GLENARM.
In an slugging game of ball the Glenarm "Tormentors" trimmed the Widewakes to the tune of 2-4. The superb tossing of "Shorty" Graham was up to the standard, and Jack Ireton was a star catcher.

COBOCOOK.
June 19.—The senior department of our school was closed on Wednesday last week, owing to the absence of the teacher, who, with Mrs. Birchard, was in attendance at the marriage of the former's brother, Mr. R. M. Birchard, at Linder Valley.

NORLAND.
June 22.—Mr. Harry Wessell has been repairing his mill and getting it in shape to start cutting next week. We were sorry to learn that Mr. Wilson had the misfortune to fall down cellar, but she was fortunate enough to not have any bones broken, only badly bruised and shaken up, but we hope that Mrs. Wilson will soon be around again.

WOODVILLE.
Next visit of Dr. Bowerman, dentist, to Queen's Hotel, Woodville, will be on Friday, July 3rd.

The delegates of the Industrial Society of Gough, visited Norland and gave interesting lectures on farming and dairy works, on June 22, which was profitable to all who attended the meetings.

OWNEVILLE.
June 23.—The recent showers have improved the crops considerably, but the hay crop is going to fall short of the May prospect, as the June frosts, together with the drought of the last two weeks, had a damaging effect upon the unusual May growth.

KINMOUNT.
June 23.—Craig & Austin have commenced work in part of new mill. It seemed to start like clock work. The hum of the saws and the busy workmen seemed to give new life to our village. They hope to have the shingle mill in operation in a short time.

FOWLERS' CORNERS.
June 23.—The crops are looking exceedingly well since the rain last week. Quite a number will attend the barn raising of Mr. Jacob Lowes, which takes place to-day.

MOUNT FOREB.
June 22.—The anniversary, which was held on the 14th and 15th was a success. The Rev. Mr. Craig, of Fenelon Falls, ably conducted both services on Sunday. He preached to the children in the morning. On Monday evening the crowd assembled in spite of the cold. The proceeds amounted to $80. A number of people from Fleetwood attended the services to hear their former pastor.

BURNT RIVER.
Mrs. Wm. Adkins spent Sunday in Fenelon Falls.

TORY HILL.
Col. Young of Kingston, was in town last week transferring the military stores to Capt. Anderson.

Mr. Hinton, of Cobocook, occupied the pulpit in the Methodist church here on Sunday, and though the day was very warm there was quite a number out.
The sidewalks are badly in need of repairs and hope that they will soon be looked after before there are some broken limbs.

Mr. Robert Allan, the engineer in Mr. Martin's mill, met with an accident which nearly cost him his life. It appears he was oiling a shaft, which revolves at the rate of about 300 revolutions per minute, when his overhauls caught, and in an instant he ran into the burnt river without mixing with O'Hara's drive, so they had to break up camp.

CAMERON.
Dr. and Mrs. Langford and two children are visiting his mother and sister. His many friends are pleased to see him. Sorry to hear his stay in our midst is going to be so short.
