Hazel Tree

TERE'S a story which daddy told Jack and Evelyn one evening when the youngsters asked him for a fairy story. Daddy said it was " English story. It began:

"Once upon a time there were a king named Julian and a ques named Helena who had a little and, whom they decided to call Hazel. The king sent out invitations to all the good fairles to attend the christening be cause they thought that each of them would give to the baby a different fill One fairy, who was called Spite, was not invited, because they thought that she might harm him.

"On the great day Spite came also. After all the good fairles had bestowed their gifts Spite stepped up to Hasel and prophesied that a misfortune would come upon him when he was eighteen years of age. "All went well until Haser's eighteenth birthday, when he went out for !

walk in a forest. After he had been walking for some time he saw a best tiful blue flower. He stooped down to pick it, but it turned into a little en looking old woman. Hazel tried to run away, but he stumbled. When h arose the old woman, who was the fairy Spite, waved her wand over his He felt his feet sink deeper and deeper into the earth, he became very the and branches with leaves began to grow out of his bead, arms and shoulden He became the hazel tree. "As the prince did not return his parents set out with several servants search the forest. But they never found their son. One day a woodcule tried to chop down the tree, but a swarm of wasps settled on him and nearly stung him to death. "Several years had passed, and Julian's kingdom had been invaded by memies, and he, with Queen Helena and their daughter Mary, had been particular day that Tall year the fairies lose their power, and it was on this particular day that Julian's enemies decided to burn Helens Mary together because they refused to give up their religion.

"As Spite could have no power over the basel tree this day it was the very tree that the cruel soldiers cut down and chopped into pieces, they placed, with some straw, where the two women were to be burned "After they had bound them together and placed the fagots and street round them they set fire to it, but as soon as this was done there explosion, and Prince Hazel rose out of the midst. Then all the fagots ato soldiers. They unbound Helens and Mary, who were unharmed the enemies were driven out of the land, and all lived happily ever after
