British Officer to Command Mounted Brigade--Victoria Included

Ottawa, April 27.—As a result of an arrangement made last summer by the minister of militia and defence in England concerning the interchange of officers in the Canadian and British armies, the official announcement is made that Lord Brooke, eldest son of the Earl of Warwick, will command this year at Petawawa the second yeof brigade. He will be accompanied by a brigade major, consists of the 3rd Dragoons, with headquarters at Peterboro, taking in Victoria, Durham, Northumberland and Hastings counties, also the 4th Hussars, with headquarters at Kingston, taking in Prince Edward, Lennox and Addington and Leeds counties.

Lord Brooke is a distinguished British cavalry officer of much experience. He was staff officer of General Sir John French's cavalry division in the Boer war. He made a special trip to the Bulgarian war, is colonel of the Territorial artillery, and also colonel of a Territorial cyclist corps and captain of the Life Guards, on their special reserve.

This is the first result of the interchange of officers for camp command initiated by Col. Hon. Sam. Hughes last year while in England. An announcement will be made shortly concerning certain officers of the Canadian service, who will go to England on the same mission.

Rev D. Balfour Preached Sermon on Oddfellow

The 94th anniversary of the Independent Order of Oddfellows was commemorated Sunday by the Lindsay Society, when some 100 members attended divine service in the Queen's Methodist Church. It was a splendid turnout of the brethren, and an instructive discourse was listened to by Rev. D. Balfour, being the preacher. He took his text from the 26th chapter of Acts, 29th verse: "And Paul said, I would to God, that not only thou, but also all that hear me this day, were both almost and together such as I am, except these bonds."

In opening his sermon, the reverend gentleman told the story of Felix, the unscrupulous man, who had run his course as Governor of Judea, who had had Paul imprisoned with the ultimate hope that he would be put to death. However, Festus, the new Governor, came, and Paul was sent to him, the latter deciding not to send him to Rome to be punished. Paul knew the hearts of the men who were charging him, so he appealed to the Governor, and he was sent to Rome, he being a Roman citizen, who promptly placed Paul's case before him. Paul was brought and before Herod Agrippa, who gave him the opportunity to speak, from time to time to aid their brethren in time of distress. There are other organizations besides the Oddfellows, and afterwards to his vision while on the road to Damascus. The Lord Jesus Christ addressed him on the way, and from that hour he entered on a new life, and began to preach the gospel. It was while thus addressing Festus and the men that Paul uttered the words of the text. "Paul," stated the speaker, "would not ask any man to belong to an organization that he did not belong to himself, and Paul was a hero as he stood before the King and the Roman Governor and stated his beliefs. He had something to tell which would be to their advantage to hear, something which they had not. He was a man and that world should be brought to the feet of Jesus Christ. He went on preaching, and he at all times recognized the followers of Jesus Christ. He put the Lord on the throne that he had previously set up for himself, and the service he was rendering to Jesus was a service also to his fellow men. He preached to all, for he recognized master and slave, on the same footing before the Lord. He felt that these principles would work their way through society and bring all together for a common good.

"How many men there are to-day who know very little of the great principles that have helped to make the people what they are? Paul was bound to Jesus by bonds of love. We may talk about the friendship of David and Jonathan, for it is strong and valuable. There are organizations in this land with similar friendships, but there is something higher in the mutual understanding between men to stand by each other for good, before him. Paul was brought and before Herod Agrippa, who gave him the opportunity to speak, from time to time to aid their brethren in time of distress. There are other organizations besides the Oddfellows, and afterwards to his vision while on the road to Damascus. The Lord Jesus Christ addressed him on the way, and from that hour he entered on a new life, and began to preach the gospel. It was while thus addressing Festus and the men that Paul uttered the words of the text. "Paul," stated the speaker, "would not ask any man to belong to an organization that he did not belong to himself, and Paul was a hero as he stood before the King and the Roman Governor and stated his beliefs. He had something to tell which would be to their advantage to hear, something which they had not. He was a man

Banish Pimples And Eruptions

IN THE SPRING MOST PEOPLE NEED A TONIC MEDICINE.

