Listless, Backward Children Made Bright and Active by Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills

Many a growing boy or girl is set down as constitutionally slow, stupid or lazy when it is really a question of inactive bowels, lazy liver or sluggish kidneys. The growing child, with a hearty appetite, certainly cannot long remain healthy and bright if the sewers of the body, the bowels and the kidneys, are choked up with impurities that should be thrown off promptly.

The muddy complexion, dragging limbs and dislike for mental or physical effort show plainly that the child needs Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills to stir up the liver and kidneys and regulate the bowels. Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills do this most effectively, cleansing the whole system, purifying the blood, aiding the digestion and giving plenty of life and activity.

MURDER CASE AT GODERICH

Police Follow Various Clues in the Mystery

Goderich, Sept. 27.—No clue has yet been found to aid in solving the mystery of the brutal murder of 16-year-old Lizzie Anderson, whose nude body, with throat cut was found in the basement of a vacant house last Sunday morning.

Because Frank Smith, a painter, formerly of Toronto, was seen down town the night the girl disappeared, and his not being seen since, his name has been connected with the tragedy. Inspector Greer of the provincial department, who reached here yesterday, found blood in the cellar 12 feet from where the body was found, and is confident the murder took place in the basement.

Coroner Holmes opened an inquest last night. No evidence was taken, and an adjournment was taken until Tuesday next.

Wesley Anderson, father of the girl, says she had shown her brother fifteen cents, which she said one Fred Jardine had given her. She also told him on the street afterwards. Mr. Anderson says he went to the Jardine home at midnight that night, becoming alarmed when his daughter had not come home. He could not rouse anybody, but on going back again at 6 o'clock next morning Jardine's mother told him that her son had not come home yet and Anderson would likely find him at the fair grounds, where he was working.

Mame Spatoro, an Hoban foreman, who boards at the house, and had the girl out driving several times, was home about 10 p.m. the night of the tragedy.

Smith had been working at the organ factory here and seemed despondent.

Violence Not Shown.

Hamilton, Sept. 27.—An inquest was held last night into the death of the baby which was found in a valise at the home of William Batstone, North John street, last week. The verdict of the jury was to the effect that there was nothing to show that the child had come to its death through violence, or that it had ever lived.

Detective Sayer testified that Miss Jessie Sweet, the girl arrested in connection with the case, told him that the child was hers, and that it was born at the Batstone home eleven months ago. Mrs. Batstone, however, denied the latter statement. Drs. Mc-Nichol and Edgar, who conducted the post-mortem examination, said the little body was so dried up that it looked like a mummy, a condition which was unusual. They did not think there had ever been life in the body, but, owing to the condition in which they found it, it was pretty hard to tell whether there had been or not.

Coroner Dickson had charge of the inquest. Crown Attorney Washington conducted the examination of the witnesses, and George Kerr, K.C., was present in the interests of Miss Sweet. She was not asked to give evidence.

PRIZE BUTTER FOR TORONTO.

Mrs. J. E. Terrill, of Linden Valley, who took first prize at the Lindsay Central Exhibition for her butter, sold her large crock at a good prize to Mrs. H. J. Rea, one of the visitors to the fair from Toronto.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.

Everett Scott, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Scott, Pottinger-st., was seriously injured on Monday by being run over by a heavily laden wagon, with the result that twenty-five stitches were required to sew up the wound inflicted on the little fellow's head.

The accident occurred shortly after four o'clock at the corner of William and Pottinger-sts., where several young fellows had been playing. Mr. Thomas Ellis came along with his threshing engine pulling a wagon containing a heavy cutting-box. The little chap jumped on the wagon tongue and fell off, with the result that the front wagon wheel ran over the side of his head, inflicting a deep cut.

The little chap was at once taken to his home, where he now lies in a critical condition.

We believe we have never known a candidate who was not sure of election.

There is one fortunate thing about a woman losing her pocket book; the loss is not great.

Interesting Case of Wages At Police Court To-Day

An interesting case appeared before County Magistrate Moore at the police court on Tuesday. A well-known Ops farmer was charged with refusing to pay a girl who began to work at his house at the beginning of the month, and then assaulting her when she refused to leave the house without her full pay.

The accused claimed that he had hired the young lady for two dollars a week. She had been at the house for three weeks, but she had been ill a part of the time, and did not work the full number of days. When he came to pay her off he accordingly withheld a portion of her wages, agreeing to give her four dollars instead of six. She refused to leave the house when he asked her to go. He took her by the arm and led her to the door. Thereupon she sat down on the floor and he was forced to take her by main strength out of the house.

