THE PUSHFUL JAP.

One Who Prefers the "Yellow Evil" the "White Uncertainty."

The Jap and the Chinaman, who are numerous here, writes Victor Ross, The Globe's traveling corres-Pondent, from Moosejaw, N. W. T., will hear with interest the finding of the Presbyterian Assembly at Vancouver on their fitness for citizenship. Both have obtained a firm foothold, and their standing has not been secured via the laundry, either. John Chinaman has done much to solve the domestic servant problem. He is the undisputed ruler of many establishments, and his abilities as a chei have lent new sigtificance to the term "celestial" as applied to him. He is also in the testaurant business, and even dabbles in land speculation.

The Jap has reached the exalted Position of a hotel clerkship, and the diamonds of a similar dignitary in the cast shine not more brightly than his black eyes when he welcomes you at the register. As a valet de chambre he is a considerable improvement on the female domestics in hotels. He is scrupulously clean; he makes up beds with the care of a nurse, and he knows that shaving water is better when it is hot, and that a hairpin is useless to man in case of a broken shoe lace. into the dining-room, too, the Jap is making his way, and in some Chinaman is of little use to the by the Provincial press lest the singto the white we agreat advantage ular spectacle be seen of a Province to the white people who live in it, so rich in coal importing that article

An Historic Celebration. At Welland, on the evening of the 3rd June, 1903, Mr. Isaac P. Willson, who has for many years occupied the position of Registrar of the Surregate Court and Clerk of the County Court of Welland, tendered at his residence, Strathavon, a banquet to about one hundred invited guests, in commemoration of his grandfather, Isaac Willson, who was a United Empire Loyalist, crossing the Niagara River one hundred and twenty years ago and settling in Canada. OLD CAVES.

Ground Under Chislehurst, Eng., Honey-

hurst, England, was honeycombed with caves, but these subterranean passages have only recently been made quite safe for ordinary visitors. Up to the last few weeks it has not been possible to go in except at considerable risk to life and limb, as abrupt descents had to be negotiated and much care exercised in getting around obstructing boulders. Now, however, Mr. H. Ryan, the proprietor, has had the entrance, which is situated in the grounds of the Bickley Hotel, put into proper order. The official opening took place yesterday. In the first half of the caves pink and green electric glow lamps have teen placed at just a sufficient distance to guide the footsteps, and at the same time leave an effective twilight. But the further portion will probably prove most popular, for, in the dim glimmer of the candles which have to be used, everything appears mysterious. What the age of these caves may be is, of course, uncertain, and it would be very instructive to have expert geological opinion upon the matter. One theory is that in far distant ages they were hollowed out by the sea, and this is supported by the fact that fossilized shellfish have been found imbedded in the walls. At one place in the roof can be plainly discerned the limbs of what appears to be a mammal turned to stone was given a most hearty and enthus- during the course of centuries. In iastic reception. It is said that this has grown from a seed dropped from above. Support to the theory that these caves have been inhabited at an unknown period by man is given by a number of little dome-shaped cells in pairs, which have been hollowed out in the furthermost portion. In one cell of each pair a shelf has been fashioned which certain authorities state was intended for a bedding space, and a part of the tunneling in the shape of a cross is taken to mean that a religious body at one time took shelter there. Almost throughout the flooring is of flint, while the walls and roofs, which in places bear traces of human working, are of chalk, with occasional layers of sandstone. Visitors are conducted for about a mile inward under Chislehurst Hill and Common, and about the same distance on the return, but in addition there is a perfect labyrinth of other passages. It is worth noting that one long tunnel leads to the cellars of Camden House. The temperature stands at about 50 degrees all the year round .- London Stand-Best Sale of Lands.

A sale of lands held for school purposes took place during May in Regina. About 50,000 acres were sold, and the average price realized was $9.52 an acre. The highest prices realized were paid by farmers who bought lands adjacent to their proporty. This is described as the best land sale ever held in the Canadian West, and it is hoped that high watermark is not yet reached,

THE A B C OF IT

Now consider the greater advantages this store has in syndicate buying. The old adage "la union there is strength" was never more applicable.

Our Syndicate met recently and searched the markets of the wholesalers and manufacturers and found some of them long on merchandise and short on cash We were short on merchandise and long on cash so we exchanged the cash for the merchandise. Now this enables us to offer many lines to you at an average half of regular values.

Ask any man who knows the manufacturing world and he will O. K such a movement. The business of these large concerns is so great that the loss is no mo e to them than it is for you to throw away an apple core.

Then for our Stock Reduction Sale we take the lines we've got too much of, any odd lots and broken assortments and mark them at a price that assures quick selling. The profit is yours to share, that's the principle we have built up this big business on, that's the principle we intend to continue building on. We cannot afford to depart from it. It is a good friend. It has made us many friends, and that principal will remain in this store as long as we do.

Read this list of economies below. Then co ne to the store and see the goods.