One of the surest signs that the blood is out of order is the pimples, unsightly eruptions and eczema that come frequently with the change from winter to spring. These prove that the long indoor life of winter has had its effect upon the blood, and that a tonic medicine is needed to put it right. Indeed there are few people who do not need a tonic at this season. Bad blood does not merely show itself in disfiguring eruptions. To this same condition is due attacks of rheumatism and lumbago; the sharp stabbing pains of sciatica and neuralgia; poor appetite and a desire to avoid exertion. You can't cure these troubles by the use of purgative medicines—you need a tonic and a tonic only, and among all medicines there is none can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for their tonic, life-giving, nerve-restoring powers. Every dose of this medicine makes new, rich blood which drives out impurities, stimulates every organ and brings a feeling of new health and energy to weak, tired, ailing men, women and children. If you are out of sorts give this medicine a trial the appetite, revive drooping spirits, and see how quickly it will restore and fill your veins with new, health-giving blood.

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Genius is Composed Mostly of Hard Work and Great Effort

Leigh Mitchell Hodges, in Philadelphia North American.

Sarasate was one of the great violinists in his day. He was a master and the world bowed to him. Once a famous critic called on Sarasate at his villa in beautiful Biarritz. The two sat talking for some time. Finally, after they had discussed many phases of music, the critic cried out enthusiastically, "You are a genius!"

The great violinist looked at the critic and frowned. "A genius!" he said, visibly annoyed. "For thirty-seven years I've practised fourteen hours a day, and now you call me a genius!"

Again he frowned, shook his head and muttered something.

The critic's view was the view of the world. Men accepted Sarasate as a "genius"—whatever that may be—and let it go at that.

Probably not one in each ten thousand saying ever thought of his art as anything else than the flowering of "genius."

Probably not one in ten thousand ever thought of work in connection with it.

The others contented themselves with that old crumb of comfort, "If I were a genius I could do something fine, too."

The critic don't know that, according to his own statement, Sarasate had practised on the violin 161,616 hours—not counting Sundays. And, like as not, he practised on Sundays.

Much has been said and written about "genius." Much more will be said and written before any reasonable conclusion is reached regarding this mooted subject.

But if a commission should undertake to investigate great poetry, great prose, great paintings and great music in the making, undoubtedly the first paragraph in its report would have to do with great effort.

It is a fact that some persons are by nature more gifted than others, just as some are born stronger. This makes it easier for some persons to produce results.

Once in a long while comes along one who can, without apparent effort, turn out the finest of work.

The average "genius," however, is a hard worker, and the fruit of so-called "genius" is the fruit of hard work.

Remember this, and some day you may become a "genius."

Even if one had not a particularly violinic turn of mind or hand, a total of 161,616 hours of practice on that instrument might produce a first-class performer.

One hundred and sixty-one thousand hours of practice at any one thing would result in success.

And everyone has the hours!

Maybe some day it will be agreed that "genius" is, in most instances, composed largely of Time and Work.

In other words, Longfellow may have given us the right recipe in that fine line, "Learn to labor and to wait."

Plunged into River Saved Child's Life

Port Hope, April 28.—In rescuing Harry King, a four-year-old boy, from drowning in the Ganaraska river this afternoon Charles Kinsella, Italian proprietor of a fruit store here, added to his record of saving two persons from the water during the past year. The child, while playing on Mill-st., slipped into the river and was being swept away by the swift current when Kinsella plunged in and brought him safely to land.

A request for the gold medal of the Royal Humane Society will be made on behalf of Kinsella by townsmen.

LUMP IN UDDER

Cured by Sample Bottle of Douglas' Egyptian Liniment

It is not much wonder that Mr. Allan Schiedel, of New Hamburg, Ont., is a staunch friend of Douglas' Egyptian Liniment. Here is what he writes about its work for him.

