Farmers Were Here in Full Force

Early on Friday, while the morning mist still hung over the fair grounds, crowds of farmers brought out by their propensity for early rising, were wandering through the various buildings. Some of the farmers like to visit the stock stables good and early and view the animals before the crowd gets too large.

Everything welcomed the farmers; the roosters crowed, the cattle bawled. Many comments on the excellence of the entries this year were heard, as the farmers passed expert opinion on the animals shown.

In a sense it was farmers' day at the fair, but not the farmers' day that gave the town folks of a generation ago an opportunity to poke fun at their country cousins. The farmers' day of the carpet bag, trailing bandana handkerchief, and cow-feeder hat has long since passed. They don't attend the fair in that rig these days—except occasionally in the burlesque shows in front of the grand stand. There are special rates on the C.P.R. and G.T.R. lines, and the farmers took advantage of the cheap rates and came to town today in hundreds. Many of the tillers of the soil arrived in their Gladstones, waggonettes, and buggies, having driven since long before sunrise to get here.

Fall Skin Diseases

AN ARTICLE FOR MOTHERS

When the children "break out" with eruptions and skin diseases, so common in the fall, don't run to ointments and nauseating medicines. Zam-Buk is what is needed. It is a skin food as well as a healing balm.

Mrs. Chas. Levere, of Prescott, North Channel, Ont., tells how Zam-Buk cured her baby. She says: "My baby's head and face was one complete mass of sores. The itching and irritation were fearful, and the little one's plight was so fearful that at one time we feared her ears would be eaten off."

"We had to keep her hands tied for days to prevent her rubbing and scratching the sores. Doctors after doctor treated her in vain, until we had five doctors. They all agreed it was a frightful case of eczema, but none of them did any permanent good."

"As a last resource we were advised to try Zam-Buk. The first box did so much good that we felt sure we were at last working in the right direction. We persevered with the treatment until we had used thirteen boxes, used, and at the end of that time I am glad to say Zam-Buk effected a cure."

Mrs. Holmes, of 30 Guise-st., Hamilton, is quite as eloquent in her praise. She says: "Zam-Buk cured my boy of boils and eruptions when he was so bad that he had been unable to mix with other children. Prior to the boils breaking out he had had a bad eruption, but Zam-Buk cleared this away, too, and it made his skin clear and smooth. It is a wonderful preparation, and mothers throughout the land should always keep it handy."

For eczema, eruptions, rashes, teething, itch, ringworm, and similar skin diseases, Zam-Buk is without equal. It also cures cuts, burns, scalds, bites, abscesses, chronic sores, blood-poisoning, etc. All druggists and stores at 50 cents a box; or post free for price from Zam-Buk Co., 18-19-20 St. Louis.

September Brides

B. Moore, of Fenelon Falls. The event was quietly solemnized in the prettily decorated parlor of the bride's home by Rev. S. C. Moore, B.A., B.D., brother of the groom, assisted by the Rev. E. A. Tonkin, of Cambridge.

The wedding march was played by Miss E. Worsley, of Welland. The bride, who was unassisted, was attired in a gown of cream trimmed with satin, and allover lace.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore left on the evening train for a trip to eastern W. Collins. She will be a starter points, Mrs. Moore wearing a very pretty traveling gown of brown broadcloth and hat to match.

LAUGHLIN—MORROW.

A wedding of interest to Lindsay citizens was solemnized at St. Peter's Cathedral, Peter's Cathedral, Peterboro, on Tuesday, Sept. 21, when Miss Josephine Morrow, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Morrow, was united in marriage to Mr. Edward Laughlin, of Winnipeg. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father McCall in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. The bride, who was given away by her father, entered the church to the strains of the wedding march, played by Miss Doherty. She looked very pretty in a dress of white broadcloth. She wore a white picture hat with plumes. The bridesmaid, Miss Stella Morrow, sister of the bride, was beautifully attired in a dress of old rose, her hat was of the same shade. Dr. McCaully, of Montreal, was best man.

After the ceremony the party drove to the home of the bride's father, where hearty congratulations were bestowed on the young couple and a dainty wedding breakfast partaken of.

Among those present from a distance were: Mr. John Morrow, Montreal, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Gough, and Misses Kathleen and Lillian Gough, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Gough, Mrs. John O'Brien, and Mrs. Walker, Lindsay.

MAGEE—FAIRBAIRN.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Fairbairn, Wellington-st., was the scene of a very pretty wedding at three o'clock on Wednesday, when their youngest daughter, Ethel, was united in marriage to Mr. Chas. H. Magee, of Emily.

assisted by Rev. Jas. Wallace, pastor of St. Andrew's, Lindsay. The marriage ceremony was performed beneath an arch of evergreen and asters. The bride was attired in an Empire gown of white silk mull, with dainty trimmings of lace, and wore a tulle veil with a coronet of orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white asters and maiden hair fern. She entered the drawing room on the arm of her father to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Ella Switzer, of Bethel. Little Miss Gladys Kelly, niece of the bride, carried the ring in a basket of flowers. She was dressed in cream tulle and silk.

After the ceremony the wedding party sat down to a dainty dejeuner the dining room being prettily decorated with sweet peas, asters and ferns, the color scheme being pink and white.

