Dog Carried Child To Terrible Death. Barrie, July 18.—The little son of Bert Fisher, a farmer living between Thornton and Cookstown, died early this morning as the result of terrible injuries received yesterday evening. His father and hired man were drawing in hay and the boy was playing about the field with his big dog. He was in the habit of riding the dog's back, and it is supposed the dog carried him under the wagon, where he was knocked off as the wagon started up. The wheels passed over the child, crushing in his ribs on one side and his chest and breaking both legs. Dr. Shier, of Cookstown, and Dr. Horton, of Thornton, were in attendance in a short time, but the best that could be done was to prolong his life through the night. The lad was three years of age and the only child of his parents.

Samuel Barker Has Made a Study of Railway Affairs. Samuel Barker, Conservative member for the constituency of East Hamilton, who has recently been elected a member of the Privy Council of the Dominion, is among the most prominent figures in the Canadian House of Commons and was noted long before he entered political life for his ability and business integrity. He has made a deep study of transportation problems and was a recognized authority on railway and transportation matters long before he entered the popular chamber. Even while a member of the Opposition, his counsel and advice were often sought by the Liberal administration, when questions dealing with the big transportation interests of the country were before Parliament.

Great Dog Town. The greatest dog town in Great Britain, if not in the world, is Haverfordwest. There are a great many men in the town who live wholly and make a good living by breeding, buying and selling dogs. Although the population is only 6,000, at least 6,000 dog licenses are issued annually, and there are also a large number of exemptions. Almost daily there are more dogs than people in the public streets, though valuable animals are never allowed to run loose. Haverfordwest dog breeders are known for their working terriers, show terriers, pointers, setters and spaniels, which are daily traded for big sums through the amateur journals and so everywhere. It is the home of the Sealyham breed of terriers, the origin of which has puzzled the keenest sportsmen. One fancier's kennel recently sold by auction realized £200, but £250 is not an unusual price for a single dog, while £60, £70 and £80 are almost common. The quaint old town, with its mixed Welsh, English and Flemish population, is almost the hub of the dogs' universe.—Fur News.

FIGHTING FLIES. African States Are Waging a Bitter War Against Pests. Unknown to many people, the great battle ever fought is now being waged. The combats are man and insect, and when the conflict is over a new chapter in the world's history will open. In South Africa hostilities are being carried on relentlessly. No sooner is a swarm of locusts, for instance, found than tidals are flashed to the Department of Agriculture at Pretoria, where they may develop in his blood and, in consequence, the grass all around the swarm is sprayed with arsenic, which ultimately kills the locust. The locust, therefore, is rapidly being exterminated. When a Peruvian expert visited South Africa recently for the purpose of studying the locust, the only example which could be shown him was in the museum.

On the West Coast of Africa and elsewhere a still greater campaign is taking place against mosquitoes, the transmitters. It is now definitely known, of the three most terrible diseases which afflict humanity—malaria, elephantiasis, and yellow fever. The first is bitingly only once by a mosquito, then they may develop in his blood 250,000,000 of the parasites which produce ague or malaria, the disease which has slain millions.

As the mosquito breeds in ponds and swamps, innumerable pools have been drained dry, and when this course has not been practicable, the surface of the water has been regularly covered with oil, which, by blocking the syphon tubes of the pestiferous little creatures, has killed millions. To the same end, a natural enemy of the mosquito—a little fish popularly known as the "million"—has been introduced into the waters of many of the West Indian and the Hawaiian Islands. The most efficient work done by the "million" was first noticed at Barbados, which, owing to its presence in the ponds and streams there, enjoyed immunity from malaria while adjacent islands were suffering from the scourge.

Nowhere have the results of this conflict between man and insect been more remarkable than in the Panama Canal zone. When the French were engaged on that great work, one of the most serious obstacles that impeded them was yellow fever. The hospitals were full of cases, and the mortality was appalling. Eighteen young French officers arrived together on a steamer, and a month later all were dead except one, while of a party of thirty-six nurses brought over in a batch, twenty-four died of fever. The mosquito, in fact, conquered the French, who lost 50,000 men in fighting against unwarfare.

By the time the Americans took up the work, the malarial power of that insect had been discovered by scientists, and, consequently, the first thing the new-comers did was to combat it. And so successful were their efforts that the dread "low fever" is now rare in the Panama Canal region. But little less striking has been the victory along the coastline of West Africa. This part of the African continent is losing its evil reputation as the "white man's grave." Formerly nearly every European who went there was attacked by malaria, which either killed or permanently enfeebled him. Since war was declared on the mosquito, however, the West African coastline has become comparatively healthy.

