Water, Water, Water, Everywhere!

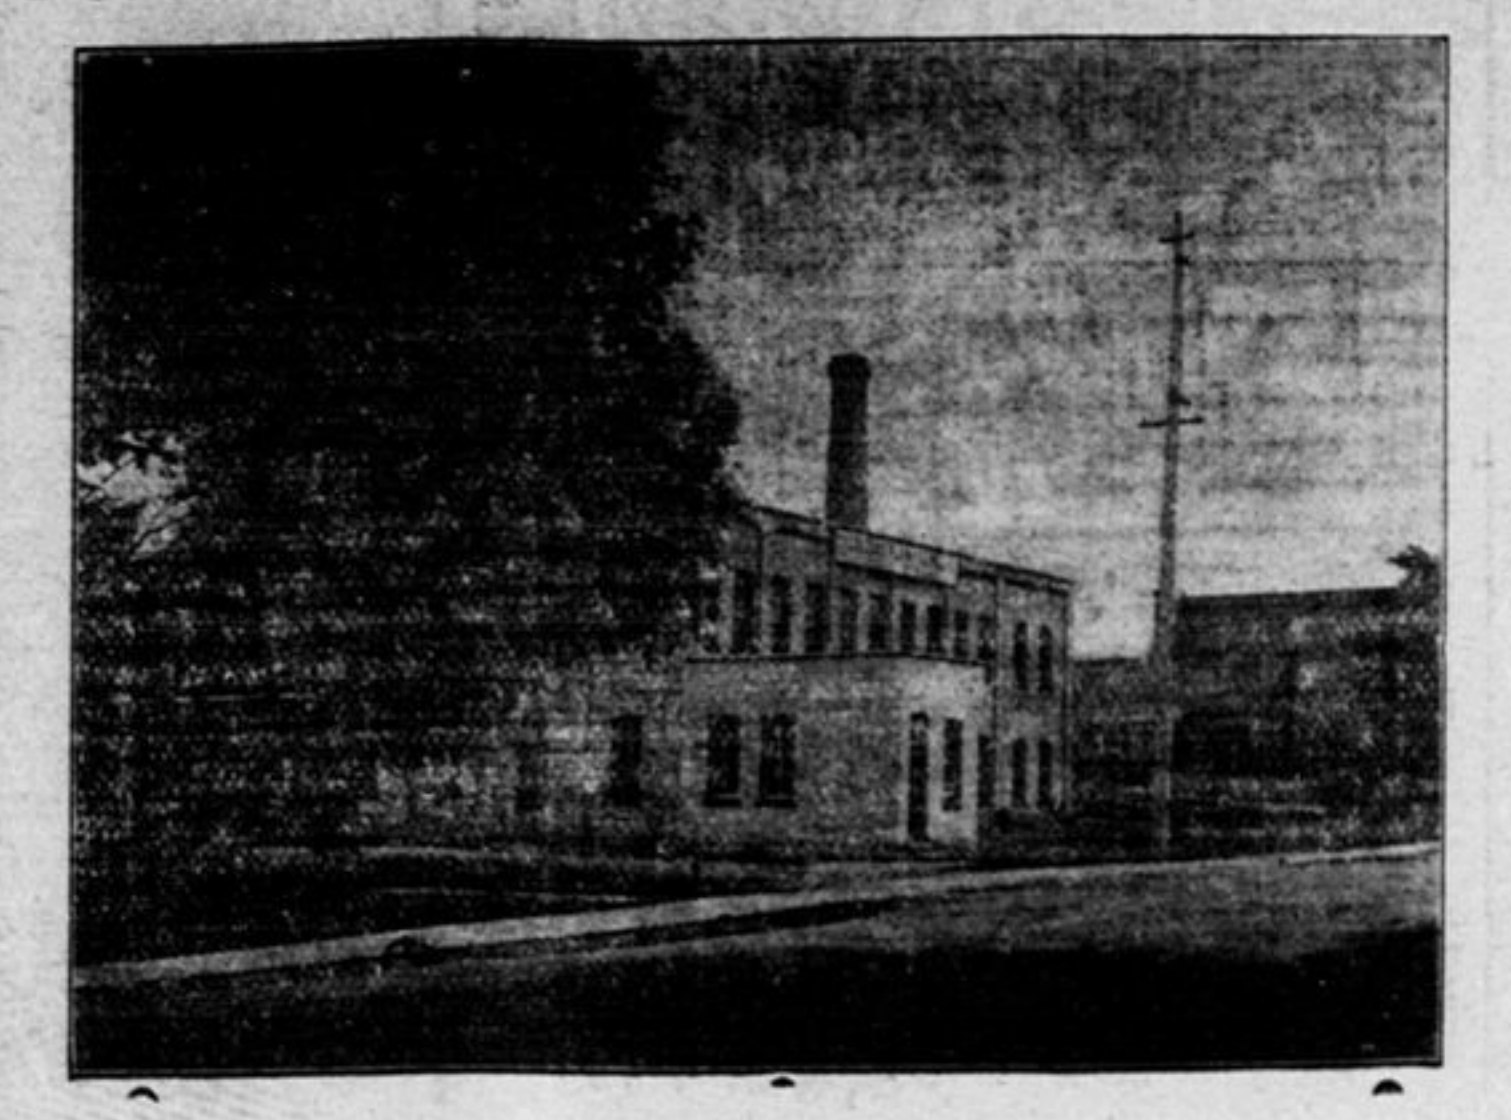

The rains descended and the floods came with all their accompanying dangers and disagreeable situations. King Sol shone in all his glory Saturday and the snow banks in town and surrounding country melted fast away into puddles of water, which small puddles leaped into the larger ones and helped to swell the mighty torrents that flowed over and under...

MANILLA. Manila, April 9.—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Edwards and family, of Belleville, and Miss Oliver, of Toronto, were the holiday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. A. Edwards. Miss S. Shannon is enjoying her vacation with her people in Picton. Prof. A. T. DeLury, of Toronto, agent Good Friday in town with his parents. Mr. and Mrs. R. Barry entertained a number of boys to an evening party in honor to Master Charlie Cobbs' birthday last Monday. Mrs. Geo. Coone and Miss Mildred Coone are spending Easter vacation with her son in Picton. Mrs. T. Grey and Miss Alice Grey are holidaying in Toronto. Miss Lena McDonald is enjoying her Easter vacation in Ontario. Mr. and Mrs. Sam. Clark spent Good Friday in Uxbridge with friends. Mr. and Mrs. G. Brown and daughter are Oshawa guests at present. The pie social and concert given in the Methodist church on Thursday evening last was fairly well attended despite the unfavorable condition of the weather. The sum of $17 was realized for the purpose of procuring a new carpet for the choir loft. Miss