Potatoe Raising

It is a pity that in many parts of this country the farmers are not raising as many potatoes as they did years ago. Yet the demand for this staple crop is good, and if the quality of different varieties were improved, the demand would increase.

Boil the Water

"My dear man," said the physician, "I am exasperated with you! Here you have deliberately drunk water from the well which caused your wife to have typhoid fever, and no sooner is she able to be up and around than you are down with the same disease. I should think you would have known the risk you were taking after my warning."

for my wife left, and I hated to see it go to waste. "Foolish man!" you say; but are not the people of Lindsay very much like him. Typhoid fever breaks out, and one after another are stricken with the disease.

We trace the infection to the wells, to the river, or to the contamination of some faulty drain. The doctor says, "Boil the water."

"Clean out the wells," orders the sanitary inspector.

The board of health or the town council suggest protecting the water supply from contamination.

Yet in our small economy, having the antiseptics and pills at hand, we keep on drinking the deadly bacilli.

It may not be possible to bring pure water into the town's mains, and cleaning out the wells may not be effective, but it costs very little to obey the first injunction.

"Boil the water."

It is said that all the typhoid patients who have been treated at the Ross Memorial hospital, and others who were attended outside, were users of well water, and it is generally conceded that the germs of the disease are acquired by drinking water.

However, this is not an advertisement for the bar. The Watchman-Warder would not literally drive you to drink, for by thus shunning the bacilli in the water, you would very likely find yourself up against a more formidable variety.

Boiling the water will kill the germs, and it can then be cooled and used with impunity.

The process is not as expensive as a run of fever with the attending risk of life.

"THURSTONIA PARK" DUNSFORD'S NEW RESORT

Attractive New Plot Laid Out on the Lake Shore by Henry Thurston - Occasion of Birthday Party.

On Thursday last there occurred in the vicinity of Dunsford an event which is deserving of more than passing notice, inasmuch as it touches an important public interest. Mr. Henry Thurston is the owner of an unusually attractive piece of property on the south shore of Sturgeon Lake, quite adjacent to Dunsford. Both nature and tradition have conspired to make the place of interest, while Mr. Thurston has been industriously fitting up the grounds by making avenues, trimming the trees and arranging the grounds for a year or more. The property extends well out into the lake, has no stagnant water anywhere near it, which facts not only vouch for healthfulness, but ensure freedom from the attack of that teasing pest known as the mosquito.

Telephone Competition Coming; Canadian Machine Tel. Co.

Again Asking for Franchise - Council Favors Competition

A meeting of the council and committees was held in the council chamber on Monday evening. There were present the mayor, and Aldermen Fisher, Eyres, O'Reilly, Begg, Rea and Maunder.

A communication from Mr. John Short, asking to be relieved of the collection of poll taxes because it interfered with his duties as night constable, was referred to the finance committee.

Messrs. Wm. O'Neil and Geo. H. Irwin asked for a sewer to be constructed on Lindsay street between Mary street and Durham street, on the initiative plan, as they had circulated a petition for same and lack one name to comply with the rule. The commissioner was instructed to report on the advisability of constructing the sewer by the initiative plan.

On motion, Mr. C. H. Jones was heard asking whether the board had that had been ordered for the south side of Kent street west of Adelaide street, would be built, and urging its immediate construction. He was informed that council has not the material for the board walk, and meanwhile a crossing will be put in from his property to the north side of Kent street.

A communication from the Machine Telephone Company of Toronto, was read by the clerk. This letter was received June 5th, and had been read before. The company asks permission to use the streets of the town for the installation of its telephone system.

Mr. F. D. McKay, manager, addressed the council, showing the advantages of the system, and why the company should be allowed to enter the town. This subject caused much discussion. Alderman Eyres took the ground that the council should give the Bell company an opportunity to submit another proposition, while other members thought that the question is closed as far as the Bell company is concerned by the resolution passed last spring refusing exclusive franchise.

Messrs. Begg and Rea moved that this council endorse the idea of telephone competition and will at its next regular meeting consider a by-law granting a franchise to the Canadian Machine Telephone company. Division being taken the motion carried. Yeas: Aldermen Begg, Rea, O'Reilly and Fisher. Nays: Aldermen Eyres and Maunder.

Mr. Maunder expressed himself in favor of competition, but thought the motion should not be passed at this time.