Another pest on which a great onslaught is being made is the tsetse fly. The record of this insect is little, if any, less terrible than that of the mosquito. It carries the disease which carries a sleeping sickness, which has swept away whole communities, and killed more than 200,000 people in the Uganda Protectorate alone. As this particular fly loves woods, etc., near a river, it is being fought, in the main, by burning the ground bush along the margins of rivers and ponds and around village and encampments.

Men prefer a well-formed girl to a well-formed one. Flour and lard are getting so high that bakers have found it necessary to doughnut. A mosquito lays forty eggs a day. It might be well to let a few run with your hens for breeding purposes. Mrs. Pankhurst eluded London detectives and again gained her freedom. To reduce the size of the hole in the one thing a man is anxious to share with the world is the good opinion he has of himself.

HORSES BOLTED. A number of ladies and gentlemen members of the I.O.F., who were returning from Cambray last night driving met with a mishap on Kent-st. west near Albert-st., caused by the bolting of the horses. The animals became unmanageable and the ladies grew hysterical when they summed up the situation. The driver took the only possible means of averting a calamity at a glance and steered the team for a telegraph pole. The impact had the effect of stopping the excited animals and piling the occupants of the buggy in a heap on the roadway. Four of the ladies, full of excitement, were taken in by a citizen and his wife on Kent-st., who soothed the frightened ladies and gave them warm drinks and lunch, when after a short time their violent emotions had subsided and were able to walk to their homes. Apart from the harness being broken no serious damage was done.

Presented With Suit Case and Cane. Hartley, July 19.—The brethren and friends of L.O.L. 1153, and also of Court Hartley No. 979, met at the home of Mr. Alex. Spence on the evening of July 18th, for the purpose of expressing their regret in losing Mr. Spence, who is moving to Toronto. As Mr. Spence has been an active member of both these societies for a number of years, the members felt they would like to be remembered by Mr. Spence and family, and after the assembling of the members, with their ladies and friends, the chair was taken by Mr. Wm. Manning, who after calling the gathering to order, explained the object of the meeting in very fitting words, after which he called on Mr. John Gorrill, chaplain of L.O.L. No. 1153, to read an address of regret in the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Spence and family, and also presented Mr. Alex. Spence with a very beautiful suit case and cane, and Mrs. Spence with a very beautiful hand painting of Ben Lomond in Scotland, as a token of the esteem in which they were held by the many warm friends in Hartley.

After the presentation, Mr. Alex. Spence thanked their many friends of Hartley for the beautiful presents, and also for the kindness shown by the members and friends of L.O.L. No. 1153, and also Court Hartley No. 979, I.O.F., after which a number of addresses were given by a number of members of the Orders, expressing in very fitting terms the fraternal part of the brotherhood. The friends were treated to some very choice selections of music on the gramophone by Mr. Baker, and after a very dainty lunch was served by the ladies, the young people enjoyed themselves to their heart's content. With the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" the gathering dispersed to their homes, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Spence and family health and prosperity in their new home.

Lindsay Merchant Died on Wednesday. The news of Mr. W. J. Morton's death was heard with general regret by his many friends in Lindsay on Wednesday, the deceased having died at his summer cottage at Pleasant Point at 3 o'clock a.m. Mr. Morton received a slight stroke of paralysis about three weeks ago, from which he never fully recovered. On Tuesday morning about 11 o'clock the deceased took a turn which necessitated the attention of a physician from Lindsay, and although the best known remedies were applied the deceased breathed his last at an early hour this morning. Mr. Morton has been a resident of Lindsay for over 25 years, having been engaged in the baking and confectionery business during that time. He was born in the State of New York seventy-one years ago last May. He lived seven years in Berlin, Ont., previous to coming to Lindsay. He was a devout member of the Baptist church. He is survived by his loving wife, one daughter, Miss Morton, of Lindsay, and two sons, Mr. Frank L. Morton, of Worcester, Mass., and Mr. Norman S. Morton, of Ipsylante, Mich.

The professor was delivering the final lecture of the term. He dwelt with much emphasis on the fact that each student should devote all the intervening times preparing for the final examination. "The examination papers are now in the hands of the printer. Are there any questions to be asked?" Silence prevailed. Suddenly a voice from the rear inquired: "Who's the printer?"
