Col. Hughes, Letter To Orangemen

Message of Colonel Sam Hughes, M.P., to the Watchman-Warder, for the Orangemen and other lovers of liberty.

Dear Watchman—It is with deep regret that I find it will not be possible for me to be with the friends on the glorious 12th this year—that is, not with you in body, but surely in spirit.

Permit me, however, a word. There never was a time when the principles of Orangemen—Liberty, Progress, Tolerance, Loyalty and Manhood—were more in the ascendant than today. Yet never was "Eternal Vigilance" more essential.

These are strange days in many respects. On every hand in this wonderful part of God's vineyard, in the grand British Isles, as well as on the Continent, one sees side by side the great monuments to the two principles ever striving for mastery. On one hand are found the results, the effects of that blighting, which in all ages and in all lands has followed by autoclastic form, by priestcraft or ecclesiastical arbitrary government. The lack of manhood, of womanhood, the giving way to degrading habits, such as gambling in all its forms, intoxication, lasciviousness, and these grand monuments are on every hand, one sees the triumph of the same principles as we Orangemen strive for to-day, splendid manhood, progress in the education of the youth, in the spirit to defend one's own rights; in the study of languages, literature, the arts and sciences, and in the spirit of sound ideas of liberty. The great triumphs of man's genius everywhere attest that that man was not born to remain in the mire. He was meant to attain the highest perfection of mind and of body. He was designed to be an ornament, a power for good, a reliable asset for the nation.

The spirit of Orangemen, viz., the full partnership union of Great Britain and all her colonies, is now dominant everywhere. You will be pleased to learn that not only is every Orangeman and true Protestant in favor of the principle, but many of the noblest and best of our Roman Catholic fellow countrymen are in the forefront of the fight. This is as it should be.

Let the spirit prevail wherever the old flag flies; and success will soon ago.

Kindly assure the brethren that from the remotest corners of our own fair Canada, to the throne in Westminster Abbey, I can see in everything that is good, that is worthy of perpetuation, the results of adherence to the principles of the Orange Institution; while in everything regrettable in humanity or condemnable, which Orangemen is arrayed.

Let us therefore persevere and grow strong in our faith, and not by words alone, but by actions, strive ever onward and upward in the cause of dear old downtrodden humanity.

Ever Faithfully,
 SAM HUGHES.

—Mr. Gideon Mark, a well known resident of Dorset, and his daughter, Mrs. Allen, passed through town on Tuesday on their way to Belleville, where they attended the funeral of Mr. Mark's youngest daughter, who died in that city a day or so ago.

HOT WEATHER DON'T

SOME HINTS FOR THE SWELTERING ONES.

Don't walk on the sunny side of the street more than is necessary. Don't walk rapidly. Take your time. Don't get overheated. Stop long enough to cool off.

Don't try to stop the free flow of perspiration.

Don't take alcoholic drinks. Drink cool milk, iced tea, and buttermilk. Don't drink too rapidly. Sip your drinks.

Don't drink too much water—just enough to keep the perspiration flowing.

Don't overeat. Avoid meats—especially fat meats. Eat plenty of cereals, fresh fruit, and vegetables.

Don't allow your digestion to get out of order. Keep your internal machinery in good working order by under-eating and by eating regularly.

