Teacher Remembered by Her School Pupils

Miss Townsend, teacher of School Section No. 12, Cavan, was presented with a locket and address by her pupils Friday evening, June 23, the address being as follows:

Dear Miss Townsend—It is with feelings of deep regret that we, your pupils, learn of your departure from our midst. Oft times no doubt we tried your patience to the utmost, but yet you were ever kind and gentle, and have made every effort to guide us in the right path, which if followed in later years we will perhaps appreciate more fully. Will you kindly accept this slight token of our appreciation of your services and may it bear with it our every good wish that your happiness and prosperity attend you on your journey along the pathway of life.

Signed on behalf of the school and section, Grace Hunter, Edna Stewart.

Miss Townsend though taken by surprise made an appropriate reply thanking the pupils for their thoughtful and pleasing memento of her teaching days spent in Cedar Valley school.

Ticket Wins Girl Husband at a Fair

Philadelphia, June 29.—If Catherine N. Flanagan, demure and pretty, makes up her mind that she wants to marry Thomas Skelly, who is six feet tall and weighs 290 pounds, all she has to do is to say the word. And she—, but here's the story:

She held the lucky ticket in a drawing held Saturday night at the fair of the church of the Immaculate Conception. Skelly was the pie, and his identity, which has been a baffling mystery for a week, during which the fair has been in progress, was disclosed simultaneously with the announcement that he belongs to Miss Flanagan, if she wanted him.

Skelly mounted a chair upon the porch of the parish house about 11.30 o'clock, and made his bow to 2,000 interested spectators while an impromptu escort brought Miss Flanagan forth from her place of seclusion at the ice cream booth. Skelly said briefly that he had entered the affair in a spirit of fun, but since he had seen the winner, whose identity was until then likewise a secret, he was willing and anxious to relinquish his bachelor life.

Miss Flanagan blushed prettily and said she didn't think she wanted to marry Skelly.

Sunday afternoon, however, Miss Flanagan said she had changed her mind, and as "nobody loved a fat man," she would marry Mr. Skelly.

New Central School Was Opened To-Day

The formal opening of the new central school this afternoon was attended by large numbers of citizens, while a large number of young people took this opportunity of obtaining a view of their future school. On all sides complimentary remarks were heard on the excellent school, which is undoubtedly one of the best in the province, Lindsay now being able to claim one of the most modern and best equipped school buildings obtainable.

The school from the outside, presents a splendid appearance and will be especially so when the lawn is completed. Three fine wide cement sidewalks, one to each side entrance and one to the main entrance lead to the building. The two side entrances will be used by the scholars while the main entrance will be used by the teachers.

As one enters the building he is immediately impressed with the large corridors and excellent finish to the floors and walls, the flooring being all of the best material and the whitewashed walls making an excellent appearance. The sliding doors which enable the room to be connected with the corridor on the first floor make an excellent assembly hall and this feature was very favorably commented on by the numerous visitors.

The school is made up of ten rooms, each capable of holding fifty scholars if necessary, although it is not expected that this number will be required to be put in any one room, neither is it at all likely that all of the rooms will be used. Each of the rooms are exceedingly well ventilated and lighted; five large double windows being installed in each room. There is also a fine cloak room connected with each room, while the teacher has a private cloak room. A special room is provided for the superintendent while the teachers have also a room, while another room is provided for a library.

The basement is also well fitted up, a large room being provided for the girls and one for the boys for use on wet and stormy weather. The heating and ventilation is the best that can be secured and the whole building is one of which the town has every reason to be proud.

HOT WAVE WILL COME IN JULY

Below are the storm and weather forecasts for July, 1911, by Rev. I. R. Hicks, of St. Louis, Mo.:

A reactionary storm period is central on the 2nd, 3rd, and 4th, with the moon on the celestial equator and at first quarter. By the second expect very marked rise in temperature, falling barometer and vicious electrical storms in western states. During the 3rd and 4th these storms will pass eastward over the country, preceded by excessive warmth.

A regular storm period covers the 6th to the 10th with probability of being prolonged over the full moon on the 11th. The Venus influence is still dominant at this period, which fact may reasonably excite hopes of rain over many sections of the grain growing regions. We believe that a very serious lack of general rains will be upon very wide sections of the great agricultural regions in the northwest, west and south, from the middle of July until late September.

A reactionary storm period centres on the 12th, 13th and 14th with possibility of threatening conditions holding over from the preceding storm period. Falling barometer, increase of temperature with cloudiness and moderate rains will be due the 12th to the 14th, all followed by change to fair and cooler weather.

