

Drinking Water Made Safe

Scientists working in McGill University Laboratories in Montreal recently discovered a Typhoid Fever preventative that should be universally used wherever there is danger of infection from drinking water. It is simply added to the water fifteen minutes before it is drunk. This done every typhoid germ is said to be destroyed. "Sovereign Lime Juice" with water makes a delicious cooling drink as well as a perfectly safe one.

THE STANDARD'S SOUVENIR NUMBER

The Montreal Standard's Special Number has come to hand, and is a most creditable production. It has a magnificent cover in colors, painted by one of America's best known artists. The number contains nearly 150 half-tone plates devoted to superb panoramic views of Montreal suitable for framing. The printing is first-class, and we understand that many thousands of the issue have been sent to friends abroad.

COSUMPTION IN CHILDREN

Dr. Phillips, of Edinburgh, believes that tuberculosis is very much more common in childhood than has ever been suspected, and believes that it comes from airless homes and schools rather than from infected milk. Dr. Herman Biggs is also very keen on this theme, a view of consumption around which will be fought the fiercest battles of the future. Prevention is now considered everything in consumption, while curing is not thought worth a bawbee by some. Prevention must begin on the child, oft times the infant. European cure of putting consumptives to breaking rock seems less humane than threatening with shotguns to prevent them getting off trains, as at some towns out west, where citizens hold that consumptives about a town hurt values and ruin business.

REFORMING THE PRISONER.

In last week's "Northwestern," the Rev. J. J. Munro discusses advanced methods of dealing with criminals in our prisons, and cites one of the largest prisons in California, as having in force a most effective method of securing the good behavior of the prisoners confined within its walls. There are three tables in the institution: I. At the first sit prisoners who do their work well, and against whom there has been no bad mark for rudeness or disobedience for one month. At this table the board is first-class, the convict is provided with a napkin, and conversation is permitted. II. The second table has the regular prison fare, and is for those who refuse to work, or who break the rules. The table is made of plain pine boards, and the plates and cups are tin. The meal must be eaten in silence, and there is no tablecloth, napkin or anyone to wait upon the table. III. The third table is for the incorrigibles, and contains nothing but bread and water. When the scheme was instituted it was found at the end of three months that one-half the men had earned the right to sit at the first table, and at the end of six months two-thirds of the men were sitting there. Now, nine out of every ten of the prisoners sit at this table. Surely a little thing may work wonders even in prison life!

THE QUESTION OF IMPORTANCE

The late E. H. Harriman is credited with having said before his death, something to this effect: "No man is absolutely necessary or even important. This world is full of people ready to take the place of anyone. The fellow who takes hold where I leave off will go right ahead. Trains will run just the same, dividends will be earned as before; so it is with everyone."

So has it proven with Harriman. Yesterday he was a giant; to-day he is a memory. But the world goes on; trains run just the same and dividends are earned as before.

The fact that no man is indispensable is not by any means a recent discovery. It is one of the lessons that experience has been teaching since civilization began. It is an important lesson in its way. But it is not the whole of the world's wisdom. While it is true that no man is absolutely indispensable, it is equally true that no man, however inconspicuous, is wholly unimportant. Each may have his place, to be filled, and each his task, to be undertaken, as if the whole world depended on the individual effort.

And this conception of individual importance has its significance, too. It gives meaning, dignity and earnestness to life. Every man who is in earnest, whether king or cobbler, is important; no man is absolutely indispensable. There is room for all; there is work for all; but the world could manage to get along without any one of us.

STUDENTS' ANSWERS.

Some time ago one of the Toronto dailies published a list of answers to the history questions set for Ontario High School pupils. Many of them were very absurd and the writer argued from this that the teaching of history in the schools must have been extremely defective. In connection with this it may be pointed out that the paper on history was considered very unfair by both teachers and pupils, because many of the questions were on a period of history which the pupils had never studied. In fact one period of history was presented for the examination while the questions included a totally different period.