Blackwell, soloist, of Cannington, and Mrs. E. Edwards, reciter, of Belleville, took an active part in the entertainment. Mrs. Jane McLean and Mrs. A. A. Edwards are enjoying a pleasant vacation with relatives in Toronto. Mrs. Moore moved to Sunderland last week and Mr. Fred Wherry and family have moved into the house which she vacated. Mr. J. J. Carter, of Ottawa, is the guest of his parents during the holiday season. Last Friday and Saturday thaw has left the roads in a deplorable condition, horses being unable to travel without being imbedded in the snow slush. Sometimes the drivers found it difficult to extricate them from their unpleasant and dangerous predicament. On Saturday traveling was suspended and the mail had to be carried to and from the station. Mr. Neil McDonald purchased from Mr. Charlie McInnis this week the property known as the old Ackend residence. Miss Annie McQueen, of Toronto, is holidaying with her mother, who has recently returned home after spending the winter near Rochester and Toronto. POLICE COURT CASE. At the police court this morning a young man appeared in answer to a charge of drunk and disorderly and doing damage to the lock-up. The prisoner was represented by Mr. Geo. A. Jordan, who put up an able plea for the young man, who might have been charged with a more serious offence. The magistrate read the youth a scathing lecture, which will keep his memory green for some time to come, and dealt out a fine and costs on all charges which amounted to $17.40 or the usual term in jail.

