr. Hopkins left here on December 26, and during his stay in Florida travelled over almost the entire country, and states that it is a very beautiful place, mainly inhabited by tourists.

The influx of people, he stated, commences in December, and everybody leaves the country with the exception of the natives (who are called 'crackers') by about May 1st, the height of the season being in January and February.

The whole of Florida, he explained, was practically controlled by one man called Flageer, who owns the Florida East Coast Railway and a large number of hotels in the principal towns and cities along the Atlantic Seaboard, that is to say, St. Augustine, Ponce de Leon, Ormond, Palm Beach and Miami. "These hotels," he states, "are very fine, particularly the Ponce de Leon, which is possibly one of the finest in the world as regards size, beauty of architecture, interior decorations and structural designs. The cost of living at any of these hotels is very high. They, and practically all the other hotels in Florida that are of any account, are only open during the tourist season, and they expect to make their money in that time. The Florida East Coast Railway is also especially run during the tourist season for the benefit of the tourists, that is to say the trains consist entirely of Pullmans, and rates are made accordingly, the charges being from 2c. to 4c. a mile and an extra 1c. a mile for a Pullman, and there are no return tickets issued during the tourist season. The income of Mr. Flageer is said to be $9,000,000 but as he is the second largest holder of Standard Oil, being next to Rockefeller, any estimation of his income is entirely speculative.

"To enter Florida one must go by way of Jacksonville unless one comes in the steamer by way of the South Sea, when he enters by Tampa or some other seaport. Any person, however, travelling from the north by train or ship must enter by way of Jacksonville, which is the port of Jacksonville, and consequently a teeming little city, the stores of which are simply full of attractions for the tourists. As soon as one leaves Jacksonville, he can look out of the windows at any time and see forests, but not the forests that we are accustomed to. Palms grow in abundance, but they are really trees in Florida. You will see an immense royal palm with a trunk 24 feet through, reaching as high as any of our trees with the possible exception of some of our noble pines. There are also the date palm, pimento and several other varieties. The most striking feature, however, is that the whole country is one mass of sand. Any grass that one sees has been very carefully cultivated, and is of a very coarse variety. It seems strange that vegetation should grow eight out of the sand, but nevertheless it does. The whole country through some districts is covered with small palms about the size we have in flower plants here, that is, about a foot or so high. "Where the land is cultivated they employ an expensive fertilizer which is used principally in the orange groves. Oranges, grape fruit and other fruit grows in profusion in Florida, but are cultivated particularly in certain districts, being much superior in certain parts than in others. The Indian River ranges are very superior. One may also see on looking out of the car window fields of pineapples which grow something like our turnips. You will not, however, find anything much in the line of bananas, grapes or peaches. The price of fruit in Florida is the same as in New York, strange to say—in fact possibly a little more expensive—for instance here in Miami, where they grow strawberries, I was surprised to find that they charged 75c a box, and a crate of oranges and grape fruit cost $3.50. The reason for this is, he presumed, that whole crops are bought up by buyers for certain markets. The only other solution is that tourists are considered as legitimate prey, for in Florida it is remarked that there are only two crops, sunshine and tourists.

"Florida is a beautiful place to spend a winter, as one can swim, fish and hunt to his heart's content, (but Mr. Hopkins confined himself mainly to swimming and playing golf, with an occasional horse back or motor ride). Motors can be hired in Florida at about the same price as at home, in fact they are more easily procurable than one would suppose, being as thick on the street corners as cabs are with us. "The population consists of negroes and what they call Florida 'crackers,' for the reason that the Florida 'cracker' carries a gun and pots a negro whenever he does not like the way he is wearing his hat. It is no exaggeration to say that the shooting of a negro in Florida is punished only as a misdemeanor. This to a northerner seems a shocking state of affairs, but when one has spent some time in the country he fully sympathizes with the southerner, for the negro of the south is a lazy, indolent, impertinent, good-for-nothing fellow and requires to be kept in his position."

