APPLE PACKING

Associations Should be Formed to Pack in Large Quantities

The English merchant does not like to handle small lots and experimental packages, says Mr. W. A. MacKinnon, Chief of the Fruit Division, Ottawa. He wants thousands of barrels, all uniform quality, variety, packing and package. This uniformity, however, cannot be secured where packing is done in small quantities in orchards. The time has arrived in the history of the apple trade in Canada when large packing houses must be the order of the day. Whether these large packing houses are controlled co-operative associations or by capitalists who have a knowledge of the apple business is a matter of comparative indifference. It does, however, seem quite possible for intelligent growers to unite in co-operative associations and secure all the advantages that accrue to the capitalist, as well as those that come by packing in large quantities. These storerooms are not necessarily expensive buildings. They should be frost-proof and large enough to accommodate the full crop of patrons. It is not at all difficult to get plans that have worked well in other parts of the country. The aim should be to secure as large a stock of good stock as possible, to grade it uniformly and mark it honestly according to the requirements of the Fruit Marks Act, and sell it through any medium that may offer the greatest advantages. There is not the slightest doubt that if such an association were formed in any of the fruit districts and such a packing house established, it would attract buyers from every market, and the apples could be sold for spot cash. It is sincerely to be hoped that the good business men among the apple growers will take this into this into their serious consideration. It is not merely a question whether their own apples will be sold at the proper figure or not. They should be even for their own sakes, deeply interested in the sale of their neighbors' apples. Prices, in fruit, especially are often sadly depressed for the want of selling ability on the part of the small grower. It therefore behooves the more intelligent and larger grower to interest himself in the fruit of his less fortunate neighbor.

A VICTIM OF DROPSY

CURED AFTER DOCTORS PRONOUNCED HIS CASE HOPELESS

Limbs Swollen Until He Had Become a Bloated Helpless Mass—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Wrought the Cure.

In the little village of Rodney, not far from the mining town of Springhill, N.S., lives Mr. James Stevens, a quiet, middle-aged man, who, though living an unobtrusive life, has lately been much talked of as having been the subject of a cure pronounced by all familiar with the circumstances as scarcely less than miraculous. The disease, which some two years ago prostrated Mr. Stevens, came upon him gradually. There was an increasing feeling of general lassitude; the kidneys did not rightly perform their functions, and then the body began to bloat. This feeling continued extending to the extremities, until Mr. Stevens became a helpless, bloated mass of flesh. A finger pressed upon the bloated flesh would leave a mark all day. The urinary weakness became painful and distressing, the passages becoming very frequent. Doctors diagnosed the trouble as dropsy, but as their remedies failed to effect a cure, they pronounced the trouble as incurable. At this stage, the case of a neighbor who had been cured after a long and painful illness through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills was recalled, and it was decided to give the pills a trial. By the time the second box was used, the swelling began to decrease, the passage of the urine was less frequent, and the patient was inspired with fresh hope. The use of the pills some time longer set Mr. Stevens on his feet again. A cured man. The limbs were restored to a healthy condition, his weight became normal, the kidneys resumed their functions healthfully, and today Mr. Stevens goes his daily work a good specimen of hardy, healthy, Canadian manhood. His restoration is entirely due to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and he does not hesitate to strongly recommend them to other sufferers.

To the casual reader cases like this may seem remarkable, but Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have, in reality, cured thousands of cases pronounced by doctors to be incurable. These pills makes new, rich blood with every dose, and in this way tone and strengthen every organ in the body, driving out disease and restoring the patient to health after all other means have failed. Those who are weak and ailing, or who suffer from chronic diseases, should not waste time and money experimenting with other medicines, but should take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at once, if they wish to be restored to full health. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the will, Ont.

TWICE TOLD TALES

A despatch from Kingston, Jamaica, says that 70 persons were killed and over 500 hundred injured by the hurricane that swept over the island Tuesday of last week. It is believed that the total number of dead will reach 200. The damage to property reaches $12,800,000. Thousands of homeless people are wandering about in a condition of extreme misery.

Only six houses are left standing in the town of San Antonio, and 1,500 persons there are homeless. Two thousand are homeless in Port Antonio.

