Former Lindsay Man Reported to have Been Killed at Virden, Man.

Ward, rector of St. Paul's Church, was received a letter from W. Robertson, of Virden, Man., where it was announced that the man's identity being a paper showing his address in Lindsay, Ont. Robertson in his letter stated that the deceased, who was a man of 60 years of age, met his death while walking along the railway when he was struck by an engine which rendered him unconscious. He was taken to Virden and placed in the hospital, where every possible attention was given to the wounded man, but he died shortly afterwards. The deceased was a man of about 5 feet, 6 inches in height, and wore a beard, and seemed to be a man well preserved.

Thorold Mourning For Suicide of Two Sisters

Thorold, Ont., July 4.—Not since the memorable attempt a dozen years ago of Dolman and his pals to blow up the Welland Canal at Thorold has such a sensation been created as the death this week of the two Phillips girls by their own hand. The surprising result of a trivial family quarrel has so shocked the entire community that nothing else has been talked about since Monday. A particularly pathetic feature of a terrible sad affair is the fact that the parents of Jessie, the little sister of Louise, refused to believe that the girl had suicided until her dead body was found in the canal yesterday.

There have been so many stories about the affair that it is a hard matter to sift the true from the false, but it is pretty generally agreed that the girls quarrelled about some money. Louise, the elder, who was about 34 years of age, was employed at the Putnam knitting mills. There she was generally esteemed by her fellow employees. She came home from work Monday noon much affected by the heat. Her young sister, Jessie, aged 21, who had been picking cherries during the morning, and who was also naturally somewhat peevish

Bethany Lady Injured While On the Way to Funeral

Bethany, July 1.—What might have proved a serious accident happened on the 12th line of Cavan, east of the village, when Mrs. J. Stewart was thrown out of a buggy and was badly hurt. Her arm was dislocated at the shoulder, and other bruises were also sustained. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart and daughter were going to a funeral, and while driving along the horse frightened at a cow on the side of the road, throwing the three occupants out of the rig. However, Mrs. Stewart was the only one hurt. She was taken to Mr. C. White's house, where the service was going on, and Drs. Sutton and Hamilton were called, and found that it was not near as bad as was expected. Mr. and Mrs. B. Foster, of Midland, spent a couple of days with friends, coming down in their auto. Miss Ella Staples, who has been teaching in the public school, Lindsay, for the past year, is home for the holidays. Miss Skinner, of Keene, spent a few days with friends in the village. Mrs. Alf Price, of Camrose, Man., is visiting friends in the village. William Price, of Toronto, spent Sunday with his mother. Mr. John Staples, principal of the school at Orono, is home for his vacation. Mr. Walter Rowland, of Toronto, spent Dominion Day with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Rowland.

Arrival of Str. Esturjan Welcomed at Port Perry

History states that Samuel De Champlain navigated the waters of the Scugog in or about the year 1610 A.D., and made many discoveries, but Canadian history may later on make mention of Pilot Nicholas Brady navigating the same body of water on July 2nd, 1913, on the good steamer Esturjan. How Pilot Brady became a passenger was from the fact that he knows every inch of water between Lindsay and Port Perry and was taken on board the boat at 12.30 p.m. at the Lindsay-st. wharf. The pilot stated last week that the river is full of weeds and the mud and vegetable matter into a fluid which looked like a thin solution of cement. Mr. Brady thinks the Government would confer a favor on yacht owners if they would bonus a boat to make occasional trips up and down the river between Lake Scugog and Lindsay. The boat never met with a mishap on the trip, but had some inconvenience at a bend in the river near the devil's elbow. On arriving at Port Perry the voyagers were given a grand reception equal to, if not surpassing, the reception to the Woodman on its arrival in Lindsay from Port Perry about the year 1857. Flags and bunting were in evidence at the port and the whole town filled with people from the surrounding evinced a holiday demeanor. On the return trip Pilot Brady was compelled to take the wheel when the shades of night gathered and he brought his boat to the wharf at 12.30 o'clock midnight. Mr. Brady states that the scenery up the river is most attractive. Washburn's Island is fast becoming a resort for tourists. Caesarea is also a delightful spot for a short outing. The summer cottage of Mr. Herb Middleton adorns the shore on the east bank, while other desirable spots with cooling shades lend beauty to the southern portion of the Scugog.