Apart from that, however, the mere fact, of having received these absurd answers to the questions on the history paper does not necessarily imply that the teaching of history in the schools has been bad. In proof of this we give a list of answers given by pupils of 18 years of age of the city of Cardiff schools. They show an ignorance of geography which is fully as great as the ignorance of history shown by the Ontario pupils. Here they are:

"Derby is surrounded by a monopoly of imported tours." "Australia is swarming with rabbits, and these are taught to climb trees." "The Shannon was imported into Scotland, and flowed impartially north, south, east and west." "In Italy they get up a continual and perpetual spring." "Newfoundland was known also as the Dogger Bank." "The fishes caught round Newfoundland are oysters, salmon and whales." "The climate bordering on the Black Sea is very fertile, as it obtains the warm winds of the Gulf Stream." One student wrote: "It is a scene of tremendous beauty when we see cockle gathers on the donkeys." "Sammon and trout are caught in this river." Two wrongs of course do not make a right, but it is scarcely fair to charge the Ontario school teachers with not knowing how to teach history when pupils in Wales make such mistakes as those given above. The fact is that at any examination where a great number of pupils put in papers, just such answers are culled by the dozen.

Westerner Visiting in Bethel Vicinity

Bethel, Sept. 21.—Mr. John Franks of Regina, Sask., is at present visiting friends and relatives here. Mr. Franks speaks very enthusiastically concerning the future of the west, though unlike many westerners, he doesn't exaggerate. Mr. Franks has spent about twenty years in the west and seems to know the country well. He speaks in glowing terms of this year's harvest. In some localities fires have been raging. In these places everybody talks about the fires. In our peaceful hamlet we are pleased to state we have not heard of a single fire and so have much to be grateful for.

Corn harvesting is now the theme of the farmers here. A goodly number have their corn cut, but some of the larger fields are still standing.

Rev. G. R. McQuade, an Omenee old boy, preached an excellent sermon here on Sunday evening last. We are pleased to note Mr. McQuade's progress in his chosen profession.

Mr. Wm. Deyell recently purchased the Kerr homestead from Mr. Thos. Kerr. It is thought that Mr. Kerr intends going west. We are pleased to know that a Bethelite secured this farm.

As was stated last week extensive repairs are being made at the Bethel Methodist church. Last week cement walks were laid and the shed received considerable repairs. This week the inside of the church is being renovated and beautified. We are sure Bethel Methodists will be justly proud of their church home when repairs are all completed.

APPOINTED COLLECTOR.

Mr. John Jackson has received the appointment of collector of taxes for the township of Ops.

Who the lawyer will be who will assist Crown Attorney Devlin in the prosecution of Jos. Hunter, for the murder of his wife, Rose Hunter, at Bobcaygeon, is not known locally as yet. It was stated that Mr. G. F. Blackstock would be the man, but this is merely a rumor. An appointment has not as yet been made.

J. Sutcliffe & Sons BARRIE LINDSAY OSHAWA

OWN YOUR OWN 320 ACRES ON EASY TERMS. Many farmers with small capital, tenants and others, would take up land in the Canadian West, but homesteads are now hard to select, and the conditions are exacting, while lands for sale are usually stringent in first cash payments, and for short terms.

Holding considerable areas of splendid land, well situated near stations, from one hundred feet upwards, along the main line of the Canadian Northern Railway, between Hattfield and Minburn, it is my wish to dispose of the same to the benefit of both myself and the purchasers.

Recognizing that it takes even the best farmer with small capital some time to get a fair start, I WILL SELL ON VERY EASY TERMS, AND GIVE LONG TIME FOR PAYMENT. But no lazy or intemperate farmer need offer to buy, while married men with families are preferred.

Certain improvements will require to be made annually, from the outset, and there are other terms and conditions to be complied with. For full particulars address: SAM. HUGHES, Lindsay, Ont. Sept. 1909.

ON HUNTER CASE.

Provincial Detective Greer, of Toronto, was in town to-day and held a consultation with Crown Attorney Devlin regarding the coming trial of Joseph Hunter for murder. Detective Greer stated that he was in town merely to ascertain if the crown attorney needed new witnesses or any other assistance of a similar nature in this case. The department makes it a practise of aiding in every way possible and send a detective down in such cases as this.
