

THE VICTORIA LOAN & SAVINGS COMPANY

Incorporated 1895 Capital & Reserved Fund $400,000.00
The employment of ones savings is at all times a most important consideration.

C. E. WEEKS, Manager. NEWTON SMALE, Assistant

Reeve Richman of Bexley Had Thrilling Experience On Board Coboconk Train Saturday

Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was in town last week attending the meeting of the county council, was a passenger on the Coboconk train on Saturday night, which was run into by the double-header, causing the death of Mrs. Babcock, of Lindsay and injury to several others.

with flying splinters and a crush and noise that was deafening. I heard the noise and jumped for my life, receiving a stroke in the back from some flying timbers, and rushed out. I then saw what had happened and once more made for the inside of the car to render all the assistance possible.

Omeme Angora Goats Sold to Sir Wm. McKenzie

Omeme, June 10.—The Presbyterian Ladies' Aid garden party at Mount Horeb was held on Mr. J. Deyell's lawn on Wednesday evening.

of June. The junior public school graduation exams, begin on June 17th. The entrance to Normal began on 11th inst, and another phase of this will commence on 24th inst.

Mr. P. J. Breen, of Lindsay, made a business call on Friday. The Orangemen will parade to the Presbyterian church on Sabbath evening, July 7th, and participate in divine service, conducted by Rev. D. H. Currie.

See the jugglers and acrobats in front of the grand stand at Lindsay's big day's doings, Dominion Day.

The W.F.M.S. of the Presbyterian church meets at the manse on Wednesday afternoon of this week. Capt. Fee was in town on Saturday arranging for his company of the 45th going to camp.

Kirkfield, June 10.—The most successful dance of the season was given in the town hall, which was beautifully decorated with pretty blossoms and cut flowers on Friday of last week by the young people of Kirkfield.

Some of our Omeme boys formed part of the advance guard to Barriefield, who left on Saturday. Reeve Mulligan attended the sessions of the county council at Lindsay.

People are now waiting for our annual garden party to be held on the lawn of Mr. W. J. Jackson on the 24th inst. A ball game will take place between the Mt. Horeb nine and an outside team which will be sure to attract a large crowd.

A patriotic service will be held in the afternoon of the last Sabbath of June. The Sunday school children and the boy scouts are to be present at the service.

People are now waiting for our annual garden party to be held on the lawn of Mr. W. J. Jackson on the 24th inst. A ball game will take place between the Mt. Horeb nine and an outside team which will be sure to attract a large crowd.

Those who attended from a distance were: Mrs. F. Alton and Miss L. Haygarth, Victoria Road; Messrs. F. McRae, McDonald, Wallace, Proctor, Smith and McNeilands, of Beaverton; Mr. N. Uyse, of Gamebridge, and the Vyse brothers of Brechin; Mr. R. Steele and Miss Steele, Mr. F. McGerr and Mr. H. McPherson, of Balsiver. Dancing was enjoyed until midnight when excellent refreshments were served by the ladies and afterwards until the wee sma' hours.

Those who attended from a distance were: Mrs. F. Alton and Miss L. Haygarth, Victoria Road; Messrs. F. McRae, McDonald, Wallace, Proctor, Smith and McNeilands, of Beaverton; Mr. N. Uyse, of Gamebridge, and the Vyse brothers of Brechin; Mr. R. Steele and Miss Steele, Mr. F. McGerr and Mr. H. McPherson, of Balsiver. Dancing was enjoyed until midnight when excellent refreshments were served by the ladies and afterwards until the wee sma' hours.

The Presbyterian are preparing for a grand garden party to be held on the lawn adjoining the church on the afternoon of Dominion Day.

Those who attended from a distance were: Mrs. F. Alton and Miss L. Haygarth, Victoria Road; Messrs. F. McRae, McDonald, Wallace, Proctor, Smith and McNeilands, of Beaverton; Mr. N. Uyse, of Gamebridge, and the Vyse brothers of Brechin; Mr. R. Steele and Miss Steele, Mr. F. McGerr and Mr. H. McPherson, of Balsiver. Dancing was enjoyed until midnight when excellent refreshments were served by the ladies and afterwards until the wee sma' hours.

MT. HOREB. Mt. Horeb, June 10.—Many farmers in this vicinity are again putting in their seed grain as very few had finished seeding before the continuous wet weather came. The grain on high ground and also that on sandy loam looks very good at present but that on low ground is not very promising.

Mr. Clare Falls and Mr. Nesbitt, L.C.I., visited with Mr. Henry Phillip Sunday. Our worthy postmaster, Mr. Wm. Elliott, has gone to Barriefield with the 46th regiment. William has not missed one in almost thirty years. We wish him many more outings with the soldiers.

Mr. H. Phillip is driving the stage between our village and Reaborn in the absence of the postmaster. Miss L. Rowe, of Port Hope, has been spending the past few days with Mrs. Wm. Elliott.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walden visited at Mr. Robert Harts on Sunday. Miss Annie Skuce, of Omeme, is the guest of Mt. Horeb friends. Mr. Wm. Skuce, jr., was in charge of the service owing to the absence of our pastor, who is attending the annual conference at Cobourg.

Mr. Ernest Sluggitt spent Sunday visiting friends in Reaborn. The garden party at Mr. John Deyell's last Wednesday evening, held under the auspices of the Presbyterian Ladies' Aid, of Omeme, was a grand success, a very large crowd being in attendance.

See the pony races in front of the grand stand at Lindsay's big day of sports Dominion Day.

KINMOUNT. Kinmount, June 10.—Mr. John Carey's drive passed through the village last week. Mr. J. T. Beech is at present very ill. Mr. John Conway went to Lindsay on Saturday last to see his son, Percy, who is in the hospital.