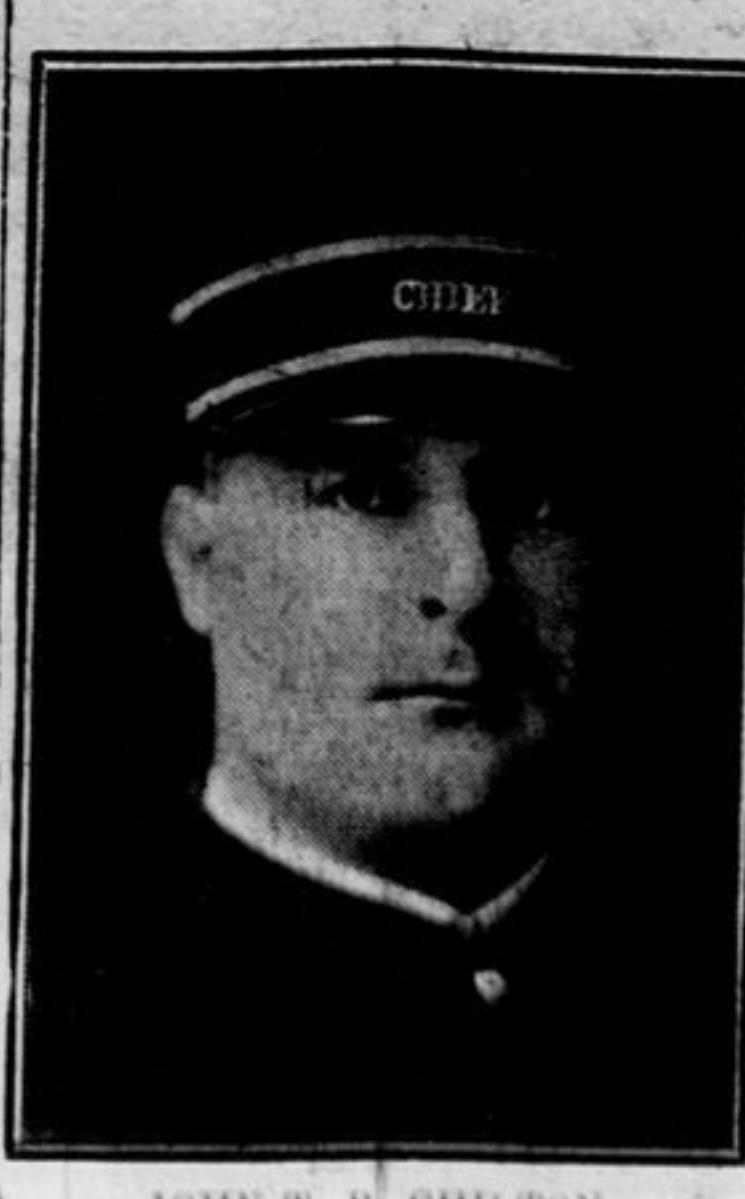

Don't take a bath in water that is too cold; better take sponge baths.

CORNS, CORNS, CORNS.

Discovered at last a remedy that is sure, safe, and painless, Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, a prompt, effective, painless remover of corns and bunions. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor neither causes pain nor discomfort. Its name, you see, tells a story; keep it in sight, here it is: Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor. Sold by druggists, price 25c.

LEARN A TRADE

The Printing Trade is paying higher wages for shorter hours than any other in the province. Equip your boy with a trade, and he becomes independent for life. The Watchman-Warder has vacancies for apprentices from time to time.

JOHN T. B. CHILTON, Chief of Police at Ingersoll, and formerly of Tillsonburg, who has been appointed Chief of Police at Lindsay. Chief Chilton comes very highly recommended.

Week's Visitors At Kinmount

Kinmount, July 10.—We are having intensely hot weather these days. Yesterday the thermometer registered 85 degrees in the shade. We are in need of rain.

The Orangemen of this district attended divine service in the Presbyterian church yesterday morning. Rev. Mr. Terry preached a very impressive sermon, claiming that indifference, carelessness and neglect on the part of parents in failing to teach the truth of the Bible to their children was fearfully wrong, and in that lay the greatest danger to Protestantism, and not from encroachment from any church, using as his text the vision to the child Samuel, and John the Divine's vision as recorded in Rev. 20-11.

We congratulate Miss Mary Oswald on her success at Peterboro Normal securing her interim second class certificate.

Some of our Orangemen intend going to Fenelon Falls, others to Gooderham, to celebrate the 12th. Miss Ivy Gilmore is home from the L.C.I. for her holidays. She was among those writing for normal entrance, and we trust she may be among the successful ones when the reports are out.

Miss Cameron, of Toronto, is visiting at Mr. White's, out at Miner's Bay.

A large number of tourists are coming here and going through to Davis Lake and Miner's Bay.

Mr. Gordon Mark, of Toronto, and a number of others, are at Mr. Mark's cottage at Davis Lake for a couple of weeks' outing.

Ralph Byrne is wearing a pleasant smile these days. A boy has come to his home.

Mr. Wilfrid Craig arrived home from Gowanda last Wednesday looking fine. The north must agree with him. He intends returning in a couple of weeks, when Mrs. and Misses Craig go with him.

Mr. Lionel Train has become the permanent assistant at the G. T. R. station here.

Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson, of Midland, are visiting at their daughter's, Mrs. Oswald's.

Mr. Ernie Moore was a visitor to his parents' home during Dominion day holidays.

Mr. Chas. Wellstood, Jr., has been on the sick list for a short time, but we trust he will be able to be at work shortly.

