SAW THE STRUGGLE

Glory Whalen Had With Men Who Murdered Her.

MRS. WM. FINDLAY'S STORY.

Mrs. Johnston Heard Screams of the Child and Then a Pistol Shot—Never Mentioned the Facts to the Authorities—Evidence Strong Against Two Tramps—Finding of the Coroner's Jury.

Collingwood, June 16.—The inquest touching the death of Glory Whalen on the 27th May was opened last night by Mrs. Whalen telling of her murdered child's last preparations for and departure for school. She saw no strangers, nor had she nor her child an enemy that she knew of.

Mrs. William Findlay told how on the morning of the murder, between 8 and 9 o'clock, she saw two men near the stile that crosses into the bush where Glory was killed. Directly behind them she saw a little girl walking towards Collingwood. She saw one of the men, the taller of the two, dart back towards the approaching girl, who turned and ran across the track as if dodging. The girl ran across the track twice and turned back towards the Kendall residence. The girl gave a faint scream, and witness saw the man catch her and half-drag, half-walk her up the track to where the other man stood. They disappeared over the embankment, going toward the swamp where the girl was found dead next day. She did not raise a cry, and did not know why she did not suspect that murder was being done. She told the story three days later to two neighbors when they were going to see the place where the murder was committed. The next week she told her pastor, and the following day the authorities.

Mrs. Elizabeth Johnston, who lives less than a fourth of a mile from the scene, testified that she heard the child scream and heard one pistol shot. The screams continued so long that she noticed it, but thought they proceeded from children screaming at horses or cattle, and that the boy shot was by some of the town boys. The pistol shot came about 15 minutes after the screams ceased. She did not connect these sounds until two or three days after the murder when she began to tell her neighbors.

The one man who saw and is able to identify the two tramps is Wm. Pelch, a young man of about twenty-three, who works in the shipyards. He was the last witness called. On the Sunday before the murder Pelch was passing through the swamp when he almost stumbled on the negro and the white man lying on the grass asleep. They woke up. He stopped and spoke to them for a couple of minutes. The colored man had on dark striped pants and a long, light checked coat. His companion had black or dark clothes, with a heavy undershirt, and Pelch noticed particularly that he had tied around his neck a white handkerchief. On the following Tuesday, the day previous to the crime, Pelch again saw the negro near the station, and a few minutes later met the white tramp near the Globe Hotel. The two went and had a drink together, and Pelch noticed that the white man still had around his neck the white handkerchief.

Crown Attorney Cotter explained to the jury that the handkerchief found tied around the head of the found girl folds in it as if it had been worn around the neck. "I believe those are the two men who committed the crime," remarked the Crown Attorney.

After the Crown Attorney's address to the jury, the following verdict was returned: "We find that Glory Whalen was foully murdered on or about May 27th, 1908, at the hands of some person or persons, unknown, but the evidence points strongly towards two tramps, a white and colored one, who were seen in the neighborhood about that time. We strongly recommend that the authorities commit to future who trial all tramps found in future who are unable to give a proper account of themselves, and that the Provincial authorities leave no stone unturned to discover the murderer or murderers, and that a liberal reward be offered by them as an extra inducement to such discovery, and, further, that the town of Collingwood offer a reward."

New York, June 16.—Charles McFarlane, President of the Anti-Police Society, was shot and killed yesterday on the General Building by William Spencer, a negro, who was to have been placed on trial yesterday on the charge of violating the Anti-Police Law. McFarlane was shot just as he left the elevator. In less than two hours, Spencer was indicted for the murder in the first degree by grand jury. He will plead to-day.

A STRAY BULLET.

Alex. Chambers of Islington Shot in the Head—Is Dead. Toronto Junction, June 16.—Word has just been received here of a mysterious shooting accident which occurred at Islington yesterday morning. William Hawkins, who lives on the Appleby farm, and two hired men were repairing a fence, when one of the men, named Alex. Chambers, was struck on the head by a bullet, which penetrated fatally, and it is thought will result fatally. The source from which the bullet came is unknown, although it is supposed to be from the gun of a man who was shooting meadow larks in the neighborhood yesterday morning. Chambers is a middle-aged Englishman who has labored on farms about Islington for some time.

Died in a Few Minutes. Later.—The ball entered Chambers' left temple, passed through the brain, and was found in a flattened condition in the flesh of the right temple. He died a few minutes afterwards. Dr. Clendon, coroner for the district, was notified, and opened an inquest at the farmhouse of Mr. Hawkins, where Mr. Chambers lived last evening.

Business on Sunday.

Winnipeg, June 16.—Two special constables of the police force went the rounds of the stores Sunday evening and found over twenty discovered businesses. Most of those discovered open were fruit stores, which their proprietors claimed were restaurants. They will be prosecuted, however, for doing business, as many of them sold articles that are not intended for food.

To Prison For Long Term.

Montreal, June 16.—Mr. and Mrs. Barber, found guilty of working "the badger game," were sentenced to seven and three years imprisonment respectively yesterday morning. Motion for a reserved case was denied. Before sentence was pronounced Mrs. Barber admitted the court admitting her own guilt, but claiming her husband was innocent and that she had been charged of wrong-doing preferred by charges of wrong-doing preferred by him against her were true.
