Apple Crop Fails All Over Canada, Prices Soar

Prepare to dig down this year when you enter the barrel of Gravenstein, or the bushel of Fameuse.

Down in the Eastern Townships, where the snow-white Fameuse comes from, they say the crop will be a complete failure.

It looks as if Eastern Canada would be dependent upon the British Columbia apple crop.

will be the worst experienced in many years. The frosts of June had a good deal to do with blighting the trees, but the worst destruction was brought about by the ravages of the caterpillars.

In the majority of cases owners of orchards did not realize until it was too late the damage that was being done to the trees by these pests.

But all in all, it is the worst season experienced by orchard owners in many years. All other kinds of fruit will be much below the average crop.

A POULTRY JUDGE OF GREAT RENOWN-- SHORT SKETCH OF MR. D. C. TREW

For several weeks past the Canadian Poultry Review, of Toronto, has been running an interesting series of articles on "Prominent Canadian Judges." The latest article is of special interest to Lindsay citizens, it being a short sketch of Lindsay's expert poultry judge, Mr. D. C. Trew, and is as follows:

MR. D. C. TREW, LINDSAY, ONT.

Mr. D. C. Trew, whose portrait appears on this page, is one of the editor's oldest fancier friends, our friendship dating back for thirty years. Mr. Trew is a Canadian, and was born in the Township of Hope, (County of Durham, near the Town of Port Hope, a little over sixty-five years ago. He is a farmer's son, and was brought up on the farm until eighteen years of age. Even when quite a young lad he was extremely fond of poultry, and for several years bred Pit Game. Of course at that time there was not the great variety of breeds to choose from that there now is. At eighteen years of age he left the farm and went into mercantile business, so for some years he was without any feathered stock. In 1871 he went to reside in Lindsay, where he still lives, was married in 1873, and in 1874 again took up the breeding of pure-bred fowl. His first purchase was a trio of Black Cochin, then very popular, and they were secured from his, and our, old friend, Sharp Butterfield. Since then he has bred nearly all Standard varieties, but for the past thirty years he has been identified as one of the foremost breeders of that splendid French variety, the Houdan. For many years he was a successful exhibitor, and at some of the biggest shows, including the Ontario and the Toronto Industrial.

Trew tells us that he has taken the Canadian Poultry Review continuously, without a break, since 1874. This will show how close his fancy connection and ours has been. He began judging twenty-five years ago, officiating at a great many fall shows throughout the country, including Lindsay, Peterboro, Markham, Brockville, Perth, Almonte, Winchester, Marmora, Norwood, Warkworth and others. He has judged in the winter at such shows as Peterboro, Owen Sound, Collingwood, Midland (several times), Napanee, (Cannington and Lindsay, the latter for several years in succession. Last season he had to give up all other appointments, as he was engaged to go to several shows in British Columbia. He first judged at Victoria, then Nanaimo, and next the British Columbia Provincial Show in Vancouver. Six years ago trouble came to Mr. Trew, in that he lost the partner of his joys and sorrows, and being afflicted with a personal infirmity, owing to an accident, he was obliged to give up breeding and to dispose of his entire stock, and he says himself he is "very lonesome without his pets," as we feel sure he must be after his long fancier career. We hope that Mr. Trew may be spared to us for many years yet.

Some of Things Contributing to Success of A. L. Campbell's Store--Cleanliness a Feature

(From the Retail Grocer.) By being built in the shape of an "L" it has been made possible for the grocery store of A. L. Campbell, of Lindsay, Ont., to have entrances on two of the main business streets, namely, Kent and William. There is, of course, a recognized advantage in this, for the greater inducement the people have to enter the store, the better for it. There is an old saying that "two heads are better than one" that applies equally, as well to entrances. The more the better. The passing crowds on two streets pass the store in this case. It also proves very convenient for many customers.

in its place. The interior of the premises is kept spotlessly clean and in good repair. A metallic ceiling with dark bordered walls and green burlap, along with suspended tungsten lights neatly encased with glass shades light the store up as brightly at night as in the day time. Chairs are provided for the convenience of customers while giving their orders. Prominently and well situated immediately inside the main entrance is a Christie Biscuit cabinet containing 32 tins. Behind it additional varieties of cakes are shown under glass. This method of showing biscuits has been found to increase sales. Frequently, in order to attract the attention of passing pedestrians to this particular line, the biscuit cabinet is placed in one of the show windows. The office is conveniently situated at the rear of the store and elevated, thus commanding a view of the entire store. A window in the office ensures plenty of light.