Our Board of Trustees were to have an important meeting last Friday evening, but owing to the non-arrival of Inspector Broderick, nothing was done.

A number of our Presbyterian friends attended the opening services at the new church at Cobocook on July 2nd. The church there is a very nice one, and reflects great credit on those who had the work to do, and there is only a small debt on it. In the afternoon representatives of the three places: Kinmount, Cobocook and Rosedale, met in the church to consider the future work on the field. We trust that Rev. Mr. Perry may see his way clear to remain longer in charge.

The Baptists are having an entertainment and lecture at the home of Mrs. Graham on July 19th. All should make it a point to be present to hear something instructive, as well as interesting. A small admission will be charged.

We are pleased to learn that the Rev. Mr. Lawrence will soon be back in our midst. We trust his stay in Markham has been beneficial to him and that his health has improved.

Fish are dying by thousands in Lake Erie.

Ten acres of Jackson Park, Galt, will be used for factory sites.

Sad Fatality -Norland Man Was Killed

Dongola, July 10.—Our settlement is in gloom as a result of the terrible death which occurred here last Wednesday, July 5. Mr. Stephen Demoe, sr., was struck and killed by lightning in the storm which passed over here on that day. Deceased accompanied by his grandson, Henry Brohm, had delivered some cattle he had sold to Jos. Rummy and came back as far as his son Stephen's farm about noon. Mrs. Demoe, sr., drove the horse and buggy over so that the men could ride home. After dinner the old gentleman said, "Steve, there is some hay out there ready to come in and while Henry and I are here to help you, you had better get it in." Henry and Steve went to draw the hay in and deceased was calling it up in the field. Steve called to his father that it was going to be a bad storm and he had better go to the barn and Henry saw the old man rushing to the house. They unhooked and put the horses in the stable then went to the house and not noting the deceased in there, Steve and his wife went out to look for him and found him lying by the orchard fence dead. He had kept the fork in his hand while running, and probably it had attracted the lightning. The poor old man had been struck right in the face and the bolt had passed right through him, coming out at his right foot. The flesh was not cut any place. Just little purple spots to show where he was struck. His hat was torn into little pieces as was also his right foot. The eyelets in his left boot were torn out also.

The deceased was a fine old man, respected and liked by everyone. He always was full of life and had a joke to pass with everyone. He had lived in this vicinity a great many years and is survived by his sorrowing wife, three sons and six daughters; Steve, in this settlement; Joseph, who lives near his father's farm on the Letterworth road; William, at home; Mrs. John Brohm, of Halliburton; Mrs. Chas. Ewan, of Kirkfield; Mrs. John Wiley, of Kirkfield; Mrs. Dan Gillespie, of Letterworth; Maggie and Della, at home, and two grandchildren; Henry and Mary Brohm, children of Mrs. Dan Gillespie's first marriage, who have always lived with their grandparents. Deceased was a remarkably smart man for his age and was an exceptionally kind husband and loving father and his death coming as it did has prostrated with grief the widow and children. It would almost seem as though he had had some warning that his death was near as he made his will within the last few weeks and went to his church at Kinmount to confession, and received communion. He was 64 years of age and was married at the age of 18 years to Miss Grozelle.

The funeral which took place on Friday left the family residence at 7.30 o'clock a.m. and proceeded to Kinmount followed by a large number of friends where mass was celebrated in the R. C. church by the Rev. Father Galvin after which it proceeded to the R. C. cemetery at Swamp Lake where interment took place. All his children were present at the funeral excepting (Amelia), Mrs. Chas. Ewan, who was unable to come on account of illness. Deceased's sister, Mrs. Paul Oulette, accompanied by her husband, of Fenelon Falls, were at the funeral. Another sister was also present.

The storm was a very peculiar one as it swept across the country about half a mile in width and did considerable damage. At William Woodcock's two large crab apple trees which stood at the back door were torn out by the roots, the separator house torn to pieces and thrown over the fence into the lane, the separator knocked over, lumber thrown from a pile away over into a corn field, several trees broken in the orchard and a field of buckwheat cut to the ground as though with a cythe, and hail fell nearly as large as a hen's egg. Several trees were broken in Steve's Demoe's orchard and the stove pipes knocked over in their house, the windows in the west end of the house were blown out. The storm went on across Jas. Quinn's farm and swept down through the woods knocking down trees and tearing them out.

