SOMETHING ABOUT EGGS

Forty-three carloads of eggs came to Toronto last week from Chicago which cost the purchasers one and one-half cents less per dozen than the Canadian product. A large dealer in Toronto is negotiating with firms in Nebraska, and other American centres to have eggs laid down in the above city at 20 cents per dozen. This state of affairs has caused an easier feeling in the local market and will compel Canadian producers to drop their prices. At local points the following prices have been paid: Belleville 20c to 22c per doz., Hamilton 23c, London 23c, Stratford 22c, and Picton 23c. It now devolves upon the Canadian producer to drop their prices as the dealers on the American side will continue to flood the market even at a greater decline. Butter is coming in freely at outside points and is selling in Toronto at from 18c to 22c. Lindsay still keeps the price up, holding it at 25c per lb.

Desperate Man Shot His Wife and then Tried to Get Away

Hamilton, May 20.—One of the most shocking and deliberate murders ever recorded in Hamilton was committed shortly before 11 o'clock Saturday morning at the corner of Market and Park-sts., the victim being Mrs. Frank Truckle, who, until a short time ago, lived with her husband.

Almost one week ago Mrs. Truckle left her husband and secured a position as dining-room girl at the King George Hotel. Friday evening her husband called at the hotel and sent a note upstairs to his wife, but she refused to see him. Shortly before 11 o'clock Saturday morning she saw him standing at the corner and beckoned her to come out. She did so, and the couple were seen talking together, when, without a moment's warning, he drew a revolver and fired at her, the bullet lodging in the victim's heart, causing instant death. Truckle then held up a passing rig and compelled the driver to take him in. It was just a few minutes after the removal of the woman's body, when the murderer shot himself while vainly trying to escape from the police, who were in hot pursuit in an automobile. Truckle, still living, was quickly removed to the city hospital. Domestic infelicity prompted the rash deed. Truckle, it is said, had a very jealous disposition and was constantly shadowing the movements of his wife while on the streets.

When enquiries were made at the King George hotel regarding Mrs. Frank Truckle, the proprietors, housekeeper and other employees said she was hard working and respectable. After she had been at work for a few days she told one of the other dining-room girls that her husband was no good, and she feared he would give her trouble as he would not work and wanted her earnings and did not care how she got the money.

NOW ITS ONION DAY -- WHAT NEXT ?

We have had Mother's Day, and Dominion Day and Arbor Day, and many other days, but the latest is Onion Day. This would come once each week. The idea was formulated by a lady who is a leader of society, and owes much of her health and strength to the eating of the bulb, of the liliaceous plant allium cepa. On different occasions she has been forced to forego the pleasure of attending society events on account of appealing her appetite by eating the high flavoured vegetable in large quantities. This set her thinking so she decided upon making the suggestion to her lady friends for the setting aside one day each week upon which to dissipate on the edible plant. She has found many who agree with her and are going to join the onion eating brigade. They have decided to eat cheerfully of onions on one day of each week.

There is no doubt about the hygienic value of the onion, whether cooked or raw and much of the delicious flavor of the German and the French cookery is due to the skillful combination of several onion flavors blended.

A prominent writer said: "Let onions lurk within the bowl, and half suspected animate the whole." The onion has qualities of the best, but for one little reason, which all know, it is banished from the table, therefore, its standing is not as high as it should be.

So it is just possible that this lady has sounded the right note and it might be a good precedent to establish one day each week, upon which to concentrate the onion diet.

Islay Child Was Scalded to Death

Islay, May 18.—Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Spence were at the Cataract Village on Saturday of last week. Mr. and Mrs. Angus McKay, of Glenarm, were visiting at her mother's home last week.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Spence returned home on Saturday of last week after their weeks visit to her daughter's home, Mrs. J. Thurston, of Balsam Grove.

Mr. D. A. Spence was transacting business at Fenelon Falls on Tuesday last.