SHORT HORN BULL SALE. Dear Sir,—We wish to inform you and your readers regarding the place of the bulls we offered for sale in your advertising columns in mid-winter. Enquiries and intending purchasers came from near and far, with the following results in the way of sales. Messrs. Shibley & Son, Harrow-smith, Ont., made the first purchase by mail order, Mr. Hugh Grant, of Cresswell, Ont., had the second selection; Mr. Albert Even, of Kirkfield, secured the third one in Messrs. W. Skinner & Son, Lockhead, Alberta, the fourth, and Mr. David Rogers, of Linden Valley, Ont., purchased the last and youngest one. We have high hopes of the owner's purchases proving profitable investments as they were decidedly the best lot we ever bred. It was most satisfactory for us to receive a letter recently from the Messrs. Skinner of far off Alberta, in which they say: "We may state that we never paid out money, with more satisfaction than that paid you for the bull which arrived safely and in good condition. He is first-class, and our opinion is that we could not have done better had we gone to Ontario to make a personal selection. We are glad to be able to state this, because we have had stock sent us from Ontario that was a disgrace to the breed and the man that bred them. When unloaded the bull was much admired. We heartily thank you for a square deal." Yours truly, J. & D. J. CAMPBELL, "Fairview Farm," Woodville, Ont. April 10, 1912. 52,000 CATTLE SHIPPED. Range and beef cattle were shipped out of Wainwright, Alta., on the G.T.P. recently to the number of 52,000. Although the country there is naturally adapted for grazing, and ranching, large areas near the town are rapidly becoming settled and it is prophesied that in another decade, "aid timers" of the district will look back to the cattle days with a sigh and tell how things used to be before the cowpunchers were pushed out by the tillers of the soil.

Oldest Conservative Voter In Lindsay - 50 Years In Business

A few days ago a reporter had an interesting conversation with Mr. George Ingle, who is one of Lindsay's pioneer business men, celebrating his fortieth anniversary as proprietor of the planing mill on Cambridge street north. Mr. Ingle was born in Port Hope seventy-five years ago this spring, and lived there the first six years of his life. He went to Peterboro with his parents, living there for ten years, coming to Lindsay at the age of sixteen, which was fifty-nine years ago. When they first came to Lindsay they were engaged in building a carding mill for the late Silas Bigelow. When this building was finished his father got the contract for the town hall, which building is now owned by Mr. D. Sinclair, and is still in use. Getting other contracts in town, they decided to remain. In 1837 his father helped to erect the Purdy mill. Forty years ago this spring, Mr.

INGLES' PLANING MILL, A Pioneer Industry of the Town.

George Ingle, in partnership with Mr. George Matthews, commenced business together. At that time there was a tannery on the present site of the planing mill run by Mr. O'Beirne, father of the editor and publisher of the Stratford Beacon. Some time had to be spent in remodeling the structure, as the building was so low that a man could not stand erect in it. In the course of a few years, Mr. Matthews went out on business and Mr. J. P. Ryley was a partner with Mr. Ingle for a few years. With the exception of the two years which Mr. J. M. Chalmers had the factory, Mr. Ingle has run the business himself nearly ever since the present building was erected. In 1886 the present factory was built, and it stands today just as it did then. The machinery, of course, has been changed, the factory now being equipped with the latest and most efficient machinery. At present there are from twelve to fifteen men employed in the factory and there were never less than seven or eight. A number of men who are now working with Mr. Ingle have been with him for some time, which speaks highly of him as an employer. Mr. Ingle has been prominently identified with the public life of the town. He served on the town council for years. He was a councillor for several terms, was reeve and also occupied the mayor's chair for two years. He is the oldest Mason in Faithful Brethren Lodge with the exception of our venerable citizen, Mr. C. Britton, and is the oldest Past Master. Mr. Ingle is the oldest Conservative voter in Lindsay. The many satisfied customers of Mr. Ingle, not only in the immediate district, but throughout the province, speak volumes for his business integrity. It has been his policy to turn out nothing but the best. From the nature of the business in which he was engaged, Mr. Ingle has been closely associated with the building of Lindsay's business blocks and residences, and many are the in-

