STOPPED THE BLOOD AT ONCE SAVED THE HORSE

Mr. Geo. Lucas, who lives at Wilton, Ont., has a good horse now that he would not have had without Douglas's Egyptian Liniment. He says, "My horse ran away and so severely cut and torn on a barb wire fence that I believe he would have died had he not been treated with Douglas's Egyptian Liniment and syringed the contents of a bottle into the cuts which stopped the flow of blood at once. This happened in August and I expected if the horse lived he would be a cripple for life, but thanks to the Liniment, scarcely a scar can be seen."
"All the people about here know how badly he was cut."
This power of stopping bleeding at once, and healing a wound without proud flesh and almost without a scar, makes Douglas's Egyptian Liniment invaluable to the man who keeps horses, cattle or any live stock. 54c. at all dealers. Free sample on request. Douglas & Co., Napaece, Ont.

All Want Irishmen.

In view of a considerable reduction in the ranks of the Royal Irish Constabulary when the Home Rule Bill is passed, numbers of young policemen are now leaving the service in Ireland and joining the English and Scotch police. The cities of Liverpool, Manchester, Cardiff, Bristol and Glasgow, are, for instance, absorbing these magnificent specimens of Irish manhood as rapidly as they come along. Of course, it is common knowledge that the special department at Scotland Yard, the headquarters of the London metropolitan police, is staffed almost exclusively by Irishmen. Recently a high official connected with the Spanish police has been in Ireland in the hope of being able to enlist the services of a dozen or so eligible men to join his special service department at Madrid. This is, in itself, a valuable tribute to the sagacity and intelligence of the Irishman for police work.

Australia's Thrift.

Referring to the savings banks in Australia, Sir George Reid said the other day that the population of Australia was about 4,750,000 men, women and children, and there were more than 1,600,000 separate accounts in the savings banks. There is one account for every three of the men, women, and children of Australia. The money deposited had gone up at a tremendous rate during the last ten years; the increase had been, he thought, something like 100 per cent. This was not only a sign of prosperity, but of the best kind of prosperity—that which reached the great masses of the working population of the country.

A Big Harvester.

A mammoth oil-driven harvester that is being tried out on Australian wheat fields strips about 60 acres a day.

A Safe Name.

There may be nothing in a name, but if you wish to possess what might be termed a really safe cognomen, call yourself Hugh Williams. Here are reasons for this choice culled from sources which can be relied on as trustworthy.

In the year 1664, on Dec. 5th, an English ship, the Menai, was caught in a gale while crossing the Straits. There were eighty-one passengers on board. Only one was saved. He was named Hugh Williams.

On the same day in 1783 a pleasure schooner was wrecked on the Isle of Man. There were sixty persons on board, including one Hugh Williams and his family. Of this three score, old Hugh Williams only survived the wreck.

Again, on August 5, 1890, a picnic party, mostly children under 12 years of age, were run down by a coal barge on the Thames. Little Hugh Williams, aged five years, a visitor from Liverpool, was the only survivor of the twenty-five young and happy picnickers who left their homes so gaily in the morning.

Book Burnings.

In our own time there have been some famous burnings of proscribed books, one instance being when Exeter College, England, was aroused over Frodon's "Memento of Faith," and the book was solemnly committed to the flames in the College Hall, in the presence of all the students, by the sub-dean. Another was when the "Memoirs of Lord Byron" were destroyed in John Murray's house, in Albemarle street, London; Moore was chief executioner, and there were several witnesses, the only one remaining being the fine old fireplace. In Moore's presence later, Lady Burghersh destroyed the extracts which the poet had allowed her to make from the original.

Operated by Candlelight.

Owing to the break in the Hydro service, Victoria Hospital in London the other day lacked electric light and Private May, injured at the militia camp, had to be operated on by candle light. Dr. Seaborne conducted the operation while attendants held candles.

BETTER THAN SPANKING.

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box 28, Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money but write her to-day if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

Frank Baker, Farm Hand Near Reaboro, Deliberately Ended His Life With a Revolver

"A case of deliberate suicide," On Saturday Baker was engaged plowing on the farm and went about his work as usual. He arose Sunday morning, had breakfast and afterwards dinner at the accustomed hour, was quite cheerful to all, fed his horses and then disappeared or left the house, no person paying any particular attention to where the young man had gone.
As he did not return at supper time nor at the evening hour on Mr. Feir grew uneasy and instituted a search which was fruitless. It was thought he might have gone to the village of Reaboro so fears were dispelled. Monday morning not bringing the young man home Mr. Feir made a thorough search of all out-buildings and such places as he might have secluded himself therein. Not getting any trace of the missing man Mr. Feir went to the field on Monday morning, where Baker had been plowing on Saturday, where the plow was still standing in the ground. Here he was horrified to find the body of Baker lying on his back in the last furrow which he had plowed upon earth. The clay was saturated with blood which surrounded the body.
A bullet hole in his left breast told the tale and a large revolver was the instrument which sent the leaden missile through the dead man's heart. Dr. Blanchard called out on Monday morning about 9 o'clock and considered that an inquest was unnecessary as the man evidently was determined on self-destruction.
The body was taken to Omemee by Mr. McCrae, undertaker, where interment took place Tuesday afternoon. The deceased has no known friends in Canada.