Up to the 16th, Do not forget that all storms and weather changes progress from west to east; they do not strike the whole country at the same time or day. A seismic period is central on the 11th, affecting the 4th to the 14th.

A regular storm period begins on the 16th, and extends to the 23rd. We prolong this period to the new moon on the 25th for the reason that storm periods are often drawn forward in their culmination by pending new moon dates. A probable storm crisis will fall on the 19th, 20th and 21st, causing rain, wind and thunder, leaving high temperature and threatening conditions, to continue over the 23rd.

A reactionary storm period falls on the 24th, 25th and 26th. This period falls at the centre of the Mercury period, at the close of the Venus period, and at new moon, in perigee and at extreme north declination. Except excessive warmth at this time, with low barometer, and fierce thunder gusts. Squalls and local downpours will visit localities, but far-reaching general rains are indicated. Mercury cloudiness and moderate drizzle may touch most parts for several days, including much of the Mercury period. A seismic period of very positive character extends from the 22nd to the 29th, central on the 25th.

A regular storm period is in progress as July goes on.

Lindsay Pioneer Has Passed Away

By the death of Mr. Henry Holtorf Lindsay loses one of her oldest and best known citizens. Deceased had been ailing for some time and passed quietly away on Thursday, June 29, at the advanced age of eighty-seven years.

Mr. Holtorf was born in Germany in 1824 and resided in that country until he was 28, being married there and also learning the married business. In 1852 he came to Canada and resided in Montreal for a short time, also spending a short time in Toronto, Kingston and Port Hope, finally settling in Lindsay just after the big fire.

Deceased built the building at present occupied by The Warder and established a furniture and undertaking business, in the premises occupied by this paper, which he conducted with great success, being one of the leading business men for a number of years. He conducted his business until the premises were secured by The Victoria Warder and has since that time lived a retired life.

Mrs. Holtorf passed away about nine years ago and the deceased gentleman leaves to mourn his loss three daughters and three sons.

With The Buffalo Wild West Show

Writers of popular western fiction in search of names for their heroes, would find the payroll of the Young Buffalo Wild West show, which will make its initial bid for local favor Friday afternoon and night, July 7, a veritable gold mine of suggestions.

The poetic name of one cowpuncher is "Bottle Nose Ben," another answers to the cognomen of "Zinc Tooth Bill." Owen Wistler might make use of "Bad Lands Charley" for one of his characters, while "Alkali Pete" would look very well displayed in red on the front page of the wild and woolly literature dear to the heart of the young American.

The cowboy is not alone in his penchant for absurd and outlandish names. The noble red man furnishes an assortment that any first class distiller would revel in. "Snake Bite," "Laughing Water," "Hot Foot," "Big Deer," and "Stiff Knees" are but samples of what a distorted imagination can produce. The management of the Young Buffalo Wild West shows do not see anything attractive in any of the above names. They resemble individuals who take part in the ensemble of the show, individually and collectively, they do not draw one dollar to the ticket wagon. There are, however, a score or more names on this same payroll that are producers, that attract dollars to the show. Prominent among them is Annie Oakley, the world famous rifle shot. Miss Oakley has appeared in all cities in the civilized world; has appeared before all the crowned heads of Europe and is the possessor of many valuable gifts from the royal family in recognition of her wonderful skill with the rifle. Capt. Bogardus, the undefeated champion rifle shot of the world, is another name that possesses drawing power. Ambrose Means, the reckless American cowboy who invaded the interior of the East African veldt and succeeded in capturing alive rhinoceri and other wild animals with a lariat, is a big drawing card. There are many other celebrities with the Young Buffalo Wild West shows, but lack of space forbids their enumeration. At his street parade will be given at 10:00 o'clock on the morning of the exhibition, at which time the entire aggregation will be seen decked out in their finest feathers and finery.

Wearing Boots Purchased 20 Years Ago

Peterboro Times: A man called on Mr. John Kyle, the Hunter-st. boot and shoe merchant, yesterday and purchased a pair of boots. He was 87 years of age, and had on his feet a pair (the last he bought) purchased from a Mr. White, of Lindsay, over 20 years ago. One pair every twenty years is not likely to greatly encourage the boot and shoe trade. He incidentally informed Mr. Kyle, if the new pair which he had just purchased proved satisfactory, he would give him his future patronage. On hearing this Mr. Kyle was forced to retire, to hide his emotions.

Well Known and Prominent Member of Local House Died To-Day—Able Representative of West Victoria Crosses the Bar

Late Samuel J. Fox, M.P.P.