St. Andrew's Choir Concert Big Success

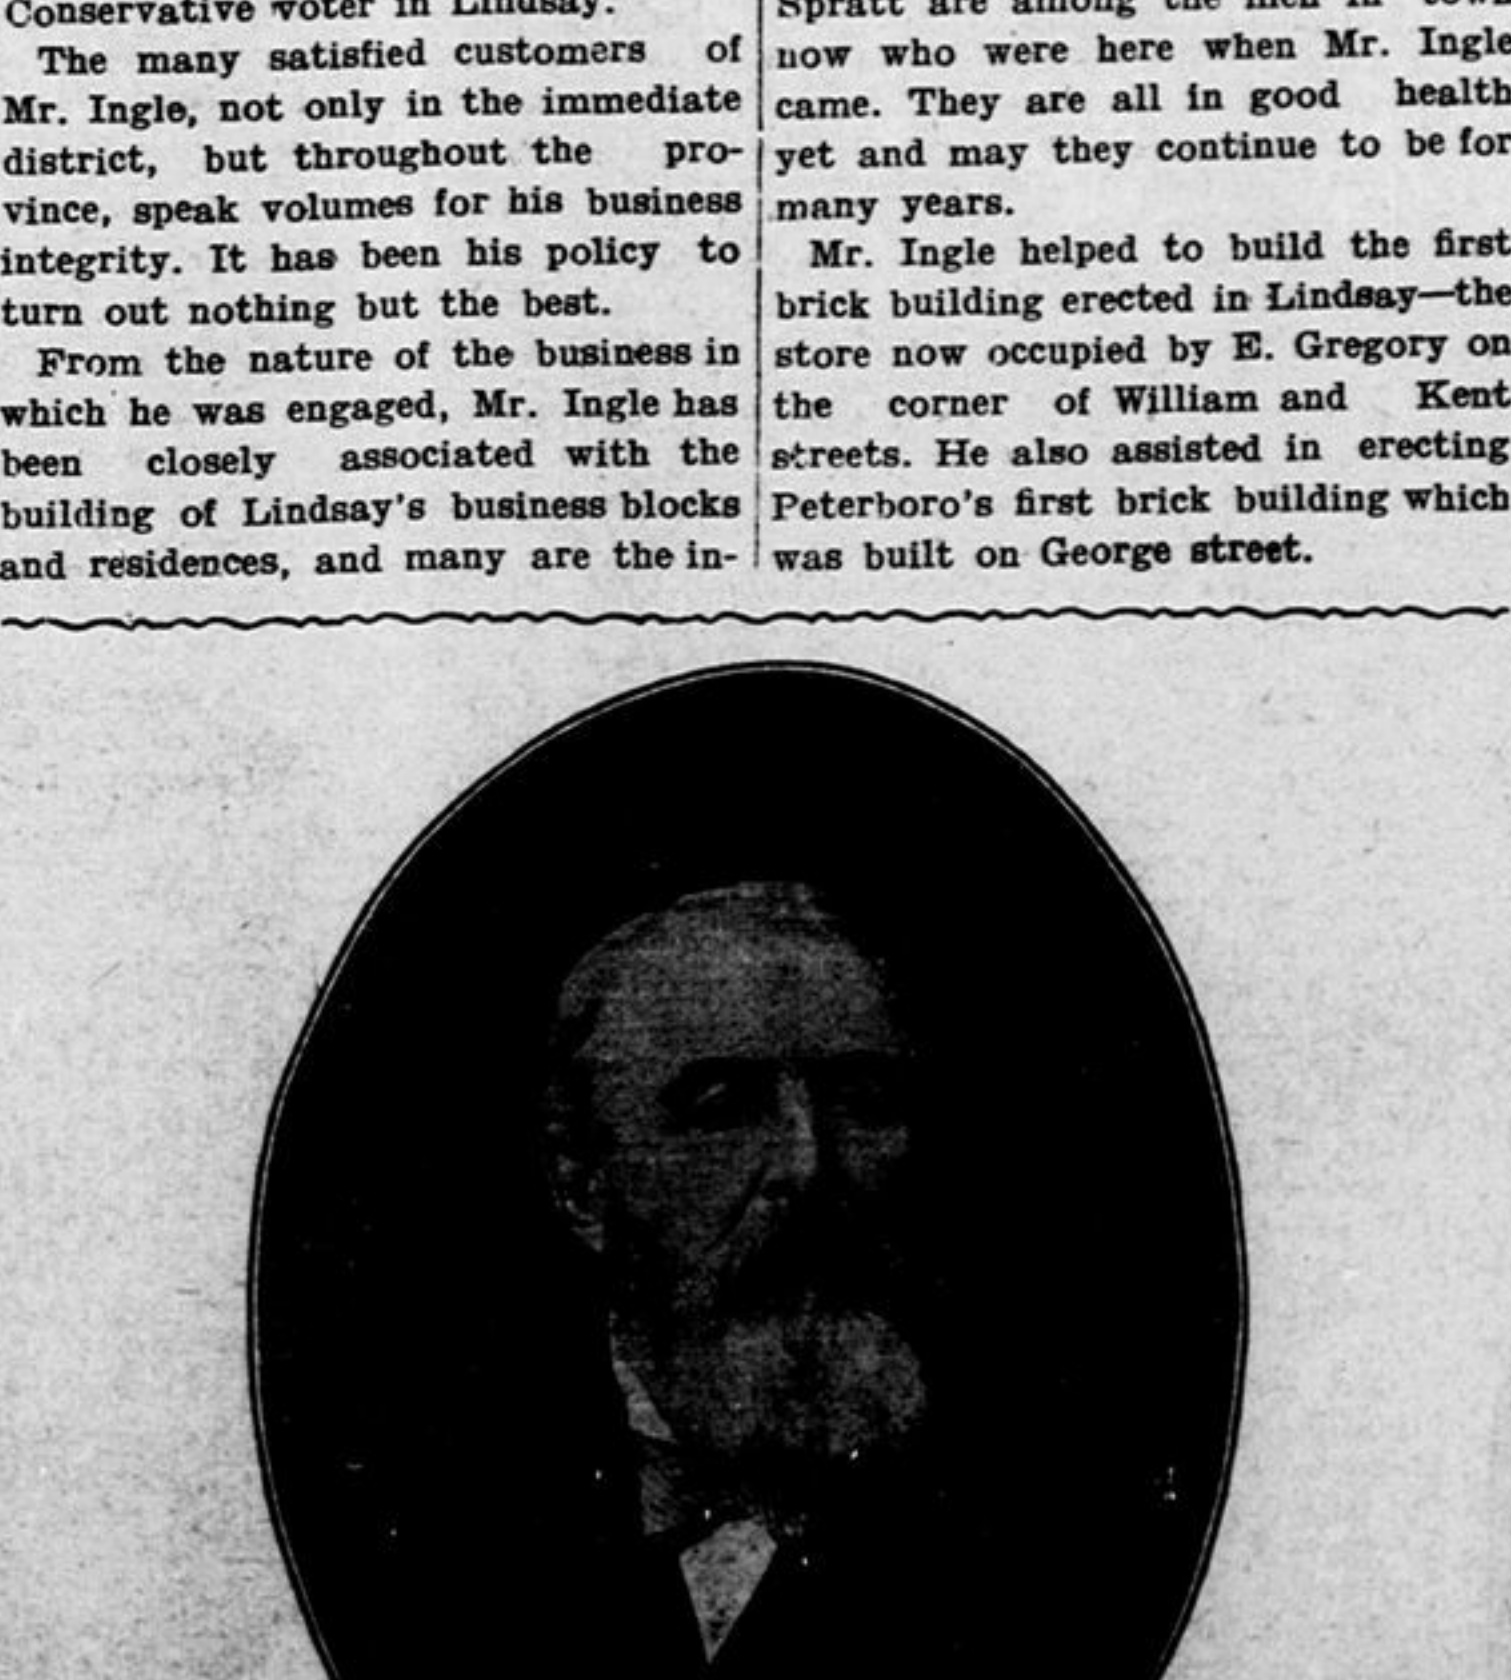

The presence of an audience of over three hundred Tuesday in the Presbyterian church made it plain that a fine concert was expected from the choir on the occasion of its second annual concert. In this the audience were not disappointed, and judging, if by nothing else than the rounds of applause, the concert was a notable success. Encores were demanded and responded to and had not been for the fact that the concert was held in the church, the applause would have been much louder, but as it was many brought their hands together with a certain amount of restraint. The concert is pronounced by music lovers as being the best amateur concert of its kind that has been rendered in Lindsay for some time. It was well worth fifty cents admission, the price which would certainly be charged in the cities, and it is to be deplored that the people of Lindsay and especially the congregation of St. Andrew's were not loyal to an organization which is doing much for the musical education of the people, the singers giving their time and talents gratis. A program of difficult musical numbers was rendered in a highly satisfactory manner under the very capable tuition of Mr. A. G. Randall, the harmony and shading being at times as well pitched and perfectly tuned instrument; the choruses were sung with a vim, the well-balanced choir being particularly strong in volume and in the shading effects; the accompaniments combining delicacy of touch, good expression and excellence of tone—evidence of masterly hands governing the ivories and ventals. The audience were well pleased and for the excellence of the concert praise is due to all taking part. Conductor Randall has proven himself to be a thorough and practical instructor and is to be congratulated on the splendid success of the entire concert. He was successful in drawing out from the singers a very fine quality of tone, all eyes being on the baton. Mr. Randall and his choir may congratulate themselves on having experienced what Robert Louis Stevenson called the source of true joy—the knowledge that they had done good work. As stated before the program was a difficult one, but after shaking off the nervousness of the first part of the opening number the chorals swung into line remarkably well and