CHINAWARE DEPARTMENT. The main body of the store is seen in the accompanying photograph. One side is devoted to groceries and the other side to chinaware which is quite an important department. In addition to the shelf display, there is a silent salesman for showing cut glass, while tables with a bottom shelf extended to the rear of the store. A good stock is maintained at all seasons of the year. In fact, the chinaware department is acknowledged as one of the best paying ends of the business. A lady assistant gives her entire time to this department, and thus becomes so familiar with the line that customers can be served much better than if no one in particular was in charge.

CATCH EYE OF PUBLIC. It has been found profitable to arrange the chinaware department with a view to catching the eye of the public. In addition to the interior display one of the windows is reserved for the display of various kinds of chinaware. It is recognized that the handling of chinaware acts as a means of attracting other trade. People who come to the store to purchase china will see some line of groceries which they may want. Especially around the Christmas season and in June (the month of brides) a particularly brisk business is done in this department.

AN ATTRACTIVE INTERIOR. The store, as will be seen from the photograph, is quite an attractive one. Neatness is emphasized, with a place for everything and everything

If Man Remarries He is No Relation To Dead Wife

New York, July 17.—A man who remarries after the death of his wife ceases to bear any relationship to the dead woman, and therefore has no control over her body. This in effect was the decision of Justice Philbin in deciding yesterday that George B. Stone could not remove the body of his wife from a plot in Woodlawn cemetery to a single grave, in order that he might sell the plot. Stone told the court that the plot where his wife was buried cost $1,700 and he needed the money he could get by selling it. A sister of the dead woman opposed the removal, declaring that she had "a natural abhorrence" of having the body disinterred and she also argued that because of Stone's remarriage he no longer bore any relation to the first Mrs. Stone, in which contention Justice Philbin agreed.

NO CHANGE AT BURKETON.

Uptown Agent for the C.P.R., Mr. T. C. Matchett, stated to a Warder reporter this morning that in future passengers going from and coming to Lindsay will have no need to change coaches at Burketon Junction. The coaches to and from Lindsay will in future be classed as through coaches.

DISEASE AND ACCIDENT WIPED OUT FAMILY.

St. Catharines, July 17.—Misfortune has followed Napoleon Heribert and his wife of late years. To-day the body of their ten-year-old son, who was drowned a week ago in Twelve-mile Creek, which was found yesterday, was buried at Victoria Lawn. This is the eighth and last child the Herberts have lost in a short time, their whole family being now wiped out by accident and disease.

Dr. Shorey as Fisherman

SUCCEEDED IN LANDING ONE OF LARGEST OF SEASON. Besides being a very successful minister of the gospel, Rev. Dr. Shorey is also a rule a successful hunter in the nimrod season, and a good fisherman in the summer months.

Accompanied by Tax Collector John Jackson and Mr. Dougald Sinclair, the reverend gentleman journeyed down the Scugog Thursday afternoon in Collector Jackson's Black Diamond Express, the Vivian, and a very enjoyable afternoon was spent fishing for the large "lunge. Feeling a bite on the silk cord, which was playing, the Methodist divine commenced hauling in the line, and by skillful management succeeded in landing a beautiful maskinonge safely in the bottom of the boat. The specimen of the piscatorial tribe was much admired by the residents of Sturgeon Point and others and no doubt made a tasty viand for the doctor's noon-day meal.

HAD LIVELY "SCRAP."

When the human form divine happens to be feminine much is expected therefrom, especially at this era when women are looking for the rights and privileges of men and seeking emancipation as it were from centuries of pent up worries and oppressions which men never think of repressing. This dignified independence received a severe set-back by the conduct of two females in a berry patch in South Oos on Wednesday afternoon. The two divines, it is stated, punched each other right and left in true Jack Johnston style.

SILVER GREY FOX.