A prominent member of the Legislative Assembly, a popular representative of the people in West Victoria, and an exceedingly well-known and highly respected resident of Ops township passed away early Monday morning at the Ross Memorial Hospital in the person of Mr. Samuel J. Fox, whose death occurred after a prolonged illness. The death of Mr. Fox was not entirely unexpected owing to the fact that he had been seriously ill for some months. He recently took a trip to the Pacific Coast for his health and just recently returned from Florida and other points south; he then entered the Ross Memorial Hospital where as a last resort he underwent an operation. It was very successful and for a time it was thought that the deceased gentleman would recover, but fond hopes were shattered this morning when he began to sink lower and finally passed away. The news of his death was soon heard on the street and was received with sincere regret for all had a kind word to say of Mr. Fox when alive and also when dead. Throughout the country the news will be deeply regretted as he was very widely known.

The deceased gentleman was a native Canadian, having been born in Bowmanville, and at the time of his death was in his 56th year, and came to this county when a mere lad. His education was largely obtained in the university of this world and was therefore practical in its character. He completed his Collegiate course in a printing office—the Canadian Post—and some time later was employed in the office of the Lindsay Expositor and also on the Victoria Warder, but he dropped the stick and rule for more active outdoor employment. In 1874 he was associated with his father in the brick and drain tile business established on the Scugog in the township of Ops, and seven years later became proprietor of the same.

For a number of years he was also engaged in farming and knew from practical experience that the farmer was entitled to all he received for his toil. Mr. Fox seemed to work on the plan that whatever was worth doing was worth doing well, and the tidy appearance of his clay industry and farm indicate commendable thrift and enterprise. With the most modern machinery and expert workmen he produced brick, drain and flooring tile of a superior kind and from time to time large shipments have been made to outside points, a proof of their excellence.

The late Mr. Fox was exceedingly well-known throughout the county of Victoria, and in fact throughout the Province, he having traveled extensively. Amongst his own constituents he was very popular as was evidenced by the fact that he was re-elected term after term to represent his ward in the local house. He was ever a hard worker during the time of election and had a peculiar knack of drawing his leaders around him and organizing his party.

In his parliamentary career he was known as a strong worker, and particularly so in committee work, where he was recognized by Conservatives and Liberals of the House as a valuable man. In public life he was very popular and was always ready to lend a helping hand to any good cause, the result being that he was very often a contributor to various funds. In this respect he was very liberal and this combined with his many qualities and affable disposition made him a popular man. He was always found ready to assist the town of Lindsay as well as the County of Victoria as a whole in any project which required Government attention.

Samuel Fox was a living example of a self-made man in the extreme literal sense of that term, and by paying strict attention to business he built up one of the best brick-yard industries in the country, which has been conducted along progressive lines ever since. His latent ability was broadened and extended by coming in personal contact with the prominent men of the day, and he became broad-minded in his views and year by year greatly developed his ability in speech-making. In fact he was considered when at his best above the average as a speech-maker and was wont to give hard cold facts, which were of the convincing kind. His battles were fought bravely, fearlessly and fairly and were won, not on the school campus, but in actual life. As was stated before he was always ready to serve his fellow men, but did not go begging any office. In fact when a good man was wanted for office the late Mr. Fox was very often chosen for the position because of his ability and true worth. When the brickmakers of the Dominion wanted a good and aggressive president they selected Mr. Fox for the position which he filled with much credit to himself and to the association; he rose from the ranks of the township council representing the township of Ops in the county council for three years to the more exalted position, that of representative of West Victoria in the Provincial House. For two years he was deputy-reeve of Ops and was also one of the representatives of the electoral division composed of East Ops, Emily and Omemee. In the first year he ran for municipal honors he was defeated by Mr. David Walker, defeating him by three votes.

As stated before Mr. Fox is a self-made man, and was a well-read student of the times, being conversant with passing events and possessed a good degree of strong common sense. He was very often described by his friends as a working business man, and being at all times careful, calculating and competent. He was a man of modern views, but decided conclusions when he had duly considered any question. His honesty and integrity of character could not be questioned.

In 1898 Mr. Fox was the Conservative representative for West Victoria, running against Dr. McKay, of Woodville, whom he defeated by a majority of 73. For many years previous to this date West Victoria had been Liberal, the riding on the previous election having been carried by Dr. McKay by a majority of 500,

OBITUARY

LATE J. W. CINNAMON.

The funeral of the late Mr. James Cinnamon, who died at Toronto on Thursday took place on Saturday at 2.30 p.m. from the residence of Mr. D.
