

The Watchman-Warder

Guaranteed Circulation 4,300 Weekly Published every Thursday Morning by The Watchman-Warder Printing and Publishing Company, Limited.

Thursday, June 28th, 1906.

Purchase of the Watchman-Warder

The Watchman-Warder was purchased on Monday of this week from the executors of the estate of the late Mr. George Lytle, by a joint stock company, and the paper and job of the new firm, which will be known as The Watchman-Warder Printing and Publishing Company, Limited.

While endeavoring to merit the esteem and confidence of the many friends and subscribers of the paper, and the patrons of the printing establishment, the new company wishes to assure them that no pains will be spared in serving their best interests and giving them the best to be had.

The Watchman-Warder has a circulation of 4,300, which is a showing that the very best weekly journals in this county may envy both as to numbers and the character of its readers. The plant and equipment are second to none outside the large cities. Therefore, in these respects, which are all-important, the paper is able to meet the requirements of advertisers and patrons.

This journal has in the past devoted much attention to the interests of the farmers, particularly in Victoria county. Butter and cheese, live stock, wheat and clover, horse breeding, and many other phases of agriculture have been aided. It is the intention to continue to further the interests of agriculture, in every way and to improve along this line wherever it is possible.

The business of the various townships, the county and the town will receive due notice, and discussion of live questions will always be welcome in these columns.

In politics the paper will continue to further the cause of the Liberal-Conservative party. The party and its leaders have our utmost confidence. Believing that the practical and vigorous policy of the Ontario house, and the loyal work of the Opposition at Ottawa are in the best interests of the country, they will have our hearty support.

The paper will reserve the privilege of speaking in favor of the right and against what it believes to be detrimental to the welfare of the country. This it will try to do in a courteous and fair manner. It is not the purpose of the Watchman-Warder to abuse its opponents, political or otherwise. The days of the caustic pen ought to be over, and with satisfaction it may be said, they are past as far as newspapers worthy of the name are concerned. This does not mean that the Watchman-Warder is going to lag in any strife, or be fearful of taking a decided stand on all questions of the day.

Special attention will be given to the news, and anybody who knows anything or has a word to say will always be welcomed in the office.

The interests of the town of Lindsay will be advanced with all enthusiasm and carefulness. There are great things in store for the town, and what a newspaper can do to bring them about will be done by The Watchman-Warder.

The counties of Victoria and Haliburton and adjacent counties where there are numerous subscribers will come in for their share, and any suggestions in regard to news from the township will be gladly received.

The new company solicits your confidence and your business, and will appreciate the hearty support of the public.

Redemption of Bad Coins

Mr. Fielding has introduced a bill in the House of Commons which has been long wished for by the people who handle small change. It is a bill to provide for the redemption of light coin, by amending the act respecting currency, as follows: The minister of finance and receiver general may, under regulations of the governor in council, redeem any silver, copper or bronze coins which may have been issued for circulation in Canada and which by reason of abrasion through legitimate use and no longer deemed fit for circulation.

putting out of circulation the punched, filled and defaced coins, which find their way into the church plates, the street car fare boxes, and into the possession of the poor who have no defense against the imposition, and who are obliged against their conscience to pass them out again, or constantly be losers by the destructiveness and folly of persons who have no reverence for the head of the King. If these bad coins were redeemed by the government, and the penalty for defacement collected from offenders, the loss should be balanced by the fines.

A Lost Opportunity

Mr. F. D. Moore, president of the Fish and Game Protective association, took The Post to task last Friday for telling out-of-season fish stories; in fact giving explicit statements of the infringements of the law, when in the interests of the public the information should have been laid before the proper authorities, and the guilty parties brought to book. The newly formed association is trying to aid the department of fisheries in its endeavor to conserve the best interests of this community, and is as far as possible extending its influence so that the law-abiding people may aid the government and its officers to enforce the laws which have been made at the request and for the benefit of the people. If individuals and public citizens choose to break the laws, and to stand behind those who try to outwit the law, so far as their influence goes they make it impossible for the officers of the law to secure its observance.

Of all influences in a community, the newspaper ought to be a leader in the cause of good government, and it should not stoop to flippant boastfulness of wrong doing, even for the sake of giving a stab to a political opponent. The Post has certainly lost an opportunity to gain $700 or $800 in rewards, which could have been applied to some good cause, and also the satisfaction of putting a strong deterrent in the way of those who in future may desire to break the laws; for it claims to possess knowledge of 75 or 80 infringements, the names of offenders being withheld. The inspector is one man, but he cannot be at all points at once. The members of the association, and all law-abiding citizens are his assistants, and he is bound to act upon any information he may personally receive, or which may be furnished by those who wish to see the laws kept.

THE RULE MIGHT WORK BOTH WAYS. Topoka, June 21.—Although both the Republican and Democratic state committees have frowned upon it, the length of the shirt is to be an issue in the Kansas campaign this year. A farm paper is leading a movement to organize farmers into unions. The argument advanced is that if every shirt were made one inch longer the added cloth would consume the entire surplus of cotton. Farmers are urged to organize and stand for this demand. Ryan and Cramer, chairmen, respectively, of the Democratic

A Boon to Humanity

Mr. M. D. Tugendhaft's Famous Patent Invisible Ear Drum is meeting with such great approval wherever he has demonstrated that he finds it necessary to remain only a limited time in each locality as the demands for this article from all over the country from unfortunates make this step necessary. If ever a man deserved the fruits of his labour, that man is Mr. Tugendhaft, for he treats the poor and rich alike. While his strength holds out and in the short time he has to meet individuals during his stops through the country he wants everyone to call on him who have lost their sense of hearing, no matter how poor they may be and he will do what he can to restore them the happiness they yearn for. Owing to the great reputation this gentleman has made for himself as an EYE SPECIALIST, his name is a guarantee of merit in his new discovery, the famous patent invisible ear drum. He causes those to hear as readily as he restores sight to others, and hundreds throughout the country have already benefited through his efforts. Be sure and see him, it may be the only chance of a life time. Will be at the