A sad accident happened at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Ferguson on Friday, the 10th inst. when youngest child a boy of two years of age, was scalded to death. The mother was about to scrub the floor and had poured out the boiling water and went out to get some cold water to add to it. On returning the child met it mother at the door and then walked backwards, and fell into the pan of hot water, and although Mrs. Ferguson did her utmost to alleviate the pain, and sending for medical aid, it was all to no purpose as from fright and convulsions it could not survive the shock. The remains were buried at Eden cemetery on Sunday last.

Miss May Spence was a visitor to her sister's at Balsam Grove on Sunday.

Mr. W. Metcalfe was at the Cataract Village on Saturday last.

The attendance at the Sunday School still continues to increase to the satisfaction of those who interest themselves in the school's behalf.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Thurston, of Balsam Grove, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Spence on Sunday of last week.

How to Cure Horse Distemper

An Experienced Horseman Solely declares that Nothing is so Satisfactory as Nerviline.

SAYS NERVILINE IS FINE LINFIMENT.

"After fifty years experience in raising horses I can safely testify that no remedy gives such good results for an all-round stable liniment as Nerviline." Thus opens the very earnest letter of J. J. Evanson, who lives near Wellington. "I had a very valuable horse that took distemper a month ago, and was afraid I was going to lose him. His throat swelled and hard lumps developed. His nostrils ran and he had a terrible cough. I tried different remedies, but was unable to relieve my horse of his pain and suffering till I started to use Nerviline. I mixed a bottle of Nerviline and sweet oil and rubbed the mixture on the throat and chest three times a day, and you would scarcely believe the way that horse picked up. Nerviline cured him. I also have used Nerviline for colic in horses and cows, and earnestly recommend it to every man that is raising stock."

For strains, sprains, swellings, colic, distemper, coughs and colds, no liniment will prove so efficacious in the stable as "Nerviline"—it is good for man or beast, for internal or external use. Wherever there is pain, Nerviline will cure it. Refuse substitutes. Large size bottles 50c, trial size, 25c, at all dealers, or the Cataract Horse Company, Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

Farmer Sentenced --10 Years and Lashes

Woodstock, Ont., May 21.—John R. McKay, a prominent West Zorra farmer, was sentenced to ten years in Kingston penitentiary with ten lashes when he goes in and fifteen at the expiration of the sentence for a crime against his fifteen year old daughter. McKay swooned when sentence was passed and his wife became hysterical. The scene in court was most affecting. The charge was laid by his wife.

S. G. McKay, counsel for the defence, put up a strong plea asking for six months in the common jail in view of the prisoner's luxurious upbringing and for the sake of his mother, wife and family.

Why Not Install Big Town Clock?

The passing away of the curfew and the ringing of a town bell in many towns and all cities throughout Canada and the United States seems to be an agreeable measure to all according to current reports.

It is many years back since the cities dispensed with bell-ringing at the three stated hours of the day. Many of the bells which did service in the lofty towers of the great metropolises are now pealing forth their notes from some little school house on a side line or the church in a country village. It is quite natural to continue the practice of ringing bells so long as no objections are made to this unnecessary clanging of the useless reminder, of the periods when sun dials were the only chronometers to be had. No doubt the town bell had its usefulness, but it is now lost, and people pay little or no attention to its proclamation of the beginning or ending of the working day.

In this age of enlightenment, when all can pass a watch, which can be purchased for any price from $1 upwards there is no use in the continual tolling of a bell at certain hours of the day.

How many Lindsay citizens are guided by the warning sounds of the bell on the market building? Very few; the majority of the citizens who hear its warning notes quietly extract their watch from their vest pocket and profane the bell ringer for being either ahead or behind time. The money expended on keeping a man to notify the public when noon hour comes savors of medieval days and would be placed to far better use in the payment on a good town clock that would strike off the hours which could be heard within the town limits or use the money for road improvement.
