of people. NOTHING NEW.

In a recent issue of the London Tribune, Dr. Crapsey writes on Theological Readjustment, and as is the leading advocate of what has been called "The New Theology" the United States, his remarks ar worth consideration. There is nothing really new about the new theology. It is older than Christianity it- the chair, the Reeve explained self. For Christian clergymen openly espouse it is new, and naturally attracts attention. It may be what one believes is of little or importance. Conceptions are only valuable when translated into actions. There can be little doubt that this doctrine appeals very strongly to and its exponents are exerting great influence upon the religious tendencies of the time.

CRAPSEY AND DOGMA

Dr. Crapsey describes the ancien belief, which he insists was founded on the ignorance of mankind, at the time the dogma of the Christian Church was formulated. Thus the idea of a universe in three compartments was made a religious conception. There was Heaven, up in the skies, the Earth, and underneath was Hell. God dwelt in Feaven, rarely visited the earth, and the presence of the Deity was only suggested when something marvelous happened. Later on, the idea of being as much in one place as another gained ground. He was heard in the wind, and seen in the opening the flowers. An early idea was that the Devil was a personality, second to only God in influence. All evil acts and great misfortunes were attributed to him.

HISTORY BY THEOLOGY. Thus Dr. Crapsey sums up the visitor to Omemee recently. Christian teaching upon human his-

In consequence this act of insolence his Maker would for the time, but drove him out his original habitation, where living was given to him and left him dist church has been given to to shift for himself. The whole story of man begins with that primordial act of disobedience, and his history is simply its outcome. He then became what the theologian calls sinner.' and the history of the world is the history of the sin of man. The Divine Being, ashamed, appar tly, of the failure of His work, about to retrieve it as far as it was possible.
