ELLIS TRIED TO BE CARELESS

Minden, May 6. — "Heck" Ellis, now accused of the murder of Louis Porter, is a product of a poor, sandy, farming country. While perfectly sane he gives one the impression of an undeveloped mentality...

He spoke with an unsuccessful attempt at carelessness. He came with the reporter from the shore of the lake near his house, where he had been conversing with lumbermen in a boat back along the road...

"It is a dreadful business," replied the old man with a note of sincere horror in his voice. "I'll show you where they think the shot came from if that is what you are looking for," said Ellis...

"Where was the whiskey bottle found?" "What whiskey bottle?" exclaimed Ellis with a start of surprise. "Didn't the search party find a whiskey bottle?"

"I never heard about it." The reporter picked up a piece of glass where a bottle had been smashed against a tree near the corner of the fence. A fresh looking Seagram label lay on the ground...

"There's lots of whiskey bottles lying around in this country," explained Ellis. He took the reporter up the hill by a slight trail through the bush. Several stones about the size of an apple in the little-used path had been disturbed from their places, leaving little moist hollows in the ground...

"Are these the stones the search party noticed when they followed up here to find the body?" "They might have kicked them over themselves," suggested Ellis, "there were so many of them."

Ellis pointed to the hollow where the body was found. He repeated enquiries as to details and declared he didn't know. "I didn't go up close," he said, "there were so many of them standing around."

"ASKED WHO DID IT?" "Have you any idea who did it?" asked the reporter, looking Ellis straight in the eyes. "The poor fellow's glance wavered. He suddenly looked down at his boot and the rim of his black felt hat hid his entire face. He moved his foot in a pitiful attempt to look as though he were considering."

"I haven't the slightest idea," he said at last. YEARS OF FEUD. The people of Minden tell of law suits and bickering between Ellis and his father-in-law. On one occasion he charged them in court with tard and daisies in his field. The judge laughed at the case, it is said, and dismissed it.

The reporter had noticed a target in front of Ellis' house nailed to a tree at a distance of 76 yards. "That was where Walter Russell and I used to practice with a rifle last summer," explained Ellis. "Could there have been an accident that way last Thursday night?"

"Oh, no. I haven't fired at that target since," declared Ellis. Ellis has three children, who since the death of his wife, have been living with his father and mother. "He wanted us to take them," said Mr. Porter, senior, "but my woman is too old to undertake any more family than she's got."

Porter, sr., is a big rugged, old Irishman, who has been in the lumber country since he was a boy. His aged wife is Highland Scotch, speaking the Gaelic. The auto of Gilbert Lacey, manager of the Brown Motor Co., of Winnipeg, was found in the Assiniboine river, and it is supposed he was drowned.

Dr. Henderson's Herb Treatment

Dr. Henderson's Herb Tablets are a natural remedy for constipation, biliousness, sick stomach, catarrh, headache, kidney trouble, backache, skin diseases, indigestion, dyspepsia, pimples and blotches, torpid liver, female complaints, nervous troubles and other diseases, arising from a condition of the blood, inactive kidneys or sluggish liver. We have every reason to believe the use of our remedy will prevent tumors and malignant growths. It has been used to find the cause which has failed to be benefited by the treatment, therefore we feel confident that Dr. Henderson's Herb Treatment will cure the above-mentioned diseases if the directions are carefully followed and our faith in our remedy is so strong that we put a guarantee in each dollar box to refund the money if the remedy fails.

The Herb Treatment is in the form of Tablets and is composed of roots, herbs and juice of fruits, most of which are native to Canada, with the exception of two which are obtained in Africa and two in Europe. There is nothing known to the medical profession which seems to have all the desired properties except this original prescription, which is now offered to the public at a price within the reach of all.

During the time Dr. Henderson's Herb Treatment has been before the public in this form we have had numerous testimonials from far and near, copies of which will be published in this paper. It is now offered to refund your money if not satisfied within the time specified. For sale at Dunoan's drug store, or the Henderson Herb Co., Toronto.

The Policeman. No hard embalmers the cop in song, few people praise or toast him; what'er he does is always wrong, so we unite to roast him. He is the butt of hoary jests—canst name the time he wasn't? We dare him if he makes arrests, and damn him if he doesn't. We cuss him daily for his sins, with criticisms haunt him; for every peeler should be twin's—he's never where we want him. We blame him if some schoolboy hits our precious little Willie; we blame him if the cat has its paw on the cow goes silly. We roast him from his crown to feet, the custom is contagious; and still the copper walks his beat, calm, patient and courageous. He guards the traffic in great style from blockades and constabulary and answers with a smile. Five million silly questions. When those who roast him daunted stand, in times of strife and riot, he takes his life and club in hand and scraps for peace and the yegg, he walks all night with danglers, and gets a bullet in the leg pursuing deadly strangers; he seeks in dark and noisome lairs the burglar who echevns him.