warbled with superb power in tonal massing and with delicate tone color shading in the more lightly expressive numbers. The choir was assisted by Mr. Howard Russell, baritone, soloist and choirmaster of the Western Congregational church, Toronto, and Mrs. W. E. Reesor, soprano, who sang the first two lines, while the ladies sang the next three lines alone, the gentlemen joining in on the last line. The entire audience joined in the last verse. On the whole the concert was a pronounced success for the organization is a distinct credit to a town the size of Lindsay. The expression read into the various compositions would justify one in believing that the task of the conductor in producing the assembled tone and shading, excellence of the number, the choir's singing was in a manner masterly. The choir of St. Andrew's is under deep obligation to those who assisted with their talent to the augmentation of their choir. Without this assistance, which was cheerfully given, the success of the undertaking could not have been achieved. THE CHOIR. Soprano—Miss O. Anderson, Miss B. Brown, Miss M. Cullon, Miss E. Flavell, Miss E. Graham, Miss M. Gray, Miss Flora Jackson, Miss Florence Jackson, Miss V. Merritt, Miss Flossie Mauder, Mrs. Ford W. Moynes, Mrs. A. B. McIntyre, Miss C. Robertson, Miss H. Ross, Miss A. Smith, Miss M. Sullivan, Miss A. Thorburn, Miss W. Whyte. Alto—Mrs. G. F. Blackwell, Miss J. Fee, Mrs. P. A. Ferguson, Miss Hoadley, Miss Bessie Jackson, Miss F. Jones, Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. D. A. MacKenzie, Miss A. Nesbitt, Miss E. M. Randall, Miss A. Seaton, Mrs. W. R. Widdess. Tenor—Mr. J. E. Coulter, Mr. M. Elliott, Mr. Sid. Johnson, Mr. Kennedy, Mr. P. Morgan, Mr. J. McCallister, Mr. W. A. McKendry, Mr. W. Sullivan. Bass—Mr. G. Adams, Mr. A. Clark, Mr. H. Curtis, Mr. A. Greer, Mr. Ford W. Moynes, Mr. T. Murtagh, Mr. J. McCullough, Mr. H. Thompson.

teresting stories which he can relate of the early days in Lindsay. Material from the Ingles planing mill was used in the construction of nearly all the churches in Lindsay, the Collegiate Institute and the three ward schools. What was then known as the grammar school (now the old Central) was built before Mr. Ingle went into business, and at that time was considered to be away out of town. The old town hall was used in those