FENELON FALLS Miss Henderson of Lindsay is the guest of her slater, Mrs. T. Sadler. Mr. Chisholm of Deseronto was at the Falls for a few days this week. Mr. Crevier of Lindsay spent last Sunday with his friend Mr. T. Sadler. The Misses Wilson left on Tuesday to resume their studies at Ontario College Whitby. Mrs. R S. World and Master Herbert returned last week from a month's visit to friends in Peterboro and Lindsay. Let us all go to the Lindsay Fair and see the new attractions, as we hear there is a great change this year. The Oddfellows of our village celebrated Decoration Day last Sunday afternoon, and about seventy turned out to decorate very beautifully the graves of fallen comrades in our little cemetery.

Mr. J. Marrs left on Monday for his home in Toronto after spending a couple of weeks with Fenelon Falls relatives. He was accompanied by his friend Mr. Cutler of Toronto who spent Sunday at the Falls.

A water party which claimed Mr. Wm. McArthur as their host and Mrs. R. C. Sinclaire as chaperon spent last Saturday on Cameron and Sturgeon Lakes in the trim little Dauntless. The day was a perfect one and the party enjoyed themselves as only happy spirits under such anspices can enjoy themselves.

Lowell's First Client.

James Russell Lowell studied law and took an office, but never had a case at court. The Rev. Edward Everett Hale told, however, the story of Lowell's first client. The poet had laid aside his lawbook for the nonce and was polishing off a sonnet when the door opened and a strange man appeared with a look of maker, 224 Bathurst St., Toronto, Ont., doubt or trouble in his eyes.

Lowell hastily hid the sonnet in a once with it: book and, waving his pencil in a soft, inviting, confidential way, began: "Well, sir, I am all ready to take notes of your case. Please tell me everything, even the most trivial circumstance." The stranger stared at him with open mouth for a minute, then grinned most amiably as he answered: "I'm the painter of your sign, sir; come to get my little bill."

MARK TWAIN'S FIRST LECTURE,

Subject, "The Sandwich Islands & Anything Else,"

"On Tuesday evening, Sept. 29, 1866, Samuel Langhorne Clemens made his first appearance in public at the Academy of Music in Pine street, San Francisco," says Will M. Clemens in Ainslee's. "He had just returned from the Sandwich Islands, from where he had been writing letters on the islands and the islanders to the Sacramento Union The appearance of Artemus Ward some months previous in San Francisco had Bret Harte, Prentice Mulford and Charles Warren Stoddard, and I can imagine how he chuckled to himself when he concluded to 'learn a new trick and surprise the boys.' He secured a hall and published a sort of Artemus Ward announcement that he would deliver a lecture about his trip to the Sandwich Islands.

"Commenting upon the announcement, the San Francisco correspondent of a neighboring newspaper wrote:

"'We may expect either gay or grave remarks, for by recently published let-ters he very fully exhibited the resources of the islands to the great satisfaction of the business community. His lecture at this time will have a peculiar interest, independent of his own rapidly augmenting popularity, from the fact that the queen (Emma) of said country is now in chase for a bride at the Lindsay our midst. Everybody is going, and consequently a crowded audience will greet the maiden-I believe-lecture of the sage brusher. He is not at all an eloquent orator, and I fear, as he himself announces it, "doors open at 7, the trouble will commence at 8 o'clock."

"'The "trouble" is over,' wrote this 1866, 'the inimitable Mark Twain deliv-On August 28th Rev. P. F. He opened with an apology, by saying that he had partly succeeded in obtaining a band, but, at the last moment, the party engaged backed out. He explained that he had hired a man to play the trombone, but he, on earning that he was the only person engaged, came at the last moment and informed him that he could not play. This wishing to know his reasons for deserting "that he wasn't going to make a fool of himself by sitting up there on the stage and blowing his horn all by himself." After the applause subsided he assumed a very grave countenance and commenced his remarks proper with the following well known sentence: "When, in the course of human events," etc. He lectured fully an hour and a quarter, and his humorous sayings were interspersed with geographical, agricultural and statistical remarks, sometimes branching off

They Regard Europeans Generally

as Vulgar Plebeians.

The manners of the European always strike the Asiatic as plebeian. He expeets in an equal or superior a kind of smoothness which few Europeans possess and which they never display in their intercourse with the colored races, whose want of frankness and tendency to be deferential and general failure to slightly irritate them. The Asiatic thinks that want of frankness essential to politeness is always reserved unless he intends to be insolent and looks upon familiarity, especially if there is any difference of grade, as offensive, presuming and, in a word, rude.