"I have now used Douglas' Egyptian Liniment for two years, and find it gives the best of satisfaction for man and beast. I tried the liniment on a cow's udder during the winter for lump in udder, and a sample bottle cured each case in 36 hours. I also found it good for Muscular Rheumatism and for Lumbago.

"I always have on hand a bottle of Douglas' Egyptian Liniment. It stops bleeding at once, prevents blood poisoning, and removes all inflammation, soreness and swelling in man or beast.

All the Tired Nervous Women

CAN FIND A CURE IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

MADAME PERRAULT TELLS HOW SHE CURED HER KIDNEYS WITH DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS, AND FOUND HEALTH AND CONTENTMENT.

Vernor, Ont., April 25.—(Special)—"I am very content. Dodd's Kidney Pills have made me well. Those are the words of Madame Eugene Perrault, a highly-respected lady of this place, and mother of a large family. For twenty years she was a sufferer. But, let her tell her own story.

"I was always tired and nervous," she states. "I felt heavy and sleepy after meals. My limbs were heavy, and I had a dragging sensation across my loins. My skin itched and burned at night. I had a bitter taste in my mouth, especially in the morning. In twenty years I hardly knew what it was to have a well moment. Then I commenced to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Six boxes cured me."

Madame Perrault's symptoms were those of kidney disease. They are the symptoms of nine out of ten of the nervous, rundown, pain-racked women of Canada. Madame Perrault found a speedy and complete cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills. They simply cured her kidneys.

Weddings are generally choice affairs. It is easier to tell a fortune than to make one. A short answer is often followed by a long silence. Don't worry about what the other fellow is going to do. Let your superior activities worry him. The opening hours of the debate in the Democratic tariff bill were animated.

John Marlowe, eldest son of the editor of the London Mail, was killed in an auto accident.

CLEVER ESCAPE

MADE IMPRESSION OF KEY IN SOAP-FILED COMB.

Vancouver, B.C., April 26.—Albert Vars escaped from jail to-day by exceedingly clever management. Working as a barber he managed to get an impression of the jailer's key on a piece of soap. Taking this as his model he filed down an aluminum comb until it made as good a key as the jailer's.

FRANKLIN.

Franklin, April 26.—The warm weather of last week, and the rain coming, which was needed at the time, has done good to the fall wheat and clover, which all came through the winter very well.

Seeding is well advanced in this part.

House-cleaning and painting is the order of the day in this burg for the best part.

Mr. Tripp, our merchant, gave his store and house a coat of paint, which adds very materially to its looks.

Mr. Frank Anderson painted his house, which looks well.

Mr. Tripp and son took a business trip to Lindsay on Saturday in their automobile, and report having a fine day and very good roads.

Many from here went by the morning train on the C.P.R., and report that there was scarcely standing room in the cars. Of course it has the whole passenger traffic, as people can get home the same day, with plenty of time to do their business on arriving.

The milk wagons for the cheese factory started on their routes on Monday.

The official estimate is that Toronto needs 4,000 more houses.

Carmangay

the Star Town of Southern Alberta

Why not take the initiative in a good stroke of business by finding out why in only three short years Carmangay has changed from a stretch of prairie into a live town with no less than 53 places of business, a public school, several banks, municipally owned waterworks and electric light plants, mammoth elevators, etc.

Why is it that Carmangay heads the list of shipments of wheat in all Alberta. No less than a million bushels were shipped in 1911—and from the 1912 crop the tremendous increase of half a million bushels! And all this with only a fifth part of the surrounding fertile lands under cultivation!

The forests that grew a million years ago around where the prairie town of Carmangay now thrives to-day, added to Carmangay's rich resources. How?

It certainly is an interesting souvenir booklet we want to send you. It will show you how to make the stroke that creates real dollars. Why not send a postal to-day.