Mr. Hopkins stated that they claim that the climate remains about the same temperature in the summer as in the winter, but this, he states, does not seem to be correct, as it was certainly getting warmer when he left on April 8th. "The climate was very much like our midsummer, as it gets chilly in the evenings and early mornings, and it depends upon where you are in Florida as to how damp it is in the early morning and evening. The climate was very fine in the winter time, but a little overbearing, as the atmosphere was not so bracing as it is here in the north. Most of the people in Florida go to bed very early, about 10 o'clock, and also take a snooze in the afternoon."

Mr. Hopkins considers Florida a splendid resort to spend the winter, and is feeling in excellent health after his very enjoyable trip through that country.

Bottled Water from Saskatoon Sampled by Number of Lindsay People

Mr. William Silverwood, Fair-ave., father of Mr. W. A. Silverwood, of Saskatoon, called at The Watcher office Wednesday afternoon and exhibited a sample of the spring water which is bottled on the farm of Mr. Silverwood about four miles from Saskatoon, and sold to the citizens of the above city.

Mr. Silverwood, Jr., visited Lindsay recently and brought a gallon or two of the water to Toronto with him for the purpose of having the same tested and analyzed by the experts. This test has been completed and the water has been pronounced A1 in every respect.

It will be remembered that when Mr. Silverwood left for Saskatoon some four years ago he conducted a sales barn, but later on purchased a farm about four miles out of the city. He had to use the spring water on an adjoining farm to water his stock, and later on when the water for drinking purposes in Saskatoon, which was received from the river, was pronounced unfit for use, Mr. Silverwood conceived the idea of selling bottled water from the springs of the adjoining farm to the people in the city. He thereupon completed the purchase of the springs and commenced to bottle the water. All last year there was a big demand for the pure water, which was sold at ten cents a gallon, and Mr. Silverwood found it necessary to keep five teams on the go hauling the product of the spring to Saskatoon.

Mr. Silverwood not having very much spare time on his lands to look after the entire business, which has grown to large proportions, looked around for a capable man to look after the spring and the bottled water, and fortunately secured an A1 experienced man from Winnipeg, where a firm selling bottled water had quite business.

At the present time various kinds of water drinks are being manufactured and sent to other provinces, and to the large towns and cities, and as the demand increases the water in the second spring will be bottled instead of being allowed to go to waste as at present.

Several Lindsay citizens were given the opportunity of sampling the bottled water from Saskatoon, and pronounced it as excellent.

Labor Leaders Accused As Wholesale Dynamiters

Indianapolis, Ind., April 22.—After months of investigation, directed by William J. Burns, the San Francisco graft investigator, now head of a detective agency, John J. McNamara, international secretary of the Bridge and Structural Iron Workers of America, the headquarters of which are in Indianapolis, was arrested here charged with complicity in the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times, of October 1, 1910, and the plant of the Llewellyn Iron Works in Los Angeles.

Four hours after McNamara was arrested, detectives found two quarts of nitro-glycerine and seven sticks of dynamite in a barn three-quarters of a mile west of Indianapolis. The barn, the detectives say, was rented by McNamara.

A later investigation of the international offices of the union organizations, and that if explosives were found to-night they must have been placed by enemies of the organizations.

the requisition, Soon after the prisoner had been hurried into the awaiting automobile, Detective Burns ran for another automobile and rode to the American Central Life building, where F. M. Ryan, president of the association, and six members of the executive board were being held by the police, pending an investigation. Doors of the room were guarded with a squad of police.

CLAIMS IT IS A "PLANT." President Ryan said to-night that he had been connected with union labor for several years, and had never heard of a case similar to the one charged to McNamara, but he had known of cases where "plants" had been made by enemies of labor organizations, and that if explosives were found to-night they must have been placed by enemies of the organizations.

Fire at Thamesville destroyed the town hall, with all the firemen's equipment, and the public library. It is now claimed that Ottawa's health conditions are normal, the recent epidemics having been over-come.