Tom McGinnis Saved Life of Young Girl

Lindsay has another young hero in the person of Tom McGinnis, a thirteen-year-old lad who lives on Glenelg-st., who at the risk of losing his own life swam into the Scugog last week and rescued from drowning little Vera McGinnis, of Pumpkin Hollow. The two are not related. It appears that early in the morning Vera and another young playmate decided to take a dip in the Scugog. They donned their bathing suits and waded into the river at a shallow beach along the foot of Water-st. Here they played and enjoyed themselves for an hour or so, when they decided that it was time to dress and return home. Before doing so, however, Miss Vera ventured out too far and unfortunately got beyond the drop in the river bed, suddenly disappearing from sight completely. A number of boys were in swimming farther down the river, while Tom McGinnis was on the bank looking on. The latter saw the young girl disappear, but thinking that she could swim paid little attention. However, when he saw her go down for the second time and apparently in deep distress the young lad ran down the shore and without waiting to disrobe jumped into the river, catching the young girl as she was going down for the third time. The drowning girl made a frantic clutch on the young rescuer and almost pulled him down with her below the surface of the water, but by persistent efforts he was able to restrain her hold and managed to bring the young lady safely to shore. The young girl was still conscious, but suffered considerably from the shock and fright. She was taken home by her companions, while Tom went back and joined his friends. It was a brave act and but for the promptness of young McGinnis his little namesake would have been drowned, as there was no grown up person in the vicinity at the time. His brave deed is deserving of commendation as to him Miss Vera owes her life.

Had he belonged to a company he would have undoubtedly been a prizewinner with this score. The regimental figure of merit was 3.46. This is exceptionally high and the Regiment is to be congratulated on a whole on their good shooting. POET LAUREATE. London, July 2.—Premier Asquith has offered the post laureateship to Robert Bridges, who was a physician at London hospitals for many years, and after retiring from the practice of medicine in 1882 devoted himself to poetry and playwriting.

FORGER BROUGHT BACK TO TOWN

Acting Chief of Police John Short arrived by C.P.R. last night at 8.15 from Ottawa bringing with him the prisoner who is charged with stealing and uttering false cheques. The young man, whose name is Richard Bathurst, was arrested by Detective McDonald, of the Ottawa police force, and was locked up until the arrival of Constable Short. The man was identified by a post card bearing his picture, which was sent by Lindsay's chief of police. The prisoner came to Canada from the old country about seven years ago and has traveled under many aliases since his landing in the Dominion. He has also been guilty of the same charges under which he is held in Guelph, Kingston and Orillia. It seems to be his pet scheme for getting easy money. At this morning's court he pleaded guilty to the charges preferred against him and was remanded for one week without bail.

TOWN WIPED OUT BY FIRE

North Bay, July 3.—M. Courtwright, resident engineer at Belle River, 180 miles east of Cochrane, on the National Transcontinental Railway, arrived in North Bay today with his wife and baby, but very little luggage, as, with the exception of a few clothes saved by his wife, he lost everything in the bush fires which swept over Belle River Tuesday and left nothing but a pile of smoking cinders of one of the newest Canadian communities. With the Courtwrights came Mrs. F. Palm, of Hesper, whose husband has building contracts on the National Transcontinental Railway. Mr. Courtwright describes the Belle River fire as a terrible ordeal, rendered more trying by the presence of six women and seven children. There were sixty people in all there when the fire attacked the town. For days bush fires had raged, but the Belle River folk stayed with their possessions and homes, hoping that the fire would pass them by. On Tuesday, however, the wind blew a gale direct on the clearing, and at 2 o'clock a wall of flame leaped on the buildings so quickly that the inhabitants had first time to escape to the river, leaving all their household goods to be destroyed. The women were taken in canoes away from the fire. Women with babies were paddled for several miles through blinding flames and hot cinders. The flames at last swept away at right angles and the danger was over.

Sketch of Rev. Limbert, of Oakwood

The Rev. Wm. Limbert, President of the Bay of Quinte Conference, is an Englishman by birth, and was converted at the age of 18. In 1874 he came to this country, and soon after consecrated his life to the work of the ministry. His labors have been marked by extensive revivals. On almost every charge the Word of the Lord has proven to be the power of God in the salvation of multitudes of souls. He is now stationed at Lakewood, where, during the past year his executive ability was evidenced in directing the erection of one of the most complete and beautiful churches in Methodism. Although Mr. Limbert was denied an academic training, yet, with a keen eye for observation and devotion to the study of books, men and conditions, he has attained the distinction of being one of the best pulpits and platform speakers in his conference.—Christian Guardian.

Demonstration of Farm Drainage

The keen interest which is taken in the drainage problem was clearly shown by the large attendance at the drainage demonstration held at Woodville last week. The demonstration, as advertised, was held on the farm of Mr. Wm. Clarke, and was conducted by the local branch of the Department of Agriculture, under the direction of Mr. A. A. Knight, the representative, and his assistant, Mr. H. R. Hore. Problems in connection with the laying of underdrains were discussed, and the best and most simple ways of doing accurate work explained. By the use of the overhead line and the home-made levelling instrument it was shown that accurate work could be done, with little chance for error, where the grade in the ditch bottom was only two inches in one hundred feet. At the conclusion of the demonstration a hearty vote of thanks was

