and some hens belonging to the latter were got out. —Chilly evenings call for one of Gough's $5 top coats. —On Friday evening last the ladies of the Companion Court of the Independent Order of Foresters gave an "At Home" in the lodge rooms, Keenan's block. A pleasant program of musical and gramophone selections, recitations and addresses were given. After these refreshments were served, everyone present was delighted with the event, and a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the ladies. The local lodge is prosperous, and the Companion Court will prove an excellent auxiliary to the order.

that if the library were built in the centre of the park there would still be room for a new city hall. Ald. O'Reilly moved that the board be allowed any site in the western 100 feet of the park and the motion carried. —The baseball match between the locals and the Cobourg team, here on Thursday afternoon was a first-class exhibition of the game and of true sport. The locals won by 3:1 with an innings to spare. By that performance they surprised themselves. The visitors were famed as the champions of the Midland league, and were unwontedly formidable in this instance because of travelling with "Doony" Hardy, late-released Eastern League pitcher. In Flaherty, however, he quite found his match. The local fielding was superb. Brooks caught three high ones in succession. Stalker gathered in another after a 30-yard sprint, and McGill's capture of a foul by a long run ending among the spectators was a wonderful performance. The visitors made a few bad errors. One of them, an overthrow to first gave Lindsay two of their three runs. The visitors scored first, but could not do it again. The 300 people present were delighted both with the match and the way it ended. Tim Burke made a satisfactory umpire.

He formerly kept store in Lindsay, but is now manager of the Metropolitan Opera Company in his town. —Orono News: Mr. Morgan of Lindsay, who has been visiting his brother here, returned home on Monday. —R. L. Dobson, B. A., principal of Picton high school, was in the village and vicinity recently renewing old acquaintances. While here in company with Messrs. Jos. and Jno. Rickaby, he visited the brooks near Kendal and secured some fine specimens of brook trout. Mr. Dobson was raised on lot 26, con. 5, and at one time taught school in this neighborhood. He was afterwards principal of Brantford and Lindsay high schools, and has since been in Picton high school. We are glad to see him looking so hale and hearty.

young people. He denounced the conformity of the church to the world. What different were professors of religion from other people, and what were they doing to carry on the work so tragically begun by the Son of Man? On Sunday morning the Sunday school children attended service at St. Paul's church, in a body. Just before the service began they filed in through the chancel and down to their places in the first 5 or 6 rows of seats. One member of each class carried a large basket of flowers. After the sermon these flower-bearers—girls first and boys next—went in a body up to the altar and presented their fragrant burdens to Curate Hallam, who piled them up at rear of the chancel under the beautiful climbing yellow rose that adorns that part of the church. In his sermon Mr. Hallam referred to those baskets of flowers as intended for distribution in the afternoon among the sick and shut-ins of the congregation. The sermon was a talk on character-building which the children were assured was the most important work of life, since the respect there should be exercised—Labor, Obedience, Virtue, and the world should be gone on ever. The first letters of these words spelled Love, which was to be all through the building. Mr. Hallam talked in a way that evidently interested and instructed the children and the entire service was very effective. —At the Baptist church, in spite of the rain—which, by the way, it is alleged has no terrors for the people of that church—a good audience gathered to hear the retiring pastor, Rev. L. S. Hughson, B.D., preach his last sermon. Any who expected to hear the minister make any remarks of a farewell nature were disappointed, for at the outset Mr. Hughson said he would not preach a farewell sermon. He had preached for 8 years and if he had not taught and admonished his hearers in that time, he could not hope to do so by a last stroke. In a sense he had regarded every sermon as his last. Mr. Hughson's text was: "The Lord hath appeared of old unto me, saying: 'Yea, I have loved thee with an everlasting love; therefore with loving kindness have I drawn thee.'" Disregarding the original application of this passage to the Chosen People, and its intensely interesting fulfillment in the history of the Jews, Mr. Hughson said that without a word of commendation, censure, good wishes or farewell, like a man who was not sorry to be done with his job. On Monday morning he and his family left for Windsor, where he is pastor of the Bruce Avenue Baptist church. During his residence in Lindsay Mr. Hughson enjoyed a large measure of public respect and was properly regarded as a good preacher, an able platform speaker, and a most valuable public-spirited citizen. The people of this town have the most kindly feelings towards him and his family, and regretfully bid them farewell with the most hearty good wishes.

AMONG THE CHURCHES

Mr. Wallace, B.A., pastor of St. Andrew's, expected to be back from Germany by the first of this month, but will prolong his stay till October 1st. Mr. Brown will continue to occupy the pulpit till that date. —At the Cambridge-st. Methodist church Rev. Edward Roberts preached last Sunday night from the court scene of Paul and Felix, when the apostle "reasoned of righteousness, temperance and judgment to come" until his judge was well-nigh persuaded to adopt his faith. The venerable preacher dealt faithfully and effectively with the subject. Mr. Sheffer of Rochester sang "Within the Gates of Paradise" with a good deal of skill. The pastor, Rev. G. W. Henderson will be back to his pulpit again next Sunday. —The esteem in which Rev. L. S. Hughson was held by his people was manifested at the prayer meeting in the Baptist church last Wednesday evening. The prayer-meeting room was crowded and the interest in the service was unusually keen. At the close of the meeting Mr. Burton, treasurer of the church, read an address to the pastor and presented him with a purse of gold. Miss Matthews on behalf of the choir read an address to Mrs. Hughson and presented her with a beautiful mantle clock. Light refreshments were served and a social hour spent. —At St. Andrew's Rev. Mr. Brown preached last Sunday morning on a text he had discussed twice before. "For the Son of Man is come to seek and save that which was lost." In this sermon the announcement of the text was used as a background over against which the indifference of the modern church was set. It was not following up very closely the work of its founder. The preacher had heard of a pastor and his officials agreeing to put a billiard room, cards and other similar means of amusements into the church for the