William Cockburn, sr., blacksmith, Kingston, died suddenly on Thursday afternoon while starting off on a fishing trip with his son. The two had got nicely started in a sailboat, with the old gentleman in the stern-sheets steering. When nearing Barrield shore, on the first tack, the deceased suddenly collapsed of heart failure, and within a few minutes expired. The deceased was about 75 years old.

A cyclone struck the town of Rockland, near Ottawa, on Tuesday the 12th. One woman and two children were seriously injured. Sixty houses and outbuildings were badly shattered, in some cases carried completely away. Animals were killed in the fields, and great trees that have stood for centuries were uprooted or torn down and hurled through the air.

News has been received from Point Oulard, on the north shore below Metis, that the steamer Mersey from Quebec, with a cargo for Seven Islands, founded a little below Point Oulard, on Thursday. Captain Cagnon, the mate, and another man succeeded in reaching shore, after much hardship. Five of the crew were drowned.

On Tuesday of last week, Emma Boyce, lost the sight of her right eye, besides being badly disfigured by the effects of a quantity of carbolic acid thrown in her face, by a resident of Owen Sound. The woman is a dissolute character with several jail terms to her credit, and only finished a year's term in the Mercer Reformatory in March last. Shortly before noon she was called to the door by another woman, who, the victim says, struck her a violent blow with a club, knocking her down, and then taking the carbolic acid in her hand dashed it in. The assailant then made a hasty retreat, and the Boyce woman came up town to Dr. C. M. Lang, who, after prescribing, sent her to the police authorities. To them she gave the name of the wife of a highly respected citizen as her assailant, and not withstanding the protests and the claims of an ally, the latter was arrested.

Vesuvius is again causing intense alarm in the surrounding region. From a fresh opening at the base of the principal crater, two streams of lava are issuing, which within a few hours covered a wide tract of ground. One stream is going towards the village of Ottajano, the direction taken by the famous eruption of 1872. The whole district around the crater is shaken by frequent earth shocks, and a panic prevails, the population crowding to the churches to pray or gathering in open spaces for safety. Experts affirm that so far there is no reason to fear a serious disaster.

The Allan Steamship Company has now under way a trans-Atlantic liner, destined for the Canadian trade which will be both larger and faster than anything now running between Montreal and England. The new vessel, which has not been named, will be twenty feet longer than the Allan Line's present premier steamship Bavarian, and will be one foot wider. She will be capable of averaging 17 knots an hour across the Atlantic, which will land the mails between Father Point and Moville in about five days and eighteen hours.

J. L. Stevens, accountant of Montreal, west, was killed at Chambly. The deceased was in the employ of Captain Logan, who has the contract for supplying sand for the pairs that are being made to the Chambly dam by the Montreal Light Heat and Power Company. He was standing on the boat superintending the unloading of the sand when something went wrong with the foot of the derrick, and as a result the whole machinery collapsed, burying Stevens under the ruins. When recovered he was unconscious, and died before a doctor could reach him.

The safe at J. Ballentine & Co's, foundry, Preston, was blown open by burglars early Friday morning, but only a small amount of change and stamps were obtained. The door of the safe was blown clear up through the ceiling, in which it made a big hole, and even broke the scantling overhead. The combination of the safe was written on a card, which hung on the knob of the safe, but no notice was taken of it.

Ann Hume, aged 6 years, daughter of Peter Hume, a farmer living near Guelph was accidentally shot by her brother, George, aged 12 the other morning. It appeared that about a month ago Mr. Hume took a shotgun out of the house for the purpose of shooting a dog that had annoyed the family. The cartridge missed fire and he withdrew it and placed the gun on a beam in the driving shed, placing the unused cartridge, which he thought to be useless on the same beam. The children, George, his brother, Wilbur, aged ten, and Ann 6, and a little brother between three and four years old, were playing in the lane when they saw a red squirrel sitting on the fence. George, with the other children, ran to the driving shed to get the gun to shoot the animal. He placed the cartridge in the gun and walked outside the shed and began. He made an attempt to point the weapon at the squirrel, and in some manner the gun was discharged, before he intended it. The shot struck the child, Anne, who was standing a few feet away, under the right breast, and killed her instantly. Coroner Savage was notified, and after making a careful investigation, considered that, under the circumstances no inquest was necessary.