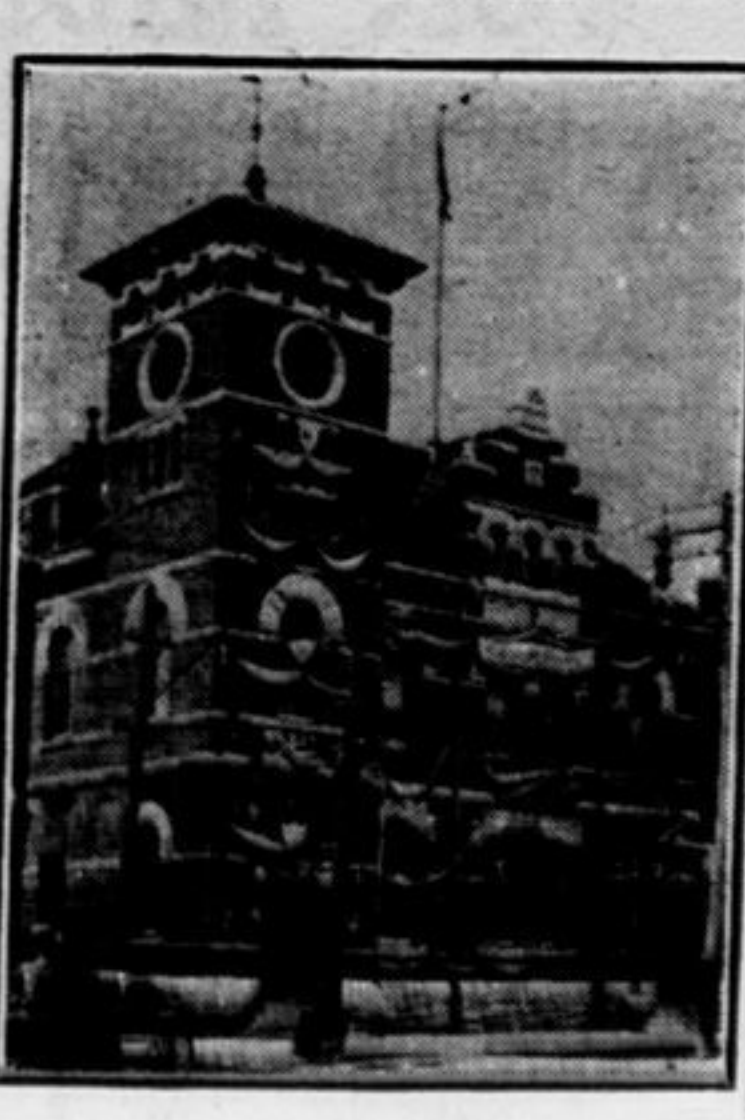

There was not enough rain fell any place except in the path of the storm to dampen your clothing.

Mrs. Charles Woodcock (nee Miss Alvina McBride) and her three children of Fort William are visiting their friends here for the summer months.

Miss Pearl McGee, of Toronto, is visiting at home.

Mrs. John Brohm, of Halliburton, intends staying with her mother for a week or so.

The men are busy haying and raspberry picking has begun again. The crops look fine and the berries are in abundance but if we do not get

LINDSAY POST OFFICE. Showing the Post Office as it appeared after being decorated for Coronation Day.

For a delightful trip, and one that tends to please in every respect give me the one from Lindsay to Toronto, from Toronto to Owen Sound; thence through the beautiful waters of the Georgian Bay and through pretty Lake Huron to Sault Ste. Marie," so spoke Mr. G. F. Blackwell to-day, who along with Mrs. Blackwell and son Master Fred, have just returned from spending a few days in the Canadian Soo.

A TRIP TO THE CANADIAN SOO

"The trip, especially the water trip," stated Mr. Blackwell, "is not only a most attractive one as to pretty scenery, but the service is also good. It is said that a light is required to bring out the colors of the rainbow, so is a trip through Georgian Bay and Lake Huron necessary to bring out the true beauties and grandeur of these waters. The trip was made under propitious climatic conditions and in punctual time. We left Toronto via C.P.R. for Owen Sound, where we connected with one of the company's palatial steamers for the trip on the placid waters. Lake Huron is one of the great lakes and has a charm and beauty for which it is famous. The oft repeated saying "It is never too hot and never too cold on the great lakes in the summer," seems to be true at least of Georgian Bay and Lake Huron and the prevailing conditions of blue skies and refreshing breezes made both sleeping and appetite good.