Mr. P. J. Campbell and Mr. Louis McGregor, in taking a drive east of town some days ago ran across a silver grey fox trotting through a pasture field. They had no fire, arms so Reynard was permitted to go unmolested. The two gentlemen will in all probability look up his haunts this fall, as they know about his place of seclusion. It is thought that many foxes of this color are to be found in that district.

MAN DIED WHILE WIFE BATHED HIM.

Kingston, Ont., July 16.—While his wife was giving him a sponge bath in the tub yesterday, Thomas Carlin, a marble cutter, of Tweed, died suddenly, standing upright. His wife noticed a pallor on his face and asked him to sit down and rest. On receiving no answer, she made the awful discovery that her husband was dead. Decayed had recently returned from the West owing to ill-health.

MUSICAL SURPRISE.

The musical surprise, a tuneful medley of marching music, is one of the big novelties prepared for this year's Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto. That it is a big number is evidenced by the fact that eight bands, 100 Cadets and Boy Scouts will be worked into its intricacies. John Henderson of London will stage it, and that means it will be artistic in every detail. Cannibals must have easily-satisfied palates.

THE HOME BANK.

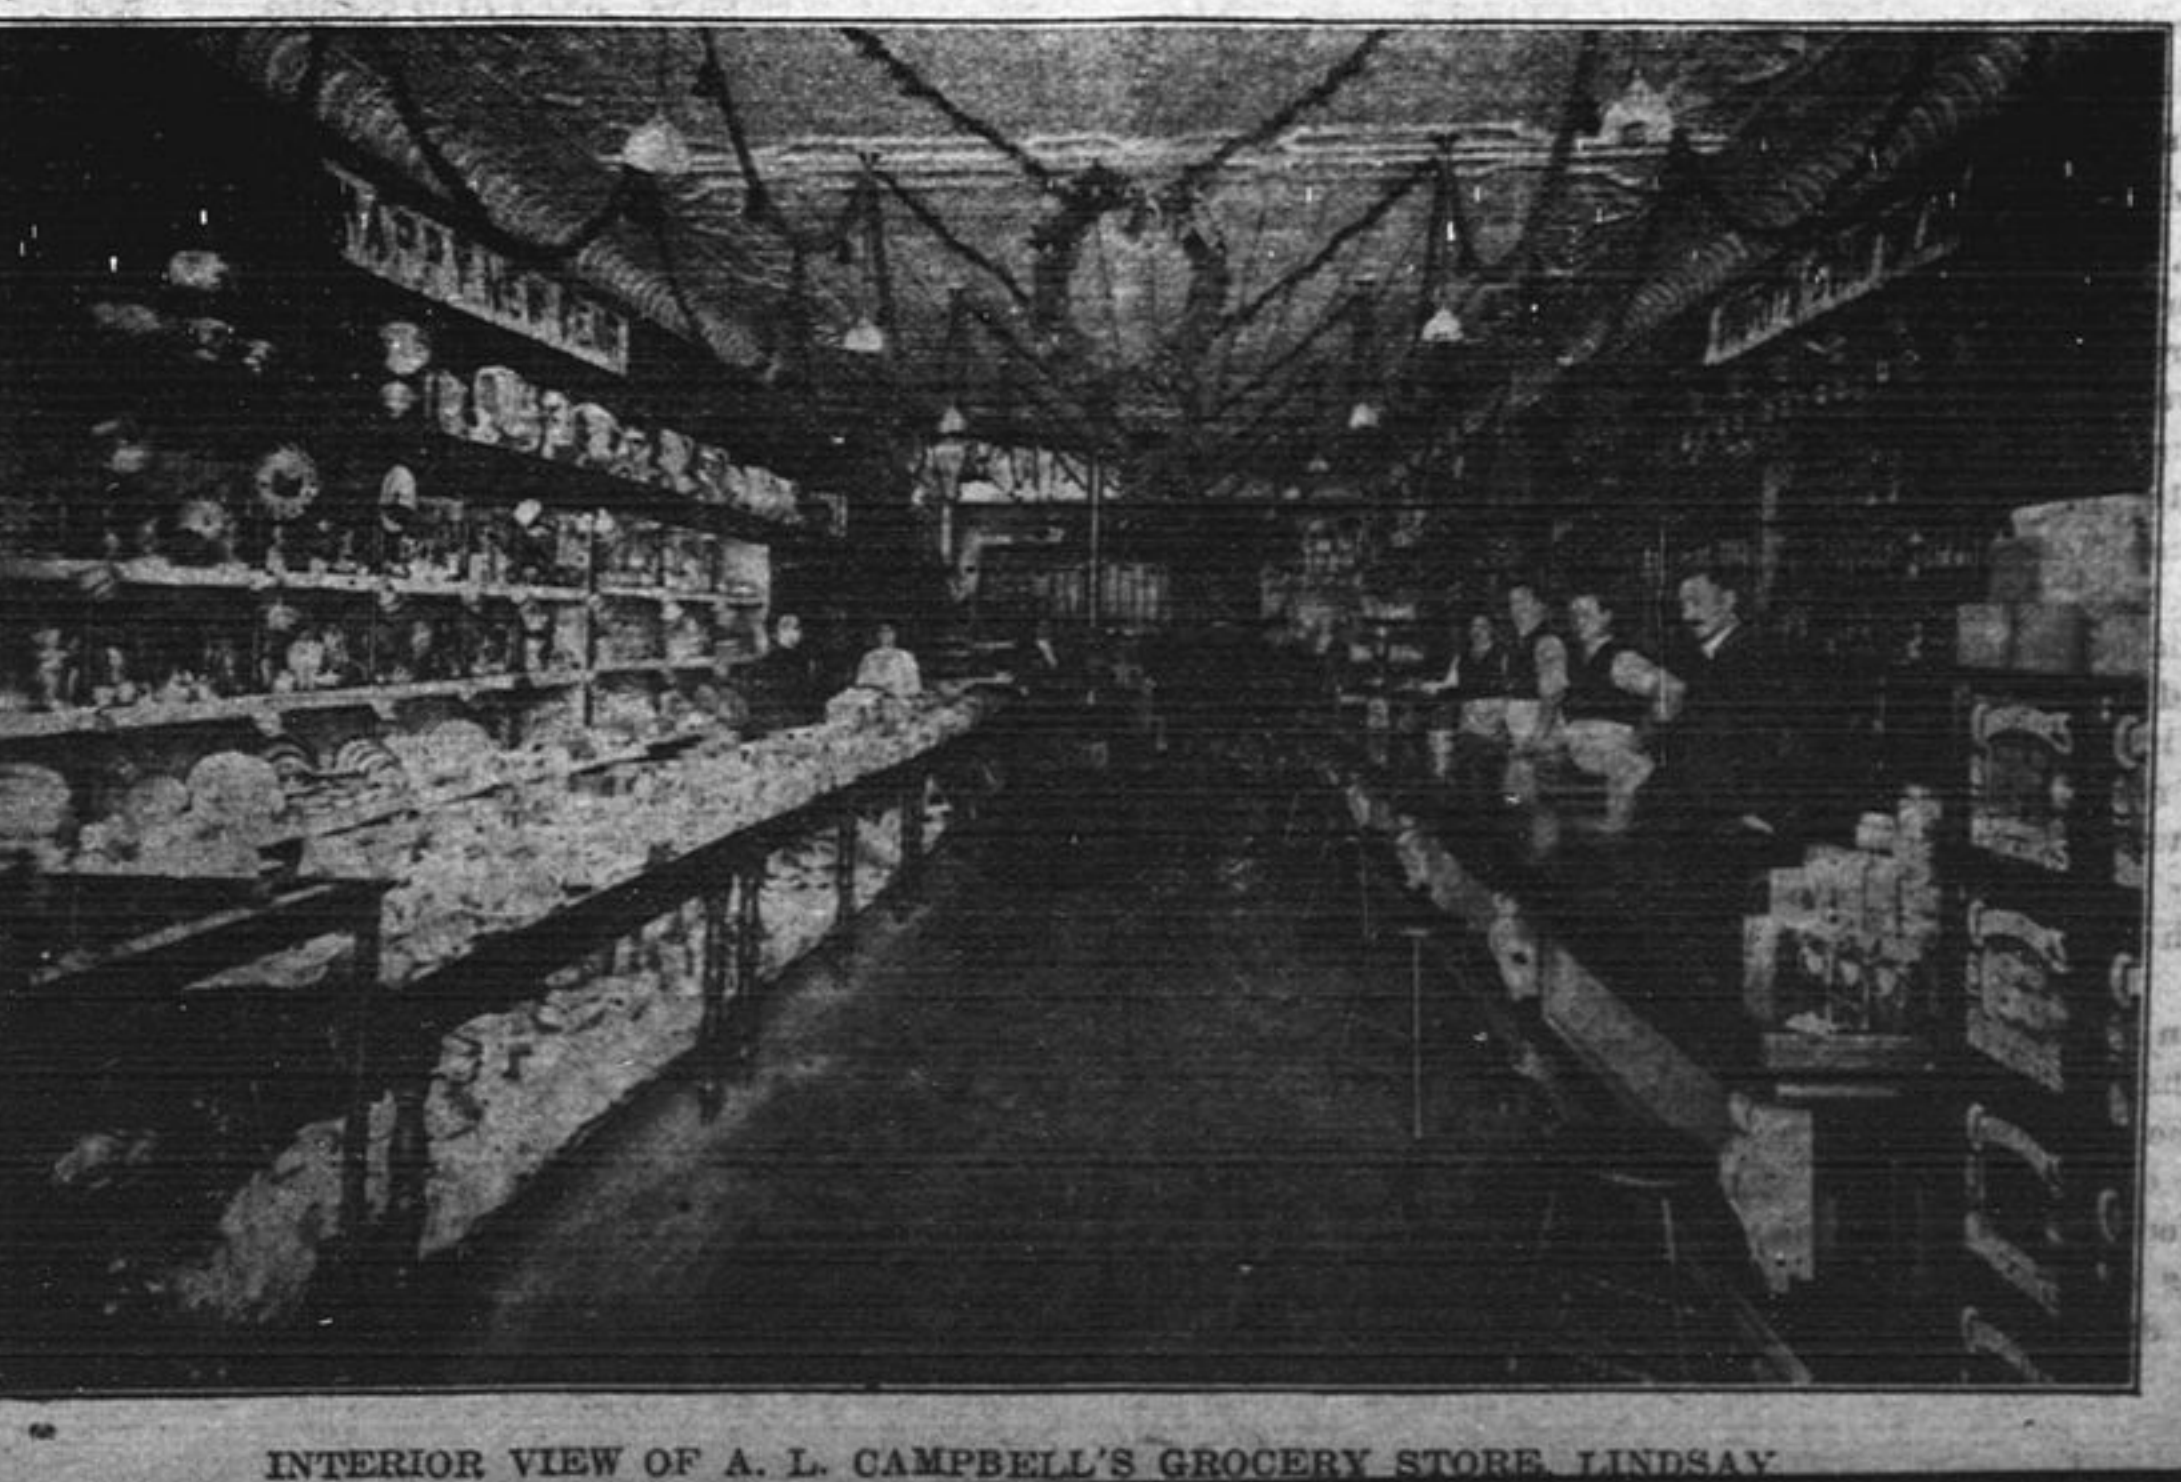

The Home Bank of Canada has opened its eighth branch in Toronto at 1158 Yonge-st., north. The present office at this address is temporary, as the Bank owns the property at the corner of Yonge and Alcorn-ave., and will erect a building there later on. This location is convenient to the proposed new Union Station for the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian Northern Railways. Mr. H. S. Hase, of the head office, is the manager in charge. The Home Bank has now eight offices in Toronto at the following addresses:—78 Church-st., 8-10 King-st. west, corner Queen West and Bathurst, corner Bloor West and Bathurst, corner Queen East and Ontario, Dundas-st., corner High Park avenue, West Toronto; Broad-view-ave., corner Wilton, and 1158 Yonge-st. These branches, with the exception of 78 Church-st., are located in the center of population in the different wards in Toronto. The old Head Office at 78 Church-st. was opened in 1854, and the business has grown away from that section of the city during the past thirty years.
