Stain on Perth's Fair Name ---Victim of Horrible Murder*Old Lady Deliberately Murdered in Her Own Home by Negro Tramp

Feeling is high in Stratford and Perth county over the deliberate murder of Mrs. William Peak, an aged lady, who, with her family, had been living near Stratford, by a negro named Rognmond. The dastardly crime was committed when the victim's sons were working in the fields. Mrs. Peak was alone in the house, baking bread, it is thought, when the burly negro walked in. A desperate struggle must have followed, and when a son of the murdered lady came home, he found his mother lying dead on the cellar floor, and the negro asleep, with his hands red with blood. The alarm was given and a cord formed around the house. The negro gave himself up, however, and is now awaiting trial. He still maintains that he is innocent.