Make Swimming Obligatory

The daily list of drowning accidents in the lake region during hot, humid weather such as we had last week is a shocking evidence of our slavery to tradition and custom, says the Globe. It is no more possible to keep young Canadians away from the water during the three summer months than from the rinks in winter. Every boy who goes bathing in stream or lake without knowing how to swim risks his life, as does every girl who enters a canoe or a rowboat without knowing how to save herself should it upset. A young Toronto man, who cannot swim a stroke, invited a companion a few days ago to go canoeing for a fortnight on one of the most dangerous rivers of the north. The valor of ignorance is great, and no doubt such a foolish fellow will die bravely if disaster does overtake him. But is all the sacrifice of life by drowning in summer unavoidable? By no means. A few elementary lessons in swimming given to every boy and girl during public school training would reduce the drowning fatalities by half. Swimmers drown, no doubt, but non-swimmers drown in far greater proportion. It is encouraging to note that at the cadet camp at Barriefield, where 1,500 boys will go under canvas, swimming is to be taught. It would be still more encouraging to learn that the Education Department had cut out of its public school teachers' curriculum a lot of the archaic stuff that now cumber it and added swimming as a compulsory subject. If every Normal had a swimming tank as part of its equipment, and every teacher were required to pass on the knowledge therein acquired, there would be fewer saddened homes in Ontario every summer.

Short Pithy Editorials of Interest to Lindsayites

Anxious pupils are awaiting the publication of the results of the entrance examinations, which after being examined by the Lindsay examiners were forwarded to Toronto, and are expected back in about ten days. As usual the cry has been heard that the entrance papers were too hard, especially the literature test, and what is really wanted in this country are officials who will set examination papers easy enough to please everybody and pluck nobody. Next year, before this time, Lindsay will have its fine new armory, and one result will be to make recruiting more popular and less arduous to the now sorely tried officers, selves to blame. The new road sweeper may be all right, but apparently the operator of the same has failed to master the contrivance. The machine cleans the William-st. pavement in fine style, but leaves the water-soaked refuse in the gutters, and spatters mud and water all over the curb and on the boulevards. This does not help any in making Lindsay a good clean city, and there should be a remedy. Peterboro board of health recommends the passing of a by-law to prohibit dry sweeping of sidewalks in the business section, and therein contained sound logic. Two more holidays—Civic and Labor Day, and then comes the big

An evidence that Lindsay is fast becoming civilized was to be noticed during the last few days in the tearing up of the William-st. pavement to make room for underground wire service. On visiting Toronto and other cities a visitor never fails to note that the paved thoroughfares are always being torn up. Well, we want to be like other progressive cities, we want the wires underground, and therefore are content to put up with even the tearing up of the first paved street in Lindsay.

Orangeism in Lindsay got a great boost on Thursday evening, July 3rd, when L.O.L. No. 32 was reorganized. This lodge will hold one of the oldest warrants in Ontario, and was formerly held by Woodville lodge, but now the headquarters will be Lindsay. The Orange lodge rooms were well filled with members when the lodge was called to order by W. Bro. McCarty, of Bethany, Grand Organizer of the Grand Lodge of Eastern Ontario, who asked the Co. Master, W. Bro. Jos. Brown, to take the chair and conduct the initiatory services. A number of certificates were then received from members who intend to affiliate with this lodge, after which the initiation of new members took place, which was very impressively conducted by the degree team of L.O.L. No. 557, assisted by the Grand Organizer. During the evening short addresses were made by the Co. Master, W. Bro. Jos. Brown; W. Bro. Wm. Thornbury, Co. Treasurer; W. Bro. Wm. Warren, Past Co. Master; W. Bro. Dr. J. W. Wood; W. Bro. Thos. Murtagh, and a number of the new members. All the speakers wished the new lodge the best of success, and predicted a hundred members by the end of the year. It being nearly midnight, the lodge decided to leave the election of officers over until the next meeting, which will be held on Thursday evening next, July 10th, when Bro. McCarty will be present. Bro. Thos. Murtagh, Sr., was appointed Secretary-Treasurer, pro-tem, who will look after the lodge affairs in the interval.

THE DISCIPLE OF DEATH.

THE base of a fly's feet is cuplike in shape. In these cups the fly can spread a degree of suction which permits it to walk on glass and other smooth surfaces. These same cuplike degrees of suction make it possible for the fly to pick up all manner of diseases from the many accaying substances over which it passes. However, the fly carries disease on other parts of its body. Its wings and hairs that cover it are frequently laden with germs. The germs of typhoid fever are given off in great numbers in the discharges of patients. Flies often feed on this material. Their feet and bodies become smeared with germs. The insect carries them into the dining room and deposits them on the bread that some one is about to eat or washes them off in the milk into which it may fall. The germs of tuberculosis are given off in large numbers in the sputum of patients. Flies gain access to this sputum and may leave it loaded with the germs of consumption. Dysentery and infantile diarrhea are carried in the same way. Disease bearing is by no means limited to the intestinal germ disease, however. It is said that ophthalmia or blindness, smallpox and other of the better known communicable diseases have been traced to the fly. Where actual laboratory proof does not exist circumstantial evidence is very strong. One investigator estimated the number of germs on a single fly, and his studies led him to place the figures at 6,000,000.
