It is reported on reliable authority that a certain individual in our vicinity is guilty of killing a neighbor's dog when he himself is responsible for its presence. If he would do away with one of his own useless canine his neighbor's dog would not be enticed there to be shot. It would not be so bad if his own dog remained at home, but it, in company with two others is known to have visited Mr. Lewis Robe's and to have killed seven sheep out of his flock of nine. Such a public nuisance should not be tolerated.