days for everything—church, public meetings, concerts, dances, etc. Some of the congregations had their own churches. The Methodists were where Mr. W. Skitch now has his shop. The Presbyterians had a log building on Francis street opposite the court house. The Baptists occupied a frame building where Mr. C. Lindsay's livery barn is now, afterwards moving to the corner of Sussex and Wellington streets before they went into their present building. The building on Cambridge street was bought by Col. the Hon. Hughes for his newspaper. The Anglicans had a frame church where the post office stands. When the government bought that site they moved back on to Russell street. Lindsay's mud in those days was famous. All the south western part of the town was a cedar swamp from the town hall to the round house. Kent street was very muddy and it was not an uncommon sight to see a team of horses and a load stuck in the mud. Mr. Ingle recollected seeing a team stuck in the mud in front of Boxall and Matthe's present store. Messrs. C. Britton, T. Brady, J. Diamant, O. Bigelow and R. P. Pratt are among the men in town now who were here when Mr. Ingle came. They are all in good health yet and may they continue to be for many years. Mr. Ingle helped to build the first brick building erected in Lindsay—the store now occupied by E. Gregory on the corner of William and Kent streets. He also assisted in erecting Peterboro's first brick building which was built on George street.

on his friend, Mr. R. H. Osborne recently. Our male quartet attended the pie social at Manilla on Thursday evening last and assisted with the program. Mr. and Mrs. John Squires, of Sonys, visited their mother, Mrs. Thos. Squires lately. Mrs. E. Brown spent the week end with her daughter Mrs. White at Toronto. Misses Teel spent the Easter holidays at Sunderland. Owing to the bad roads and inclement weather no services were held in our church on Sunday. Miss Jean D. Bullock, of Toronto, is the guest of her friends, the Misses Hardy. Mr. Ed. Currie had a sawing-bee on Friday afternoon. Our teachers, Miss E. Stewart and Mr. R. MacKay left for their respective homes at Wingham and Woodville on Thursday evening.

PENIEL. Peniel, April 8.—Mr. Hy. Real is spending a few days in Toronto. Mr. and Mrs. James Cornish, of Woodville, spent Thursday at Mr. Thos. Cory.