Miss Mary Oswald, teacher at Fells Station, visited at home over the week end. Miss Leta Train, who has acted as assistant postmistress for some time, left this morning for Peterboro where she has secured a position with Cressman's, wholesale merchants of that place.

Miss Suggitt, of Baddow, visited in the village and neighborhood during the week past. Mrs. Roy Hopkins and daughter, Kathleen, left for Toronto on Saturday to join her husband who has been there for some time.

Mr. I. A. Yerex and his two daughters, of Portland, Oregon, are touring and visiting friends in Victoria County, Toronto, and other places in Ontario, visited at Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Mark's over the week end. They intend returning by way of our Canadian cities of the far West.

Mrs. Wilbert Lyle, of Millbrook, is visiting at her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Murray. Mr. Alex. McGinnis, spent the week end with his parents in Lindsay.

Don't miss the farmers' trotting races at the great celebration on Dominion Day in Lindsay.

Huntsville Family Moving to Lindsay. A farewell gathering in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Seath Robertson, of Huntsville, was held in Mrs. Shaw's music room in the above town on Tuesday night, when upwards of 70 friends participated with them in an evening's enjoyment at progressive "500." The Forester, in reporting the affair says: "A very appetizing lunch was served at midnight, and before the company parted, Mr. H. E. Rice, on behalf of the committee in charge, expressed the general regret felt by all in the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Robertson from Huntsville. The cordial thanks of the committee was also extended to Mrs. and the Misses Shaw for their generous action in placing the commodious music room at the disposal of the committee for the purpose. Mr. and Mrs. Robertson are leaving Huntsville for Lindsay where they are to reside in the future. They are followed by the good wishes of Huntsville friends."

The Warde extends a welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Robertson to Lindsay. It is understood they will take up their residence in Mr. W. Kennedy's house on Bond-st., formerly occupied by Mr. J. P. Donald.

Doctors Use This For Eczema

Dr. Evans, ex-commissioner of health, says: "There is almost no relation between skin diseases and the blood." The skin must be cured through the skin. The germs must be washed out, and so salves have long ago been found worthless. The most advanced physicians of this country are now agreed on this, and are prescribing a wash of wintergreen, thymol and other skin diseases. This compound is known as D.D.D. Prescription for eczema.

Dr. Holmes, the well known skin specialist writes: "I am convinced that the D.D.D. Prescription is as much a specific for eczema as quinine for malaria. We have been prescribing the D.D.D. remedy for years."

We ourselves vouch for the D.D.D. Prescription for eczema and absolutely believe that it will take away the itch the instant you apply it. Of course other druggists have D.D.D. Prescription. Go to them if you cannot come to us, but don't accept some big profit substitute. But if you are suffering from any form of skin trouble we would like to have you come to our store, for we have had the agency of this remedy for so many years that we can tell you all about D.D.D. Prescription and how it cures eczema. Or you can get a free trial bottle by writing the D.D.D. Laboratories, 49 Colborne-st., Toronto. E. Gregory, druggist.

Burnt River Girl Swallowed Poison Tablets--Death Resulted

Burnt River, June 10.—A very sad event happened here on Friday last, when the little two-year-old daughter of Mr. Alfred Druce, died of poisoning. It appears that Mrs. Druce had been taking quinine tablets for medical reasons and having to take them at regular intervals had left the box containing the tablets on a table so as to make certain of taking them at the right time. Some time afterwards, noticing the little girl ailing, she looked for the box and discovered that the child had taken fourteen of them. Every effort was made by the parents and neighbors of using all known home remedies, while a rig was sent to Coboconk for a doctor, but the little child died before medical aid arrived. The funeral took place on Sunday at Burnt River cemetery.

Peterboro Passenger on Ill-Fated Train Tells Warder His Experience

A. H. Spence, of Peterboro, and a former resident of Eldon, was one of the passengers on the ill-fated train, which was run into by the double-header from Lindsay on Saturday last. Mr. Spence, who is a street railway conductor by occupation in the Electric City, was on his way to Lorneville to meet his wife, who has been visiting friends in that vicinity and recuperating her health. In conversation with a Warde man this morning Mr. Spence stated that as far as he could remember the accident occurred about 7.40 and the passengers had no warning whatever. The terrible crash came and then everything was quiet for a minute or two, after which the means of the injured were heard. "I was thrown headlong against the seat in front of me, my leg catching under the seat on which I was sitting. The limb was badly wrenched and I am lame as a result. My back was also injured, although I did not notice it at the time. I was sitting with other gentlemen about the middle of the car, and almost directly opposite from where the two ladies, Mrs. Babcock and Mrs. Plank were sitting. There was no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock was apparently struck from behind by some board or other object and knocked across the seat in front of her. She was thus pinned against the abdomen and breast and no doubt was crushed to death. Mrs. Plank was pinned underneath her. We succeeded in getting the two ladies out and apparently Mrs. Babcock was quite dead. I felt her pulse and could feel no beat, although the nerves in the neck and other parts of the body seemed to be twitching. "I understand that there were two passengers in the rear coach, Messrs. Jas. Steele and Ben Stacey. They were apparently unhurt. There were also passengers ahead in the no person sitting behind Mrs. Babcock, although previous to reaching Grass Hill station a lady and gentleman had occupied seats at the rear of the coach. Eleven passengers got off at Grass Hill, which indeed was very lucky for them. The wonder to me is there was not a greater loss of life. "Reeve Richman, of Bexley, who was a passenger in the same coach, lifted the seat of my leg and we then commenced to clear away the wreckage from around the two ladies. Mrs. Babcock