A very pleasing event took place after justice had been done to the good eatables prepared by the mother and the bride for the occasion, when Mr. Fairbairn addressed the guests of the evening in the following words by first extending to them through his good partner in life a hearty welcome. Mr. Fairbairn said in part: "It seems to me that if it was not for an occasion of this kind we would scarcely ever meet together, and—as far as I am concerned, this is the limit, as Mr. Magee has taken our baby girl." They could not expect him to supply any more wives—as far as he was concerned—but he had a suggestion to make. As all gathered in the house were descendants of the old historic pioneer families who left their homes in the old land and crossed the broad waters to Canada and heaved out a home in the forest and helped materially to make Canada what it is to-day, the brightest diadem in the crown of the British Empire, he thought that in the future an annual festival should be held, but he would leave that in the hands of the younger ones whether it should be a banquet held at a public place or whether they should go year about to each others' homes, which would appear to him more homelike.

Mr. Fairbairn, after naming over the different families, of which all were the descendants, paid a high tribute to them by saying that they ought to be thankful to the Almighty God for their parentage. "We have got yet to learn anything but true man and womanhood of any of them; this is an example we should all be proud of."

Mr. Fairbairn had his regrets on account of the absence of Mrs. Fairbairn's three sisters and two sisters of his own, but he could assure his friends it was no fault of theirs as some were caring for the sick and others caring for their old and infirmed husband and others for themselves; also for the absence of his two sons who were too far away to come. Mr. Fairbairn spoke with much feeling when he addressed the bride and groom. In his remarks he said that Ethel had been both light and sunshine to her parents' home, and hoped that the same sunshine would ever continue in her and her husband's home; if so it would be a blessed home. "Married life," Mr. Fairbairn said, "if happy, was heaven and bliss on earth, but if not it was a great misfortune." Mr. Fairbairn's closing words were: "Come and see us when you can, there will not only be an open door, but there will be open arms to greet you. I pray God's blessing to rest on you and yours."

The Rev. Mr. Smith, of Bobcaygeon, spoke feelingly of the bride and her devotion to her church and Christian character.

The bride and groom left on the 6.20 train for Toronto and points west. The bride's traveling suit was of champagne with a shadow stripe, with a white silk blouse dotted with pearls, and she wore a large picture hat.

BAKER—HICKS.

A very pretty autumn wedding took place at "Hillside Cottage," in Minkin township, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Hicks, Wednesday, Sept. 22, when their only daughter, Dorothy Abigail, was united in marriage to Mr. Henry Amisen Baker, of Hagersville.

The wedding ceremony took place in the presence of some sixty of Mrs. Hicks' guests, and was performed at 8 o'clock P.M. by Rev. W.

E. Rowland, of Minden. DeWillet S. Puffer, cousin of the groom, skillfully played Mendelssohn's Wedding March, to the strains of which the bride appeared leaning on the arm of her father.

She was attired in a princess style white Swiss lawn richly and elaborately trimmed with lace and insertion, carried a bouquet of white asters and maiden hair ferns and wore a rosette in her hair. The bridesmaid was Miss Edna Baker, sister of the bridegroom. She was dressed in pretty silk mull, wore a dash of Dresden silk and carried a bouquet of pink asters and white geraniums. Mr. Bruce McKnight as groomsman, ably supported the groom.

HALL—COTE.

The marriage of Miss Bertha Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Hall, Queen-st., to Mr. Frank Cote, took place on Sept. 22 at the Methodist parsonage, Rev. J. R. Real, pastor of the Queen-st. Methodist church, officiating. Mr. Cote is a well-known hockey player and a member of the champion Midgets. Miss Hall is a popular young Lindsay lady. Congratulations from all sides are extended to the bride and groom. They will reside in Lindsay.

MURRAY—MCGINNIS.

Downeyville, Sept. 25.—A very pretty, but quiet wedding was solemnized at the parish here on Tuesday, Sept. 21, when Miss Mary McGinnis was united in marriage to Mr. John Murray, both of Downeyville. Rev. Father McGuire performed the pleasing ceremony.

JUNKIN—POGUE.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white silk mull, and wore a wreath of white asters. Her sister, Miss Maude, in a dress of blue voile with trimmings of white, made a pretty bridesmaid, while Mr. Harry Nichols, of Red Rock, acted as groomsman. After the ceremony, which took place at three o'clock, the young couple returned to the home of the bride where a few of their friends and relatives were waiting to receive them. Mr. and Mrs. Junkin have a large circle of acquaintances in this community, among whom are many warm friends, and all join heartily in wishing them all possible success and happiness for the future.

WHITE—BURKE.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place on Wednesday, the 22nd inst., it being the nuptials of Miss Margaret Florence Burke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burke, of Lindsay, to Mr. Francis Osborne White, of Toronto. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father O'Donnell, of St. Ann's parish, Toronto.

The bride was becomingly attired in cream silk mohair with trimmings of duchess satin and buttons, and carried a bouquet of white roses, while the bridesmaid, Miss Helen McGrath, of Lindsay, wore the new shade of smoky London with tucked yoke of cream net and trimmed with buttons and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

The groom was ably supported by Mr. C. F. Burke, brother of the bride, also of Lindsay. The groom's gifts were: to the bride a gold watch fob; to the bridesmaid a pearl crescent and to the groomsman a pair of gold cuff-links with engraved initials.

After the ceremony the wedding party were driven to the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Wesley Shaw, Elliott-st., where a wedding breakfast awaited them. Only the intimate friends of the bride and groom were present.

Mr. and Mrs. White left on the five p.m. G.T.R. for points east. The bride's traveling dress was of navy blue broadcloth, with hat to match. On their return they will reside in the city. The presents were costly and numerous.