Cameron Lake Claims the Life of a Popular Fenelon Falls Young Man--A Sad Drowning

A cloud of sadness mantles the peaceful village of Fenelon Falls; all citizens, old and young, and regardless of creed, are to-day a throng of mourners, grieved with the loss of one of the most popular young men of the village, Daniel Doherty, who on Sunday met a watery grave in Cameron Lake.
Daniel Doherty, a young man of unimpeachable character, who has been a native of Fenelon Falls for 20 years, was employed as head clerk in W. L. Robson's grocery store, and in such position came in contact with the residents of the entire community and township. He was at all times courteous and obliging in and out of business hours, and his friends are legion.
On Saturday last his old chum, Mr. Thos. Littleton, a Fenelon Falls young man, who has been working in Toronto, returned to the Cataract Village to spend the week-end and the holiday. On Sunday, shortly after the noon hour, the two went in for a swim, and picked out the expanse of water in the vicinity of the new Mickle and Diamond mill, as a likely bathing spot, and soon were in the water enjoying themselves. It is stated that the water in this vicinity is fully seven feet deep, so that it seems almost incredible that the young men were out 100 yards from shore, as is stated, unless they were good swimmers.
It appears that the deceased and Littleton, accompanied by a younger brother of the latter, went out in a canoe. They landed on a pier in Cameron Lake, opposite the new saw mill and went in bathing. After staying in the water some time they sat on the pier for about half an hour and decided to go in again. It is presumed they got chilled while on the pier. At all events while swimming to the next pier Doherty was ahead, "You had better come back to me, Tom; I don't think I can make it."
Littleton grabbed him just as he went down, but he took him down with him. When they came to the surface again the younger lad arrived with the canoe and he grabbed Doherty, but he pulled him out of the canoe, upsetting it, and also took him down. When they rose again Tom had somewhat recovered, and Doherty again caught him and once again they disappeared. When the latter did not rise, the other two managed to make the shore in an exhausted condition.
The alarm was given, and Alex. McPhee hurried to the spot, dove down and got Doherty in about ten feet of water. Four doctors, Messrs. Johnson, Graham, Gould and G. Graham, were soon on the scene. The physicians worked hard, in the attempt to resuscitate life but to no avail, and as there was no water in the lungs it is stated that heart failure was the cause of death.
The late Dan Doherty is survived by a heart-broken mother and a young sister, the young man having been the sole support of the family. Just 12 years ago Saturday Mr. Doherty, Sr., was killed while on an excursion from Fenelon Falls to Midland. The deceased young man was a member of the Presbyterian church, where he was an active worker and an usher. He was also a member of the Independent Order of Oddfellows, under whose auspices the funeral was held on Tuesday, and on Sunday next a memorial service will be held in St. Andrew's Church, Rev. C. S. Lord, the pastor, to preach the sermon.
The deceased young man was related to Mr. Robt. Currie, Cambridge-st., north, Lindsay.

Two Drowned In Lake Couchiching

Orillia, Aug. 4. — David Church, aged nineteen, son of the late Alex. Church, and Harvey Massey, aged seventeen, were drowned in Lake Couchiching yesterday. About 10 a.m. they left town in a canoe, intending to cross the lake to their camp at Chief's Island. An hour later they were sighted by a launch when about half-way across. There was a heavy sea on, and the boys were making slow progress. During the afternoon Church's coat was picked up floating in the water, a letter in the pocket giving the clue to its owner. Inquiry revealed the fact that the boys had never reached their destination. Search was instituted, and the canoe, paddles and cushions were found, and there was no other conclusion than that the occupants had been drowned. The lake was dragged nearly all night and this morning, but the bodies have not been recovered. Both were employed in the blacksmith department of Church Bros.' carriage works, and were good, steady boys.

Presented With Gold Watch As a Token of Appreciation

Mr. John Carew, of the Carew Lumber Co., is not the man to let a brave action go by unnoticed, especially if he is concerned or interested in the matter. A few weeks ago his youngest daughter, Miss Roberta, was rescued from the hungry Seagull by Mr. Jas. McFadden, who at the risk of his own life, and without waiting a moment to discard any of his cumbersome wearing apparel, plunged headlong into the locks to save the young girl from drowning. A life was saved, and at the time Mr. McFadden was rewarded with a small donation of money, which expressed in a slight manner the heartfelt appreciation of Mr. Carew, but Mr. Carew has gone further and supplemented this small gift by presenting Mr. McFadden with a beautiful gold watch, bearing the following inscription:
Presented to Jas. McFadden by John Carew in appreciation of his heroism in rescuing his daughter, Roberta Grace Carew, from drowning, July 11th, 1913.
Mr. McFadden highly appreciates the token, which he will carry with him at all times. A number of friends pursue taking the case before the Carnegie Hero Commission to secure further recognition.

Carriage Factory Destroyed at Bobcaygeon--Disastrous Fire Last Sunday Night

(Special to The Warder.)
Bobcaygeon, Aug. 4.—Another disastrous fire has visited and wiped out our chief industry. Last night about 11 p.m. the back shed of Mr. W. C. Moore's carriage shop was noticed to be in flames and by the time the alarm was sent in and the firemen had arrived on the scene the fire had complete control of the whole building, which was in a very short time.
The building was rebuilt and extended about ten years ago and is built of pine strip two storeys high with one storey addition to the north in which was his office, show room, weigh scales and blacksmith shop. Only a few articles were saved and the whole is a complete loss. His books and office furniture were saved.
Mr. Moore made a specialty in the manufacture of farm wagons, sleighs and stumping machines. In fact this is the factory where the Swenson stumping machine was manufactured. He employed four hands besides himself. His loss will be four or five thousand partly covered by insurance in the Western.
By strenuous work the sheds at the rear with his stock of dry lumber were saved, as well as the buildings surrounding.
Miss Orr very thoughtfully gave lunch to the firemen when it was brought under control.
The prosecuting attorney in the court martial of the German army officials urged severe sentences.
The Balkan armistice has been extended three days to enable the peace delegates to reach an agreement.
Seven persons perished in a fire on the Isle of Orleans, Quebec.