Notwithstanding the motion, the mayor and aldermen were of the opinion that they should grant the Bell company an opportunity to present a proposition, as members of council had given their word to do so.

The Canadian Machine Telephone company promises to put wires underground on Kent and other principal streets, and not to charge for service until it gets two hundred subscribers.

Mr. Hussey's Barn with Ducks and Hens Burned

The First Fire for the New Team - Promptness and Absence of Wind Prevents a Disastrous Fire.

Cries of "Fire! Fire!" awakened the citizens in the vicinity of Kent and Cambridge street corner about 4 o'clock on Tuesday morning. It was Constable Short giving a still alarm, and his promptness in going to the firehall to arouse the firemen, doubtless saved the town from a disastrous conflagration. Fire broke out in a little barn belonging to Mr. Wm. Hussey, which was situated in the rear of his house on Russell street near Cambridge street. He kept a flock of ducks in the barn, and was preparing to put hay in it and bring in his cow for the winter. The building was almost entirely burned, with all the ducks and hens, except one hen that escaped, somewhat. The flames burst out all at once, and the building was so dry that they made quick headway. Stored in the barn were the storm doors and windows for one of Mr. Hussey's houses, and they were all burned. The loss is considerable as there was no insurance on the barn.

It is thought that the fire was set by some one lurking about in the night. Though the barn was locked, some new windows which were not fastened had been put in the day before.

The new barn being built by the King Edward hotel is close to the end of Mr. Hussey's barn where the fire first broke out, and the end of it was being charred when the hose wagon arrived. It was fortunate that no wind was blowing and that the firemen all arrived on time, as the lanes there are full of highly inflammable stuff. A building is being torn down near where the fire was, and the old shingles and boards are lying around, and the straw and hay exposed.

This was the first fire which has occurred since the new fire team was bought, and the horses did not know what to make of the fire at first, but were easily handled. They had several runs for false alarms during the summer, but this was their first fire. Lindsay has been very fortunate of late in not having fires, and it is to be hoped the scarcity will continue.

Mr. Bell deserves much credit for the prompt way in which he gets out in answer to an alarm, and the town is fortunate in having an effective fire brigade.

The second act, showing a room in the palace of the viceroy, is astounding in its magnificence, but the third act, showing a Chinese garden with the knotted and gnarled vines of the ancient wistaria creeping, running, twining and intertwining through overhanging bowers, heavily laden with bunches of the beautiful flowers, the whole bathed in soft moonlight, takes the most jaded spectator out of himself and places him in an atmosphere of delight and beauty.

"Side-Tracked."

One of A. Q. Scammon's excellent companies will be the attraction at the Academy on Friday and Saturday evening, in that world famous cyclone of fun, "Side Tracked," which contains enough entertaining diversity to keep an audience in continual hilarity, and runs the gamut of sensation, farce, melodrama, and variety. A murder is committed, and a theatrical company give part of an entertainment at a railroad station, a pretty lunch counter girl falls in love with a tramp, who eventually becomes as attractive a lover as any girl could want. Pretty girls sing and dance themselves into popularity, and "Side Tracked" moves along without a dull moment, with the soufrette and the tramp in the lead. Sensational climaxes are found in the scenes of railroad contrivances.

The tramp's first appearance is from the door of a passing freight car and later he is seen riding on the crotch of an engine as it dashes across the stage. A funny Irish policeman and a Dutch laborer manage to extract great fun from their posts.

The medleys and dances are well arranged, and the show in its entirety is most entertaining.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA Shadow Behind the Throne On Thursday evening there will be presented at the Academy a very fine drama, "The Shadow Behind the Throne." Novel in the extreme, strong in its entirety, relieved with delicious refined comedy, "The Shadow Behind the Throne" stands pre-eminent above all classes of modern drama. The authors of this modern melodrama went to China and took the recent Boxer uprising in that country as a theme, and have interwoven a story of romance surrounding the daughter of the American ambassador with a young attaché of the ambassador. The vicerey of China and the mandarin are shown in all the grandeur of an Oriental court, striving by their villainous machinations to wreck the two young lives. The play is set in scenic surroundings of an elaborate and magnificent scale. In these days of magnificence in scenic productions it speaks well for the producer when he can come out and say that nothing has ever been seen as beautiful as the settings for "The Shadow Behind the Throne."
