

Motor Girls Lost Their Way--Had Long Trains

Woodville fair on Friday and visited with friends in that district. Miss K. Junkin, of Fenelon Falls, visited with her friend, Miss Mildred Palmer, on Sunday. Miss McKenzie and lady friend, of Kirkfield, when motoring home on Saturday, were misdirected and found themselves running into the swamp on the seventh concession, having come to the end of the road near the lake. On trying to get out the machine refused to go, so the two girls were forced to camp out over night. On Sunday morning they found their way to Mr. J. Miller's, who kindly consented to drive them to Rosedale. They were finally taken home in the government boat, "The Lake". On Sunday evening they returned in their large touring car and towed the wrecked car home.

before I could get time to explain she had jumped out of bed and was tearing down the stairs and calling on me to come and save those ducks which she had been feeding these months back for our Thanksgiving table. Then more shots, and more and more calls to save those ducks. Say it was a merry time. The shooting went on. The ducks were found to be safe, but I had to keep a straight face and a safe distance that whole day. However, it's all over now for I had to promise to take her to the Lindsay show on Thursday, Friday and Saturday as a recompense.

INJURED IN RUNAWAY.

A peculiar runaway happened Monday afternoon in the Brewery lane, when the team belonging to Mr. John Reynolds, the iceman, ran away, causing considerable excitement.

It appears that Mr. Reynolds was delivering some ice to the brewery, and when turning down off the new brewery yard, a steep, but short down grade caused the heavy wagon to lurch forward on to the heels of the horses, and they bolted for the river. The force of the jolt threw Mr. Reynolds out on his shoulders, but fortunately he escaped serious injury.

In the meantime the frightened equines continued on their mad gallop down the yard towards the river. At the very edge of the brink they stumbled and fell and the wagon piled up in a heap behind them, large chunks of ice being hurled in all directions. The horses came out of the accident without a scratch, and the big wagon escaped serious breakages.

With the Lindsay Boys and Q. O. R. in England

During the past two weeks the various newspapers in the country have contained numerous accounts of the "doings" of the Queen's Own Rifles in England—Canada's "Gallant Q.O.R."—and these graphic letters in the press from day to day have interested a large number of Lindsay citizens not only because as Canadians they were interested in the welfare of Canadians abroad, but because a couple of well-known Lindsay boys belong to the Q.O.R.

When the Queen's Own Rifles set out for their trip across the briny among the ranks were Messrs. Chas. Sutcliffe, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Sutcliffe, town, and Mr. Hugh McLaughlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. McLaughlin, of Toronto, and formerly of Lindsay. The many school chums of these two young men envy them their trip to England and the good time they are having. However, it must not be taken for granted that it is all play and no work. Far from it, for according to letters received by their friends in town they are seeing a great deal of the country, are enjoying excellent meals, but at the same time they have been on many long tramps and have been drilling regularly and consistently.

In a letter written by Mr. Chas. Sutcliffe from Aldershot, to his father in town, and received on Saturday last, he stated in part that the welcome given the Queen's Own Rifles was magnificent in its sincerity, heartiness and picturesqueness. Continuing, Mr. Sutcliffe says, "I feel fine except for a bad cold. We have had a fine week Mrs. Keats, a friend of Hugh's, Mr. Keats being superintendent of one of the London hospitals. We got off here at 12 o'clock, and so caught a 12.35 train to London, and left there again at 5.15 for Brightlingsea, where they are spending the summer, and we certainly had a fine time. Going and coming back we saw a lot of London. At Waterloo station we took a bus to Liverpool and coming back we walked it. We met a Canadian on the bus who said he thought I was a Sutcliffe by my face and we had a fine chat with him. His name was Taylor, and he told us several places of interest that we should be sure to visit. On our way back we noticed many different places and we walked part of the way back by Queen Victoria-st. and the embankment and across Waterloo bridge, along in front of King's College.

"Dr. Keats gave us a good schedule to go by for seeing the city in a short time, so that we expect to see pretty near everything in the four or five days we have at our disposal. Isn't it an immense town? Isn't it a fine country? How green! So many hedges and canals.

"Well, we had a nice little nine mile march this a.m., and are now ready to start out on the manoeuvres. We expect all sorts of hard times then, as it consists of warfare with blank ammunition. Some years different regiments have had to march thirty miles with everything on their backs. We have to sleep outside almost all the time, while on the manoeuvres. To-morrow morning we leave camp at 2.30—pretty early. There are thirteen of us sleeping in the one tent-to-night—if we sleep at all—but previously we have been sleeping seven in a tent—and that's bad enough. I guess by Saturday we will all want to be home, but then we get a week's holidays in London and also a little money, which will help.

"Well, we expect to be out on the manoeuvres until Saturday, and then to London for a week at Chesley Barracks and then to Salisbury Plains. It is known all over England where we are and what we are that 90% of the telephones used by Canadian farmers have been manufactured by us? We are proud of this fact, for we think you will agree with us that it is a guarantee that our telephones give satisfaction to the farmer; it was to satisfy the farmer that we spent $10,000 in designing and developing our 1317 type Telephone Set, which contains the most up-to-date features of any telephone intended to meet the requirements of rural service.

"How to Build Rural Telephone Lines"

is the title of a most interesting and instructive book which we have just published and which we will be pleased to send you FREE. It not only contains a full description of our telephones, but it also tells the complete story of the organization and construction of a Rural Telephone Company from the time the first post hole is dug until the last telephone is installed. With this book you have something definite to work on and can go among your neighbors and organize a community-owned system in your own locality. The book costs nothing—write and ask for Bulletin No. 500—and we will send it FREE.

doing, so that few letters ever go astray.

"The Queen's Own are receiving every attention from the people at Ome, and the camp is visited by thousands from all parts of the district, who are warm in their greetings of the citizen soldiers from across the seas. Many enthusiastic scenes are witnessed, thousands of people line the streets, which are gaily decorated with flags, banners, evergreens, and brilliantly illuminated. The Q.O.R. were accorded a hearty welcome at Aldershot and lusty cheers greeted Colonel Sir Henry Pellatt and his officers. The Q.O.R. use the march past air of the Buffs, with whom they are brigaded in Aldershot. Forty years ago General Otter, the Chief of Staff Canadian forces, when commanding the Queen's Own Rifles, wrote to The Buffs asking permission to use the