At Sault Ste. Marie I combined business with pleasure and worked up considerable business in the day and a half that I was there. Here also I ran across Lindsay's former chief of police, Mr. Vincent, who is well liked in the Soo, and who appears to like the town and his work there. The Canadian Soo is situated on the banks of the St. Mary's river and has sprung rapidly within the last ten years to a place of importance on the industrial and commercial map. It is also a city surrounded with a halo of interest from the early times of the Hudson Bay Fur Company to the present, and some of the elder inhabitants there, or those well versed in the early history of the place are somewhat garrulous, and proud of their trim little city, so that information concerning its early history was unlimited. However, the first thing to attract the eye of the visitor is perhaps the wonderful commerce which daily passes through the locks. Hour after hour, it is stated, it is possible to stand and watch the freighters and passenger boats locking through. The first lock on the American continent was built here by the North West Fur Company in 1797, but it was burned down in the war of 1812. The Canadian Government lock is 900 feet long and 60 feet wide, and said to be the largest in the world. It was built in 1888-95 at a cost of about $4,000,000. Of equal interest are the great industries of the Lake Superior Corporation, including the Desjardins steel plant and rolling mills, a blast furnace, pulp mill, sulphite mill, Algoma iron works, car shops, veneer mill, charcoal plant, power plant, and saw mills. The Canadian Soo, so I was informed, has now a population of some 15,000, and the surrounding country is said to be rich in iron, copper, rickles and gold-bearing quartz. I was greatly pleased with the Soo and enjoyed the trip immensely.

Mr. Blackwell also stated that the boat service was good, the passenger equipment being of the best.

BAD STORM AT OMEMEE

Church Was Struck And Other Damage Done

Omemee, July 11.—Color-Sergeant Walter Mitchell, arrived home last evening from the Coronation ceremonies. He reports a splendid passage to and fro, excellent treatment and the sight-seeing trip of his life, yet he was glad to return to his native land and to his loved Omemee. He looks stouter than when he left and was never a day ill. He received the silver medal which he prizes very much and also a slice of coronation cake. Omemee is bound to forge to the foreground. A terrific thunder storm broke over our town to-day about 12.45 p.m. There were large hail storms which seemed to fall in the lulls of the storm of wind, and consequently did little damage. The wind blew a hurricane, carrying down crops, branches of trees and the safety on our public school. The lightning burst out some electric light bulbs and struck the steeple of the Presbyterian church. The fluid passing down to the ridge of the church, along to an iron support, down it and into the building, it shivered into match-wood a support of the ceiling. The current's ignition and destruction of the building was prevented by a light wire which conveyed it out of the church building where the light was generated. The church is insured. About two lengths of railway track was washed out near Windim's crossing. Culverts were rendered unsafe for travel and the streets were seas of rushing water. This is reported by old residents as the worst storm in their recollection.

There is nothing just as good as Parisian Sage. You see get the package which contains the girl with the Auburn Hair.

More Successful at Entrance Exams

The hundreds of entrance candidates will be pleased to learn that the proportion of successful ones this year is certain to be much higher than last.

The work of the examiners will be concluded by Thursday, it is stated. Instead, however, of making public the results on the following day they must be submitted to the Department of Education to be ratified, so that it will be at least ten days before the results will be known.

Those who are looking over the work of the candidates report that the papers as a rule have been "very fair" and that those who have been well prepared invariably are proving success.

CURFEW BELL WILL RING

Owing to the disgraceful occurrences which have taken place in various parts of Owen Sound late at night, the police have been instructed to see that every child under 14 years of age shall be off the street at the ring of the curfew at nine o'clock. The principals in many scenes that would better befit some tenderloin district, are mere children, 12 and 14, boys and girls and the matter became so large that the mayor issued orders to the police to take the matter up vigorously.

THE POOR OLD LADY

She had suffered with rheumatism for years and the constant pain had kept her in constant agony. The least damp affected her. Many an old person has been cured by Rheumo and when all else failed. Rheumo strengthens and builds up the whole system, it purifies and enriches the blood so that the most enfeebled circulation is made strong. Rheumo is so great and so sure a remedy that Philip Morgan sells it with a guarantee to give entire satisfaction or money back. A month's treatment only costs $1 sold by Philip Morgan or direct, all charges prepaid from B. V. Marlon, Bridgeburg, Ont.