The young woman forthwith laid a charge of assault against her erstwhile employer. She gave her evidence in a very intelligent manner, but the magistrate could find in it no basis for a charge of assault. He claimed that the master of the house had a right to ask any undesirable inmate to leave his house, and if the person refused he was within the bounds of the law in taking that person and forcing him or her out, providing, of course, that he did not do it violently or with intent to do bodily harm. He could find in the evidence nothing to prove that the accused had acted cruelly. He would therefore dismiss the charge of assault.

In the matter of wages both parties were agreeable to a settlement that the magistrate should see fit to propose. After going into the matter fully he thought that the girl should receive her full three weeks pay, a sum of six dollars in all. She had, however, to pay a part of the costs for the charge of assault which had not been proven. The magistrate did not like to impose the costs, but could not see his way out of it. He made them as light as possible, and all parties went away satisfied with the settlement.

The magistrate advised the young woman in future to consult a lawyer of the magistrate under such circumstances. It would simplify matters considerably, and make it much easier for herself.

Mr. Leigh R. Knight appeared for the defendant.

Improvement Society Met at Lifford-Melancholy Days

Lifford, Sept. 15.—The "melancholy days" are once more upon us. Once more the yellow stubble, frosted corn and the dark heavy hanging clouds remind us that "Tempus fugit." The balmy days of spring and warm atmosphere of summer, laden with the perfume of sweet-smelling flowers, have come and gone. Yet is not our Ontario autumn beautiful? The many colored foliage of the neighboring woods, the large orchards with their heavy burden of ripened fruit, the sound of dropping nuts to be garnered into the hollow trunk of some majestic tree now dead, by the happy chattering squirrel are in themselves most beautiful and impressive. And then again the glorious fall fairs, the happy harvest homes, and the fowl suppers, where health and plenty reign supreme, are waited for impatiently in this final season of the year by both young and old. Truly autumn in Ontario while in many senses sad, is for all a season of sweet content and joy of reward for past labor and of genuine hospitality and sociability.

Almost everyone took in Lindsay Central and report a good time and an excellent fair. The directors and other officers are to be congratulated on their honest endeavor to make the fair the equal in many respects of even Toronto exhibition. The show of horses was quite superior in both quality and number, while the races were hotly contested, all the horses being out to win. The acrobatic stunts in front of the grand stand bordered on the sensational, while the Midway was better than ever before, and was largely patronized by young and old. We congratulate our neighbors who were successful in winning prizes with their horses. Messrs. Jno. Sisson, Win. Sisson, H. Preston and Wm. Veal certainly obtained their share. The first prize for the relay race came to Manvers. De Elmo Sisson, a former Lifford boy, was one of the team that won. One thing that seemed to be regretted was the fact that there was not more competition in the lady driving. However, taken all in all, Lindsay fair was a grand success.

Miss Alotha Sisson and Mr. Norman Wilson leave this week for Toronto, to attend the Faculty of Education. We wish both of them success in their new line of work.

The Improvement Society held another meeting on Saturday, Sept. 24, at 9 p.m. All the members were present. The president, Mr. Thos. Lowery, Jr., called the meeting to order, and in his limited time gave an eloquent address on "The value of railroads to a community." A selection by the orchestra then followed, after which Miss Ethel Mulligan gave a paper on "Fall fairs, from an educational standpoint." Mr. Mark White then gave a few pointed remarks on "Loyalty." Mr. White declared that it is the duty of every rural British subject to have a flag pole on which to hoist the red, white and blue on appropriate occasions. Mr. T. Davidson then sang with great success the popular song, "Put your foot on the soft, soft pedal." Mr. Lowery then opened a large grip from which he distributed literature concerning the next meeting to be held on the Friday preceding Thanksgiving, Oct. 31, and the meeting broke up with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Miss Annie Shea, of Fleetwood, accompanied by her friend Miss Graham, Peterboro, visited Mrs. James Neal on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Clark, Ballyduff, visited Mr. and Mrs. Clark's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Wilson, on Sunday.

Mr. Gustavos Staples has returned after visiting Lindsay friends.

Mrs. Margaret Staples has returned after visiting Lindsay friends.