A sad fatality occurred in the power house of the municipal electric light plant, Midland. A new three hundred horsepower Wheelock engine, which had just arrived from Galt McCulloch Company of Galt was being installed. The engine was almost in position, when it started over slightly, and Henry Chester was caught between one of the blocks and the engine, and his foot was broken in two places. Another man, Samuel Warner, was near Chester, but made haste to do so himself, but almost immediately fell over and expired. He was not injured in any way and it is supposed that his death was the result of heart failure, caused by the shock.

As the result of an accident to a freight train near Penetanguishene, last week, extra fireman Andrew Dougall sustained fatal injuries; Engineer Curtis had four ribs broken and his back hurt, and brakeman Henry Ardell lost an arm. The engine tender and badly crushed. The rest of the crew escaped with slight injuries. The engine jumped the track rounding a sharp curve at the end of a large culvert, and fell across the track wrecking several cars. Dougall was caught between the engine tender and badly crushed. He was taken to Penetanguishene Hospital, where he died on Saturday night. He was twenty-six years old, a son of Jas. Dougall, sen., of Barrie, and was making a trial trip before being given a permanent position.

Ernest Bevento, first mate of the Italian steamer Vega, was killed the other day at Parrsburg, and was attending the deal slogger, and was caught by the guy and thrown over the rail. He fell head foremost a distance of 200 feet to the deck of a lighter, and met instant death. While working on the Methodist church tower at Shelburne, Thomas Shields of Toronto, one of the workmen, in some way tripped and fell over the wall, a distance of twenty feet. He is seriously hurt, but there are hopes for his recovery.

An agricultural bank, likewise under Government control, lends to farmers at reasonable rates of interest. To encourage thrift a postal savings bank system was established two years since, which already has 14,000 depositors, of whom a quarter are petty Government officials. Almost every public service has been cheapened, with vastly extended uses as the result. Lighthouse dues have been lowered, and the salt tax has been reduced by 40 per cent., causing the use to be doubled. Postal rates a few years ago were cut in half, and this branch of the Government's service has quadrupled. Last year 17,256,000 letters were handled. A like increase in the number of telegrams attended the reduction in the cost of sending messages. The Egyptian Postoffice Department is as up to date as any in the world; if it has any scandals the public never hears of them, and last year it earned a profit of $125,000.

Important reductions have been made in railway charges—the lines are State owned, with receipts pledged to creditors of the Government—and increased traffic has been secured. Last year the roads carried 13,040,000 passengers and 2,975,000 tons of freight. Lord Cromer admits that a private corporation might conduct the lines on "more strictly commercial principles," but is opposed to intrusting the railways to a company. He states that competing lines being out of the question, control would amount to monopoly, and the public consequently could not benefit by a change.

In the twenty years of English control the receipts of the Mixed Courts have expanded from $1,000,000 to $2,605,000. These international tribunals, wherein civil causes are promptly adjudicated without ruinous costs, earn yearly for the Government upward of $1,750,000. While Egypt has advanced rapidly in population and the condition of its people has improved greatly, it is gratifying to know that the sum spent on its army has gradually decreased. Twenty years ago the rate of taxation per head of population was $5.26; last year its was practically $4.

The Abitibi Waterpowers. Mr. Vaughan Roberts, C. E., D. L. S., has just returned from exploring some of Ontario's North Lands. As a sample of Ontario's great natural wealth he instances the Abitibi River, which at a distance of a hundred miles from its junction with the Moose averages four hundred feet in width, contains numbers of magnificent water powers, awaiting development, varying from 15,000 to 150,000 horse power each. The banks of the river are lined with the best of pulpwood of all descriptions, which is practically valueless, however, until it is made available by the construction of a railway into the territory.

The other day Mrs. Corkey, residing on a farm near Glenburnie, astonished the Kingston police by driving up to the station with John Murray lying in her rig, bound hand and foot. Murray, a farm laborer, had threatened to do violence to Mrs. Corkey, who is about sixty years of age. She knocked Murray down, tied him with ropes, huddled him into a rig, and drove him eight miles to the police.
