Ald. Storer was quite needlessly disturbed by Ald. O'Reilly's remarks at Monday night's committee meet-Longer experience may make him less sensitive to criticism. method of his objections. From the

Ald. O'Reilly has had several years in the council, and with a natural aptitude for handling details, has become quite an expert in keeping the incidentals in order. It is hence only natural that the defects or oversights of the chairmen of departments, and especially of the department over which he once presided should be noticed by him. It is no wonder either, that with so much work going on as there is this year, these defects have been quite numer-We do not think that, as a rule, Alderman .O'Reilly has been unreasonable in either the matter of first one on February 27th, regarding the gutters being plowed last winter without orders, to the last one on Monday night regarding the Board of Works pay sheets not signed by the chairman, his objections have been on vital points well taken, and often enough upon matters under the same-headings as these

Ald. Storer should not be offended at having such defects in his administration pointed out. They ought to be pointed out, and if the task of doing it had been left to anybody else than Ald. O'Reilly, it would not likely have been more gently done. Mere carping he should resent, but it is due to both himself and the town, that errors detected by it matters not whom should be cordially admitted and corrected by the chairman

And then Ald. Storer has no need to feel these criticisms so keenly. administer it without mistakes is not extracts are as follows: carrying them out he has shown a night. After the last election in good deal of ability. With such North Ontario the Liberals tried to ence.