So let the curtain drop, we are at the "finis". Your correspondent leaves this burg for an unlimited time on the next train. Some there are who have been pleased and some displeased with what has been written, but we make no apologies. There always were and always will be kickers. But it is to be hoped that some more worthy correspondent takes up the pen to record the proceedings of our pretty burg. Failing that, let those to whom it seems the old adage, "Non omnes dormiunt quae clausos oculos habent" (all are not sleeping whose eyes are shut).

RASPBERRIES IN SEPTEMBER.

Monday morning Mr. George Johnston, who resides on Francis-st., brought into The Warder office a sample branch of red raspberries picked from his own crop. A number of the berries on it were huge red luscious looking berries, while a number were not yet ripe. This is certainly a late season for ripe raspberries. The second growth was a good one.

OBITUARY

MISS MARGARET JEWELL.

Manilla, Sept. 26.—There occurred in Toronto on Tuesday, Sept. 20, the death of Miss Maggie Jewell, eldest child of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Jewell, of this place. After an illness of infantile paralysis of two days' duration, and despite all that specialists, trained nurse, or loving friends could accomplish, she passed to her eternal reward. The sad news came as a great shock not only to the immediate relatives, but to the citizens and entire community. She visited her home here only two weeks previous to her demise, and looked the picture of health and strength. Maggie's death resembles a beautiful flower plucked in the bloom of life. With a bright future before her, she was only 17 years of age, and one who made good use of her days in school, and at the age of thirteen years she was successful in passing her entrance examination, after which she went to Toronto and entered a commercial college. From college she graduated, receiving her diploma as stenographer. She then good positions, and at the time of her death was employed with one of the largest typewriting establishments in Toronto, and was loved and respected by all who knew her.

The remains were brought home on the morning train Wednesday, and the funeral services conducted in the afternoon at 2.30 o'clock by Rev. Mr. Wesley, Presbyterian pastor of Creswell, after which the remains were conveyed to Brock cemetery and laid to rest. The many beautiful floral tributes laid on the casket testified to the respect in which the deceased was held. They were as follows: A handsome wreath from the Young Women's Christian Association, Toronto; wreath from Sunday school she attended in Toronto; wreath from Mr. and Mrs. H. Hoyle, Cannington; wreath from the employees of the Underwood Typewriting establishment, Toronto, and others.

The heartfelt sympathy of the community goes out to the grief-stricken parents, brother and three sisters in their sorrow.

Ho! For Bobcaygeon Fair Wednesday--Almost a Blaze

Bobcaygeon, Sept. 26.—Little Bobbridge was practically completed on Saturday except the putting on of some railing, which we understand has yet to come from the shop. It is a fine structure. Mr. Thos. Kelly, of Red Rock, who superintended the filling in and the putting in of the cement piers, deserves every credit for the manner in which he has completed his work. It will be some little time yet, however, before the bridge will be open for traffic. The cement will take three or four weeks to thoroughly harden for heavy traffic, and the filling in between the two structural portions has yet to be gravelled. That, however, will be a short job.

Yesterday (Sunday the 25th) was Sunday school rally day in the Methodist church. The service was on "the path of life," quite a number of adults attending. The collection amounted to over $4, and will be in aid of the Sunday aid and extension fund.

Communion service was held in Knox Presbyterian church yesterday. Quite a number took communion. Next Sunday will be rally day services there, the theme being on "The Royal Life." Rev. W. G. Smith, Presbyterian, and H. W. Foley, Methodist, exchanged pulpits Sunday evening. Could there not be a little more friendly interchange of this sort, seeing that church union is now in the air?

There was a close call to a fire last week. Mr. Broad in preparing his oven for baking left the same to attend to other duties in the shop. In some way a coal must have dropped out and started a fire with some wood close by. Mr. Cairnduff, going into the shop a few minutes later for a bag of flour, saw the blaze running up the side wall of the bake-shop and sent in an alarm. The fire was promptly put out, but had it got a little more headway might have proved disastrous.

Mr. Allan Ford, brakeman on the train between here and Burketon the past three years, has been ordered to report on the main line between Toronto and Montreal for duty tomorrow, Tuesday, starting on his first run at 10.40 to-morrow evening. Mr. Ford has by his pleasant ways made himself many friends here, and there is no person who does not wish Mr. Ford greater success in his larger field of labor.

AN OWNER WANTED.

Chief Vincent has received a card from the high constable of Berlin, stating that he has a fine bay horse, a single democrat wagon and a set of harness awaiting an owner. The outfit is in all probability stolen property.
